JULIAN CALENDAR

The Festivals of the Eastern Orthodox Church are based on the Julian Calendar. (See p. 2.)

THE CALENDAR

THE JULIAN CALENDAR

The calendar is a method of identifying the passage of time and thereby regulating our civil life and religious observances.

Days, months, and years are based on astronomical periods. The day is the time it takes the earth to make one revolution on its axis, the month is associated with the period of rotation of the moon around the earth, while the year has to do with the rotation of the earth around the sun.

Many religious ideas and observances have been connected with the changes of the moon, and in ancient times the calendar took account of the moon rather than the seasons. From new moon to new moon is 29.530 days, and from one spring equinox to the next is 365.24219 days. Since the two are incommensurable, the modern calendar disregards the moon.

June in January sounds very well in a song but having summer coming in a winter month in actual life is not desirable.

When Julius Caesar came to power, the Roman Calendar was hopelessly confused. With the advice of the Alexandrian astronomer, Sosigenes, Julius Caesar established the Julian Calendar. The length of the year was taken as 365½ days, and in order to account for the ½ day, an extra day was added every fourth year. From 45 B.C. each month has had its present number of days. In the old Roman Calendar which was based on the moon an extra month was inserted to straighten out the difference between twelve lunations, 354.37 days, and 355 days, which they called a year. This was inserted when necessary after February 23rd. In the Julian Calendar the extra day was added by repeating the sixth day before the Kalends (1st) of March, whence comes our word bissextile for leap year.

Calendar trouble was not over. Due to a misunderstanding about inserting the intercalary day, by the time 8 B.C. came, the year began three days too late. Augustus rectified this by omitting all intercalations till A.D. 8 and no further change was made till the reform of Pope Gregory XIII in A.D. 1582.

The Julian Calendar is known as the "Old Style" and after the change made by Pope Gregory as the "New Style"; the difference between the two is 13 days. The Calendar so arranged is known as the "Old Style" and is now used by the Eastern Orthodox Church in Russia, Ukraina, Syria and Palestine.

Many Canadian citizens of Russian, Greek, Ukrainian or Syrian descent, thus observe their Christmas Day on Jan. 7 Gregorian.

THE GREGORIAN CALENDAR

But as the Solar Year is 11 minutes, 12 seconds less than the Julian Year of 365½ days, it followed in course of years that the Julian Calendar became inaccurate by several days, and in 1582 this difference amounted to 10 days. Pope Gregory XIII, at the suggestion of Aloysius Lilius, an astronomer of Naples, determined to rectify this, and devised the Calendar now known as the Gregorian Calendar. He dropped or cancelled these 10 days—October 5th being called October 15th—and made centennial years Leap years only once in 4 centuries; so that whilst 1700, 1800 and 1900 were to be ordinary years, 2000 would be Leap year. This modification brought the Gregorian year into such close exactitude with the Solar year that there is only a difference of 26 seconds, which amounts to a day in 3,223 years. This is the "New Style". The Gregorian Calendar was adopted in Italy, France, Spain, Portugal and Poland in 1582, by most of the German Roman Catholic states, Holland and Flanders in 1583, Hungary in 1587. The adoption in Switzerland began in 1584 and was not completed till 1812. The German and Dutch Protestant states generally, along with Denmark adopted it in 1700. British dominions in 1752, Sweden in 1753, Japan in 1873, China in 1912, Bulgaria in 1915, Turkey and Soviet Russia in 1918, Yugoslavia in 1919, Romania and Greece in 1924, Turkey in 1927. The rules for Easter have not however, been adopted by those oriental churches that are not subject to the Papacy.

The difference between the two "Styles" will remain 13 days until A.D. 2100.

THE JEWISH CALENDAR

The Jewish Calendar from the institution of the Mosaic Law downward was a lunar one, consisting of twelve months. The cycles of religious feasts commencing with the passover depending not only on the month but on the Moon; the 14th of the month of Abid or Nisan was coincident with the full moon; and the new moons themselves were the occasions of regular festivals; the commencement of the month was generally determined by observations of the new moon, but twelve lunar months would make but 354½ days, the years would be short twelve days of the true year and it was necessary that an additional month Veadar, be inserted about every third year.

The modern Jewish Calendar is based on fixed rules and not on observation. A common year may contain 353, 354 or 355 days and the Leap year 383, 384 or 385 days. The intercalary month always contains 30 days and is inserted next before the month Adar which name and place it takes. Adar itself is called second Adar or Veadar. Tishri 1 is the Jewish New Year and it cannot be a Sunday, Wednesday or Friday. Tishri 1 is not necessarily the day of new moon but is governed by a mean new moon which is calculated from the value of a mean lunation. It is complicated as compared with the Gregorian Calendar. The intercalary month is introduced seven times in every nineteen years.

The identification of the Jewish months with our own cannot be effected with precision on account of the variations existing between the lunar and solar month. The Jewish Calendar is given on page 3.

THE MOHAMMEDAN CALENDAR

The Mohammedan Calendar is called also the Calendar of Hegira (i.e. Migration) and is attributed to the primary migration of Mohammed, the Prophet of Islam, on September 20th, 622 A.D. from Mecca, his native city in the land of Hejaz, Arabia, to the city of Medina in the north of the same land. In Medina the Prophet and Founder of the Islamic Faith died and was buried.

Each year consists of 12 lunar months, and since no intercalation is made the months go round the seasons in between 32 and 33 years. In civil life there seems to be confusion as to the beginning of the month and unless both the day of week and day of the month are stated it is impossible to give an exact interpretation to a date.

The Mohammedan Calendar is observed by all the Moslems in Arabia, Yemen, Iraq, Transjordan, Persia, Afghanistan, India, Syria, Palestine, Egypt, Tripoli, Tunis, Algeria, Morocco, and in Turkey both Asiatic and European.

The year 1366, according to the Hegira Calendar began on November 24, 1946; the year 1367, on November 14th, 1947, Gregorian.

OTHER CALENDARS IN USE

Other calendars in use at the present day, in addition to those above, include the Coptic, Hindu, Persian.

CALENDAR REFORM

Reform of the calendar, so that it may be balanced in structure, perpetual in form and harmonious in arrangement, has long been under discussion.

In 1937, international opinion as to the desirability of calendar reform was explored by the League of Nations. Of 45 replies received, 14 governments indicated their willingness to adopt the perpetual calendar known as The World Calendar. Only 6 governments took a definite stand against such a reform.

The World Calendar comprises equal quarters in which the first month of each has 31 days and the other two 30 days each. These quarters contain exactly 91 days, 13 weeks and 3 months, with 13 Sundays and 78 weekdays, while each month has 26 weekdays. The 365th day becomes the Year-End Day, between December 30th and January 1st. In leap years a Leap-Year Day is interposed between June 30th and July 1st. Every January 1st falls on a Sunday, as does the first day of the other quarters. Thus the calendar is symmetrical and in keeping with the solar year and the seasons.

A suggestion has been made that the Year-End Day, a world holiday dedicated to international friendship, be called United Nations Day.

The World Calendar is sponsored by the World Calendar Association, 630 Fifth Ave., New York, and by affiliated calendar reform organizations throughout the world; in Canada by The Rational Calendar Association of Canada, which is listed in this volume; see index. These associations are striving to win favor for reform by lectures and publications and suggest its adoption to start on Sunday, January 1st, 1950. This is the earliest date on which the Gregorian calendar and the New World Calendar meet.

On July 15, 1946, the Hon. Karl E. Mundt, Republican, introduced a Bill in the House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States, being joined by the Hon. John Kee, Democrat, for adoption of The World Calendar by the government of the United States. The proposed legislation also directed the President of the United States to seek international adoption.

The Inter-American Economic and Social Council of the Pan American Union placed The World Calendar on its agenda and referred the subject to its Committee on Commerce for further study and report.

THE WEEK

The division of the week is found only among Aryan nations and in regions into which they have penetrated. The day is, for convenience, divided into 24 equal parts and is the period of a single rotation of the earth upon its own axis.

A Solar or Astronomical day commences at midnight, and is divided into two equal portions of 12 hours each—those before noon being termed (A.M.) those after noon (P.M.).

The Chinese week consists of 5 days, which are named after iron, wood, water, feathers and earth; they divide the day into 12 parts of 2 hours each.

The Anglo-Saxons named the days of the week after the following deities; Sunday, the Sun; Monday, the Moon; Tuesday, Tiesco (God of War); Wednesday, Woden (God of Storms); Thursday, Thor (God of Thunder); Friday, Freya (Goddess of Love); Saturday, Saturn (God of Time).

The word week is from Wikon (German); = change, succession.

In The Soviet Union up to June 27, 1940 the six-day week prevailed in many factories, etc.; that is, five days of work followed by a day of rest. The free days were usually the 6th, 12th, 18th, 24th, and 30th of the month. In some industries where there is continuous production (steel mills, chemical plants, mines, etc.) there was a five-day week—that is four days of work followed by a rest day. On June 27th, 1940, by ukase of the Supreme Soviet of the U.S.S.R. the seven day week was introduced everywhere in the Soviet Union, Sunday being observed as a day of rest.

Dominical Letter

The Roman Calendar makers placed the letters A.B.C.D.E.F.G. against the day of the year. The letter which stands against the Sundays is known as the Dominical Letter. In Leap year since no letter is set opposite the added day one letter appears for January and February and the letter preceding for the remainder of the year.

Example—

	A	B	C	D	E	F	G
1944 Sat.	Sun.	Mon.	Tu.	Wed.	Th.	Fri.
Jan.	1	2	3	4	5	6	7
Feb.	26	27	28	29				Sat. Sun.
	A	B	C	—	D	E	F	G A
Mch.					1	2	3	4 5

Jan. 1 (Sat.) is A. Jan. 2 (Sun.) is B. B therefore is the Dominical letter for Jan. and Feb. Since no letter is assigned for Feb. 29, Sunday from then on comes under the preceding letter, A, and this is the letter for the remainder of the year.

Golden Number—The calendar for the phases of the moon is nearly the same every 19 years which is known as the Metonic Cycle. The Golden Number is its number in this Metonic Cycle. To find the Golden Number for 1948 add 1 to 1948 and divide by 19. The remainder, 11, is the Golden Number.

Epact is the age of the moon on some fixed day of the calendar year. (January 1 Gregorian Calendar).

Solar Cycle

In the Julian Calendar the days of the year occurred on the same days of the week in 7×4 years; 28 years was called the Solar Cycle. It is little used now.

The Cycle of the Indiction, is a non-astronomical cycle of 15 years. Following Diocletian's reconquest of Egypt in A.D. 297 a provincial census was taken and repeated every 15 years.

Julian Period

This is a combination of the Solar Cycle of 28 years, the Metonic or Lunar Cycle of 19 years, and the Cycle of the Indiction, 15 years. These are all supposed to begin on January 1 of the Julian Calendar which was 4713 B.C. The Julian days are numbered consecutively from Greenwich mean noon on January 1, 4713 B.C.

STANDARD TIME ZONES IN THE UNITED STATES AND CANADA

SOLAR, SIDEREAL AND STANDARD TIME

Apparent Time.—By apparent noon is meant the moment when the sun is on the meridian, and apparent time is measured by the distance in degrees that the sun is east or west of the meridian. Apparent time is given by the sun dial.

Mean Time.—The interval between apparent noon on two successive days is not constant, and a clock cannot be constructed to keep apparent time. For this reason mean time is used. The length of a mean day is the average of all the apparent days throughout the year. The real sun moves about the ecliptic in one year; an imaginary mean sun is considered as moving uniformly around the celestial equator in one year. The difference between the times that the real sun and the mean sun cross the meridian (i.e. between apparent noon and mean noon) is the equation of time.

Sidereal Time.—This is time as determined from the stars. It is sidereal 0 hours when the Vernal Equinox or First of Aries is on the meridian. In accurate time-keeping the moment when a star is on the meridian is observed and the corresponding mean time is then computed with the assistance of the Nautical Almanac. When a telescope is mounted equatorially the position of a body in the sky is located by means of the sidereal time.

Standard Time.—

Owing to the great breadth of the Dominion the difference in solar time in various parts of the country is adjusted by the creation of Standard Time Zones, one hour in width, fixed between arbitrary lines running north and south, 15° of longitude apart, the time observed in each zone being an exact number of hours slow from Greenwich.

Example: When it is 8 a.m. by Pacific Time it is 12 noon by Atlantic Time and 4 p.m. at Greenwich.

There are six zones divided as follows, reckoning from Greenwich:

Atlantic Standard Time 60th Meridian Time	New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island, and those parts of Quebec and N.W.T. east of the 68th Meridian, 4 hours slow. (Railway time changes going west at Campbellton and Saint John, N.B.)
Eastern Standard Time 75th Meridian Time	Quebec west of the 68th Meridian and Ontario as far west as the 90th Meridian; N.W.T. between the 68th and 85th Meridian, 5 hours slow. (Railway time changes going west at Fort William and Armstrong.)
Central Standard Time 90th Meridian Time	Ontario west of the 90th Meridian, Manitoba, southeasterly part of Saskatchewan and N.W.T. between the 85th and 102nd Meridian, 6 hours slow. (Railway time changes going west at Broadview, Watrous, Arcola, Neudorf, Humboldt, Kipling, and Hudson Bay Junction.)
Mountain Standard Time 105th Meridian Time	Saskatchewan except in the southeasterly part; throughout Alberta and in N.W.T. between the 102nd and 120th Meridian, 7 hours slow. (Railway time changes going west at Jasper, Crow's Nest and Field.)
Pacific Standard Time 120th Meridian Time	Throughout British Columbia and in N.W.T. west of the 120th Meridian, 8 hours slow.
Yukon Standard Time 135th Meridian Time	Throughout Yukon Territory, 9 hours slow.

Standard Times as used by the railways in traversing these Zones are in general use. Solar time around the globe varies four minutes with each degree of longitude.

The Standard Time Zones in Canada and the United States are shown on the map above.

DAYLIGHT SAVING OR SUMMER TIME

Prior to the war, Daylight-Saving Time in Canada was a matter of local regulation. Railways ran on Standard Time. Many cities and towns adopted Daylight-Saving Time for the summer months, especially in the east, but probably most towns and rural communities throughout the Dominion observed normal (Standard) time.

In September 1940, a Dominion order-in-council required municipalities in Ontario and Quebec which had been observing daylight-saving time, to continue to do so indefinitely, throughout the year, as a power-conserving measure.

On January 26th, 1942, by Order in Council P.C. 547, Daylight Saving was made obligatory on all municipalities in Canada throughout the year.

On Sept. 30th, 1945 this order was revoked and Canada reverted to Standard time, subject, as before the war, to local regulation. In subsequent years many cities in Canada, went on Fast time from the end of April to the end of September.

In Great Britain Summer Time was originally enacted by law in 1916. An Act of 1922 specified that the time should be advanced 1 hour at 2 a.m. G.M.T. on the morning of the day following the third Saturday in April, or if that day is Easter-day, the day following the second Saturday, and should end at 2 a.m. G.M.T. on the morning of the day next following the third Saturday in September. The Act, renewed in 1924 and 1925, was made permanent and modified by substituting the first Saturday in October for third Saturday in September. The Act applies to Great Britain, Northern Ireland, Channel Islands and the Isle of Man.

During the war, Summer time in Great Britain and Northern Ireland was extended beyond its normal period, later made continuous throughout the year and finally increased an extra hour (double Summer Time) during the summer months.

In 1946 normal Summer Time was resumed and was in effect from April 14th to October 6th.

In 1947 Double British Summer Time was re-introduced and became effective between April 13th and August 10th, when normal Summer-Time, i.e., one hour in advance of Greenwich Mean Time, was resumed and remained in operation until October 31, when Normal Greenwich Time came into force again.

In the United States Daylight Saving Time is a matter of local legislation; on February 9, 1942, legislation became effective placing the entire nation on Daylight Saving (War) Time but this legislation was rescinded on Sept. 30th, 1945.

ECLIPSES DURING 1948

In the year 1948 there will be three eclipses, two of the sun and one of the moon. None of these will be spectacular in Canada.

1. A partial eclipse of the moon on the morning of April 23, 1948, invisible in Eastern Canada, visible in Western Canada. The beginning will be visible generally in Asia, the Indian Ocean, the Antarctic regions, Australia, the Pacific Ocean and the extreme western and northwestern parts of North America; the ending visible generally in Asia, the Indian Ocean, the Antarctic regions, Australia, the Pacific Ocean and the extreme northwestern part of North America. The moon enters the Umbra at 5.20 and leaves the Umbra at 5.58 Pacific Standard Time. The magnitude of the eclipse will be 0.028.

2. An annular eclipse of the sun on May 8-9, 1948, visible in the extreme northwestern part of Canada as a partial eclipse beginning just before sunset on the afternoon of the 8th. The path of the annular eclipse begins in the Indian Ocean, crosses the south-eastern part of Asia and ends in the Pacific Ocean off the coast of Canada.

3. A total eclipse of the sun, November 1, 1948, invisible in Canada. The path of the total eclipse begins in Central Africa, crosses the Pacific Ocean and ends near New Zealand.

NOTES ON THE ASTRONOMICAL TABLES

The purpose of the following notes is to explain the tables and charts which are not self-explanatory and to illustrate the uses to which they may be put.

Sunrise, Sunset, Moonrise and Moonset (see tables pp. 9 to 15). These tables give Standard Times of risings and settings for the places to which they apply (i.e. E.S.T. for Toronto and Ottawa, C.S.T. for Winnipeg, P.S.T. for Vancouver). The calculations are for the upper limb (edge) of the sun and they are made for the astronomical (sea) horizon. Accordingly, the times will not be correct if the observer is below or above the level of his visible horizon at the point of sunrise or sunset.

The times of sunrise and sunset for a place other than those given in the table can be obtained with a fair degree of precision by proceeding as follows: Choose two places in the table which bracket your latitude; take the times of sunrise (or sunset) of each of these; change each to Local Mean Time by adding (or subtracting) 4 minutes of time per degree for the number of degrees of longitude by which that place is east (or west) of the standard meridian of its time zone. Then, by finding the change per degree of latitude difference, find the local Mean Time for your own latitude. Finally add (or subtract) 4 minutes for each degree of longitude which you are west (or east) of your standard meridian to obtain Standard Time.

If the place has a latitude nearly equal to that of one of the places listed (say within half a degree) the procedure may be simplified: For each degree by which the place is west (or east) of the listed place add (or subtract) 4 minutes to the tabulated value of the listed place. This gives the time of sunrise or sunset in the Standard Time of the listed place; change to the standard Time of the required place if it is in a different time zone.

Example: Required to find the time of sunset on Jan. 1, 1948 for Quebec City (lat. $46^{\circ} 48' N$. long. $71^{\circ} 13' W$).

From tables: Ottawa 16 29, Winnipeg 16 37. Ottawa is about $3\frac{1}{2}^{\circ}$ west of 75th meridian; Winnipeg is about 7° west of 90th meridian. Therefore L.M.T. for Ottawa is $16\ 29 - 3 = 16\ 26$, and L.M.T. for Winnipeg is $16\ 37 - 28 = 16\ 09$. Difference in latitude of Winnipeg and Ottawa is about 5° . Thus sunset is earlier from the latitude of Ottawa northward by about $3\frac{1}{2}$ minutes per degree of latitude and, since Quebec is about $1\frac{1}{2}^{\circ}$ farther north than Ottawa, the L.M.T. of sunset at Quebec is $16\ 26 - 5 = 16\ 21$. Since Quebec is about $3\frac{3}{4}^{\circ}$ east of the 75th meridian the E.S.T. of sunset at Quebec is $16\ 21 - 15 = 16\ 06$.

Note: Since Montreal and Ottawa are at about the same latitude the E.S.T. of sunrise and sunset for Montreal may be taken as simply 9 minutes earlier than at Ottawa.

The times of moonrise and moonset are not easily obtained with precision for places other than those listed in the tables because of the more rapid motion of the moon. However, by using the Ottawa, Winnipeg or Vancouver values for Eastern, Central or Western Canada respectively, the errors will usually be less than half an hour.

Azimuth of the Sun at Rising and Setting (see table on page 18). Only twice a year, namely about March 21 and September 23, does the sun rise and set more or less exactly in the east and the west respectively. It is of interest and sometimes of value to know the position of sunrise and sunset at other times. The table on page 18 tabulates these positions in degrees east of north and west of north for sunrise and sunset respectively for a selection of latitudes and dates. For latitudes and dates other than those tabulated take simple proportions.

Time when the Sun is on the Meridian (see table on page 19). If Standard Time is to be obtained from a sun-dial or from a noon marker or, conversely if direction is to be obtained by the sun from a knowledge of time, it is necessary to know the time when the sun is on the meridian, i.e., due south. The correction to the sun-dial is given for every third day in the table on page 19. (Take simple proportions for intermediate days.) Add this to Apparent Solar Time to obtain Local Mean Time. To obtain Standard Time add (or subtract) 4 minutes per degree of longitude by which you are west (or east) of your standard meridian.

Example: At Toronto on February 1st what is the Eastern Standard Time when a vertical peg casts a shadow due north?

It is then noon Apparent Solar Time. Correction to the sun-dial from table is $+13m.30s$. Therefore Local Mean Time is 12h. 13m. 30s. and since Toronto is $4\frac{1}{2}^{\circ}$ west of the 75th meridian, the Eastern Standard Time is 12h. 13m. 30s. $+17m.40s. = 12h. 31m. 10s$.

Altitude of the Sun at Meridian Passage (see table on page 19). For architectural or gardening purposes it may be of value to know the maximum (i.e. noon-time) altitude of the sun at various seasons. This is obtained from the table of the sun's apparent declination which is listed for every third day. (Take simple proportions for intermediate days.) Proceed as follows: Subtract your latitude (presumed in the northern hemisphere) from 90° ; add or subtract (as indicated by the sign) the value of the sun's declination for the proper date.

Example: How high is the sun at noon on November 23rd at Quebec City (latitude $46^{\circ} 48'$)? $90^{\circ} - 46^{\circ} 48' = 43^{\circ} 12'$. Sun's declination on Nov. 26 is $-20^{\circ} 53'$. Therefore sun's altitude at noon is $43^{\circ} 12' - 20^{\circ} 53' = 22^{\circ} 19'$.

Direction obtained from the Pole Star (see table on page 19). A previous note explained how the sun may be used to obtain the north-south direction. If a theodolite or telescopic sighting device is available, a north-south line may be laid down more accurately by means of the Pole Star. This star is exactly north only twice per day, namely at upper and lower transits. The table on page 19 lists the Local Mean Time of the upper transit of Polaris for every third day. (Take simple proportions for intermediate days.) The lower transit is 11h. 58m. later. To find the corresponding Standard Time add (or subtract) 4 minutes per degree of longitude by which you are west (or east) of your standard meridian.

Example: During the night of February 15-16 when is Polaris due north at Toronto (long. $79^{\circ} 24' W$)?

From table, upper transit is at 16 07 L.M.T. on Feb. 15. Lower transit therefore is at 4 05 L.M.T. on Feb. 16. Toronto is about $4\frac{1}{2}^{\circ}$ west of the 75th meridian, therefore the corresponding E.S.T. is $4\ 05 + 18 = 4\ 23$.

Note: Although the table of upper transits of Polaris was calculated for longitude $90^{\circ} W$, little error will result in accepting these values for the whole of Canada. Working to the nearest whole minute of time the errors made in the direction of Polaris by this method will seldom exceed 10 seconds of arc.

Example: September 13th, 1759

Under heading "1752-1800," and in line with the year of the century (46th), find the letter G. Index G is then the key to the whole of the Calendar to the right for the year 1759, and by it will be seen that September 12th was on a Wednesday.

METEORS, METEORITES, AND METEOR SHOWERS

A meteor or "shooting star" appears momentarily in the sky when a particle from beyond the earth enters the earth's atmosphere at a high velocity. Most visible meteors are caused by particles smaller than a grain of wheat, and these small particles are completely vaporized in the atmosphere at a height of about 80 miles. A spectacular meteor, known as a fire-ball, is caused by a larger body which may fall to the earth's surface in one or more pieces. Particles seen thus to fall, or subsequently found by analysis to be of this nature, are called meteorites.

Meteorites may be divided into two main classes the irons, which are almost pure nickel-iron, and the stones. Any meteorite is characterized by a dark, smooth crust caused by the fusion of the outer part.

Meteors may be observed on any clear, moonless night at an average rate of about ten an hour. At times there occur meteor showers, when meteors are seen with much greater frequency and appear to radiate from a particular part of the sky which is called the radiant. This is an effect of perspective, the radiant being the vanishing point of the parallel tracks of the meteors. Meteor showers usually repeat themselves annually, and have nearly always been associated with the orbits of comets. When the earth passes through or near the orbit of a comet it intercepts straggling particles which cause meteors. The principal meteor showers for the northern hemisphere are listed below.

The study of meteors and meteorites adds to our knowledge of the nature and origin of the solar system and also to our knowledge of the earth's outer atmosphere.

	FEBRUARY	MARCH	APRIL
MERCURY	From about 1st to 10th a good evening star low in the south-west after sunset	A morning star but too close to sun for observation	Too close to sun for observation
VENUS	Spectacular evening star in south-west, setting about three hours after sunset	Spectacular evening star in west, setting about 4 hours after sunset	At its best this month; evening star, setting about 4 hours after sunset
MARS	Rises just after sunset; confusingly close to Regulus but somewhat brighter	Still in Leo; now north-west of Regulus and fainter; well up at sunset	In Leo, a few degrees north-west of Regulus and appreciably fainter
JUPITER	Spectacular morning star rising in the south-east after midnight	Spectacular morning star rising in the south-east just after midnight	Rises in the south-east at midnight. Prominent in south rest of night
SATURN	Just west of Mars and Regulus and fainter than either	Moving into Cancer; a few degrees west of Mars and appreciably fainter	In Cancer, a few degrees west of Mars and about the same brightness

MAY

JULY

MERCURY	From 15th to 31st well placed as an evening star low in west after sunset	During first two weeks a good evening star, but later too close to sun	A morning star, best seen at mid-month; low in east before sunrise.
VENUS	Still a splendid evening star; seen in the west for several hours after sunset	An evening star early in the month; later too close to the sun to be seen	A morning star, low in the east just before sunrise
MARS	Near Regulus and fainter. In the western sky in the evening, setting about midnight	Now south-west of Regulus, setting before midnight	About half way between Regulus and Spica. Sets a few hours after sunset
JUPITER	Rises about 2 hours before midnight; very prominent	Very prominent in the south all night	Well up and prominent in the south-east at sunset; low in the south most of night
SATURN	A few degrees west of Mars and slightly brighter	To the west of Regulus and fainter	A few degrees west of Regulus sets soon after sunset

MAGNETIC DECLINATION

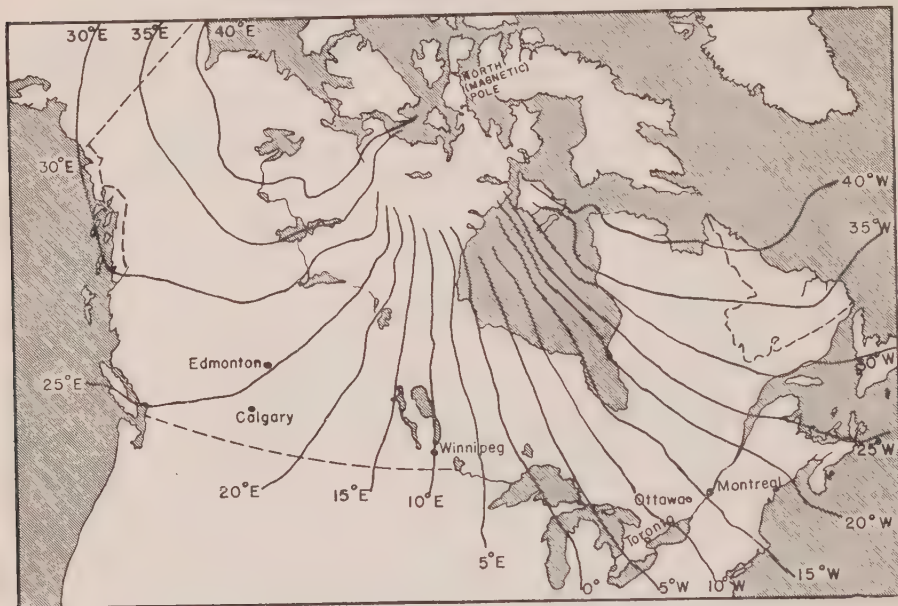

CHART OF MAGNETIC DECLINATION

A compass needle, even when unaffected by extraneous magnetic fields, does not in general point due north. The amount and direction by which its direction differs from true north is called magnetic declination or variation. The declination varies with the position of the observer and also varies slowly with time. The above chart gives the values of declination over the Dominion as of 1940. These values may be used for 1948 unless accuracy of better than 1° is required.

Example: What is the direction of the compass needle at the southern tip of Lake Manitoba?

From the chart this point is about $\frac{1}{4}$ of the way from the line of 10°E declination towards the line of 15°E declination. Therefore the declination is 11°E , i.e., the needle points 11° east of true north.

A large map of Canada showing lines of Equal Magnetic Declination and Annual Change in Canada for 1940 is obtainable from the office of the Surveyor General, Ottawa, for 25 cents.

ASTRONOMY IN CANADA

During the past fifty years Canada has established and maintained a prominent place in the field of astronomy, both professional and amateur.

Canada possesses three major astronomical observatories: the Dominion Observatory at Ottawa, the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory at Victoria, and the David Dunlap Observatory at Toronto. The Dominion observatories are operated under the Department of Mines and Resources and the David Dunlap Observatory is operated by the University of Toronto.

The Dominion Observatory at Ottawa has been operating since 1905. Its principal astronomical functions at the present time are the time service, solar research, and meteoric research. Its largest telescope is a 15-inch refractor.

The principal telescope of the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory is a 72-inch reflector completed in 1918. With this instrument much important research concerning the motion and nature of stars has been accomplished.

The David Dunlap Observatory was completed in 1935, a gift to the University of Toronto from the late Mrs. David Dunlap in memory of her husband. The large telescope at this observatory is a 74-inch reflector. Research problems include stellar motions, stellar spectroscopy, and the study of variable stars.

The telescopes at Toronto and Victoria are exceeded in size only by the Mount Palomar 200-inch telescope, the Mount Wilson 100-inch telescope, both in California, and the 82-inch telescope of the McDonald Observatory in Texas.

As well as these major observatories where telescopic observations are made every clear night, there are a number of observatories primarily devoted to astronomical instruction. Among these are the Hume Cronyn Memorial Observatory of the University of Western Ontario at London (10-inch refractor), the Observatory of the University of Saskatchewan at Saskatoon (7-inch refractor) and the Observatory of the Royal Astronomical Society of Quebec City (16-inch reflector).

Public visiting hours at these observatories are as follows: Dominion Astrophysical Observatory at Victoria, Saturday evenings throughout the year; the Dominion Observatory, Ottawa, Saturday evenings throughout the year; David Dunlap Observatory at Toronto, Saturday evenings April 1 to October 31, Sunday afternoons July and August and Wednesday afternoons throughout the year; Hume Cronyn Observatory at London, first Saturday evening in each month; University of Saskatchewan Observatory at Saskatoon and the R.A.S.C. Observatory at Quebec, one hour every clear evening.

There are other smaller observatories at Universities and Colleges which are reserved for student instruction.

In addition to professional astronomers there are many amateurs in Canada who follow this interesting study. Most of these are members of the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada (see Index), membership in which is open to all who are interested in the subject.

LEGAL WEIGHTS AND MEASURES IN CANADA

In Canada the law provides, with respect to weights, that the unit shall be the standard pound (avoirdupois) of 7,000 grains, one-sixteenth part of the standard pound shall be an ounce (437½ grains), one hundred pounds a cental, and two thousand pounds a ton, and that four hundred and eighty grains shall be an ounce troy. As regards measures—That the unit or standard measure of capacity, as well for liquids as for dry measures, shall be the gallon, containing ten standard pounds of distilled water, weighed with the water and air at a temperature of sixty-two degrees Fahrenheit with the barometer at thirty inches, the quart shall be one-fourth part of a gallon, and the pint one-eighth part of the gallon, and eight gallons shall be a bushel. The 1/160th part of the gallon by volume shall be the fluid ounce.

This gallon, commonly known as the "Imperial gallon," contains 277.42 cubic inches.

The standard measure of length is the yard, one-third part of which it is provided shall be a foot, and the twelfth part of such foot shall be an inch.

The legal cord for the measurement of wood, is 128 cubic feet.

IMPERIAL MEASURE

Special note should be made of the fact that certain standards of weights and measures used in some of the states of the United States are not legal, though frequently used, in Canada. These standards are not so large, being about 16.6 per cent. smaller in capacity than the legal standards in Canada, i.e., the Imperial pint, quart and gallon. Imperial measure is 20% larger than U.S. measure.

To convert a given number of U.S. gallons into Imperial gallons, subtract 1/6th or divide by 1.2. To convert a given number of Imperial gallons into U.S. gallons, add 1/5th or multiply by 1.2.

United States measure is the old Winchester Bushel and Gallon or Wine Measure of Queen Anne. The United States gallon contains 231 cubic inches.

THE FRUIT, VEGETABLES AND HONEY ACT AND REGULATIONS

Chapter 62 of the Statutes, 1935

The provisions of this Act are intended to promote orderly marketing throughout the fruit, vegetable and honey industries and to assist in the settlement of disputes through the medium of an Arbitration Board. The Act is applicable to interprovincial or foreign trade only.

There follows a brief summary of the provisions of the Act and Regulations:

1. Establishment of grades or standards of quality for honey, fruits and vegetables.

2. Prescribes conditions relative to inspection, grading, marking of packages, shipment, advertisement and sale of fruit, vegetables and honey produced within or without Canada.

3. Establishment of standard packages for various kinds of fruits, vegetables and honey.

4. Provides for the detention of fruit, vegetables, honey or packages in respect of which an offence under the Act or Regulations has been committed.

5. Prescribes penalties for contravention of any provisions of the Act or Regulations.

6. Licensing of brokers, commission agents and dealers, handling fruits and vegetables.

7. Provides for a commercial fruit and vegetable inspection service at both shipping point and destination for which appropriate fees are charged for certificates issued.

8. Registration of honey packers and persons assembling honey and to prescribe fees for honey inspection certification and licensing.

9. Provides for the inspection and certification of imported produce for which a fee is charged for customs clearance purposes or to assist in determining if contract stipulations have been met.

10. The compulsory inspection and certification of fruits, vegetables and honey exported out of Canada for which a fee is charged.

11. Provides for amendment and addition to regulations through Ministerial Order.

Note: A free copy of this Act may be obtained from the Fruit and Vegetable Division, Marketing Service, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

WEIGHT OF CERTAIN COMMODITIES BY THE BUSHEL

EGGS

The regulations respecting the grading and marking of eggs, put into effect by the Dominion Government, being in use throughout Canada, are of general interest to consumers.

The Dominion Government standard grades for eggs are as follows:—A1, A, B, C, —a candling definition being specified for each grade.

Grade A.—The highest commercial grade; fresh quality eggs, clean and sound in shell; packed in three weights as follows:—

Grade A Large.—Eggs weighing individually at the rate of 24 oz. or more per dozen.

Grade A Medium.—Eggs weighing individually at the rate of 22 to 24 oz. per dozen.

Grade A Pullet.—Eggs weighing individually at the rate of 18 to 22 oz. per dozen.

Grade B.—The second grade, reasonably clean and sound in shell, weighing individually at the rate of 22 oz. or more per dozen.

Grade B Large.—Shall weigh individually at the rate of 24 oz. or more per dozen.

Grade B Medium.—Shall weigh individually at the rate of not less than 22 ounces per dozen and up to but not including 24 ounces per dozen.

Grade B Pullet.—Shall weigh individually at the rate of not less than 20 oz. and up to but not exceeding 22 oz. per dozen; and for export, 39 lbs. net per 30 dozen.

Grade C.—The lowest grade, comprising all eggs, including cracks or dirty or stained eggs not permitted to be graded under Grades A and B, but which are still not of a condition unfit for human consumption.

Grade A1.—A super grade, available only on some markets. This grade is marketed only from farms holding a permit which is based on the suitability of production conditions; packed in three weights, Large, Medium and Pullet, the weights of which are the same as for Grade A except in the instance of Grade A1 Pullet, the minimum weight for which is 20 ounces.

Fresh.—The word "fresh" shall be used only in conjunction with Grades A or A1.

Storage Eggs.—Cold stored eggs may be sold only in the appropriate grades B or C.

Diameter of a Circle \times 3.1416 gives Circumference
 Diameter Squared \times .7854 gives Area of Circle Diameter Squared \times 3.1416 gives Surface of Sphere
 Diameter Cubed \times .5236 gives Volume of Sphere
 One Degree of Circumference \times 57.3 gives Radius Diameter of Cylinder \times 3.1416, and product by its length, gives the Surface Diameter of Cylinder Squared \times .7854, and product by the length, gives Volume

A Circular Acre is 235,504 feet, a Circular Rod 117,752 feet in diameter. The Circumference of the Earth at the Equator is about 24,902 miles, and the Polar Diameter 7,899 miles. The mean Equatorial Diameter is 7,926 miles.

TIMBER AND WOOD

100 superficial feet	= 1 sq. of flooring

A geographical mile is the length of 1 minute of latitude. A nautical mile is the length of 1 minute of the meridian. In navigating, the Admiralty Knot is used, 6,080 ft., divided into 10 cables, the cable being assumed to be 608 feet.

MEASURES OF TIME

60 seconds.....	= 1 minute
60 minutes.....	= 1 hour
24 hours.....	= 1 day
(23 h. 56 m. 4 s. of mean solar time)	= 1 Sidereal Day)
7 days.....	= 1 week
52 weeks.....	= 1 year
12 months.....	= 1 year
365 days.....	= 1 year
366 days.....	= 1 leap-year
100 years.....	= 1 century

The mean solar year is equal to 365 days, 5 hrs. 48 min. 45.7 sec., or nearly 365 $\frac{1}{4}$ days.

Every year whose number is divisible by 4 is a leap year, unless the number of the year ends in two ciphers, in which case the number must be divisible by 400. Thus, 2000 and 2400 will be leap years, but 1900 was not a leap year.

Solar time around the Globe varies 4 minutes with each degree of longitude.

MEASUREMENT OF SHIP TONNAGE

Followed by the British Board of Trade; applying to all ships in the British Merchant Service, including Canadian registered vessels. The U.S. merchant service use a different method.

GROSS TONNAGE is the unit of volume containing 100 cubic feet in the internal volume of a vessel under the tonnage deck to which is added:—

- (1) the 'tween deck space, if any, above the tonnage deck.
- (2) the volume of permanently closed-in spaces above the upper deck available for cargo stores, or for passengers and crew and
- (3) any excess of hatchways.

NET OR REGISTER TONNAGE. The Net or Register Tonnage is the Gross Tonnage as found above less deductions for crew space, stores, navigation spaces, allowance for propelling power and other deductions allowable under the Merchant Shipping Act.

DEADWEIGHT TONNAGE is the amount of cargo, bunkers, reserve feed water, domestic and sanitary water, provisions, consumable stores and effects on board, and is expressed in tons of 2240 lbs. each; or alternatively it is the difference in the displacement at a given draft and the displacement of the vessel "lightship" with water in boilers to working level and ready for steam but with none of the above mentioned items on board.

DISPLACEMENT is the amount of water displaced by a vessel floating in equilibrium in still water. The weight of water displaced is equal to the total weight of the vessel with everything on board and known as a displacement tonnage. If expressed in cubic feet it is known as the volume of displacement.

ELECTRICAL MEASURES

UNIT	FOR THE MEASURE OF:
Volt.....	Electromotive Force (E.M.F.) or Electrical Pressure = the electromotive force that steadily applied to a conductor whose resistance is one ohm will produce a current of one ampere.
Ohm.....	Resistance = the resistance offered to the passage of a current of electricity by a thread of mercury 106 cm. long and 1 sq. mm. cross section at the temperature of melting ice.
Ampere.....	Current = the current 1 volt will drive through 1 ohm.
Coulomb.....	Quantity = 1 ampere flowing for 1 second of time.
Microfarad.....	Capacity = one-millionth of a coulomb at 1 volt E.M.F.
Joule.....	Work = energy required to drive 1 ampere through 1 ohm = 0.73756 foot-pound. (Energy is the ability to do work).
Watt.....	Power = 1 joule acting for 1 second = 44 foot-pounds per minute. 746 Watts = 1 horsepower.
Henry.....	Induction = when the E.M.F. in the circuit is 1 volt while the inducing current varies at the rate of 1 amp. per sec.
Radio-Frequency—	Frequency in kilocycles = 300,000 ÷ (wave-length in metres).

PUBLIC STATUTORY HOLIDAYS IN CANADA

DOMINION OF CANADA.—In accordance with the provisions of the Interpretation Act, the Bills of Exchange Act, the Civil Service Act, and the Armistice Day Act, the holidays to be observed throughout Canada are as follows:—

BILLS OF EXCHANGE ACT

(a) In all the provinces of Canada,

Sundays	Dominion Day
New Year's Day	Labour Day
Good Friday	Thanksgiving Day (as proclaimed.)
Easter Monday	Remembrance Day
Victoria Day	Christmas Day

The birthday of the reigning Sovereign or the day fixed by proclamation for its celebration.

Any day appointed by proclamation for a public holiday or for a general fast or general thanksgiving.

In any of the provinces any day proclaimed by the Lieutenant-Governor for a holiday, fast or thanksgiving; also any non-judicial day by virtue of a statute of the province.

In any city, town, municipality or other organized district, any day appointed as a civic holiday by the council or other administrative body.

When New Year's Day, Christmas Day, Victoria Day, Dominion Day and Sovereign's Birthday fall on Sunday, the following day is observed as the holiday.

"(b) In the province of Quebec in addition to the said days,

The Epiphany,	All Saints' Day,
The Ascension,	Conception Day."

For the dates of the above holidays, see the list of "Fixed and Movable Festivals and Anniversaries," page 1 and for Easter and other Ecclesiastical Dates" page 6.

INTERPRETATION ACT

"In every Act, unless the context otherwise requires: (II) "holiday" includes Sundays, New Year's Day, the Epiphany, Good Friday, The Ascension, All Saints' Day, Conception Day, the Easter Monday, Ash Wednesday, Christmas Day, the birthday or the day fixed by proclamation for the celebration of the birthday of the reigning sovereign, Victoria Day, Dominion Day, the first Monday in September, designated Labour Day, Remembrance Day, and any day appointed by proclamation for a general fast or thanksgiving."

CIVIL SERVICE ACT

The holidays to be observed in and by the civil service are: Sundays; New Year's Day; Good Friday; Easter Monday; Victoria Day; The birthday of the reigning Sovereign, or the day fixed by proclamation by the Governor in Council for the celebration thereof; Dominion Day; Labour Day; Armistice Day; Christmas Day.

Any day appointed by proclamation by the Governor in Council to be observed as a general fast or thanksgiving or as a holiday. 1920, c.41, s.6; 1921, c.16, s.6.

PROVINCES

The Provincial holidays generally coincide with the Dominion list with the following additions: MANITOBA, Boxing Day. (Arbour Day is not a legal holiday.)

BRITISH COLUMBIA, Boxing Day.

SASKATCHEWAN AND ALBERTA, Ash Wednesday, Boxing Day, Arbour Day.

YUKON, Arbour Day and Discovery Day.

CANADIAN GOVERNMENT ANNUITIES

The Annuities Act was passed in order to authorize the issue of Government Annuities for old age. Any resident of Canada may purchase a Canadian Government Annuity, employers of labour may contract for Annuities for their employees, and societies incorporated for fraternal or other purposes may contract for Annuities for their members. A Canadian Government Annuity is payable for life, not transferable, cannot be alienated, forfeited or stolen, and cannot be seized or levied upon by process of law. Annuities may be purchased for any sum from $10 to $1200. As an example, at the date this is printed, 1947, a man aged 20 may secure an annuity at 60 of $500 a year for the rest of his life by the payment of $5.05 per month; while an immediate annuity of $500 a year, for life or 10 years certain, purchased in one amount by a man aged 60, would cost $6,235.

On March 31, 1946, there were in effect 133,387 contracts and certificates. Annuity was payable under 33,698 of these and annuity was still deferred under 99,689. The total amount of annuity payable under the vested contracts was $13,744,535 and the value of outstanding annuities, both immediate and deferred, was $287,492,656 this being also the balance at credit of the Annuities Fund as of March 31, 1946.

For full particulars apply to H. A. Black, Director, Canadian Government Annuities, Department of Labour, Ottawa.

BANKS IN CANADA AND THEIR BRANCHES

BANK OF CANADA

Following one of the recommendations contained in the report made to the Government in 1933 by the Royal Commission on Banking and Currency, headed by the Right Hon. Lord Macmillan, P.C., K.C., there was enacted by Parliament in the 1934 session, Chapter 43 of the Statutes of that year, incorporating the Bank of Canada as a central bank of issue and rediscount. The institution opened for business on March 11, 1935.

The Bank's functions are largely, though not entirely, regulative. It has, except as provided in the Bank Act, the sole right of note issue and is required to maintain a reserve in gold coin and bullion of 25 per cent of the amount of its outstanding notes and deposit liabilities with, however, the proviso that such reserve requirements may be suspended by the Governor in Council upon request of the Board of Directors of the Bank for certain periods not exceeding in all one year without the sanction of Parliament. Under the authority of the War Measures Act the gold reserve requirement was suspended by the Governor-in-Council effective May 1, 1940. The Bank is the custodian of the gold reserves formerly held by the Finance Department of the Government and, subject to the provisions of the Bank Act, all gold coin or bullion formerly owned by the chartered banks in Canada. As a measure for the security, defence, peace, order and welfare of Canada, the Bank in accordance with The Exchange Fund Order of 1940 sold to the Foreign Exchange Control Board all gold held in unrestricted ownership as at May 1st, 1940. The Bank acts as the fiscal agent of the Government of Canada and, by agreement, may also act as banker or fiscal agent of the government of any province.

The management consists of a Board of Directors composed of a Governor, a Deputy Governor and 11 Directors, the Deputy Minister of Finance by virtue of his office being a member of the Board.

In 1938 an amending Act was passed providing that all Directors be appointed by the Government and that the entire capital of $5,000,000 shall be owned by the Dominion of Canada.

The Bank is authorized to pay cumulative dividends of 4½%; the remainder of the profits are payable to the Consolidated Revenue Fund of Canada and to the Rest Fund of the Bank in specified proportions until the Rest Fund is not less than twice the amount of the paid-up capital, after which all the remaining profits are payable into the Consolidated Revenue Fund.

Directors, officers and employees of chartered banks and persons employed in the public service may not hold office as a Director.

THE INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT BANK

This bank was created by Act of Parliament on August 15th, 1944. It is a subsidiary of the Bank of Canada. The capital stock of $25 millions was subscribed by the Bank of Canada, and has been fully paid. The bank is empowered to issue bonds and debentures subject to the limitation that its total direct and contingent liabilities may not exceed three times the amount of its paid-up capital stock and reserve fund; the total resources of the bank therefore, are, $100 millions, plus four times its earned surplus. The president of the bank is the governor of the Bank of Canada and the Head Office is in Ottawa.

The purpose of the Industrial Development Bank is to ensure that adequate financing is available for desirable industrial projects by supplementing the activities of other lenders. The bank has been given powers to provide financial assistance to any person engaged in or about to engage in any industrial enterprise in Canada and to accept any form of collateral security including real property.

The bank's operations are mainly in the field of small and medium sized industrial enterprises. The bank's loans are usually for capital assistance rather than working funds and for a period of several years in contrast to the typical short term loans in commercial banking.

CENTRAL MORTGAGE AND HOUSING CORPORATION

A Crown company, incorporated by Act of Parliament on January 1, 1946; to administer the National Housing Act, 1944; to provide facilities for the rediscounting of mortgages by the lending institutions; and to administer the Emergency Shelter Regulations. As a result of consolidation of Dominion Government operations in the housing field, the corporation also directs the activities of Wartime Housing Limited. In addition, the non-farm or small holdings operations under the Veterans' Land Act are referred to the corporation.

CHARTERED BANKS

Chartered Banks in Canada are incorporated by Special Act of the Dominion Parliament and governed by the Bank Act (Chapter 30 of the Statutes of 1944), which continues in force the charters of such banks until July 1, 1954. The Act specifies clearly the transactions in which banks may or may not legally engage, and embodies regulations designed to ensure the proper conduct of the bank's affairs.

They are prohibited from engaging in any trade or business, from loaning money on the security of or dealing in the shares of any bank and from loaning more than $10,000.00 to any of their officers or clerks. Subject only to the provisions of Section 83 of the Bank Act and of the Farm Improvement Loans Act, 1944 (Chapter 41 of the Statutes of 1944), banks are also prohibited from lending upon the security of immovable property, although such may be taken as additional collateral for debts already contracted to a bank in the ordinary course of its business.

The note circulation privileges of the banks have been gradually reduced since January 1, 1933 and at January 1, 1945 the legal limit became 25% of the unimpaired capital of the respective banks. From the latter date no bank is permitted to issue or reissue notes in Canada and in January, 1950 an amount equal to the notes then outstanding must be paid to the Bank of Canada, which thereafter will be liable to redeem the said notes. The foreign note issues of a bank are now limited to 10% of its unimpaired paid-up capital.

In the event of a bank suspending payment, the payment of notes in circulation is a first charge upon the assets of the bank. Notes are further secured by a Circulation Fund held by the Dominion Government. Each bank contributes to this fund an amount equal to 5% of its average circulation. If this fund were not sufficient, then each bank must make up the deficiency in proportion to its circulation. If a bank fails to make arrangements within two months from the day of suspension for the payment of all its notes and interest thereon, the Minister may make arrangements for the payment by the Bank of Canada on his behalf out of the Circulation Fund together with interest at 5% per annum from the day of the suspension to the day named for redemption.

While deposits are not a first charge on the assets of an insolvent bank (the claims of noteholders, the Dominion Government and the Provincial Governments having priority in the order named), depositors have enjoyed a certain measure of protection in the extra-liability of shareholders. At one time in the event of the property and assets of any bank being insufficient to pay its debts and liabilities, each shareholder was liable for the deficiency to an amount equal to the par value of the shares held by him in addition to any amount not paid up on such shares. In 1934 it was provided that this liability of a shareholder, apart from any amount not paid up on his shares, should not exceed that proportion of the par value of his shares which the amount of notes which the bank was authorized to have in circulation in Canada bore to the paid-up capital of the bank. That proportion has now been reduced to 25% and will be still further reduced throughout the period from January 1st, 1945, to 1950, when, upon payment to the Bank of Canada of the balance of outstanding circulation as already mentioned, the extra-liability on the shares will automatically cease. Shareholders who sell their stock are not relieved of the extra-liability until the expiration of sixty days.

GOVERNMENT OF ALBERTA TREASURY BRANCHES

Treasury Branches were established in 1938 by the Government of the Province of Alberta to provide facilities for depositing money, withdrawing deposits and transferring claims on goods and services to or from other depositors.

In 1944 the services were expanded and now include most of those provided by chartered banks. Treasury Branches and Managers are included in the following list of bank branches.

LES CAISSES POPULAIRES DESJARDINS (CREDIT UNIONS) IN THE PROVINCE OF QUEBEC

Les Caisses populaires Desjardins (Credit Unions) are organized and operate under the Québec Cooperative Syndicates Act. They receive deposits from their members. Those deposits are payable on demand. The members can borrow from the society on note or mortgage for a short or long term period. The rest of the assets is invested in first class bonds or deposited in a Central Credit Union or a Chartered Bank. These Credit Unions do not issue paper money. There were 1061 caisses populaires at the 31st of December, 1946.

TRUST COMPANIES AND LOAN COMPANIES IN CANADA

Trust Companies act as Executors, Trustees and Administrators under wills, or by appointment, as Trustees under marriage or other settlements, as Agent or Attorney in the management of estates of the living, as Guardian of minors or incapable persons, as Fiscal Agent for municipalities and companies, and, where so appointed, as Authorized Trustees in Bankruptcy. Some Trust Companies receive deposits and funds for guaranteed investments, and the loaning of such trust funds is restricted by law to securities authorized by the Trustee Act. The loaning of Company Funds is not so restricted.

The principal function of Loan Companies is the loaning of funds on first mortgage security, the money thus made available for development purposes being obtained mainly by the sale of debentures to the investing public and by Savings Department deposits. During the war years, however, there has been a substantial decrease in the amount of mortgages and real estate, and a corresponding increase in the percentage of Dominion of Canada bonds held.

REGULATIONS, ETC.

Postal services to countries overseas are being changed daily, reinstating services and making other adjustments. All those forwarding mail matter of any kind overseas should get the latest information from Post Office.

FIRST CLASS MATTER

1. Letters

Local or "drop" letters—three cents for first ounce, one cent for each additional ounce or fraction thereof.

All other letters for delivery in Canada, also letters for delivery in Great Britain and all other places in the British Empire, France, Spain, the United States and all other places in North and South America—four cents for first ounce; two cents for each additional ounce or fraction thereof.

Letters for delivery in all countries not mentioned above—5 cents for the first ounce or fraction thereof, and 3 cents for each subsequent ounce or fraction thereof.

Letters for delivery within Canada or in other countries if posted unpaid or not fully prepaid, will be forwarded to destination charged with double deficiency.

2. Postcards

Cards bearing the printed title "Post Card" or "Private Post Card" can be admitted to both Canadian and International mails at printed matter rate, provided that they bear no written communication, and conform in all respects to the regulations regarding printed matter.

Private Post Cards must not exceed a size of 6 inches in length by 4 inches in width, nor be less than 4 inches in length by 3 inches in width.

The right-hand half of the face of the ordinary official post cards and of private post cards is to be strictly reserved for the address, postal directions and postage stamps. The left hand half of the face and the entire back of the card are available for the purposes of the sender, subject to restrictions as to attaching articles to post cards.

2a. Air Mail

Canada's Air Mail Service now extends from the Atlantic to the Pacific with direct extensions to St. John's, Nfld., New York, Chicago, Cleveland, Boston, Seattle and Fairbanks, Alaska, with a daily air mail service between Montreal and the United Kingdom.

Ordinary Canadian postage stamps may be used for the pre-payment of air mail posted in Canada. Envelopes should be plainly endorsed "AIR MAIL" (free stickers are obtainable at all post offices) and should be posted as soon as ready in order to take advantage of early flights. The air mail rate includes ordinary postage. Registration, C.O.D. and special delivery are additional.

2b. Canada Air Letters

Canada Air Letters are carried between Canada and the United Kingdom by ordinary trans-Atlantic air mail service.

Patrons making use of the Canada Air Letter should observe the caution printed on the form not to include enclosures of any kind. Canada Air Letters which contain enclosures must necessarily be forwarded as ordinary surface mail.

The rate to United Kingdom, Northern Ireland and Eire is 10c; to other countries to which the service applies, 15c; for these countries, see paragraph above.
The rate to the armed forces, any destination, is 10c.

3. Business Reply Envelopes and Cards.

At the larger post offices firms sending out letters, enquiries and order forms to the Canadian public may enclose an addressed business reply envelope having printed on the face of the envelope the words "Business Reply Envelope 6c. postage will be paid by", and the name and address of the firm, and bearing a return postage impression.

Similarly business firms may send out business reply cards, postage being collected from the business firm, upon return of the card, at the rate of 4c. each.

4. Special Delivery of Letters and Parcels

LETTERS.—Special Delivery letters bearing in addition to postage "Special Delivery" stamps of the value of 10 cts. or ordinary postage stamps of the value of 10 cts., and the words "Special Delivery" legibly written on the upper left hand corner of the envelope, may be accepted in Canada for Special Delivery at any place in the United States and at the following cities in Canada. The "Special Delivery" stamps may be An acknowledgment of receipt may be obtained by the sender of a registered article on payment of a special fee of 10 cents, in addition to the postage and registration fee, if the Acknowledgment of Receipt is asked for when the registered article is posted, or for 20 cents if asked for afterwards.

INDEMNITY FOR REGISTERED ARTICLES

Indemnity will be paid, provided the loss of the registered article is reported to the Department within one year of the date of posting, upon receipt of certain sworn statements of the persons concerned.

Canada.—In the case of registered articles posted in Canada for delivery in Canada, indemnity covers not only loss, but also rifling and damage. Indemnity is provided at scale of charges shown above.

SECOND CLASS MATTER

6. Transient Newspapers

Transient newspapers and periodicals include all newspapers and periodicals published in Canada, other than Canadian newspapers sent from the office of publication and British, Canadian and foreign newspapers posted by new dealers. When addressed to any place within the Dominion, the United States or Mexico, and, when published in Canada, and addressed to any place in Great Britain, or to places within the Empire, France, Spain and North and South America they must be prepaid at the following rate by Postage Stamp:—

One cent per four oz. or fraction of four oz., but to Australia a minimum payment of 2c is required.

To countries other than those mentioned above the rate is one cent for two oz. or fraction thereof.

Transient newspapers and periodicals not published in Canada are subject to the ordinary printed matter rate of 1 cent per 2 ozs. for all countries except Canada, U.S.A. and Mexico.

7. Newspapers and Periodicals

Printed and published in Canada and posted from the office of publication.

The general rate on newspapers and periodicals printed and published in Canada and issued not less frequently than once a month, mailed by the publishers at the Post Office at the place where they are published, and addressed to regular subscribers or to new dealers (not resident in the place of publication) in Canada, Great Britain and places within the British Empire, is a bulk rate of 1½c. per pound. This rate is subject to a number of provisos.

The postage on bona fide specimen newspapers, and on papers and periodicals published less frequently than once a month, is 2 cents per lb.

8. British and Foreign Newspapers posted by Newsdealers in Canada

British and foreign publications as well as Canadian publications, if authorized by the Department may be posted by newsdealers in Canada to subscribers in Canada at the rate of 2 cents per lb. They cannot however be posted at that rate for local delivery at places where there is a free letter carrier service. Newsdealers may also post recognized Canadian newspapers and periodicals to regular subscribers in Great Britain and places within the Empire, at the bulk rate of 2 cents per pound.

9. Books, Limits of Weight, etc.

A Book Packet may contain any number of separate books. Limit of weight for post in Canada, 5 lbs. For British and foreign post, 4 lbs. 6 ozs., but in case of a single book, a weight of 11 lbs. is allowed in the domestic mails, also in mails for the United States and Mexico. The limit of weight for a single book sent to Great Britain or other countries is 6 lbs. 9 ozs. Limit of size, (domestic) — in no case must the combined length and girth exceed 6 feet. For all other countries no packet may exceed 3 feet in the combined length, breadth, and depth, but the greatest dimension must not exceed 2 feet, unless in the form of a roll when the length and twice the diameter must not exceed 3 feet 3 inches, but the greatest dimension must not exceed 2 feet 8 inches.

Book packets must be put up in such a way as to admit of contents being easily examined. They may contain an unsealed invoice, but must not contain any letter or sealed inclosure.

Books for the use of the blind are free of Canadian postage when addressed to places in Canada, Newfoundland, the United States and Mexico.

THIRD CLASS MATTER

10. Printed Matter, Circulars, Samples, Miscellaneous Matter

Miscellaneous matter, described as under, may pass between places in the Dominion of Canada or outside of Canada upon prepayment of 1c. for each 2 oz.

DEFINITION OF MISCELLANEOUS MATTER

Matter (other than newspapers and periodicals), wholly in print without reference to process, such as circulars, catalogues, calendars, hand-bills, books, pamphlets, printed forms, maps, paper patterns, prints, drawings, etc., the following partly-written and partly-printed matter:—militia and school returns, customs manifests, voters' lists, school or college examination papers and educational exercises passing between colleges and extra-mural students, etc. To come within the class of Miscellaneous Matter the material printed upon must be either paper, cardboard or parchment.

REGULATIONS RE UNSEALED PACKAGES

No letter or other communication intended to serve the purpose of a letter may be sent or inclosed in any such package or thing mentioned, and the same must be sent in covers open at the ends or sides, or otherwise so put up as to admit of the contents being, if necessary, easily withdrawn for examination by the officers of the Post Office to ensure compliance with this provision (if enclosed in sealed envelopes notched at the ends or sides, or with the corners cut off, letter rate of postage will be charged).

EXCEPTION FOR U.S.A.

Printed matter exchanged between the United States and Canada, other than circulars and miscellaneous printed matter in packages weighing 8 ounces or less, but including books and catalogues having 24 pages or more although said books or catalogues weigh 8 ounces or less, may be tied with a string or fastened with gummed paper tape, provided such packages containing printed matter are marked or stamped "PRINTED MATTER," and bear the name and address of the sender and the printed inscription "M y be opened for postal and customs inspection."

Articles of printed matter and parcel post addressed to all countries with the exception of Canada and the United States must continue to be sent as formerly in unsealed packages.

DEFINITION OF CIRCULARS

Circulars are communications in print, or produced by a multiplying process easy to recognise, but not direct from a typewriting machine, which are issued in identical terms to several individuals. A circular may, without becoming liable to a higher rate of postage, have a written date and signature, and may have the name of the addressee repeated in writing inside. Reproductions or imitations of hand or typewritten matter, in order to be accepted as circulars, must be handed in at the post office wicket, in a number not less than twenty identical copies, separately addressed. Failure to comply with either of these conditions will subject the article to letter rate of postage.

PAPER FOR BLIND

Writing paper specially prepared for the use of the blind transmitted from a recognized Institution for the Blind in Canada to blind persons for their own use is allowed to pass at the rate of 1 cent for each 4 lb. or fraction thereof; but before any Institution can post such paper at the above rate the Post Office Department at Ottawa must be satisfied as to its claim to be considered an Institution for the Blind.

LIMIT OF WEIGHT, ETC.

The limit of weight for a packet of miscellaneous matter is 5 lbs., and in no case must the length and girth combined exceed 4 feet.

Printed or written requests for return are recognized on books, miscellaneous matter, samples and parcels of merchandise addressed to places within the Dominion, or in the United States, and same will be returned direct to the sender, subject to the payment by the sender, on delivery to him through the Post Office, of the full amount of postage to which the article was in the first place liable, together with any charges rated thereon on account of any deficiency in the original prepayment.

Printed matter should be fully prepaid at the time of posting and will not be forwarded unless at least partly prepaid.

11. Samples, Canada, U.S.A. and Mexico

Samples of Merchandise and Goods not having saleable value and not exceeding 1 lb. in weight, may be posted in Canada, to be forwarded to any place in the Dominion, U.S.A., or Mexico, on prepayment of a rate of 1 cent for each 2 ozs. or fraction thereof under the following regulations:

Size limit: Canada 18 in. x 8 in. x 4 in., or if in the form of a roll 18 inches in length by 6 inches in diameter. Other countries: length, breadth and depth combined, 3 ft. but greatest dimension must not exceed 2 ft. Roll length and twice diameter 3 ft. 3 in. but greatest dimension must not exceed 2 ft. 8 in.

Samples must be sent in covers open at the ends, so as to be easy of examination. Samples, however, of seeds drugs, &c., which cannot be sent in open covers, may be enclosed in bags of linen, or such like material, fastened in such a manner that they may be readily opened.

There must be no writing upon or in any packet of samples, except the address of the person for whom it is intended, the address of the sender, a trade mark or number and the price of the articles, or such words as may be necessary to indicate precisely the origin and nature of the merchandise.

Articles of saleable value even when intended to serve as samples, or goods sent for sale or in execution of an order, however small the quantity may be, or any article sent by one private individual to another, which are not actually trade samples, are not admissible.

Liquids (except intoxicating liquors), oils, etc., may be sent by mail in the Dominion if put up carefully in strict accordance with the directions given in the Postal Guide and ascertainable at any post office.

12. Samples for Great Britain and Foreign Countries

Samples of Merchandise, when addressed to places in Great Britain, must not exceed 1 lb. in weight, and must be prepaid. Size limit, length, breadth and depth combined, 3 ft. but greatest dimension must not exceed 2 ft. Roll length and twice diameter 3 ft. 3 in. but greatest dimension must not exceed 2 ft. 8 in. See page 229 Table of Rates.

Samples of liquids (except intoxicating liquors), oils, glass, etc., are admitted as samples provided they are put up in strict accordance with the directions given in the Postal Guide.

13. Commercial Papers, British and Foreign Post

Commercial papers mailed in Canada, for delivery in Canada, are liable to the letter rate of postage up to a weight of 16 ozs. and 1c per 2 oz. or fraction thereof, after. To all other countries the rate is 1 cent per 2 ozs. but each packet must have a minimum prepayment of 5 cents covering a weight of 10 ozs. prepayment compulsory. Size limit, length, breadth and depth combined, 3 ft. but greatest dimension must not exceed 2 ft. Roll length and twice diameter 3 ft. 3 in. but greatest dimension must not exceed 2 ft. 8 in. The weight must not exceed 4 lbs. 6 ozs.

"Commercial Papers" are understood to comprise all papers or documents written or drawn wholly or partly by hand (except letters or communications of the nature of letters or other papers or documents having the character of an actual and personal correspondence), documents of legal procedure, deeds drawn up by public, functionaries, copies of or extracts from deeds under private seal and (whether written or printed on stamped or unstamped paper) way bills, bills of lading, invoices and other documents of a mercantile character, documents of insurance and other public companies, also open letters and post cards of ancient date which have already fulfilled their original purpose, also copies thereof.

FOURTH CLASS MATTER

14. Parcel Post in Canada

TABLE OF RATES

The maximum charge on any parcel shall not exceed 1c. per ounce, with a minimum prepayment of 3c. which will cover a weight up to and including three ounces.

Parcels are liable to 1 cent an ounce on excess weight over even pound until next pound or group rate is reached.

†The Maritime Provinces, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and P.E.I. are considered as one Province.

*Restricted parcel post service to Yukon during winter.

Consult local postmaster for rate on parcels weighing over 10 lbs. addressed for delivery in the Yukon or at Atlin or Telegraph Creek, B.C.

For rates on Air Stage Services Consult local Postmaster.

Parcel Post packets totally unpaid will be sent to the District Dead Letter Office.

Parcels must be prepared for mailing in such manner that the contents can be easily examined.

It is desirable that the sender's address should appear either inside the parcel or on the cover. This must be kept distinct from the address proper.

Redirected parcels or other articles posted in Canada prepaid at parcel post rates are chargeable with additional postage at the rate which would have been chargeable had they been originally mailed from the office of redirection to the new address, except in cases where the forwarding address is within the province to which the parcel was originally addressed, when no redirection charge is to be made.

The limit of weight for a Parcel Post packet is 25 pounds, and in no case must the combined length and girth exceed six feet.

For Special Delivery, see note 4.

Parcel Post packets cannot be registered but can be insured (Insurance is free up to $50. For fees and regulations for insurance of parcels, see paragraph No. 17 "Insurance".)

15. Parcel Post to Great Britain and Other Countries

Closed parcels are exchanged by direct mail between Canada and the following countries: Antigua, Argentina, Australia, Bahamas, Bermuda, Barbados, Belgium, Brazil, China, Cuba, Dominica, Eire, Fiji, Great Britain and Northern Ireland, France, Germany, Grenada, Hong Kong, Holland, Italy, Jamaica, Mexico, Montserrat, Newfoundland, New Zealand, St. Lucia, St. Kitts, St. Pierre and Miquelon, St. Vincent, Sweden, Trinidad, Union of South Africa and Venezuela.

Parcels may also be sent to and received from any country with which the British Post Office maintains a parcel post.

Parcels for the Union of South Africa, British West Indies, Costa Rica, Cuba, Dominican Republic, Netherlands West Indies, Guadeloupe, Haiti, and Central and South American countries may be forwarded via New York, and when intended for transmission by that route should be legibly marked "Via New York".

For rates enquire at Post Office.

Parcels for, or sent via, Great Britain, pass exclusively in the mails conveyed by ships on the direct route between Canada and the United Kingdom.

Parcels for Antigua, Argentina, Australia, Bahamas, Barbados, Bermuda, British Guiana, Brazil, China, Cuba, Dominica, Fiji, Grenada, Hong Kong, Jamaica, New Zealand, St. Lucia, St. Vincent, St. Kitts, Trinidad, Union of South Africa and Venezuela, are forwarded via Canada and the United States according to rate of prepayment. Gift parcels for Japan and to the British zone in Germany, 11 lbs, may now be mailed. Apply to Post Office for regulations.

LIMITS OF WEIGHT AND SIZE

General limit of weight—15 lbs.

For parcels addressed to countries where limit of weight is restricted to 11 lbs. or 20 lbs., enquire at Post Office.

Limit of size—3½ feet in length, width or depth, but in no case must the length and girth combined exceed 6 feet.

Every Parcel must be fully prepaid by postage stamps.

A Parcel must not contain a letter or any writing in the form of a letter, or any explosive, combustible, or dangerous articles.

For each Parcel a Customs Declaration must be securely affixed by mucilage or paste to the parcel to which it relates.

Parcels must be handed to the Postmaster; in no case should they be dropped into a letter box or other receptacle for mail matter. Parcels to Great Britain may be insured. See par. No. 17, "Insurance". See also 15a Gift Parcels.

15a. Gift Parcels for Overseas

REGULATIONS OF THE UNITED KINGDOM FOR CIVILIANS

In 1944, British government regulations were made effective imposing the Purchase Tax on civilian recipients of gifts from overseas other than foodstuffs and used clothing.

Subject to the above paragraph, bona fide unsolicited gifts addressed to individuals in the United Kingdom, whether they include rationed foods or not, may be sent by parcel post. They must be plainly marked as GIFTS.

Gift parcels for civilians in the United Kingdom must not exceed 20 pounds in weight, must be clearly marked as "Gifts", and must not be imported into the U.K. as merchandise or for sale. The former limit of 1 parcel per month is abolished, and any quantity of one foodstuff may be sent, up to 20 lbs.

Gift parcels of food must not be insured.

Recipients may be liable for any customs duty or purchase tax applicable.

Customs declarations should show details as to weight and value of goods included in these gift parcels.

The above restrictions do not apply to gifts for licensed charitable organizations in the United Kingdom who have been authorized to import gifts duty free.

The parcel post rates to the United Kingdom are 24c for the first lb. and 18c for each additional pound up to 10 lb. On parcels weighing over 10 lb. up to 15 lb. the postage is $2.50; on parcels weighing over 15 lb. up to 20 lb. (the limit of weight) the postage is $3.00.

16. Parcel Post for United States

General merchandise (parcel post) addressed to places in the United States or its possessions (except the Philippine Islands) is liable to postage at the rate of fourteen cents a pound up to 10 lbs.; over 10 lbs. and up to 15 lbs., $1.75 per parcel.

The maximum charge on any parcel up to 8 oz. shall not exceed 1c. an ounce, except that a minimum prepayment of 3c. is required which prepayment will cover a weight up to and including 3 ounces.

Parcels must be accompanied by a Customs Declaration, and should be open to inspection (unsealed), but sealed packages may be accepted providing sender's name and address is shown by printed label or rubber stamp, and nature of contents indicated.

17. Insurance of Parcel Post

Parcels posted in Canada for delivery in Canada may be insured up to $50.00 without insurance fee, if so requested by the sender.

If the sender desires to insure such parcels in excess of $50, the regular insurance fee of 12 cents to cover the additional insurance must be prepaid.

FOR DELIVERY IN UNITED STATES

FOR DELIVERY IN OTHER COUNTRIES.

Parcels posted in Canada for delivery in Australia, Great Britain and Northern Ireland, Newfoundland, and New Zealand—also parcels intended for transmission via England addressed to foreign countries to which Great Britain extends insurance, may be insured against loss, rifling or damage while in the custody of the postal service at the following rates: 12 cents for insurance not exceeding $50.

30 cents for insurance exceeding $50 and not exceeding $100.

Particulars as to articles which cannot be accepted for insurance or insured against damage, may be ascertained from the local Postmaster.

18. C. O. D. Service in Canada

Parcels may be sent C.O.D. within Canada whereby charges due the sender up to $100.00 may be collected from the addressee and remitted to the sender by post office money order. C.O.D. parcels must be mailed at a money order post office but may be addressed to any post office in Canada or to any rural route. A C.O.D. tag, procurable at all money order post offices, must be used. Rural routes are for this purpose considered as money order post offices. C.O.D. fees are as follow: 10c if not more than $2.00 is to be collected; 15c if more than $2.00 but not more than $50.00 is to be collected; 30c if more than $50.00 is to be collected. C.O.D. fee is paid by postage stamps affixed by the sender in addition to the ordinary postage. C.O.D. fee covers insurance where parcels are prepaid at parcel post rates and registration where articles are prepaid at other than parcel post rates. The sender of a C.O.D. parcel may include postage and C.O.D. fee in the amount to be collected. It is forbidden to send articles C.O.D. which have not been ordered or requested by the addressees and articles may not be examined before payment of the C.O.D.

The charges on C.O.D. articles may be increased, decreased or cancelled upon request of sender, made through Postmaster at office of mailing.

Note: Money order offices are shown in italics in the list of Post Offices in Canada commencing on page 88.

19. Prohibited Articles

Ord amounts up to but not exceeding 9c. may be added by affixing Postal Note Scrip. Ordinary postage stamps not allowed.

On Notes under $1.00 Scrip for an amount over 9 cents may be affixed provided the combined value of the Note and Scrip does not exceed $1.00.

23. International Reply Coupons

Coupons exchangeable for a postage stamp or stamps representing the postage on a single rate letter from any other country (except Germany and Japan) to Canada can be purchased at any Post Office at the price of 12 cents each for the purpose of prepaying replies to letters, and similar coupons will be exchanged at Canadian Post Offices for Canadian Stamps to value of 5 cents.

24. Imperial Reply Coupons.

Imperial Reply Coupons exchangeable for a postage stamp or stamps representing the postage on a single rate letter from any country within the British Empire to Canada, can be purchased at any Post Office, for the price of 5 cents each, for the purpose of prepaying replies to letters.

Persons receiving Imperial Reply Coupons in letters from Great Britain or any other country within the Empire can have them exchanged at any Post Office for Canadian stamps of the value of 4 cents.

POST OFFICE SAVINGS BANKS are established at the General Office and at over 1,700 other offices. Sums of $1.00 or any multiple of $1.00 may be deposited, but the maximum sum which may be received from any one depositor in any year, ending the 31st March, is $1,500, and the total sum which may be received to the credit of any depositor is $5,000, exclusive of interest. Interest at the rate of two per cent. per annum is allowed on deposits. Withdrawals, in cash on demand, up to $100 may be made at any Savings Bank Office.

PROFIT TABLE

The following table shows the percentage which must be added to the cost to effect a given percentage of profit on the sale. Example: You wish to price goods to make a profit of 25% of the Selling Price. Locate 25% in the right hand column; the figure to the left of 25 shows that 33½% must be added to the cost price.

RULE

Divide the cost (invoice price with freight added) by the figure in the column of "net rate per cent profit desired" on the line with per cent it cost you to do business.

EXAMPLE:

If a wagon costs.....	$60.00	$\begin{array}{r} 76/61.2000/$80.50 = \text{the selling price} \\ \hline 608 \\ 400 \\ \hline 380 \\ 200 \\ \hline 152 \end{array}$
Freight.....	1.20
	$61.20
You desire to make a net profit of..... 5%
It costs you to do business..... 19%
Take the figure in column 5 on line with 19 which is 76

LIST OF RAILROADS IN THE DOMINION OF CANADA WITH THEIR TERMINAL POINTS

Numbered to correspond with numbers used in Third and Sixth columns of list commencing on page 88.

NOTE—The number to the left of the decimal point indicates the Railway system, and the numbers to the right of the decimal point the branch. Thus 535 is the Canadian Pacific Railway system, and 535-37 is the Guelph and Goderich Branch of the C. P. R. Where further reference is given, as: "Warton 529", turn to Warton and Goderich Branch of the C. P. R. which is explained in the list of railroads starting on page 84 as being on where 529-190 is the reference given, which is explained in the list of railroads starting on page 84 as being on the Warton Branch of the C.N.R. from Park Head to Warton. For Express Companies see pages 78 to 80. For Air Lines see pages 80-81. See also list of old and new names of Railways, page 80-81.

POST OFFICES AND RAILROAD STATIONS

IN THE DOMINION OF CANADA

The Offices printed in Italics are authorized to issue and pay Money Orders and Postal Notes, and to dispatch and Collect C.O.D. parcels. The Offices marked * are Savings Bank Offices. † Places marked thus are not Post Offices. Capital letters on right of the Electoral District column indicate the several Provinces of the Dominion, thus: O, Ontario; Q, Quebec; NS, Nova Scotia; N B, New Brunswick; P E I, Prince Edward Island; M, Manitoba; BC, British Columbia; A, Alberta; S, Saskatchewan; NWT, Northwest Territories.

The population of all cities, towns, and organized villages is shown to the right of places, according to the Census of 1941, except for Manitoba, Alberta and Saskatchewan, where the figures are those of the 1946 census. A large number of post offices and railway points are not incorporated, consequently have no population figure shown. The population of Dominion Electoral Districts is shown under House of Commons, see index. Elsewhere in this volume is a comparative table of census figures for cities and towns of 1000 or over. Where a street address occurs in the centre column it indicates that the place name is the name of a sub-post office of a larger place, the street-address being that of the post office.

The numbers and names placed opposite every place indicate the Railroad, Steamship, or Air-line on which the place or nearest rail, water, or air point is situated. See list of Railroads, Steamboats, and Air Lines on pages 81 to 87. For Express Companies, see pages 78 to 80.

QUALIFICATIONS FOR ELECTORS IN DOMINION AND PROVINCIAL ELECTIONS

ELECTIONS FOR THE DOMINION HOUSE OF COMMONS

According to The Dominion Elections Act, 1938, and subject to certain exceptions, the general rule as to the qualifications of electors at a Dominion election is that every person in Canada, man or woman, is qualified to vote and entitled to be registered as an elector on the list of electors for the polling division in which such person ordinarily resides at the time of the preparation of the list of electors, if such person (a) is of the full age of 21 years, or will attain the full age of 21 years on or before polling day at the appropriate pending election; (b) is a British subject by birth or naturalization; (c) has been ordinarily resident in Canada for the twelve months preceding polling day at the appropriate pending election, and (d) was ordinarily resident in the electoral district at the date of the issue of the writ for the appropriate pending election, and at a by-election, has continued to be ordinarily resident therein until polling day. Among persons disqualified are Indians living on a reservation, Esquimaux, prisoners, persons under restraint owing to mental disease, Japanese in British Columbia, Doukhobors in British Columbia and inmates in poor-houses who are disqualified from voting at provincial elections.

Whenever an election is ordered an entire new list of electors is prepared, according to The Dominion Elections Act, 1938, under the general direction of the Chief Electoral Officer, and supervision of a returning officer who is appointed for each electoral district. There are two classes of polling divisions which are called Urban and Rural. Generally speaking urban polling divisions are those comprised in cities and towns of over 3,500 population, the other polling divisions are rural. In urban polling divisions, a pair of enumerators is appointed for each polling division. They make a house-to-house visitation immediately after the issue of the writ for the appropriate pending election, to secure the necessary information to complete a list of electors for their polling division. In rural polling divisions, the list is similarly prepared by one rural enumerator. Writs for a Dominion election are issued about two months before the date fixed for polling day.

Chief Electoral Officer, Jules Castonguay, Ottawa.

PROVINCIAL ELECTIONS FOR LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY

ALBERTA

All persons, male or female, are entitled to have their names placed on the list of voters, who are British subjects of the full age of 19 years and resident in Alberta for at least twelve months and in the electoral division for which the list is being made for at least two months immediately preceding the date of the writ of election.

A 1944 amendment provided for taking the vote of men in the armed forces stationed in Alberta.

Address enquiries to: R. A. Anderson, Clerk of Executive Council, Edmonton, Alta.

BRITISH COLUMBIA

Every person, male or female, is entitled to vote who is not disqualified by the Provincial Election Act or any other provincial law, who is 21 years old and entitled within British Columbia to the privileges of a natural born British subject, has resided in the Dominion for twelve months, and in the Province for six months immediately preceding the date of his application for registration as a voter; and is a resident of the electoral district in which he seeks registration as a voter at the date of his making application under this Act to be registered as a voter.

Provisions are made as to the disqualification of some aliens.

Enquiries should be addressed to the Chief Electoral Officer, Victoria, B.C.

MANITOBA

Persons entitled to be placed on the list of voters include every person, male or female, who is a British subject by birth, naturalization, or if a woman by marriage, 21 years old and resident in Manitoba for at least 12 months and in the electoral district for which the list is being made for at least three months immediately preceding date of the writ of election.

Among those disqualified except as otherwise provided are judges, Indians receiving an annuity from the Crown, prisoners and mental patients.

Enquiries should be addressed to the Clerk of the Executive Council, Legislative Buildings, Winnipeg.

NEW BRUNSWICK

Among those qualified to vote at a provincial election are persons, whether male or female, married or unmarried, 21 years old on or before polling day, if British subjects and not otherwise legally incapacitated, resident in the province for twelve months consecutive immediately preceding the date of the issue of the election writ; and was a bona-fide resident in the electoral district in which such vote is tendered on the date of the issue of the election writ, not otherwise disqualified. Among those disqualified are Judges, County Magistrates, prisoners and mental patients.

A new Act passed in 1944 provided for taking the vote of members of the armed forces, all of whom may vote regardless of age.

Enquiries should be addressed to Mr. W. B. Trites, Deputy Provincial Secretary-Treasurer, Fredericton, N.B.

NOVA SCOTIA

Every person, including a woman whether married or unmarried, may vote if a British subject of the full age of twenty-one years who has resided in Nova Scotia for at least twelve months immediately preceding the date of the writ of Election. Definition of residence is similar to that for Federal elections.

Among those disqualified to vote are persons guilty of offences under the Electoral Act, persons who are in receipt of charitable support in any municipal poorhouse or aid as a pauper under the Poor Laws.

Enquiries should be addressed to the Provincial Secretary, Province House, Halifax, N.S.

ONTARIO

Qualifications for voters are, generally speaking, every man and woman who at the time of voting is 21 years old, a British subject not otherwise disqualified by the Election Act or otherwise, is and has been for twelve months preceding the day of polling a resident of and domiciled in Canada and who is ordinarily resident in the city, separated town or a township bordering on a city having a population of 100,000 or more, or in other cases has been ordinarily resident in the electoral district for a period of two months next preceding the day of polling. Among those disqualified are Indians living on an Indian Reserve unless having served in the military forces.

By the Active Service Election Act passed in 1945, members of the Canadian Armed Forces who were British subjects at the date of the issue of the writ of election are entitled to vote if at the time of enlistment they had been ordinarily resident in Ontario. The age qualification of 21 years is also abolished for such members.

In the General Election of June 4th, 1945, arrangements were made for a direct vote of all active service voters regardless of their location. Special officials were despatched to all points where such voters were located to take their votes.

Address enquiries to: Alex C. Lewis, K.C., Chief Election Officer, Parliament Bldgs., Toronto.

PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND

Every person male or female may vote for Assemblyman if of the full age of 21 years on the day of the election and not otherwise disqualified; and who is a British subject and resident in P.E.I. for at least twelve months and in the electoral district for at least two months immediately preceding the issue of writ of election; or who is the holder of a freehold estate or in the bona fide use and occupation of any dwelling-house, warehouse, shop, etc., or any farm or piece of land of the value of at least $100.00 providing that he or she has owned or possessed or has been in the use or occupation of a property for six months next before the date of the election. To vote for Councillor, a property qualification of $325 is essential.

An amendment, assented to 30th March, 1946, provided that, subject to residence qualifications, every person, male or female, who, being a British subject, whether or not a minor or an Indian, served outside Canada during the Second Great War in any of the Armed Forces or Auxiliary War Services of His Majesty or of his Allies, or in the Merchant Marine, or in the Red Cross Corps, or in the Corps of Canadian Fire Fighters, shall be entitled to vote in the electoral district in which he resides on the date of the election at an election to be held for the election of a Councillor to sit in the Legislative Assembly.

Enquiries concerning the Election Act should be addressed to the Provincial Secretary's Office, Provincial Building, Charlottetown.

QUEBEC

Section 47 of the Quebec Election Act (1945) provides: Every person is qualified as an elector and may be entered on an electoral list who fulfils the following five conditions:

1. Has been domiciled in the Province for at least two years before the date fixed for the enumeration;
2. Is domiciled in a polling-subdivision on the first day fixed for the enumeration;
3. Is of the full age of twenty-one years or over before the polling-day;
4. Is of Canadian citizenship;
5. Is not affected by any disqualification from voting contemplated by this act.

Section 2, par. g, provides: g. A person on active service in the armed forces of Canada retains the domicile which he had at the time of his entry into the service, unless he has subsequently established another domicile outside of the Province.

Among those disqualified are Indians domiciled on a reserve, judges, returning-officers and urban revisors appointed under the Quebec Election Act, interdicted persons, insane persons hospitalized in asylums or nursing homes, persons who have taken an oath of allegiance to any foreign power, or have become naturalized elsewhere, and persons who have been disqualified from voting by the Legislative Assembly, or against whom a judgment or sentence entailing disqualification from voting has been rendered by a court of competent jurisdiction, so long as such disqualification lasts, or found guilty of any infraction or crime punishable by two years' imprisonment or more and have not fully served the sentence pronounced against them.

Enquiries should be addressed to the Chief Returning-officer, Mr. François Drouin, K.C., Parliament Buildings, Quebec City.

SASKATCHEWAN

Every British subject male or female may vote for the Legislative Assembly if of the full age of 18 years, who has resided in Saskatchewan for at least twelve months and in the electoral division where desiring to vote for at least three months immediately preceding the date of the writ of election. Any person may be registered as a voter who attains the full age of 18 years up to the last day fixed for the revision of the voters list. Among those disqualified are Judges, Indians who were not in military service in either of the world wars, prisoners and patients in lunatic asylums.

Enquiries should be addressed to the Clerk of the Executive Council, Regina.

LIQUOR CONTROL IN CANADA

We give below a brief summary of the methods of controlling the sale of intoxicating liquors in the various Provinces.

The names and personnel of the various Liquor Control Boards are given under each Province. See index "Liquor Control."

ALBERTA

Spirits, wines and beers are sold in Government stores to permit holders.

Beer in unopened bottles may be sold by licensed hotels to persons over twenty-one years of age, and who are not disqualified under the Act.

Beer by the glass or open bottle may be sold by Licensed Hotels and Clubs for consumption on the premises.

General liquor permits are sold both to citizens and visitors at a cost of 50c., permits being good until the 31st of December in the year of issue.

Licenses may only purchase beer from Government Warehouses and Liquor Stores.

BRITISH COLUMBIA

The sale of liquor in sealed packages is made to permit holders at Government Liquor Stores.

Beer licences are issued to permit the sale of beer by the glass in licensed premises and by the unopened bottle for consumption elsewhere. The sale of beer by the glass to bona fide members permitted in Veterans' Clubs which are licensed for that purpose.

Club licences are issued in respect of premises kept and operated as a club entitling each member of the club to keep on the premises a reasonable quantity of liquor for personal consumption on the premises, and entitling the Club to purchase liquor from a vendor and to sell by the glass the liquor so purchased to its members and guests for consumption on the Club premises.

MANITOBA

Intoxicating liquor is sold in Government stores.

Persons resident in the Province or visitors being over the age of twenty-one years, and not otherwise prohibited, may purchase for the sum of $1.00 an annual liquor permit which entitles them to purchase liquor in the following quantities. (Fiscal year ending March 31st.)

Effective August 1, 1946, Manitoba eliminated all rationing of stocks with the exception of Scotch and Irish Whiskies.

Spirits—Fifty-five ounces (2-26 ounce bottles) in any one day except Scotch and Irish Whiskies, which are one bottle per month.

Wine—One gallon per day.

Beer—One case (24 pints) per day.

The beer parlour licenses for the sale of beer only are issued to approved hotels throughout the Province.

Beer is also sold cash and carry from the Brewery Warehouses.

NEW BRUNSWICK

Intoxicating liquor is sold only in sealed packages and only at the Government stores. Rationing and permits were discontinued November 1, 1946.

NOVA SCOTIA

Liquor can only be sold in sealed packages through the Government stores. A permit is required for spirits, wine and beer.

ONTARIO

In Ontario spirituous liquor is sold by the bottle in Government stores operated by The Liquor Control Board. Those desiring to purchase such liquor must secure a liquor permit which authorizes the purchase and consumption in the residence of the holder of the permit. Wine may be purchased from Liquor Control Board Stores, Ontario Wine Stores, and Wineries for consumption in the residence of the purchaser. Beer is procurable from Liquor Control Board Stores, Breweries and Brewers' Retail Stores for consumption in the residence of the purchaser.

Under the liquor licence laws of Ontario, liquor may be sold by the glass under a "Lounge Licence" and with meals under a "Dining Lounge Licence" in municipalities having a population of over 50,000.

ONTARIO—Continued

This privilege may be extended to smaller municipalities, provided that the municipal electors have signified their approval thereof by a vote. Beer may be served by the glass in licensed "Public Houses" and beer and wine may be served with meals in licensed "Dining Rooms" and "Restaurants". Clubs, railway trains and steamships may be issued licences for the sale of spirits, wine and beer. In clubs, the sale is restricted to members and their guests.

PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND

Intoxicating liquors in sealed packages may be obtained from retail vendors under the Prohibition Act on physicians' prescriptions setting out that such is for "medical purposes and not as a beverage."

A 1945 amendment allowed physicians to prescribe for a period up to six months with purchase on such prescription limited to once a week. This was proclaimed in the Gazette of Sept. 29, 1945.

The Prohibition Act is administered by the Attorney General. Address: Mr. N. J. MacLeod, Wholesale Vendor, Wholesale Vendor's Branch, Prince Edward Island, Charlottetown.

QUEBEC

Spirits and wines are sold and delivered by the Quebec Liquor Commission stores only.

Spirits and wines so obtained may be sold to the public, by hotels, cafés and clubs under licenses, provided these are consumed on the premises.

Beer is obtained directly from the breweries and may be sold to the public by inns, taverns and restaurants under licenses, provided it is also consumed on the premises.

A grocery store duly licensed may sell beer at such store on condition: that not less than one bottle be sold; that beer be not consumed in that store or dependency thereof.

Municipalities may declare by by-law that no alcoholic liquor of any description may be sold within their territory.

SASKATCHEWAN

The sale of spirituous liquor and wine is restricted to the Liquor Board's stores, the daily purchasable quantity being not more than two gallons of beer or any other malt liquor, one gallon of wine and one quart of any other liquor. No permit is required.

Sales of beer are made through Liquor Board Stores and in licensed premises. Licensees holding a license to sell beer by the glass may also be granted a license to sell beer in closed packages to be consumed off the premises.

NORTHWEST TERRITORIES

The Northwest Territories Act, Chapter 142, R.S., 1927, prohibits the manufacture of any intoxicating liquor or intoxicant in the territories except by special permission of the Governor in Council.

The Governor in Council, as authorized by Section 10 of the Northwest Territories Act has designated the control, regulation and sale of intoxicants in the Northwest Territories as a subject in respect of which the Commissioner in Council, subject to the provisions of the Northwest Territories Act and of any other Act of the Parliament of Canada applying to the Territories may make such Ordinance or Ordinances as conditions or circumstances may to the Commissioner in Council appear to warrant.

By virtue of this authority a Territorial Liquor Ordinance has been passed and liquor stores have been established at Yellowknife and Fort Smith, N.W.T.

Authority to manufacture intoxicants has only been granted in isolated instances, the product manufactured being wine for sacramental purposes.

YUKON TERRITORY

The Yukon Act, Chapter 215, R.S., 1927, authorizes the Commissioner in Council of the Yukon Territory to make Ordinances for the control and regulation of the sale of and traffic in intoxicating liquor and also to make Ordinances regarding saloon and tavern licenses.

By virtue of this authority liquor stores have been opened at Dawson, Mayo, and Whitehorse

ALIENS

The subject of aliens is under the sole control of the Government and Parliament of Canada. An alien may hold both real and personal property equally with natural born Canadian citizens. The Canadian Citizenship Act (see "Naturalization") does not entitle an alien to hold any office; or any municipal or other franchise; or to be the owner of a Canadian ship; or to any right or privilege as a Canadian citizen in respect of property, except those expressly given to him. An alien is triable at law in the same manner as if he were a natural born Canadian citizen. An alien may be deported at any time for certain offences.

A woman who is a Canadian citizen does not now lose her nationality or citizenship automatically by marriage to an alien, and an alien woman does not acquire Canadian citizenship by marriage to a Canadian citizen. She must make application for her own certificate, with certain modifications. The spouse does not require to file the declaration of intention, and the period of residence for the alien wife or husband is reduced from the ordinary five years to one year.

See NATURALIZATION.

BANKRUPTCY AND INSOLVENCY

The Bankruptcy Act enables an insolvent debtor to petition the court to be declared bankrupt. By an order of the court, possession is taken of the debtor's property, and it is distributed proportionately amongst his creditors. The court has power to subsequently discharge the bankrupt from all debts existing at the time bankruptcy proceedings began. Bankruptcy law has two purposes; (a) the expeditious and economical distribution of the debtor's assets, and (b), a release of the debtor from his creditors when he has not been guilty of any misconduct or fraud, and has surrendered all his assets.

An insolvent debtor whose liabilities to creditors exceed $500 may, prior to a receiving order being made against him, make an assignment of all his property for the general benefit of his creditors. Such an assignment must be accepted by the Official Receiver, and is called an "authorized assignment". Any other assignment is void.

By a Dominion Act of 1933, called The Companies' Creditors Arrangement Act, it is provided that where a compromise, or arrangement, is proposed between the debtor company and its creditors, secured or unsecured, the court may, on the application of the company, or a creditor, or trustee in bankruptcy, or liquidator of the company, call meetings of the creditors and shareholders. If at least three-fourths in value of the creditors present at the meeting agree to a compromise or arrangement, and it is sanctioned by the court, it is binding on all creditors, and on the company, even when it has made an authorized assignment, or against which a receiving order has been made, or the company is being wound up. The Act extends, but does not limit, provisions of any instrument governing the rights of creditors, and has force notwithstanding anything in such instrument. The court may restrain proceedings under the Bankruptcy Act, or Winding-up Act. Every order made under the Act by a court of any Province may be enforced in all other Provinces. Any order made under the Act may be appealed from.

See MARRIED WOMEN.

BILLS, NOTES AND CHEQUES

These are governed by Dominion law.

A bill requiring presentment for acceptance must be presented to the drawee, or to some person authorized to accept or refuse acceptance on his behalf, at a reasonable hour on a business day and before the bill is overdue.

Where the bill is addressed to two or more drawees who are not partners, presentment must be made to all, unless one is authorized to accept for all, when presentment may be made to him only.

Where the drawee is dead, presentment may be made to his personal representative.

Where authorized by agreement or usage, presentment through the post office is sufficient.

Presentment is excused and a bill may be treated as dishonoured by non-acceptance:

- (a) Where the drawee is dead;
- (b) Where the drawee is a fictitious person;
- (c) Where the drawee is a person not having a capacity to contract by bill;
- (d) Where, after the exercise of reasonable diligence, presentment cannot be effected;
- (e) Where, although the presentment has been irregular, acceptance has been refused on some other ground.

1. Where the holder of a bill or note presents it for payment he must exhibit it to the person from whom he demands payment.

2. If a place of payment is specified, the bill must be presented at such place.

3. Where a note is, in the body of it, made payable at a particular place, presentment at that place is necessary in order to render an endorser liable.

If the place specified for payment is a city, town or village, and no place therein is specified, the bill or note may be presented at the drawee's, acceptor's or promisor's known place of business or known ordinary residence therein. If there is no such place of business or residence, it may be presented at the principal post office in such city, town or village.

4. Where no place of payment is specified in a bill:

(a) If the address of the drawee or acceptor is given, the bill must be presented there.

(b) If no address is given, the bill must be presented at the drawee's or acceptor's place of business, if known, and if not, at his ordinary residence, if known.

In any other case the bill may be presented to the drawee or acceptor wherever he can be found, or at his last known place of business or residence.

Presentment for payment of a bill or cheque is dispensed with:

- (a) Where presentment cannot be effected;
- (b) Where the drawee is a fictitious person;
- (c) By waiver of presentment.

Notice of dishonour must be given to any party entitled to notice, at his usual address, or at the place at which the bill or note is dated. Bills and notes bear interest from the date of maturity, and at the legal rate of 5% unless the time and rate are otherwise stated on their face. On a bill payable on a certain date or after sight 3 days of grace for payment are allowed, but none on a bill or note payable on demand. When bills and notes fall due on a legal holiday they are payable the day following.

BILLS OF SALE

A bill of sale is a document by which the owner of goods and chattels transfers them to another. This is only required where possession is not intended to be given. A bill of sale must be registered within the time fixed by the law of the Province in which the goods are, otherwise the sale will be void as against creditors of the owner.

Information as to where a bill of sale must be registered, is given under each Province; see Index "Registration of Instruments".

There are no Bills of Sale in Quebec.

BUILDING RESTRICTIONS

Land is frequently subject to certain restrictions; e.g., as to the class of buildings which may be erected on it; the minimum cost of such buildings; the distance of the nearest building from the street line or from other buildings; the use to which such buildings may be put, as, for example, restricting it to private residences, physicians offices, etc., and prohibiting shops, apartment houses, schools, etc. These restrictions when once inserted in a registered instrument, must be observed by all subsequent purchasers of the land, and can only be removed or disregarded with the consent of all other interested owners, or by an application to the Court to remove or modify them. This is usually possible when the complexion of the district has changed since the restrictions were put on, or when the majority of owners of the land subject to the restrictions agree to the change. In New Brunswick building restrictions can not at present, be removed or modified by an application to the court.

BULK SALES

The purchase, sale and transfer of stocks of goods in bulk are regulated by statute in all Provinces. In Quebec they are governed by the Civil Code. A sale in bulk is a sale or transfer of stock out of the usual course of business or trade of the vendor, or whenever substantially the entire stock of the vendor, or an interest in his business or trade, is sold.

Every person who bargains for or purchases stock in bulk, either for cash or on credit, shall, before closing the purchase and paying the price, obtain from the vendor a statement, verified by statutory declaration, containing the names and addresses of all the creditors of the vendor and the amounts due them. If such declaration is not obtained, the sale is deemed fraudulent, and is void against creditors, unless they are paid in full out of the proceeds of the sale.

Upon obtaining the declaration, the purchaser must either obtain a waiver from the creditors or pay the purchase price to a trustee for distribution among the creditors. In short one of the following alternatives must be complied with:

- (i) Creditors must be paid in full;
- (ii) A written waiver of the provisions of the Act must be obtained from not less than 60 per cent in number and value of the creditors having claims exceeding $50.00; or
- (iii) A written waiver (in New Brunswick and Manitoba, a consent,) of the creditors as defined in (ii) must be obtained.

If the parties elect to proceed under (iii), the full purchase price must be paid to a trustee to be named by the creditors in such written consent, and if a trustee is not named by the creditors then to a trustee to be named by the vendor. In New Brunswick a judge may be named. In Nova Scotia, any agreement for a bulk sale must be in writing, must contain an inventory, and must be filed in the Registry of Deeds within 10 days after execution. No part of the purchase price may be paid, nor may any promissory note or other security be given, within 30 days after execution of the agreement. If the purchase price is sufficient to pay in full all creditors, as shown by the statutory declaration, such price is to be paid to a trustee for distribution. If the price is not sufficient to pay all creditors in full, the written consent to the sale of 50% in number and value of the claims must be obtained.

In Saskatchewan, the waiver must represent 60% in number and amount of the claims, and there is no limit to amount.

A bulk sale is not an assignment for the benefit of creditors, nor does the mere making of it make the vendor a bankrupt or an insolvent under any Act in force for bankrupt or insolvent debtors, provided that the provisions of The Bulk Sales Act have been complied with.

CHATTEL MORTGAGES

A mortgage of chattels is a contract between parties whereby the owner transfers to the mortgagee the title to the chattels upon the terms that the transfer shall be void upon payment of a sum of money, or the performance of a certain condition, at an appointed time. In the meantime the owner may keep possession of the chattels. On default of payment, or performance of the condition, the mortgagee is entitled to take possession. A mortgage must be registered within the time fixed by the law of the Province in which the chattels are, and the mortgagee must, within the time fixed by the law of that Province, file a renewal statement showing the amount then remaining due for principal and interest, otherwise the mortgage will be void as against creditors of the owner, although still good between the parties to the contract. In Ontario and Saskatchewan, and in Nova Scotia, when the time has expired, a judge may, under certain circumstances, extend the time for renewal; but the rights of any then creditors are not affected. Information as to where a chattel mortgage must be registered, is given under each Province; see Index "Registration of Instruments".

A mortgage may be given to secure against liability on a promissory note, or to secure future advances.

There are no Chattel Mortgages in Quebec.

COMPANIES

A company is a body created by law to carry on the classes of business authorized by its charter of incorporation. This may be either, (a) an Act of the Parliament of Canada; or (b) an Act of the Legislature of a Province; or (c) Letters Patent granted either by the Secretary of State at Ottawa or by the Provincial Secretary of certain Provinces; or (d) a Memorandum and Articles of Association filed, in certain other Provinces. The charter, or Memorandum and Articles, must state the amount of the authorized capital, which is usually divided into shares, either of a stated par value, or without par value, or both.

The expression "authorized capital" means nothing to an investor; neither does the "par value" of a share of stock. What really concerns him is the proportion which the number of shares he holds bears to the capital actually issued. It is now a common practice to issue shares without par value. The investor then knows the proportionate interest which he holds of the total issued capital, bearing in mind that the whole of the authorized capital may be issued at any time.

The advantages of an incorporated company over a partnership, or an individual doing business in his own name, are (a) the limited liability of the investor, (b) the right to assign shares without reference to the other members of the company, (c) that changes in the persons of its shareholders do not affect its power to carry on business.

There are two general classes of companies, viz. (a) public companies, in which a shareholder may transfer his shares to anyone, and the number of shareholders is practically unlimited, and (b) private companies, in which the right to transfer shares is restricted, the number of shareholders is limited, and any invitation to the public to subscribe for shares is prohibited. No prospectus is required for a private company.

Incorporation by an Act of the Parliament of Canada, or by Dominion Letters Patent, allows a company to transact its business throughout Canada,—subject, in some Provinces, to a restriction respecting the holding of land. Under a Provincial charter a company may carry on business only in that Province, but may obtain licenses from the other Provinces to carry on business in them. The requisite number of applicants for incorporation varies in different Provinces; in Ontario only 3 are required. Each applicant must be 21 years of age. The fees for incorporation vary in different Provinces.

A shareholder is liable to creditors of the company only for the unpaid balance, if any, due on his shares. A holder of shares of a Chartered Bank, was formerly liable for double the amount he subscribed for. For his liability at present, see article on Chartered Banks elsewhere in this volume. The ownership of the business of a company always remains in the company, no matter how often the shareholders may change from time to time. A company remains in existence until the termination of its charter. This may be by surrender or forfeiture of its charter, or by the company being wound up, or becoming insolvent.

It is a common practice for an individual to do business under the name of, say, "Smith and Company". In such case it is necessary in some Provinces (as in Ontario) to file a declaration stating the business, how long the partnership has subsisted, and that the only member is "John Smith," or whoever it may be. (See PARTNERSHIP).

The powers and duties of directors vary in different provinces, but among the chief of them are usually those noted below. Directors are elected by the shareholders, and have authority to administer the affairs of the company, pass by-laws to regulate the allotment, issue and transfer of stock, make calls on stock, declare dividends, determine the qualifications, appointment and duties of officers, servants and agents of the company, and remove them, compromise with its creditors, make contracts on its behalf, borrow money for its purposes, regulate the holding of meetings, and generally conduct its affairs.

In Ontario, certain by-laws must be approved by the Lieut. Governor-in-Council, and be published, before they can come into force. Dealings with lists of shareholders is restricted, and the power to do so is defined. Attempts to acquire control of a Company are subject to the approval of the Provincial Secretary.

Every director of a Dominion company is liable for six months' wages due to clerks, labourers, servants and apprentices, if it fails to pay them; and every director of an Ontario company is similarly liable for one year's wages due to labourers, servants and apprentices. An officer or director must make no secret profit out of the company. He is responsible for any mis-statement in its prospectus. He should be particularly careful in signing a note, bill or cheque for the company, as he may be held personally liable, even though he signed only as an officer or director.

Every corporation incorporated under the laws of Ontario, or doing business in the Province, must, before June 30th in each year, deliver to the Provincial Secretary, without notice or demand to that effect, a detailed return containing the information required by him, and pay the necessary fee.

Some other Provinces also require certain returns to be made and fees to be paid by companies doing business in the Province but incorporated outside of the Province.

Information as to fees, etc., and copies of the Acts and amendments, may be obtained from the Secretary of State, Ottawa, as to Dominion incorporation, or from the Provincial Secretaries of the various Provinces respecting incorporation under Provincial law.

CONDITIONAL SALE OF GOODS

All Provinces have somewhat similar legislation respecting conditional sales. Where possession of goods is delivered to the purchaser or hirer under a contract which provides that the ownership is to remain in the seller or lender until payment of the purchase price or part of it, such provision is invalid against a subsequent purchaser or mortgagee without notice in good faith and for valuable consideration unless (1) The contract is in writing, signed by the purchaser or hirer or his agent and contains the terms of the sale or hiring, and describes the goods, and (2) In Ontario, within 10 days after the execution of the contract a copy is filed in the office of the clerk of the County or District Court where the purchaser or hirer resided at the time of the sale or hiring. (3) In Manitoba and Saskatchewan, manufactured goods must have the manufacturer's name, or some distinguishing name marked thereon. There is no provision for registration, or for delivery of the contract to the purchasers. In Ontario a renewal statement must be filed in the same office within 3 years after the filing of the copy of the contract. The time for, and place of, registration varies in the other Provinces. In Saskatchewan, the agreement must be registered within 30 days of the delivery of the goods.

The provision respecting filing does not apply to manufactured goods which, at the time of delivery have the name and address of the seller or lender marked on them, or to a contract respecting household furniture other than musical instruments. This paragraph is not the law of New Brunswick or of Nova Scotia.

The seller or lender must deliver a copy of the contract to the purchaser or hirer within twenty days after its execution.

In Ontario, forms of notice, renewal statement and discharge are set out in the Act.

In Nova Scotia a seller of goods under a conditional sale agreement must, in order to validate the reservation of title, be licensed under "The Instalment Payments Contract Act".

Every vendor, whether manufacturer or dealer, has his own forms of hire receipt and lien note. It is advisable to read carefully, before signing, any form tendered, and have it explained fully by a solicitor if not clearly understood.

DIVORCE

The grounds for Divorce and the Courts of the different Provinces which have Acts relating to Divorce are as follows:

ALBERTA—The Supreme Court of Alberta has jurisdiction to grant divorces on proof of adultery.

BRITISH COLUMBIA—The English Divorce Act is in force in British Columbia. Marriage may be dissolved upon proof of adultery by either husband or wife. The Supreme Court of the Province has power to grant divorce. The Court of Appeal has jurisdiction in appeals in divorce and matrimonial causes.

MANITOBA—A marriage may be dissolved on proof of adultery. The Court of King's Bench has jurisdiction to hear petitions for divorce.

NEW BRUNSWICK—The Court of Divorce and Matrimonial Causes has jurisdiction to dissolve or annul a marriage on proof of adultery, consanguinity, or impotence.

NOVA SCOTIA—The Court for Divorce and Matrimonial Causes has jurisdiction to set aside a marriage on proof of adultery, impotence, cruelty, or consanguinity.

ONTARIO—A marriage may be dissolved upon proof of adultery of either party or of certain abnormal sexual acts of the husband. A marriage may be annulled on proof of impotence or insanity, or because of fraud or duress. The Supreme Court of Ontario has jurisdiction in divorce matters.

PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND—In 1945 the Chief Justice of the Island was appointed to hear cases of divorce and alimony, and new rules were enacted. The court met for the first time in May, 1946, and is continuing to function. The court now consists of the Chief Justice and 5 members of the Executive Council.

QUEBEC—There is no divorce law in the Province. A divorce can be obtained only by a private Act of the Parliament of Canada.

SASKATCHEWAN—The Court of King's Bench has jurisdiction to grant divorces on proof of adultery.

DOWER

Dower is the provision which the laws of Ontario, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island make for a widow out of the lands of her husband, for the support of herself and their children. It is a life estate to which a wife is entitled, after the death of her husband, in one third of any lands which he owned at any time during their marriage. The right to dower does not take effect until the death of the husband, and ceases upon the death of the widow. This right may be relinquished by the widow signing a release of her right: this is called a "bar of dower", and is properly inserted in all deeds and mortgages made by the husband. A general power of attorney may be given by a wife to bar her dower in all lands which her husband now owns, or may afterwards acquire. The widow of a trustee, or of a joint tenant, is not entitled to dower. There is no dower in partnership land, but it is always a question of fact whether or not the land is partnership property. It is possible to word a conveyance to a husband so that dower does not attach, and he can then convey the land free of dower. Except in the case of a homestead, a widow has no right to dower in Alberta, but the courts have power to allow her, out of her husband's estate, disposed of by will, such allowance as may be just and reasonable under the circumstances.

In Manitoba there is a dower in a home only, but, in addition, where a testator has not, by his will, left his wife property, or otherwise provided for her, to the value of at least one-third of the value of his net estate, the widow is entitled to such share of his net estate as, together with any insurance payable to her, and other property received from her husband, shall equal in value one-third of the testator's net estate. Dower and the above mentioned provisions also apply in favour of a husband, in regard to his wife's property.

There is no dower in British Columbia.

There is no dower in the Northwest Territories or the Yukon Territory, but the widow has the same right in the land of her deceased husband as if such land were personal property.

In Saskatchewan, except under the Homestead Act, there is no dower but where a person dies leaving a will and dependents, an application may be made to the court for an order making reasonable provision for maintenance.

There are two classes of dower in Quebec.

See MARRIED WOMEN.

HUSBAND AND WIFE

In Ontario a marriage may be solemnized only by one of the following persons, and in the presence of two adult witnesses: (a) a clergyman of a church or religious denomination; (b) certain elders, evangelists and missionaries of certain named congregations (including Brethren and Quakers), chosen for such purpose; (c) a commissioner or staff officer of the Salvation Army. A license issued by persons authorized by the government is required unless the banns are published 15 days previously.

A husband is not liable for the debts of, or contracts entered into by, his wife before their marriage.

In Quebec, all priests, rectors, ministers, and other officers authorized by law to keep registers of acts of civil status, are competent to solemnize marriage, but none of the officers thus authorized can be compelled to solemnize a marriage to which any impediment exists according to the doctrine and the belief of his religion and the discipline of the Church to which he belongs.

In Saskatchewan every District Court judge, and also either of two specially appointed commissioners may solemnize marriages.

In Manitoba, a County Court Judge may perform the marriage ceremony. In British Columbia the parties may be married by civil contract before a marriage commissioner.

In Nova Scotia, a Minister or Clergyman of a religious body, and a male staff officer of the Salvation Army, may solemnize marriage.

Other than those named above there is no authority for a civil marriage in any province of Canada.

MARRIED WOMEN

Under the Bankruptcy Act, a married woman, whether carrying on a trade or business or not, may make a voluntary assignment for the benefit of her creditors, and so obtain the benefits which the Act affords to insolvent debtors.

In Ontario a married woman may bar her dower although under 21 years of age, but she cannot make a valid will until she is 21.

After her marriage a woman continues to be liable to the extent of her separate property—for all debts contracted and all contracts entered into or wrongs committed by her before her marriage.

Under the laws of all Provinces and Territories (except the Province of Quebec) a married woman has the same right to deal with property as she would have if unmarried.

The Quebec law may be summarized as follows:

Husband and wife may be either in community of property or separate as to property. In the absence of an ante-nuptial contract the property is in community.

The assets of the community consist of all the immovables the consorts acquire during marriage, of all the movables which they have on the day of the marriage or which they acquire during the marriage or which fall to them by succession or by gift, if the testator or donor has not otherwise provided. The interest and fruits of all property also fall into the community. The husband has the entire administration of the community and can sell and mortgage the property of the community without the consent of his wife. He cannot, however, without her consent dispose of the immovables which belong to her, although he administers them.

When there is separation as to property, the wife retains the administration of her property, movable and immovable. She cannot, however, alienate or hypothecate it without the consent of her husband, or, upon his refusal, the authorization of the court. Gifts and sales between husband and wife are forbidden.

MECHANICS LIENS—ONTARIO

LIENS ON LAND. A Mechanic's Lien is a charge, authorized by statute, registered against any land upon which is constructed any building, erection or work, by a person who performed any work or service or placed or furnished any materials used in the construction of such building, erection or work. The amount of the charge must not exceed the sum due to such person. Except in the case of a manager, officer, or foreman, or a person whose wages are more than $10 a day, any agreement by a person employed in manual labour that the Act shall not apply, is void. The owner must retain 20% of the contract price (15% if the contract exceeds $15,000) for 30 days after the completion of the work. A lien for wages has priority over other liens to the extent of 30 days wages on the above 20% (or 15%).

Where land upon which work or services have been performed, or materials furnished, is subject to a mortgage or charge existing before the lien arose, such mortgage or charge has priority over all liens to the extent of the actual value of the land at the time the lien arose.

A lien may not be registered against a public street or highway, or for any work done by a municipality.

A lien must be registered in the registry office of the district in which the land lies, before or during the performance of the contract, or within 30 days after its completion, and must be verified by an affidavit. The fee for registration is 25 cents. Unless an action is brought within 90 days after the work or service has been completed, or materials furnished, the lien will cease to exist.

LIENS ON CHATTELS. Any person who has bestowed money, skill or materials upon any thing, by which it is altered or improved, is entitled to a lien upon such thing for the amount of money or value of the skill or materials bestowed when such amount remains unpaid for three months, and, in addition to any other remedy he may have against the owner of such thing, may sell it after giving a week's notice in a newspaper published in the municipality in which the work was done, or, if none, then in the nearest published newspaper, stating the name of the debtor, amount of debt, description of the thing to be sold, time and place of sale, and name of the auctioneer, and leaving a like notice at the last known residence of the owner. The proceeds of the sale to be applied in payment of the amount due and cost of advertising; any surplus to be paid to the person entitled, upon his application.

MORTGAGES

A mortgage may be given on either real or personal property. In the latter case it is called a "chattel mortgage," (see under that heading). A mortgage on real property, i.e., a land mortgage, must be registered in the proper office, according to whether the property is under a Land Titles Act or a Registry Act. In the latter case the seal of the mortgagor must be affixed after his signature; but in a Land Titles mortgage (called a "charge") no seal is required.

A mortgage may be made for any desired period of time, and it cannot be paid off until that period expires unless the mortgage so provides. After a mortgage has expired, it can usually be paid off only after giving the notice required by the law of the Province, and also the payment of a bonus of interest. (In Ontario, 3 months' notice or 3 months' bonus). The word "land" includes all buildings on the land; therefore all such become mortgaged under a land mortgage. Everything that a mortgagor adds to the property to improve its value becomes at once covered by the mortgage. If chattels are affixed to the land they become part of the land. If it be shown that no valuable consideration was given for a mortgage, it can be set aside. When the mortgage money is not paid when due the mortgagee may (unless there is a Moratorium Act to prevent it) either foreclose or sell the property, and may also sue under the mortgagor's covenant, for the amount of money due. Foreclosure is the method by which, after the period of notice required by law, the mortgagee may, if not redeemed, take the property to his own use, in which case the mortgagor is entirely shut out and also subsequent encumbrancers. If the mortgagee elects to sell the property, the mortgagor is entitled to the balance, if any, remaining after the claims of the mortgagee are paid. An action on the covenant in a mortgage on land must be brought within the following times: in Ontario, Alberta, Saskatchewan, and Manitoba, 10 years; British Columbia, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, and Prince Edward Island, 20 years; Quebec, 30 years.

In Provinces where there is a Moratorium Act in force, the mortgagee cannot foreclose or sell the mortgaged property during the period of the moratorium if the mortgagor keeps the interest and taxes paid up.

In Alberta, following the disallowance of the Acts mentioned in the Canadian Almanac for 1943, the Alberta Debt Adjustment Act has been declared ultra vires by the Privy Council and is therefore no longer in force. On March 24th, 1944, the Alberta Wartime Moratorium Act came into force, largely for the protection of farmers in the Armed Forces.

In Saskatchewan the Provincial Debt Adjustment Act has been repealed and replaced by the Land Contracts (Actions) Act, which deals with foreclosure of mortgages and cancellations of agreements for sale. The Farm Security Act, however, provides for suspension of principal payments owing under such mortgages and agreements in any crop failure year. The King's Bench Act and the District Court Act make provision for payment of judgments. A Provincial Mediation Board has been set up, and the Limitation of Civil Rights Act has been further amended.

In Ontario the Mortgages' and Purchasers' Relief Act (Moratorium) expired on June 30th, 1946.

In Ontario, during World War II, and a year thereafter, a member of the naval, military or air force, or a dependant, may make application to modify the terms of a mortgage or contract made by such member if it is shown that he is unable to fulfil them.

NATURALIZATION

In 1946 the Dominion Parliament passed "The Canadian Citizenship Act" with respect to Citizenship, Nationality, Naturalization and Status of Aliens—repealing previous legislation. All matters relating to Naturalization are under the control of the Parliament and Government of Canada. The Secretary of State may grant a certificate of citizenship to anyone qualified under the Act who makes application for it. Application must be made to a Judge, through the Clerk of the Court.

The application must be posted up for a period to be fixed before it can be heard. The applicant must personally appear, and produce evidence that he is qualified, whereupon a certificate of Canadian citizenship may be granted, but the certificate does not take effect until the applicant has taken the oath of allegiance before the Judge. A certificate of citizenship may be revoked for false representation in obtaining the certificate, disloyalty, non-residence in the British Dominions for six years, and other causes.

The applicant must declare and prove that he intends to become a Canadian citizen; that he has resided continuously in Canada for one year preceding the date of the application; that he is of good character; has an adequate knowledge of either the English or French languages, or has resided continuously in Canada for 20 years; and that he intends to reside permanently in Canada.

Any period during which an applicant has served in the armed forces of Canada, or was employed outside of Canada in its public service, shall be treated as equivalent to a period of residence.

PARTNERSHIP

A partnership is an agreement of two or more persons to place their money, effects, labour, and skill, or some or all of them, in a business, and to divide the profits and bear the loss in certain proportions.

Almost every Province has special Acts dealing with partnerships. These define the liabilities and duties of partners, and are very similar in all the Provinces. The fact that two or more persons are associated in business, or even that one of them receives a share of the profits, does not necessarily constitute a partnership. A partnership agreement is not required to be in writing unless it is a partnership in land, but it is advisable that the general terms, at least, be written, in order to forestall differences that will invariably occur. If the duration of the partnership is not fixed, it may ordinarily be terminated at any time by notice given by any partner. Unless the agreement states otherwise, the interests of the partners are deemed to be equal. Each partner is an agent of the firm and of his other partners for the purposes of the business, and the act of any partner in the ordinary way of business will bind the firm and the other partners. Each partner is liable jointly with the others for all debts and obligations of the firm while he is a partner. A partner cannot be expelled by the others unless power to do so is given by the agreement. Goodwill is part of the assets of the partnership, and where the assets are sold the purchaser has the exclusive right to use the firm name, and the former partners must not solicit the firm's customers.

In Ontario, a declaration, signed by all persons associated for the purpose of trading, mining or manufacturing (other than butter or cheese) must be filed—within sixty days after the formation of the partnership—with the registrar of the registry division in which they carry on or intend to carry on business. The declaration must contain the full names, occupations and residences of every partner; the name under which the business is to be carried on; the time the partnership has subsisted; and as to the age of the partners. A similar declaration must be filed when any change takes place in the members of the partnership, or in the name under which it carries on business. If any partner fails to sign or file the declaration, he may incur a penalty not exceeding $100. If a person is in business alone, but uses a firm name or designation other than his own name, or with the addition to his own name of the words "and Company", or some other expression indicating that there are several members in the firm, he must file a special declaration which must be filed within sixty days of the time when the name or designation is first used.

See COMPANIES; DOWER.

POWERS OF ATTORNEY

A power of attorney is an authority given by one person to another to act for him. It may be either verbal or in writing, but it is advisable to have it in writing owing to possible disputes afterwards, and also to difficulty of proof. The signature of the person giving the power should be witnessed. In most cases the power may be revoked at any time unless it is given for valuable consideration. It is revoked by the death of the person giving it, unless the power itself, or the law, provides otherwise. Any payment made and act done under a power after the death of the person who gave it, or after he has done some act to render it void, shall, notwithstanding such death or act, be valid as respects every person party to such payment or act, to whom the act or the death, or the doing of the act, was not known at the time of such payment or act. An executor of administrator can only delegate his authority or give a power of attorney if he is engaged on war service.

PROMISSORY NOTES

REAL PROPERTY

In a conveyance of land, there is included, without so stating, all buildings upon it. Land is conveyed by a deed, which is registered in the proper registry office. An intending purchaser of land must search in such registry office to ascertain whether the vendor has a good title to the land, and what mortgages or encumbrances there are against it. There are two systems of registration in Canada. Each Province has one or both systems, one being under a Land Titles Act (sometimes called the Torrens System) and the other a Registry Act. A Land Titles Act is in force in the Provinces of Ontario, Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba, and the Northwest Territories and Yukon Territory. A Registry Act is in force in Ontario, Manitoba, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island.

Under a Land Titles Act the title to the land is practically guaranteed to the purchaser. The Land Registry Act of British Columbia is similar to the Registry Acts of the other provinces, but all property owners receive a certificate of indefeasible title. In the Province of Quebec, a deed is passed before a notary or two witnesses and then registered in the proper one of the 77 Registry Offices. The law of real property in Quebec is too complicated to detail fully here; it is advisable to consult a Quebec lawyer.

In Ontario an owner of land is only required to show a good title during the preceding forty years.

TRUSTS AND TRUSTEES

A trust is an equitable obligation binding a person (called a trustee) to deal with property over which he has control (called the trust property) for the benefit of persons (called beneficiaries), of whom he himself may be one, and any one of whom may enforce the obligation. No particular form of words is necessary in order to create a trust. Any kind of property may be the subject of a trust. No one is bound to accept the office of trustee. It is a trustee's duty to give to the trust property the same care and attention as a prudent man would give to his own personal affairs, and a trustee must make no profit, in the way of his own business, out of the estate. A trustee is authorized to represent the shares in his hands at all meetings of a company, and may vote accordingly as a shareholder, and may also be a director as long as he holds the shares in trust. Where there are two trustees, or executors or administrators, and one dies, the office and estate are continued in the survivor. Until a new trustee is appointed, the executor or administrator of a sole trustee, or of the last surviving trustee, as the case may be, may exercise any power given to, or perform any trust capable of being exercised by, the sole or last surviving trustee. The law usually allows a trustee a fair and reasonable allowance for his care, trouble and time expended in connection with the estate.

WILLS

Any person of sound mind and of the age of 21 years, may dispose by will of real and personal property. Any member of His Majesty's Naval, Military or Air forces, or any mariner or seaman at sea, on active service, may make a will, although under 21 (In New Brunswick this applies only to personal property). If the will is signed by him no witnesses are required. Any property acquired between the date of a will and the death of the testator passes under the will. Subject to certain variations in the Provinces mentioned below, the general requirement of a will are as follows: A will must be in writing, and, except in the case of the said members of His Majesty's forces must be signed at the foot or end thereof by the testator, or by some other person in his presence and by his direction; and such signature must be written or acknowledged by the testator in the actual presence of at least two witnesses present at the same time, who shall sign their names on the will, as witnesses, in the presence of the testator. In New Brunswick and Quebec the witnesses must also sign in the presence of each other. Where a will consists of several sheets, it is advisable that the testator and both witnesses should sign or initial each previous sheet as identification. Any alteration in the will should be initialled by the testator and each witness.

A minor may be a witness, unless incompetent, through extreme youth, to understand and testify.

It is desirable that the witnesses should be informed that they are witnessing a will. A person who is taking any benefit under a will, or the wife or husband of such person, should not be a witness, for, although such person would be admitted as a witness to prove the execution of the will, a gift to such witness, or to the husband or wife of such witness, would be void. The occupation and residence of the witnesses should follow their signatures, to enable them more easily to be found when wanted to prove the will, and for this reason persons having permanent residences and occupations are to be preferred.

A will is revoked—among other ways—(a) by the subsequent marriage of the testator, (b) by a later will or codicil properly executed, (c) by the testator, or some person in his presence and by his direction, destroying it with the intention of revoking it. In New Brunswick a will made after April 30th, 1938, and represented to be made in contemplation of marriage, is not revoked by the subsequent marriage. This provision also applies in Manitoba.

In Nova Scotia a will is not revoked by subsequent marriage if (a) it is declared in the will to be made in contemplation of marriage, or (b) if the wife or husband elects to take under the will within one year of testator's death, or (c) in certain cases of exercise of power of appointment. In Nova Scotia this applies to Wills made after March, 1931.

In the Province of Quebec three forms of wills are recognized, namely, the authentic or notarial form; the form required for holograph wills; and the form derived from the laws of England. The notarial form is made before two notaries, or before one notary and two witnesses. A holograph will must be wholly written and signed by the testator, and requires neither notaries or witnesses. The form derived from the laws of England must be signed by the testator and acknowledged by him in the presence of two witnesses present and signing at the same time. The holograph will, and that in English form, require to be probated after the death of the testator, but the notarial form does not, as it makes complete proof of its contents. The proceedings for probate are much less complicated than in most other jurisdictions. There is no provision for Letters of Administration.

In Alberta, Manitoba and Saskatchewan a will wholly written and signed by the testator (known as a holograph will) is valid without a witness.

The general law relating to executors and administrators does not permit them to delegate their authority, but in Ontario they may do so if they are on war service—as defined by the Act.

WITNESSES AND SEALS

A signed document is valid without a witness, but if the signature is witnessed it is easier to prove its authenticity. In order, however, to register a document, a witness is necessary, as he has to make an affidavit of execution. A witness can be compelled to make proof of the execution of a document. Two witnesses are necessary in the case of a will.

In the case of a corporation no witness is required. If the seal of the corporation is affixed, with the signatures of its proper signing officers, this will be sufficient for the purpose of registration. The seal of a corporation is really its signature, and the names of the officers are merely witnesses to the seal.

The law does not require the address of a witness to a signature, but it is well to have it so that the witness may be easily found if it is necessary to prove the signature.

EXCESS PROFITS TAX ACT

(Chapter 32 of the Statutes of 1940 with subsequent amendments, including 1947)

Briefly, The Excess Profits Tax Act imposed a minimum tax (in addition to Income Tax) on profits, whether excess profits were earned or not.

This minimum tax was 12% for 1940 and 22% for 1941 in the case of corporations. For unincorporated taxpayers the rates were 12% for 1940 and 15% for 1941.

Thus, for 1941 and until June 30th, 1942, the excess profits tax on corporations was either

- (1) 22% of the total profits, or
- (2) 75% of the excess profits, whichever is the greater.

For 1942, and fiscal periods from July 1st, 1942 to Dec. 31, 1945, the excess profits tax on corporations was

- (1) 12% of the total profits
- plus (2) 10% of the total profits or

(3) 100% of Excess Profits,

i.e., (1) plus the greater of (2) or (3)

The 1941 rates were effective until June 30th, 1942.

The rates for 1942 and subsequent fiscal periods were effective from July 1st, 1942.

The rates for fiscal periods ending in 1947 are shown below: see Second Schedule. Unincorporated taxpayers are exempt under the Excess Profits Tax Act, commencing Jan. 1, 1947.

No change in rates was made by the amending act passed June 10th, 1947. Section 4 of this amending act provides, however, that, No tax shall be assessed, levied or collected under The Excess Profits Tax Act, 1940 on profits earned on and after Jan. 1, 1948, and in the case of a taxpayer whose 1948 taxation year begins before that date and ends after that date, tax shall be imposed under the said Act only on that proportion of his profits of the said taxation year that the number of days of the said taxation year in the year 1947 is of the total number of days of the said taxation year.

RATE OF TAX ON PROFITS EFFECTIVE AND IN FORCE ON THE FIRST DAY OF JANUARY, 1947

SECOND SCHEDULE

In the case of corporations or joint stock companies—15% of the excess profits.

Section 6 of the Amending Act of 1946 reads:

(1) The provisions of this Act, except subsection three of section three and subsection two of section four shall come into force on Jan. 1, 1947, and the said provisions shall apply in respect of that proportion of the profits of a taxpayer of the 1947 taxation year which the number of days of the said taxation year in the year 1947 is of the total number of days of the said taxation year and the provisions previously applicable shall apply in respect of the remaining proportion of the said profits.

(2) Subsection three of section three of this Act shall be applicable in respect of the 1947 and subsequent taxation years.

(3) Subsection two of section four of this Act is applicable in respect of the 1946 and subsequent taxation years.

Former Rates, from Jan. 1st, 1946, on fiscal periods ending in 1946;—

FIRST PART—

1. Where the profits of a corporation or joint stock company in the taxation year before deduction therefrom of any tax paid thereon under the Income War Tax Act or any payment to a shareholder by way of salary, interest or otherwise, are $5,000 or less, 12% of the profits before deduction therefrom of any tax paid under the Income War Tax Act, except in the case of a taxpayer referred to in subparagraph (b) of paragraph two of this Part.

2. Where the profits of a corporation or joint stock company in the taxation year before deduction therefrom of any tax paid thereon under the Income War Tax Act or any payment to a shareholder by way of salary, interest or otherwise, are more than:

(a) $5,000; or

(b) if the fiscal period is less than twelve months the portion of $5,000 that the number of days in the fiscal period is of 365 days;

22% of the profits before deduction therefrom of any tax paid under the Income War Tax Act.

SECOND PART—

In the case of corporations or joint stock companies 20% of the excess profits and in the case of persons other than corporations or joint stock companies 60% of the excess profits."

(There is no Refundable Portion from the above taxes; see note under "Refundable Portion of Tax.")

EXCESS PROFITS

The amending act, 1945, defines Excess Profits, as follows:

1. Paragraph (c) of subsection one of section two of The Excess Profits Tax Act, 1940, chapter thirty-two of the statutes of 1940, is repealed and the following substituted therefor:

"(c) 'excess profits' means

(i) in the case of a corporation or joint stock company that has filed a consolidated return for the taxation period pursuant to subsection three of section thirty-five of the Income War Tax Act, the amount by which the consolidated profits of the taxpayer and its subsidiaries exceed 117.241% of the standard profits of the taxpayer and its subsidiaries as determined under section four A of this Act;

(ii) in the case of a corporation or joint stock company that has not filed a consolidated return for the taxation period, the amount by which the profits of the taxpayer exceed 116.666% of the standard profits of the taxpayer; and

(iii) in the case of a person other than a corporation or joint stock company, the amount by which the profits of the taxpayer exceed 117.647% of his standard profits."

(The repealed definition read that excess profits were that portion of profits in excess of the standard profits).

CORPORATIONS AND PERSONS LIABLE TO TAX

Section 3 (amended 1946) provides: In addition to any other tax or duty payable under any Act, there shall be assessed, levied and paid a tax in accordance with the rate set out in the Second Schedule to this Act upon the excess profits of every corporation or joint stock company residing or ordinarily resident in Canada or carrying on business in Canada: Provided that where a corporation or joint stock company other than a controlled company whose standard profit is restricted by section fifteen A of this Act, in the opinion of the Minister

(a) has commenced business after the twenty-sixth day of June, nineteen hundred and forty-four, or

(b) carried on a substantially different business to which subsection four of section five of this Act is applicable and uses therein physical assets substantially different from those he used in the business he previously carried on, the tax imposed by this section is not applicable to the profits of the first fiscal period of the new business or to the profits of the first fiscal period in which the said subsection four becomes applicable, as the case may be, unless, in the case of a corporation or joint stock company that has commenced business after the twelfth day of October, nineteen hundred and forty-five, a person or persons who has or have a substantial interest in the business either by ownership of shares in the corporation or joint stock company that operates the business or otherwise, had, in the opinion of the Minister, either by ownership of shares in the company that operated the business or by being members of the partnership that operated the business or otherwise, a substantial interest in a previous business of which the new business is, in the opinion of the Minister, a continuation. (Effective Jan. 1, 1947).

PAYMENT OF TAX INSTALMENTS CORPORATIONS

The following is applicable to income of 1947 and subsequent taxation years.

The tax payable by a corporation or joint stock company under both the Excess Profits Tax Act and the Income Tax Act must be paid by monthly instalments payable on or before the last day of each month of the twelve month period ending six months after the close of such taxation year, as follows:

- (a) during the first six months in such period, an amount equal to one-twelfth of such tax as estimated by it on its income for the year last preceding the taxation year or on its estimated income for the taxation year at the rate for the taxation year; and
- (b) during each of the last six months in the said period, an amount equal to one-sixth of the remainder of the tax payable as calculated by it on its income for the taxation year at the rate for the taxation year;

DEFINITION OF PROFITS AND PERIODS

Section 2 (f) "Profits" in the case of a corporation or joint stock company for any taxation period means the amount of net taxable income of the said corporation or joint stock company as determined under the provisions of the Income War Tax Act in respect of the same taxation period; except that if a corporation or joint stock company is subject to the tax imposed by the Second Part of the Second Schedule to this Act, profits shall not include, for the purposes of the said tax, any dividends deemed to have been received by such corporation or joint stock company by virtue of section 19 of the Income War Tax Act unless

- (i) the capital of the corporation or joint stock company including capital stock, bonds, debentures and any other securities issued by the said corporation or joint stock company is, to the extent of 50 per centum or more, held by or on behalf of individual holders numbering 25 or less, or
 - (ii) the said corporation or joint stock company is controlled directly or indirectly by any such number of individuals by means of the ownership or control of the majority of the voting stock of the said corporation or joint stock company
- and unless the corporation or joint stock company which is being wound up, discontinued or reorganized, within the meaning of section 19 of the Income War Tax Act aforesaid, is likewise controlled in the manner described in sub-paragraph (i) or sub-paragraph (ii) hereof by individuals numbering 25 or less.

(a) "Profits" in the case of a taxpayer other than a corporation or joint stock company, for any taxation period, means the income of the said taxpayer derived from carrying on one or more businesses, as defined by section three of the Income War Tax Act, and before any deductions are made therefrom under any other provisions of the said Income War Tax Act;

STANDARD PERIOD

Sub-Section (h) Defines the "Standard Period" as the period comprising the calendar years 1936 to 1939, both inclusive, or such years or parts thereof since the first day of January, 1936, during which the taxpayer was in business:

Provided that where the profits of a taxpayer in any one of such calendar years, after adjustment by the Minister pursuant to section 4 of this Act, were less than 50 per centum of the average of the profits for the remaining years of the standard period the taxpayer may designate as his standard period the remaining years aforesaid of the standard period, and Provided further that if the Minister is satisfied that a taxpayer did not actually commence business operations until a date subsequent to the date of the nominal commencement thereof he may fix the date of the actual commencement of business operations as the date of commencement thereof for all purposes under this Act.

STANDARD PROFITS

Sub-Section (i) Defines the "Standard Profits" as the average yearly profits derived by a taxpayer in the standard period in carrying on what was in the opinion of the Minister the same class of business as the business of the taxpayer in the year of taxation, or the standard profits as determined in accordance with section five of this Act:

Provided that standard profits shall not include for the purposes of this Act property in any form received by a taxpayer deemed to be the payment of a dividend under section 19 of the Income War Tax Act; and

Provided further that for the purposes of this section profits shall be deemed to have accrued on an equal daily basis throughout any fiscal period or portion thereof which is in question; and

Provided further that losses incurred by the taxpayer during the standard period shall not be deducted from the profits in the standard period but the years of losses shall nevertheless be counted in determining the average yearly profits during the said standard period; and Provided further that a taxpayer's standard profits shall not be deemed to be less than $5,000.00 before any adjustment is made in accordance with the provisions of this Act.

ADJUSTMENT OF STANDARD PERIODS AND PROFITS

Section 4. Provisions are made for the adjustment of standard periods and profits in order that the tax may be equitable.

An important amendment in 1944 follows:

(iii) in the case of a corporation or joint stock company where the capital employed at the beginning of the 1944 fiscal period has been increased over the capital employed

(a) at the commencement of the 1939 taxation period, or

(b) at the commencement of the fiscal period, after the year 1939 in respect of which the Board of Referees has last determined standard profits, whichever is later in time, by adding to the standard profits an amount equal to 5% of the amount by which such increase exceeds an accompanying increase in capital stock by reason of which an addition to standard profits was made under sub-paragraph (i) of this paragraph;

(iv) in the case of a corporation or joint stock company, if the capital employed at the beginning of the 1945 or a subsequent fiscal period is less than the capital employed at the beginning of the 1944 fiscal period, by deducting from the standard profits applicable to the fiscal period, in addition to any amount deducted therefrom under sub-paragraph (i) of this paragraph, an amount equal either to

(a) 5% of the amount by which the capital employed has been so reduced without an equivalent reduction in capital stock; or

(b) the amount which has been previously added to the standard profits under subparagraph (iii) of this paragraph, whichever is less."

SUBSIDIARIES AND CONSOLIDATED RETURNS

Section 4a (1944). This is an important amendment concerning the determination of Standard Profits of companies with subsidiary companies and companies making consolidated returns.

STANDARD PROFITS—DEPRESSED OR NEW BUSINESSES

Section 5 (1) If a taxpayer is convinced that his standard profits were so low that it would not be just to determine his liability to tax under this Act by reference thereto because the business is either of a class which during the standard period was depressed or was for some reason peculiar to itself abnormally depressed during the standard period when compared with other businesses of the same class he may, subject as hereinafter provided, compute his standard profits at such greater amount as he thinks just, but not exceeding an amount equal to interest at 10 per centum per annum on the amount of capital employed in the business at the commencement of the last year or the fiscal period of the taxpayer in the standard period computed in accordance with the First Schedule to this Act:

Provided that if the Minister is not satisfied that the business of the taxpayer was depressed or that the standard profits as computed by the taxpayer are fair and reasonable he may direct that the standard profits be ascertained by the Board of Referees and the Board shall thereupon, in its sole discretion, ascertain the standard profits at such an amount as the Board thinks just, being, however, an amount equal to the average yearly profits of the taxpayer during the standard period or to interest at the rate of not less than 5 nor more than 10 per centum per annum on the amount of capital employed at the commencement of the last year or fiscal period of the taxpayer in the standard period as computed by the Board in its sole discretion in accordance with the First Schedule to this Act, or the Minister shall assess the taxpayer in accordance with the provisions of this act other than as provided in this subsection.

(2) If on the application of a taxpayer the Minister is satisfied that the taxpayer was not carrying on business during the standard period or that the profits of the standard period were so low that it would not be just to determine the liability of the taxpayer under this Act by reference thereto because the actual date of commencement of business by the taxpayer or the date of commencement fixed by the Minister pursuant to paragraph (h) of subsection 1 of section 2 of this Act was subsequent to the 31st day of December, 1937, but before the first day of January, 1939, he shall direct that the standard profits be ascertained by the Board, or (whether or not there has been an application by the taxpayer) in the case of any taxpayer who has not commenced business before the second day of January, 1939, the Minister shall direct that the standard profits be ascertained by the Board and the Board shall in its sole discretion thereupon ascertain the standard profits at such an amount as the Board thinks just, being an amount equal to a return on the capital employed by the taxpayer at the commencement of the first year of fiscal period in respect of which he is subject to taxation under this Act at the rate earned by taxpayers during the standard period in similar circumstances engaged in the same or an analogous class of business, the capital of the taxpayer to be computed by the Board of Referees in its sole discretion in accordance with the First Schedule to this Act:

(3) If on the application of a taxpayer the Minister is satisfied that the business either was depressed during the standard period or was not in operation prior to the first day of January, 1938, and the Minister on the advice of the Board of Referees is satisfied that because,

(a) the business is of such a nature that capital is not an important factor in the earning of profits, or

(b) the capital has become abnormally impaired or due to other extraordinary circumstances is abnormally low standard profits ascertained by reference to capital employed would result in the imposition of excessive taxation amounting to unjustifiable hardship or extreme discrimination or would jeopardize the continuation of the business of the taxpayer the Minister may direct that the standard profits be ascertained by the Board of Referees and the Board shall in its sole discretion thereupon ascertain the standard profits on such basis as the Board thinks just having regard to the standard profits of taxpayers in similar circumstances engaged in the same or analogous class of business.

(4) (Amended 1944 and 1947). "(4) Where, in the opinion of the Minister, a taxpayer's profits in a fiscal period ending in the year 1940 or a subsequent year are derived from the carrying on of a business substantially different from the class of business carried on by the taxpayer in either

(i) the standard period, or

(ii) any fiscal period thereafter preceding the year under consideration, the Minister may direct that the taxpayer's standard profits be ascertained by the Board of Referees; and the Board shall thereupon ascertain the standard profits in accordance with subsection 2 or 3 of this section as if the taxpayer was not carrying on business prior to the commencement of the first fiscal period ending in the year 1944 or the first subsequent year throughout which the different business was carried on.

(5) Notwithstanding anything contained in this section a decision of the Board given under this section shall not be operative until approved by the Minister whereupon the said decision shall be final and conclusive: Provided that if a decision is not approved by the Minister it shall be submitted to the Treasury Board who shall thereupon determine the standard profits and the decision of the Treasury Board shall be final and conclusive."

(5a) In the case of taxpayers engaged in the operation of gold mines or oil wells which have come into production after January 1st, 1938, the amount of standard profits shall be ascertained on the basis of a presumed volume of production during the standard period equal to the volume of production of the taxpayer in the taxation year and a presumed selling price for the product during the standard period equal to the average selling price of the said product during the standard period.

(5b) (1) If, after deducting the amount, if any, allowed in lieu of salary under paragraph (b) of subsection two of section six of this Act and after adjustments, if any, have been made under paragraphs (b) and (c) of subsection one of section four, the standard profits of a taxpayer other than a controlled company whose standard profit is restricted by section fifteen A are an amount less than twenty-five thousand dollars, they shall be increased by fifty per centum of the difference between that amount and twenty-five thousand dollars.

(2) Subsection one of this section is not applicable to standard profits that are determined by subsection one of section four A of this Act but is applicable in determining the standard profits referred to in paragraph (a) of that subsection.

LAST DATE TO FILE STANDARD PROFITS RETURNS

Section 5 of the Act was amended in 1947 by adding sub-sections (6), (7), (8), (9), providing that no taxpayer shall be entitled to make application for determination of his Standard Profits on or after Sept. 1st, 1947; special provision being made for taxpayers who by reason of first becoming liable to pay tax on excess profits did not find it necessary prior to that date to have their Standard Profits ascertained.

DONATIONS

A 1944 amendment to Sect. 6, S.S. 2; Para (a) limiting deductions for charitable donations, was repealed in 1946, effective from January 1st, 1947.

RESERVE FOR FUTURE INVENTORY LOSSES

Provision is also made by Section 6 for a reserve against future depreciation in inventory values; applicable to Excess Profits Tax only.

This section was amended in 1947 to remove difficulties that arise by reason of the Act ceasing to apply at the end of the calendar year 1947 rather than at the end of the taxation year of each taxpayer.

EXEMPTIONS

Section 7. Among profits not taxable under this Act are those of certain taxpayers exempt under the Income War Tax Act; the profits of personal corporations deriving income solely from investments; the profits of non-resident owned investment companies, and, applicable to the year 1941 and subsequent years the profits of diversified investment corporations which satisfy certain conditions.

In 1942 and 1945 new clauses were added with respect to exempting the profits of base metal and strategic mineral mines which come into production in the calendar years commencing Jan. 1st, 1943 for the first three fiscal years.

DEDUCTIONS NOT ALLOWED

Section 8. No deduction is allowed for

- (a) Any tax payable under this Act in respect of any taxation period or
- (b) Any unreasonable or abnormal expenditures

DEDUCTIONS ALLOWED

Section 9 (1) (Amended 1944). A taxpayer may deduct from the tax that would otherwise be payable by him under this Act the amount paid to the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland, any of His Majesty's self-governing dominions or dependencies or a foreign country for excess profits tax in respect of the profits of the taxpayer derived from sources therein: Provided that the Minister may in his discretion allow a taxpayer to deduct from the aggregate of the tax under the Income War Tax Act and the tax under this Act payable by him the aggregate of the income tax and excess profits tax paid to the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland or to any of His Majesty's self-governing dominions or dependencies or to a foreign country.

(2) Such deduction shall not exceed the same proportion of the tax otherwise payable under this Act or the sum total of the income tax and excess profits tax otherwise payable under this Act and the Income War Tax Act as provided for in the proviso to subsection 1 hereof as that which the taxpayer's net profits from sources within such country and taxed therein bears to his entire net profits from all sources.

REFUNDABLE PORTION OF TAX (effective July 1st, 1942.)

A 1945 Amendment (Sect. 9(1)) provides:

The Minister shall not make any refund under section eighteen of The Excess Profits Tax Act, 1940, in respect of periods ending on the thirty-first day of December, nineteen hundred and forty-six or thereafter.

(2) Notwithstanding section eighteen of The Excess Profits Tax Act, 1940, the Minister shall refund thereunder in respect of a fiscal period ending in nineteen hundred and forty-six before the thirty-first day of December, that portion of the amount that would otherwise be refundable under section eighteen of the said Act that the number of days in the fiscal period in nineteen hundred and forty-five is of the number of days in the fiscal period.

Section 18 referred to above, follows:

18. (1) There shall be refunded to the taxpayer an amount equal to 20% of the profits above the point at which the tax calculated under the First Part of the Second Schedule is equal to the tax calculated under the Second Part of the Second Schedule if such profits have been paid by way of taxes under the Income War Tax Act and this Act to the Receiver General of Canada.

(2) The refundable portion shall be repaid to the taxpayer or to his legal representative after the cessation of hostilities between Canada and Germany, Italy and Japan, as follows:—

(a) as to any refundable portion referable to the profits of fiscal periods ending in the year 1942, during the second fiscal period of the Government of Canada commencing after cessation of the said hostilities;

(b) as to any refundable portion referable to the profits of fiscal periods ending in the year 1943, during the third fiscal period of the Government of Canada commencing after cessation of the said hostilities; and so on for successive fiscal periods; or notwithstanding the provisions of paragraphs (a) and (b) hereof, at such earlier times and in such instalments as the Governor in Council may determine.

(3) The date of cessation of hostilities shall be that date proclaimed by the Governor in Council that a state of war no longer exists, or such other date as he may determine for the purposes of refunds hereunder. (1942, c. 26, s. 10).

NO TAX ON PROFITS EARNED AFTER DEC. 31ST, 1947
Section 4 of the 1947 amending act reads as follows:

No tax shall be assessed, levied or collected under The Excess Profits Tax Act, 1940 on profits earned on and after Jan. 1, 1948, and in the case of a taxpayer whose 1948 taxation year begins before that date and ends after that date, tax shall be imposed under the said Act only on that proportion of his profits of the said taxation year that the number of days of the said taxation year in the year 1947 is of the total number of days of the said taxation year.

ASSIGNING REFUNDABLE PORTION

(4) A taxpayer may assign by way of security a refundable portion repayable under this section if the Governor in Council has consented to the assignment after being satisfied that the purpose of the assignment is to enable the taxpayer to make capital expenditures that will contribute to the post-war conversion of the taxpayer's business and that such expenditures will provide substantial employment.

(5) The Governor in Council may make regulations determining the persons to whom amounts refundable under this section shall be paid in the event of the bankruptcy, liquidation, winding-up or dissolution of that taxpayer.

AVOIDANCE OF TAXATION

Section 16. Gives the Treasury Board power to disallow any transaction whose purpose is to avoid, minimize or prejudice taxation under this Act.

CAPITAL EMPLOYED

The First Schedule of the Act specifies the manner in which capital shall be computed.

Generally speaking Capital Employed includes: The cost in money or money's worth of assets employed in the business less depreciation and depletion;

Accounts receivable less reserve for bad debts; Money or bank deposits which are actually used in the business; less

Any sum contributed by the Dominion of Canada or by any Province towards the acquisition of any asset;

Depreciation in accordance with Income Tax Department regulations;

Debts and borrowed money, except Income Bonds or Income Debentures, and except non-interest-bearing advances to a subsidiary which the Minister may consider as Capital;

Investments the income from which is tax-exempt; Monies, bank deposits, investments or other assets which are unproductive or were not acquired for the purposes of the business.

CHANGES IN CAPITAL

An important 1944 amendment follows:

(1) Capital as hereinbefore defined

(a) shall be increased by a portion of any bona fide addition to the assets of the business or reduction in the liabilities of the business in the period, and

(b) shall be decreased by a portion of any bona fide reduction in the assets of the business or addition to the liabilities of the business in the period unless the increase or decrease results from profits or losses of the business in the period.

(2) The increase or decrease, required by subsection 1 of this section is that proportion of the addition or reduction, as the case may be, that the number of days in the taxation period after the addition or reduction occurs bears to the number of days in the taxation period.

(3) Capital has hereinbefore defined shall also be decreased by the amount of dividends paid in cash during the taxation period to the extent of one-half the amount by which the capital, calculated in accordance with sections 1, 2, and 3 of this Schedule, at the commencement of the period is greater than the capital, so calculated, at the commencement of the next succeeding period."

THE INCOME WAR TAX ACT

The Income War Tax Act, 1917, and amendments to the year 1927 were consolidated by Chapter 97 of the Revised Statutes of Canada, 1927. This, together with subsequent amendments, including the 1947 amendments, represents the Act as it stands at December 1947.

The following is a summary of some of the more important provisions of the Act of wide application. The summary is not official and, in case of doubt, persons interested are recommended to apply to their local Inspector of Income Tax or write to the Commissioner of Income Tax, Ottawa.

RATES OF TAX FOR 1947

(The rates in the following Schedule are effective from January 1, 1947 in accordance with the amending act passed June 11th, 1947, which repealed former rates.)

FIRST SCHEDULE

A. RATES OF TAX APPLICABLE TO INCOME OF PERSONS, OTHER THAN CORPORATIONS OR JOINT STOCK COMPANIES, UNDER SUBSECTION 1 OF SECTION 9.

E. RATE OF TAX APPLICABLE TO NON-RESIDENT-OWNED INVESTMENT CORPORATIONS WHICH HAVE MADE ELECTIONS UNDER SUBSECTION FOUR OF SECTION NINE OF THIS ACT—fifteen per centum.

TAXABLE INCOME

Section 3 defines income as follows:

For the purposes of this Act, "income" means the annual net profit or gain or gratuity, whether ascertained and capable of computation as being wages, salary, or other fixed amount, or unascertained as being fees or emoluments, or as being profits from a trade or commercial or financial or other business or calling, directly or indirectly received by a person from any office or employment, or from any profession or calling, or from any trade, manufacture or business, as the case may be, whether derived from sources within Canada or elsewhere; and shall include the interest, dividends or profits directly or indirectly received from money at interest upon any security or without security, or from stocks, or from any other investment, and, whether such gains or profits are divided or distributed or not, and also the annual profit or gain from any other source, including:

- the income from but not the value of property acquired by gift, bequest, devise or descent, and
- (amended 1945 and applicable to 1945 and subsequent periods.)
Annuities received under a contract (other than payments described in paragraph (c) of this subsection) except a portion of each amount received thereunder that bears the same relation to the whole amount as the amount that the annuitant could, under the contract, have chosen to receive in lieu of the annuity or, if no such choice is provided by the contract, the present value (computed in such manner as the Minister may by regulation prescribe) of the annuity at the time of commencement thereof, bears to the aggregate (computed in the case of an annuity for life on the assumption that the annuitant will live during the period of his normal expectation of life calculated in accordance with mortality tables approved by the Minister) of the annuity for which the contract provides: Provided that this provision shall not be construed to prejudice the operation of subsection two of this section.
- any payment out of any superannuation or pension fund or plan. A former proviso was deleted in 1946, effective June 28, 1946.
- the salaries, indemnities or other remuneration of
 - members of the Senate and House of Commons of Canada and officers thereof,
 - members of Provincial Legislative Councils and Assemblies,

- (iii) members of Municipal Councils, Commissions or Boards of Management.
- (iv) any Judge of any Dominion or Provincial court whose salary was increased by chapter fifty-nine of the Statutes of one thousand nine hundred and twenty and who accepted such increase, and any Judge of any such Court appointed after the seventh day of July, one thousand nine hundred and nineteen, and
- (v) all persons whatsoever, whether the said salaries, indemnities or other remuneration are paid out of the revenue of His Majesty in respect of his Government of Canada, or of any province thereof, or by any person, except as herein otherwise provided; and
- (e) personal and living expenses when such form part of the profit, gain or remuneration of the taxpayer, etc., etc.
- (f) rents, royalties, annuities or other like periodical receipts which depend upon the production or use of any real or personal property, notwithstanding that the same are payable on account of the use or sale of any such property.
- (g) (Amended 1945 and applicable to 1945 and subsequent periods.) All annuities and other annual payments received under the provisions of a will or trust irrespective of the day on which the will or trust became effective and notwithstanding that the payments are payable at intervals longer or shorter than a year except a payment or portion thereof which can be established by the recipient not to have been paid out of the income of the estate or trust.
- (h) any amount received pursuant to a decree, order or judgment made by a competent tribunal in any action or proceeding for divorce or judicial separation or pursuant to a separation agreement as alimony or other allowance for the maintenance of the recipient thereof and the children of the marriage if any, if such recipient is living apart from the spouse or former spouse required to make such payment.
- (2) Where under any existing or future contract or arrangement for the payment of money, the Minister is of opinion that
 - (a) payments of principal money and interest are blended, or
 - (b) payment is made pursuant to a plan which involves an allowance of interest, whether or not there is any provision for payment of interest at a nominal rate or at all, the Minister shall have the power to determine what part of any such payment is interest and the part so determined to be interest shall be deemed to be income for the purposes of this Act.
- (3) Where any person acts in the capacity of trustee in the case where an oil or gas well is operated under an arrangement whereby any person other than the operator has an interest in the proceeds of the sale of the products thereof, such proceeds shall nevertheless be deemed, for the purposes of this Act, to be received by the trustee on his own behalf, and he shall be taxable in respect thereof at the rates prescribed for corporations in paragraph C of the First Schedule to this Act and any taxes paid by the trustee under this Act or The Excess Profits Tax Act, 1940, may be charged by the trustee rateably to those persons having such interest in such proceeds and deducted from the amounts due them from him.
- (4) Any payment made to any person in connection with any duty, office or employment, whether as allowances on a per diem or other periodic basis, living allowances or expenses, or otherwise except
 - (a) travelling or other allowances expressly fixed by and in any Act of the Parliament of Canada,
 - (b) travelling expenses and separation allowances designated by the Minister, paid to a member of the permanent Canadian Naval, Military and Air forces who is in receipt of pay and allowances at rates designated by the Minister as new permanent force rates of pay and allowances, and
 - (c) travelling expenses paid to any member of the Canadian Naval, Military or Air forces in the Canadian Active Service Forces other than to a member of the permanent Canadian Naval, Military or Air forces described in paragraph

(b) of this subsection, shall be salary of such person and taxable as income for the purposes of this Act: Provided, however, that living allowances paid to persons who are serving outside of Canada but are maintaining a self-contained domestic establishment in Canada and who are either employees of the Government of Canada or members of the Canadian Naval, Military or Air Forces in the Canadian Active Service Forces shall not be deemed to be taxable income up to such an amount as may be determined by the Minister in his discretion. (Amended 1946, effective 1946 tax period).

(5) Any payment (other than supplementary grants paid by the dependents' board of trustees) made in respect of the services of any member of the Canadian Naval, Military or Air Forces in the Canadian Active Service Forces to the wife or to any dependent of such member shall for the purposes of this Act be income of such member.

(6) This provides that a single payment paid by an employer to an employee upon retirement on and after Jan. 1, 1944 and on or before June 27, 1946, may be taxed over a 5-year period, 1/5 in each year.

(7) (New in 1944). This provides that income of a period may be reduced by the amount of a gift in money to His Majesty in right of Canada.

(8) Where the Minister is satisfied that a payment or payments made on or after the thirteenth day of October, nineteen hundred and forty-five and before June 27, 1946, by a person to a former employee is in respect of loss of office or employment, one-fifth only of the payment or the aggregate of the payments made in any year shall be deemed, for the purposes of this Act, to be income of the taxpayer in the year it is received and one-fifth thereof shall be so deemed to be income of the taxpayer in each of the four succeeding years in which he is living.

(9) (1946 and subsequent period). This provides for an exemption of expenses allowed elected members of a provincial legislative assembly providing it does not exceed one-half of the maximum fixed indemnity.

(10) (1946 and subsequent periods). Provides for Authors' earnings, in certain cases and upon filing the prescribed forms, to be spread over 2 or 3 years.

(11) This provides that funding securities received on or after January 1, 1947, in respect of an accrued right to interest, dividends or other payments of an income nature . . . be taxable as income.

INCOMES NOT LIABLE TO TAX

EXEMPTIONS AND DEDUCTIONS

Under the Act certain incomes are not liable to taxation. These include: (Section 4)

(1) The income derived from any bonds or other securities of the Dominion of Canada issued exempt from any income tax imposed in pursuance of any legislation enacted by the Parliament of Canada;

(k) The income of incorporated companies (except personal corporations).

(i) whose business operations are of an industrial, mining, commercial, public utility or public service nature, and are carried on entirely outside of Canada, etc., or

(ii) whose business operations are of an investment of financial nature and carried on entirely outside of Canada, and whose shares have been offered for public subscription or are listed on any recognized stock exchange in Canada or elsewhere, and whose assets (except such bank deposits as may be held in Canada and except shares of other companies conforming to the requirements of this paragraph (k)) are situate entirely outside of Canada, etc.

Provided that such companies file annually a fully completed return, on the form prescribed, and also pay an annual filing fee of one hundred dollars, within four months from the close of their fiscal period.

(l) (i) Pensions granted or payable under the provisions of the Pension Act, or other payments in the nature of pensions which were being administered on the 31st day of July, 1942 by the Canadian Pension Commission as directed by the Governor in Council, under section 6 of the Pension Act.

(ii) Pensions granted or payable on account of disability or death arising out of war service by the government of any country which was an ally of His Majesty at the time of such war service; Provided, and to the extent that, such country grants a similar exemption in respect of such pensions payable by the government of Canada.

(n) Dividends paid to an incorporated company by a company incorporated in Canada, the profits of which have been taxed under this Act or to which par (w) of this section applies, except as hereinafter provided by Sections 19, 22a, and 32a. (applicable to 1947 and subsequent years).

(o) Dividends received by an incorporated company from a company incorporated outside of Canada to the extent that the latter corporation has earned income within Canada and actually paid a tax in respect of such income under this Act; provided that in computing the proportion or fractional part of the dividend free from taxation in the hands of a recipient corporation, as provided by this paragraph, the Minister's determination shall be final and conclusive.

(p) This paragraph, amended 1946 and 1947, deals with Co-operative Companies and Associations.

(q) This paragraph, amended 1946, exempts Credit Unions under certain conditions.

(r) Dividends received, directly or through any other subsidiary company, by a company incorporated in Canada whose shares are held by the public, from a wholly owned (less directors' qualifying shares) subsidiary non-resident company, if the Minister is satisfied that at least seventy-five per centum of the combined capital of such Canadian company and all of its wholly owned subsidiary companies is employed directly or indirectly outside of Canada. (This clause is subject to certain provisions.)

(s) Dividends paid to a Company incorporated in Canada by a company which has never paid a tax by reason of sections 89 and 90 of this Act.

(t) The service pay and allowances, except service pay and allowances paid at rates designated by the Minister as new permanent force rates of pay, of—

(i) members of the Canadian Naval, Military and Air Forces while in the Canadian Active Service Forces and overseas on the strength of an Overseas Unit outside of the Western Hemisphere, and

(ii) members of the said Forces whose income from such service pay and allowances (excluding subsistence allowances up to $1.70 per day and marriage and dependents' allowances and supplementary grants paid by the dependents' board of trustees) is paid at the rate of less than $1,600.00 per annum.

(u) Any amount received by any person as compensation under the Workmen's Compensation Act of any province of Canada or the Government Employees' Compensation Act in respect of any injury or disability incurred or in respect of any death.

(v) Exempts the service pay and allowances of the first 6 months service after return, with an exception similar to that in par (t) (effective 1946 period).

(w) This par., new in 1946, deals with investment corporations.

(x) This par., new in 1946, deals with income of companies derived from mines of base metals or strategic minerals.

(y) (amended 1945) deals with the income of housing corporations.

(z) the income from the investment of the superannuation or pension funds of a trust established in connection with, or a corporation incorporated for the administration of, an employees' superannuation or pension fund or plan approved by the Minister in respect of its constitution and operations for the taxation year; (Applicable to 1946 period).

DEDUCTIONS ALLOWED

Deductions* allowed from income by the Act include: (Section 5)

(a) Allowances for the exhaustion of mines, wells and timber limits, etc. (Amended 1946).

(b) Such reasonable rate of interest on borrowed capital used in the business to earn the income as the Minister in his discretion may allow.

MARRIED STATUS EXEMPTION

(applicable to income of 1947 and subsequent years and subject to the proviso at end of par (e) below).

(c) fifteen hundred dollars in the case of a taxpayer who, during the taxation year, was

(i) a married person who supported his spouse dependent upon him for support, if the son or daughter was, during the taxation year,

(a) under eighteen years of age;

(b) eighteen years of age or over and dependent by reason of mental or physical infirmity; or

(c) under twenty-one years of age and a student at a secondary school, university or other educational institution;

(iii) an unmarried person or a married person separated from his spouse who maintained a self-contained domestic establishment and actually supported therein a person wholly dependent upon him and connected with him by blood relationship, marriage or adoption; or

(iv) an unmarried minister or clergyman in charge of a diocese, parish or congregation, who maintained a self-contained domestic establishment and employed therein on full-time, a housekeeper or servant; and seven hundred and fifty dollars in the case of each person not entitled to the aforesaid deduction of fifteen hundred dollars;

EXEMPTION FOR DEPENDENTS

(d) for each child or grandchild of the taxpayer who was, during the taxation year, wholly dependent upon him for support, and was

(i) under eighteen years of age;

(ii) eighteen years of age or over and dependent by reason of mental or physical infirmity; or

(iii) under twenty-one years of age and a student at a secondary school, university or other educational institution;

$100 if the child or grandchild was a child qualified for family allowance and $300 if the child or grandchild was not such a child, and

(e) an amount expended by the taxpayer during the taxation year for the support of a person who was, during the taxation year, dependent upon the taxpayer for support and was

(i) his parent or grandparent and dependent by reason of mental or physical infirmity;

(ii) his brother or sister

(a) under eighteen years of age,

(b) eighteen years of age or over and dependent by reason of mental or physical infirmity, or

(c) under twenty-one years of age and a student at a secondary school, university or other educational institution; or

(iii) his daughter or sister under twenty-one years of age training as a nurse at a public or provincially licensed private hospital; not exceeding $100 if the person was a child qualified for family allowance and $300 if he was not such a child.

(f) Travelling expenses (including the entire amount expended for meals and lodging) while away from home in the pursuit of a trade or business.

PENSION FUNDS

(Applicable to 1946 and subsequent periods).

(ff) an amount that does not exceed nine hundred dollars in respect of the services rendered to an employer by any employee, officer or director within the taxation year and has been actually paid by the employer to an employees' superannuation or pension fund or plan approved by the Minister in respect of its constitution and operations for the taxation year;

(g) in respect of amounts for superannuation or pension funds or plans approved by the Minister in respect of their constitution and operations for the taxation year

(i) an amount not exceeding nine hundred dollars in the taxation year, actually retained by the employer from the remuneration of the taxpayer for an employees' superannuation or pension fund or plan in respect of services rendered in the taxation year or paid by a taxpayer who is a member of a trade union as part of his union dues, and

- (ii) an amount not exceeding nine hundred dollars in the taxation year, paid to an employees' superannuation or pension fund or plan by the taxpayer in respect of services rendered by him previous to the taxation year while he was not a contributor;

- (h) that portion of a payment out of an employees' superannuation or pension fund or plan the investment income of which has been exempt from taxation under this Act by reason of an election for such exemption by the trustees or corporation administering the fund or plan

- (i) that the aggregate of the amounts paid by the employee into the fund or plan during the period when its income was exempt by reason of such election is of the aggregate of all amounts paid by him into the fund or plan; or

- (ii) that the aggregate of the amounts paid by the employee into the fund or plan during the period when its income was exempt by reason of such election together with simple interest on each amount so paid from the end of the year of payment thereof to the commencement of the superannuation allowance or pension at three per centum per annum is of the aggregate of all amounts paid by him into the fund or plan together with simple interest as aforesaid on each amount so paid, whichever is the greater; (effective 1946 period and after).

DONATIONS

- (j) not more than ten per centum of the net taxable income of any taxpayer, other than a corporation, which has been actually paid by way of donation within the taxation period to, and receipted for as such by, any charitable organization in Canada operated exclusively as such and not operated for the benefit or private gain or profit of any person, member or shareholder thereof.

- (jj) An amount not exceeding 5% of the income subject to taxation of any corporation, which amount has been paid by way of donation within the taxation period to and receipted for as such by any charitable organization in Canada operated exclusively as such and not for the benefit or private gain or profit of any person.

(A 1946 amendment repeals the following proviso in respect of tax years ending on or after July 1, 1947).

Provided that the amount by which a corporation's charitable donations in the taxation year exceeds the greater of either

- (i) the average of its annual donations in the last 2 fiscal periods ending before July 1, 1942, or

- (ii) that portion of its donations made in the taxation year that has been paid before February 1st, 1944 or has been paid pursuant to an agreement or undertaking evidenced before the said day either by an instrument in writing or by a payment that is one of a series of payments, shall not be deducted except a portion thereof the deduction of which diminishes the aggregate of its income tax under this Act and its tax under The Excess Profits Tax Act, 1940, by 40% of the said excess.

ANNUITY CONTRACTS

(See also Sect. 3, (b), (g))

- (k) The income arising from any annuity contract entered into prior to June 25, 1940, to the extent provided by section three of chapter twenty-four of the statutes of 1930 and section six of chapter forty-three of the statutes of 1932: provided that such exemption shall not extend to that portion of the income which exceeds the amount of the annuity actually specified in the contract before June 25, 1940, where such excess amount arises by reason of any option or contractual right to enlarge the annuity income by the payment of additional sums or premiums, unless such additional sums or premiums have actually been paid before the said date.

- (l) Annual interest accruing within the taxation period in respect of succession duties or inheritance taxes.

SUPERANNUATION FUNDS

- (m) This paragraph concerns any special payment made in Canada by an employer on account of an employees' superannuation or pension fund or plan in respect of past services of employees, and was amended in 1944.

MEDICAL EXPENSES

- (n) that portion of medical expenses in excess of four per centum of the income of the taxpayer incurred and paid either by the taxpayer or his legal representatives

- (i) within the taxation period,

- (ii) within a twelve-month period ending in the taxation period and not included in the calculation of a deduction for medical expenses under this Act for a previous taxation period, or

- (iii) in the event of the death of the taxpayer, within a twelve-month period commencing in the taxation period and not included in the calculation of a deduction for medical expenses under this Act for a previous taxation period

if payment is made to a medical practitioner, dentist or nurse qualified to practise under the laws of the place where the expenses are incurred or a public or licensed private hospital in respect of a birth in the family, of illness or of operation upon the taxpayer or his spouse or any dependent in respect of whom he may make a deduction [under par. (c), (d) or (e) of this sub-section] (the words in square brackets are applicable to income of 1947 and subsequent years) including the salary or wages paid to one full-time attendant upon the taxpayer, his spouse or any such dependent, who was throughout the whole of the taxation period necessarily confined by reason of illness, injury or affliction to a bed or wheelchair and including also the salary or wages paid to one full-time attendant upon the taxpayer, his spouse or any such dependent who was totally blind at any time in the taxation period and required the services of such an attendant; and including an amount expended on an artificial limb, a spinal brace, a brace for a limb or an aid to hearing for the taxpayer, his spouse or any such dependent: Provided that the deduction shall not exceed the aggregate of

- (iv) six hundred dollars in the case of a single person, or nine hundred dollars in the case of a married person or person given an equivalent status in respect of rates of tax under this Act (but a husband and wife are entitled to only one such deduction of nine hundred dollars between them), and

- (v) one hundred and fifty dollars for each dependent in respect of whom he may make a deduction under par. (c), (d) or (e) of this sub-section, but not exceeding six hundred dollars in respect of such dependents: and Provided further that payment of the said medical expenses is proven by receipts filed with the Minister.

EXCESS PROFITS TAX ALLOWANCE

- (o) that portion of any excess profits taxes payable by any proprietor or partnership which the interest of the proprietor or partner in the income of the business bears to the total income of the business for corresponding periods.

BUSINESS AND FARM LOSSES

- (p) (Amended 1944 and 1947). This provides for deduction on account of business losses in the 3 years immediately preceding and the year immediately following; also farm losses.

- (q) subsistence allowances of members of the Canadian naval, military and air forces, while in the Canadian Active Service Forces, except to the extent that such subsistence allowances in any case exceed $1.70 a day, other than any such allowance received by a member of the permanent forces who is in receipt of pay and allowances at the new permanent force rates (effective 1946 period and repealed on and after Jan. 1, 1947).

(r) (Repealed 1944).

(s) taxes payable and paid by a mining company to a municipality, pursuant to the provisions of subsections six, nine and eleven of section thirty-nine of the Assessment Act (Ontario) R.S.O. 1937, chapter 272, as amended and in force on the second day of March, 1943: Provided that the Minister is satisfied that in assessing the said taxes the taxes payable by the said mining company under the Income War Tax Act and The Excess Profits Tax Act, 1940, are not allowed as deductions. (Effective on proclamation).

(t) (u) These clauses provide for deductions for alimony and for scientific research.

DEFERRED MAINTENANCE AND REPAIRS

(v) in respect of income for a taxation year ending between December 31st, 1942 and December 31st, 1946, an amount not exceeding in the case of the deduction for any year

(i) in the case of a deduction from the income for the 1946 taxation year, the excess profits for the said year as defined by paragraph (c) of subsection one of section two of The Excess Profits Tax Act, 1940, as enacted by chapter nineteen of the statutes of 1945; or

(ii) in the case of deduction from the income for a taxation year prior to the 1946 taxation year, the amount of the taxpayer's profits as defined in the said Act in the said year above the point at which the tax calculated for the said year under the First Part of the Second Schedule to the said Act was equal to the tax calculated for the said year under the Second Part of the Second Schedule to the said Act and not exceeding in the aggregate for all the aforesaid years

(iii) one-half of the expenditures made

(a) in connection with maintenance and repairs by a taxpayer carrying on a business, or

(b) on underground development by a taxpayer operating a mine, in a period of 12 months ending not later than Dec. 31st, 1950, to be fixed by the Governor in Council for the purposes of this paragraph;

(4) The Order of His Excellency the Governor General in Council of the seventeenth day of April, 1947 (P.C. 1502) shall be deemed not to have come into operation or to have been made.

(w) Such amount as the Governor in Council may by regulation, allow for amounts paid in respect of taxes imposed on the income, or any part thereof, by the Government of a Province by way of tax on income derived from mining operations or income derived from logging operations.

BLINDNESS

(New 1944). Subsection 2 of Section 5 enables a blind taxpayer to deduct $480 from income in lieu of a calculation as to wages paid to a full time attendant as per par. (n) above.

EARNINGS OF SPOUSE REDUCING DEDUCTION (Applicable to income of 1947 and subsequent years)

(3) If during a taxation year the spouse of a married person described by subparagraph (i) of paragraph (c) of subsection one of this section

(a) has an income of more than $250 and not more than $750, the deduction of $1500 permitted to the married person by the said paragraph (c) shall be reduced by the amount by which the income of the spouse is in excess of $250; or

(b) has an income of more than $750, the said married person and spouse are each entitled only to the deduction of $750 permitted by the said paragraph (c).

DEDUCTION—DEPENDENT CHILD

(4) The deduction in respect of a dependent child under paragraph (d) of subsection one of this section may in any year be made from the income of such of his parents as may be determined by agreement between them, but if there is no such agreement the deduction shall be made from the father's income unless the Minister otherwise determines; but in the case of an illegitimate child the deduction shall be made, unless the Minister otherwise determines, from the mother's income.

(5) No deduction shall be made under paragraph

(c) of subsection one of this section from the income of any non-resident person described by paragraph (c), (d) or (e) of subsection one of section nine of this Act or referred to in subsection seven of section twenty-seven of this Act unless the country in which such non-resident person resides allows a similar advantage to residents of Canada subject to tax in such country under similar circumstances.

(6) Where a taxpayer is entitled to make a deduction from his income for the taxation year under paragraph (t) of subsection one of this section in respect of a payment for the maintenance of a spouse or child, the spouse or child shall, for the purposes of paragraph (c) or (d) of the said subsection one, be deemed not to be the spouse or child of the taxpayer.

INSURANCE COMPANIES

(7) This sub-section, new in 1946 and amended 1947, deals with deductions for credits to policyholders by Insurance Companies other than Life.

PATRONAGE DIVIDENDS

Sub-sections 8 to 11, new in 1946, deal with deductions for patronage dividends for co-operative organizations and other businesses. Sub-sections 7 to 11 are applicable to 1947 and subsequent taxation periods.

DEDUCTIONS FROM INCOME NOT ALLOWED

6. In computing the amount of the profits or gains to be assessed, a deduction shall not be allowed in respect of—

(a) disbursements or expenses not wholly, exclusively and necessarily laid out or expended for the purpose of earning the income;

(b) any outlay, loss or replacement of capital or any payment on account of capital or any depreciation, depletion or obsolescence, except as otherwise provided in this Act;

(c) the annual value of property, real or personal, except rent actually paid for the use of such property, used in connection with the business to earn the income subject to taxation;

(d) amounts transferred or credited to a reserve, contingent account or sinking fund, except such an amount for bad debts as the Minister may allow and except as otherwise provided in this Act;

(e) carrying charges or expenses of unproductive property or assets not acquired for the purposes of a trade, business or calling or of a liability not incurred in connection with a trade, business or calling;

(f) personal and living expenses;

(h) Carrying charges of property the income from which is exempt, except to the extent that such carrying charges exceed the exempt income.

(i) any sums charged by any company or organization outside of Canada to a Canadian company, branch or organization, in respect of management fees or services or for the right to use patents, processes or formulae presently known or yet to be discovered, or in connection with the letting or leasing of anything used in Canada, etc., etc.

(j) This concerns net losses sustained in the 1934 or any subsequent taxation period in the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland or any of the British Dominions other than Canada or any British possession or dependency, or in any foreign country.

(k) the distribution of earnings by any corporation to holders of its income bonds or income debentures.

Provided, however, in cases where such income bonds or income debentures have been issued or the income provisions thereof have been adopted since 1930, in consequence of an adjustment of previously existing bonds or debentures bearing an unconditional fixed rate of interest, which adjustment, to the satisfaction of the Minister, was occasioned by financial difficulties of the debtor corporation or its predecessor and was intended to afford some relief to the said debtor corporation or its predecessor, then the provisions of this paragraph shall not apply.

Provided further that the provisions of this paragraph shall not apply in determining the income of 'personal corporations' taxable against their shareholders.

- (l) Royalties paid by persons who are not residents of Canada out of royalties received by such persons from sources within Canada.
- (m) the salary, bonus, director's fee or other like remuneration in excess of fourteen thousand dollars paid by a company incorporated in Canada to a non-resident unless such non-resident pays tax thereon under Subsection 1 of Section 9 of this Act.

DEPRECIATION

- (n) depreciation, except such amount as the Minister in his discretion may allow, including
- (i) such extra depreciation as the Minister in his discretion may allow in the case of plant or equipment built or acquired to fulfil orders for war purposes;
 - (ii) depreciation at not more than double the rates normally allowed in respect of plant or equipment (of such class or classes as may be determined by the Governor in Council) built or acquired in a period to be fixed by the Governor in Council for the purposes of this paragraph, if the taxpayer is, in the opinion of the Minister, making a new investment by building or acquiring the plant or equipment.
- (The clause in parenthesis was added in 1946).
- Provisos: Here follow provisos respecting the treatment of depreciation in the event of sale or transfer of assets.

PROVINCIAL LEVIES

- (o) any corporation tax, as defined by regulation made by the Governor in Council, paid to the government of a province or to a municipality.

EXPENSES

2. The Minister may disallow any expense which he in his discretion may determine to be in excess of what is reasonable or normal for the business carried on by the taxpayer or which was incurred in respect of any transaction or operation which in his opinion has unduly or artificially reduced the income.

3. The Minister may reduce the amount of any salary, wage, fee, etc., to determine earned income.

4. Where an expense is common both to earned income and investment income the Minister shall determine the extent to which the expense may be applicable to either class of income. The determination of the Minister hereunder shall be final and conclusive.

5. Expenses incurred by a corporation to earn non-taxable income shall not be allowed as a deduction in computing the income to be assessed. Where general expenses are incurred to earn both taxable and non-taxable income the Minister shall have power to apportion the said expenses.

DEDUCTIONS FROM TAXES ALLOWED

PROVINCIAL TAX

7. (Applicable to income of 1947 and subsequent taxation years). Where a taxpayer other than a corporation or joint stock company pays tax on income to the government of a province, he may deduct from the tax otherwise payable by him under subsection one of section nine of this Act

- (a) the amount of tax on income paid by him to the government of any province in which he resides or is employed, or
 - (b) five per centum of the tax otherwise payable by him under subsection one of section nine of this Act,
- whichever is less.

TAXPAYERS RESIDENT DURING PART OF YEAR

7a. (1) A taxpayer who

- (a) not being previously resident or ordinarily resident in Canada during a taxation year becomes resident or ordinarily resident in Canada during the said taxation year, or
- (b) being resident or ordinarily resident in Canada during a taxation year, ceases to be resident or ordinarily resident in Canada during the said taxation year so that he neither resided nor was ordinarily resident in Canada during the whole of the taxation year, may deduct from the tax otherwise payable by him under subsection one of section nine of this Act, a portion of the said tax that bears the same relation to the whole tax as the period in the taxation year during which he neither resided nor was ordinarily resident in Canada bears to the whole taxation year.

(2) No deduction may be made under subsection one of section eight of this Act by a taxpayer entitled to a deduction under this section except tax on income derived by him from sources outside of Canada after he becomes resident or ordinarily resident in Canada. (Effective for 1946 and subsequent periods).

DEDUCTIONS FOR TAX IN OTHER COUNTRIES

8. (1) A taxpayer may deduct from the tax otherwise payable by him under this Act the amount paid to the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland, to any of His Majesty's self-governing dominions or dependencies or to a foreign country for income tax in respect of the income of the taxpayer derived from sources therein: Provided that the Minister may in his discretion allow a taxpayer to deduct from the aggregate of the income tax under this Act and tax under The Excess Profits Tax Act, 1940, otherwise payable by the taxpayer the aggregate of the income tax and excess profits tax paid by the taxpayer to the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland, any of His Majesty's self-governing dominions or dependencies or a foreign country in respect of the income of the taxpayer derived from sources therein.

(2) Such deduction shall not exceed the same proportion of the tax otherwise payable under this Act or the sum total of the income tax and excess profits tax as that which the taxpayer's net profits from sources within such country bears to his entire net profits from all sources, without taking into account the exemptions provided by Rule 1 of Sect. 2 of Par. A of the First Schedule of this Act.

(2a) etc. (Amended 1947). This provides for deduction for income and E.P. tax paid in any other portion of the British Empire or in any other country by wholly owned non-resident subsidiary corporations from whom dividends are received by Canadian parent company. New sub-sections (2b) (2c) (2d) (2e) were added in 1947.

(4) A Minister, High Commissioner, officer, servant or employee of the Government of Canada or an agent general for any of the provinces of Canada, or any officer, servant or employee thereof, resident outside of Canada, shall be entitled to deduct from the tax that would otherwise be payable by him under this Act the amount paid as income tax to the government of the country in which he resides.

Subsections 6 to 11, amended in 1946, deal with allowances for exploration and drilling for oil and gas and searching for base metals and strategic metals, etc.

PERSONS TAXABLE

9. (1) There shall be assessed, levied and paid upon the income during the preceding year of every person—

- (a) residing or ordinarily resident in Canada at any time in such year, or
- (b) who sojourns in Canada for a period or periods amounting to one hundred and eighty-three days at any time in such year, or
- (c) who is employed in Canada during such year, or
- (d) who, not being resident in Canada, is carrying on business in Canada at any time in such year, or
- (e) who, not being resident in Canada, derives income for services rendered in Canada at any time in such year, otherwise than in the course of regular or continuous employment for any person resident or carrying on business in Canada.
- (f) who, before his appointment was a resident of Canada, and is now or hereafter becomes a Minister, High Commissioner, officer, servant or employee of the Government of Canada, or an agent general for any of the provinces of Canada, or any officer, servant or employee thereof, resident outside of Canada, except upon income received by way of salary from the said Government.
- (g) who, whether single or married, is an employee of a person resident or carrying on business in Canada and whose services were engaged in Canada and who has been sent outside of Canada temporarily to perform services on behalf of such employer.

(h) who is a member of the Canadian Naval, Military or Air Forces in the Canadian Active Service Forces in the Western Hemisphere outside of Canada.

a tax computed at the rates set forth in par. A and par AA of the First Schedule to this Act. (Applicable to 1947 and subsequent taxation years).

(2) Save as herein otherwise provided, corporations and joint stock companies resident or carrying on business in Canada, no matter how created or organized, shall pay a tax upon income at the rate applicable thereto set forth in the First Schedule to this Act.

(3) The total income of each taxpayer other than a corporation or a joint stock company shall be compiled by having the earned income form the base, above which shall be placed the investment income, and according thereto the appropriate additional rates of tax on investment income as provided by paragraph AA of the first Schedule of this Act shall be applied.

(4) A Non-Resident-Owned Investment Corporation which elects within such time, effective from such date after the coming into force of this subsection, and in such manner as may be prescribed by regulations hereunder, shall not be liable to the tax provided for in subsection two of this section but shall pay a tax upon income at the rate set forth in paragraph E of the First Schedule of this Act.

CHIEF OCCUPATION FARMING OR FISHING

(5) Where a taxpayer's chief business, occupation, trade or calling has been farming or fishing during the taxation year and the two years immediately preceding the taxation year and the taxpayer has filed, under section 33 of this Act, returns of income during the said two preceding years within the time limited therefor, if the taxpayer within four months after the end of a taxation year files with the Minister an election in form prescribed by the Minister, the tax payable by the taxpayer under subsection one of this section upon income for the 1948 or a subsequent taxation year shall be deemed to be the amount by which

(a) the aggregate of the taxes that would have been payable by the taxpayer under this section for the taxation year and the two immediately preceding years if the income during each of the said years had been the average of the taxpayer's income for the said years, exceeds

(b) the aggregate of the tax actually paid by the taxpayer under this section during the two immediately preceding taxation years.

(6) For the purposes of subsection five of this section

(a) 'farming' includes all tillage of the soil, livestock raising, raising of poultry, fur farming, dairying, fruit growing and the keeping of bees; and

(b) 'fishing' includes fishing for or catching shell fish, crustaceans and marine animals.

RETIREMENT PAYMENTS

(7) In the case of

(a) a single payment made after June 27, 1946

(i) out of or pursuant to a superannuation or pension fund or plan upon the death, withdrawal or retirement from employment of any employee or former employee in full satisfaction of all his rights in the fund or plan; or
(ii) upon retirement, other than out of or pursuant to a superannuation or pension fund or plan approved by the Minister, that the Minister is satisfied is made in recognition of long service, or

(b) a payment or payments made after June 27, 1946 that the Minister is satisfied was or were made by an employer to an employee or former employee upon or after retirement in respect of loss of office or employment, the said single payment or the aggregate of the said payments made in any year, may, at the option of the taxpayer by whom it is or they are received, be deemed not to be income of the taxpayer for the purposes of subsection one of this section, in which case the taxpayer shall be liable to pay an additional tax equal to the amount which bears the same relation to the single payment or the aggregate of the said payments as the tax payable by the taxpayer or, in the case of any such payment on death, by the deceased, under this section upon his income for the last complete taxation year in the employment bears to his income during that year.

INVESTMENT CORPORATIONS (Applicable to 1947 and subsequent taxation years)

(8) A corporation or joint stock company

(a) whose capital throughout the taxation year is, to the extent of 80% or more, invested in stocks, bonds or securities or held in cash,

(b) whose gross income during the taxation year is, to the extent of not less than 95%, derived from investments mentioned in paragraph (a) of this subsection,

(c) whose capital is throughout the taxation year, to the extent of not more than 10% thereof, invested in the stocks, bonds or securities of any one corporation or debtor other than His Majesty in right of Canada or of any province or of a Canadian municipality,

(d) whose shares are, throughout the taxation year, held by persons numbering 50 or more of whom none holds more than 25% of the whole capital stock of the corporation,

(e) whose net income during each taxation year (other than unsold dividends or interest received otherwise than in cash) has been distributed to the shareholder within 120 days after the close of the taxation year to the extent of 85% or more, and

(f) which has, during the taxation year, outstanding bonds, debentures or other securities evidencing funded indebtedness shall pay a tax upon income in lieu of the tax imposed by subsection two of this section at one-half the rate set forth in paragraph C of the First Schedule to this Act.

TAX ON CURRENCY PREMIUM

9b. (1) In addition to any other tax imposed by this Act an income tax of five per centum is hereby imposed on all persons resident in Canada, except municipalities, or municipal or public bodies which in the opinion of the Minister perform a function of government, in respect of all interest and dividends paid by Canadian debtors, directly or indirectly to such persons, which interest by the terms of the mortgage, deed, hypothec or other instrument under which the debt was contracted, or which dividends by the terms of issue, are payable in a currency which is at a premium in excess of five per centum in terms of Canadian funds. Provided that no tax hereunder shall be payable if no part of the premium is paid by the Canadian debtor to the creditor.

TAXES ON NON-RESIDENTS

2 In addition to any other tax imposed by this Act an income tax of fifteen per centum is hereby imposed on all persons who are non-residents of Canada in respect of

(a) All dividends received from Canadian debtors irrespective of the currency in which the payment is made, and

(b) All interest received from or credited by Canadian debtors if payable solely in Canadian funds except the interest from all bonds of or guaranteed by the Dominion of Canada.

(c) All interest received by a non-resident parent company from a Canadian subsidiary company irrespective of the currency in which the payment is made, except where an agreement existed prior to the first day of April, 1933, providing for the payment of such interest in a currency other than Canadian.

(d) All income for any taxation period received from any Canadian estate or trust, which income shall be deemed to include all income accruing to the credit of non resident beneficiaries whether received by them or not during such taxation period. The tax payable by virtue of this paragraph shall be deducted by the trustee from the amount paid or credited to such beneficiary at the time of paying or crediting and shall be remitted to the Receiver General of Canada.

- (e) All payments received directly or indirectly from Canadian debtors in respect of
- (i) any copyright, used in Canada, relating to books, music, articles in periodicals, newspaper syndicated articles, pictures, comics and other newspaper or periodical features, and
 - (ii) any rights in and to the use of any work, whether copyrighted or not, subsequently produced or reproduced in Canada, by way of the spoken word, print or mechanical sound on or from paper, composition, films or mechanical devices of any description.

The tax payable by virtue of this paragraph shall be deducted by the Canadian debtor from the amount paid or credited to such non-resident at the time of payment or crediting and shall be remitted to the Receiver General of Canada.

No tax shall be payable by virtue of this paragraph in respect of any portion of any payment disallowed to the Canadian debtor under section 23B of this Act.

- (f) salaries, wages, premiums, annuities, compensation, remunerations, emoluments, rents and other fixed or determinable annual or periodical gains, profits and income received from sources within Canada by any such non-resident person, who is not engaged in trade or business within Canada, has not an office or place of business therein, and has not performed personal services within Canada at any time in the year, provided that such non-resident is a resident of a country which imposes a tax of a similar nature in respect of similar kinds of income derived from sources within such country and payable to non-residents of such country.

The tax payable by virtue of this paragraph shall be deducted by the Canadian debtor from the amount paid or credited to such non-resident at the time of payment or crediting and shall be remitted to the Receiver General of Canada. It is applicable to all payments on and after June 24, 1942.

- * (3) In the case of bearer coupons or warrants, whether representing interest or dividends, the taxes imposed by this section shall be collected by the encashing agent or debtor who shall, in the case of the tax imposed by subsection 1 of this section, withhold 5% of the interest or dividends in respect of which such tax is imposed, and, in the case of the tax imposed by subsection 2 of this section, withhold 15% of the interest or dividends in respect of which such tax is imposed, and remit the same to the Receiver General of Canada;

Provided that any encashing agent so withholding and remitting shall be entitled to recover 100% of such interest or dividends represented by such bearer coupon or warrant from the debtor.

- (4) In the case of interest or dividends in respect of fully registered shares, bonds, debentures, mortgages or any other obligations, the taxes imposed by this section shall be collected by the debtor who shall, in the case of the tax imposed by subsection 1 of this section, withhold 5% of the interest or dividends in respect of which such tax is imposed, and, in the case of the tax imposed by subsection 2 of this section withhold 15% of the interest or dividends in respect of which such tax is imposed and remit the same to the Receiver General of Canada.

- * (5) No exemptions, deductions or tax credits provided by any other section of this Act shall apply in the case of the taxes imposed by this section except those exemptions provided by paragraphs (a), (b), (c) and (k) of section 4 of this Act.

- (6) (New in 1945). Subsection two of this section is not applicable in respect of a dividend which is not taxable under this Act by virtue of section ninety-five of this Act.

- * (7) For the purposes of this section the Minister shall have full power to determine the persons who are deemed to be residents of Canada, and in the case of a person who is resident abroad as well as resident or deemed to be resident in Canada, the Minister may determine what income is taxable hereunder.

- * (8) Whenever an agent of a non-resident person receives payment of any money in respect of which a tax is imposed under this section and from which the tax has not been withheld, such agent shall withhold the tax from his principal and remit the same to the Receiver General of Canada.

- * (9) Every agreement for payment to any person of any money in respect of which a tax is imposed upon such person by this section, without deducting or withholding such tax, is void.

11 Where a non-resident company receives dividends from a resident subsidiary company all of whose shares (less directors' qualifying shares) having full voting rights under all circumstances, are beneficially owned by the non-resident company and where,

- (a) not more than one-quarter of the gross income of the resident company is derived from interest and dividends other than interest and dividends received from any wholly-owned subsidiary company, and

- (b) in the case of a non-resident corporation incorporated since the first day of April, nineteen hundred and thirty-three, the Minister is satisfied that the non-resident company was not incorporated for the purpose of evading the tax imposed by subsection two of this section, no tax is payable in respect of the dividends under subsection two of this section but in addition to any other tax imposed by this Act there shall be imposed an income tax of five per centum on the said non-resident company in respect of the said dividends received on or after the thirtieth day of April, nineteen hundred and forty-seven, and the provisions of this section applicable in respect of taxes imposed under subsection two of this section with respect to dividends apply, mutatis mutandis, in respect of the tax imposed by this subsection.

* Subsections 3, 4, 5, 7, 8 and 9 as enacted by subsection 2 of section 13 of Chapter 28 of the Statutes of 1942 are subject to the following provision as enacted by section 14 of the said Chapter 28 of the 1942 statutes:—

Notwithstanding anything contained in subsection 2 of section 13 of this Act, section 9B of the Income War Tax Act shall have effect as if the said subsection 2 had not been enacted in respect of interest on bonds or other obligations or of guaranteed by His Majesty in right of any province and in respect of interest on bonds or other obligations, provision for the payment of which interest is made by His Majesty in right of any province pursuant to a statute.

PART IV SPECIAL PROVISIONS

INCOME FROM CHIEF BUSINESS

10. In any case the income of a taxpayer shall be deemed to be not less than the income derived from his chief position, occupation, trade, business or calling.

INCOME FROM ESTATES AND TRUSTS

- (2) Income accumulating in trust for the benefit of unascertained persons, or of persons with contingent interests shall be taxable in the hands of the trustee or other like person acting in a fiduciary capacity, as if such income were the income of a person other than a corporation; provided that she shall not be entitled to [a deduction under par. (c), (d) or (e) of subsection 1 of section 5 of this Act] (words in [] applicable to 1947 and subsequent taxation years). Provided, further, that should more than one such trust be created, substantially all the assets of which are received from one person (whether or not administered by the same or different trustees) and be so conditioned as to fall in ultimately in favour of then the income of the several trusts shall be taxed as one trust in the hands of such one of the trustees as the Minister may determine.

3. In determining the taxable income of deceased persons, interest, rents, royalties, annuities and other income payable periodically shall be deemed to have accrued by equal daily increment during and within the period for or in respect of which such income arose and shall be apportionable in respect of the period of time accordingly and that portion accrued to the date of death shall be taxed as income of the deceased.

4. (a) Income received by an estate or trust and capitalized shall be taxable in the hands of the executors or trustees, or other like persons acting in a fiduciary capacity.

(b) Income earned during the life of any person, shall, when received after the death of such person by his executors, trustees or other like persons acting in a fiduciary capacity, be taxable in the hands of such fiduciary.

(c) Income taxable under the provisions of this subsection shall be taxed as if such income were the income of a person other than a corporation but no deduction may be made therefrom under par (c), (d) or (e) of subsection 1 of section 5 of this Act. (1947 and subsequent years).

5. Any amount paid by an estate or trust for the upkeep, maintenance and taxes of any property which, under the terms of the will or trust is required to be maintained for the use of any tenant for life, and which in any case is in excess of such an amount as the Minister may prescribe, shall be deemed to be taxable income received by such tenant for life.

DIVIDENDS

12. Dividends or shareholders' bonuses shall be taxable income of the taxpayer in the year in which they are paid or distributed.

For the purposes of this Act any annual amount received in respect of an income bond or income debenture shall be deemed to be a dividend.

LOANS TO SHAREHOLDERS

18. For the purposes of this Act, any loan or advance by a corporation, or appropriation of its funds to a shareholder thereof, other than a loan or advance incidental to the business of the corporation shall be deemed to be a dividend to the extent that such corporation has on hand undistributed income and such dividend shall be deemed to be income received by such shareholder in the year in which made.

This section shall not apply to a loan or advance made by a corporation lawfully empowered to make loans to its shareholders.

DISTRIBUTION ON WINDING-UP OR REORGANIZATION

19. (1) On the winding up, discontinuance or reorganization of the business of any incorporated company, the distribution in any form of the property of the company shall be deemed to be the payment of a dividend to the extent that the company has on hand undistributed income.

(2) Where, pursuant to subsection 1 of this section a dividend is deemed to be paid to a company incorporated or carrying on business in Canada, such company shall, notwithstanding section 4 of this Act, be taxable on the amount thereof; and where, pursuant to subsection 1 of this section a dividend is deemed to be paid to a company incorporated outside of Canada which does not carry on business in Canada, the company making the payment, unless it is one of the companies described in paragraph (p) of section 2 or paragraph (k) of section 4 of this Act, shall deduct from such payment the amount of income tax payable thereon under subsection 2 of section 9 of this Act at the rate applicable thereto at the time when such payment is deemed to be made and shall pay the same to the Receiver General of Canada.

PERSONAL CORPORATIONS

21. The income of a personal corporation whether the same is actually distributed or not, shall be deemed to be distributed on the last day of each year as a dividend to the shareholders and the said shareholders shall be taxable each year as if the same had been distributed in the proportions thereafter mentioned.

The rates of tax applicable to corporations as in this Act provided shall be payable by a personal corporation on that portion only of its income which is deemed to be distributed to non-residents.

NON-RESIDENTS

24. The income liable to taxation under this Act of every person residing outside of Canada, who is carrying on business in Canada, either directly or through or in the name of any other person, shall be the net profit or gain arising from the business of such person in Canada.

25. The income liable to taxation under this Act of every person residing outside of Canada, who derives income for services rendered in Canada, otherwise than in the course of regular or continuous employment, for any person resident or carrying on business in Canada, shall be the income so earned by such persons in Canada.

WITHHOLDING TAX

(2) Every person resident or carrying on business in Canada shall withhold and remit forthwith to the Receiver General of Canada an amount equal to fifteen per centum of the salary, fees, commissions, or other remuneration payable to any person residing outside of Canada in respect of services rendered by such person in Canada and such amount shall be applied as a credit against the tax subsequently found due upon the filing of the income tax return of such person.

25a. The income liable to taxation under the Act of every person residing outside of Canada who renders services in Canada as a director, officer or employee of any company carrying on business in Canada, the majority of the voting shares of which are owned or controlled by any such person, or any combination of them, or any trustee acting on his or their behalf, shall include dividends and interest received, by him or them or his or their trustee, from the company with which he is so associated or any subsidiary thereof and shall be taxable against such person.

(2) Any tax deducted under the provisions of subsection 2 of section 9B of this Act from any dividends or interest which are made taxable under subsection 1 of this section shall be applied as a credit against the tax subsequently found due by any non-resident person whose income is liable to taxation under the provisions of subsection 1 of this section.

INCOME FROM OPERATIONS IN CANADA

26. Where a non-resident person produces, grows, mines, creates, manufactures, fabricates, improves, packs, preserves or constructs, in whole or in part, anything within Canada and exports the same without sale prior to the export thereof, he shall be deemed to be carrying on business in Canada and to earn within Canada a proportionate part of any profit ultimately derived from the sale thereof outside of Canada.

TAX ON NON-RESIDENTS

"27. In addition to any other tax imposed by this Act, an income tax of fifteen per centum on non-resident persons is imposed, without any exemption or deduction under the provisions of this Act, in respect of the gross amount of all royalties, rentals or similar payments for the use in Canada of real or personal property, patents or for anything used or sold in Canada.

PAYOR TO DEDUCT TAX

(2) Every person making any payment by any means whatsoever to a non-resident person on account of anything let, leased or used in Canada, or on account of royalties, rentals or similar payments for the use in Canada of patents or for anything used or sold in Canada, shall deduct from the moneys in his hands payable to or to be used on behalf of such non-resident person fifteen per centum thereof.

(3) The amount as deducted shall be remitted to the Receiver General of Canada at the same time as the payment is made to the non-resident person.

(5) The provisions of this section shall not apply in the case of any payment received from Canadian sources for anything used or sold in Canada is subject to the fifteen per centum tax imposed under paragraph (e) of subsection two of section nine B of this Act.

(6) Every agreement for payment of royalties, rentals, or other similar payments, without deduction or withholding, as provided in this section shall be void for the purposes of this Act.

(7) This section provides that where the deductions in respect of gross rentals have been made, the non-resident may file an income tax return on a net income basis in Canada, and the amount of tax withheld will be allowed as a credit against tax due, or in the alternative any overpayment will be refunded.

(8) Sub-section 7 is only applicable to persons resident in a country which grants a similar privilege.

27a. (1) Any non-resident person soliciting orders or offering anything for sale in Canada through an agent or employee, and whether any contract or transaction which may result therefrom is completed within Canada or without Canada, or partly within and partly without Canada, shall be deemed to be carrying on business in Canada and to earn a proportionate part of the income derived therefrom in Canada.

(3) The Governor in Council shall have power to exempt from the operation of this section the income in whole or in part of residents of any country which enters into reciprocal agreement with Canada to exempt the income of residents of Canada earned in such country.

PARTNERSHIPS

30. Where two or more persons are carrying on business in partnership the partnership as such shall not be liable to taxation but the shares of the partners in the income of the partnership, whether withdrawn or not during the taxation year shall, in addition to all other income, be income of the partners and taxed accordingly.

31. Where a husband and wife are partners in any business the total income from the business may, in the discretion of the Minister, be treated as income of the husband or the wife and taxed accordingly.

(2) Where a husband derives income as an employee of his wife or vice versa any remuneration paid to the husband or wife shall not be chargeable as an expense of the business in determining the net profit thereof.

(3) Where the husband or wife of a partner in any business receives any salary or any other remuneration therefrom, the portion of the remuneration paid that bears a similar proportion to the interest of the wife or husband, as the case may be, in the partnership business shall be added to the income of the said wife or husband and taxed accordingly.

RETURNS

33. (1) Every person liable to taxation under this Act shall on or before the thirtieth day of April in each year, without notice or demand, deliver to the Minister a return in such form as the Minister may prescribe of his total income during the last preceding year.

(3) Notwithstanding subsection 1 of this section, the return to be filed in the case of a deceased person in respect of his income for the taxation year received or accrued before his death shall be filed within 6 months from the day of the death of the deceased.

34. (1) A member of a partnership or the proprietor of a business whose fiscal period or periods is other than the calendar year shall make a return of his income and have the tax payable computed upon the income from the business for the fiscal period or periods ending within the calendar year for which the return is being made, but his return of income derived from sources other than his business shall be made for the calendar year.

2. In case a partner or proprietor dies after the close of the fiscal period but before the end of the calendar year, a separate return of the income of the deceased partner or proprietor from the business after the close of such fiscal period up to the date of death shall be made and income tax shall be assessed, levied and paid upon such income as if the same were income of another person.

35. Returns of Corporations, etc., shall be made within 6 months from the close of its fiscal period, and the tax shall be computed as if the said fiscal period coincided with the calendar year within which the said fiscal period ends and the provisions of the Act shall mutatis mutandis apply.

INFORMATION RETURNS

39. (1) Every employer shall make a return on such form as the Minister may prescribe on or before the last day of February in each year showing

(a) every person in his employ who received any salary or other remuneration in the preceding calendar year and the amount of such salary or other remuneration; and

(b) the amount of the tax deducted pursuant to section 92 of this Act from the salary and wages of each person in his employ in the preceding calendar year;

2. Corporations shall make a return on or before the last day of February in each year of all dividends and bonuses paid during the previous calendar year.

2A. All debtors paying interest on any fully registered bonds or debentures shall make a return of all interest so paid, before the last day of February.

2B. Every person authorized by law to receive money as deposits shall render a true and accurate return of

(a) the amounts in which such person has become, since January 1st, 1944, indebted by way of interest on money so received in excess of such amounts as the Minister may prescribe; and

(b) the names and addresses of the persons to whom the indebtedness is incurred.

3. All persons in whatever capacity acting having the control, receipt, disposal or payment of fixed or determinable annual or periodical gains, profits or income of any taxpayer, shall make and render, on or before the last day of February in each year a separate and distinct return covering the previous calendar year of such gains, profits or income, containing the name and address of each taxpayer.

CESSEATION OF BUSINESS

39b. (1943 C.14, S.22). This section requires that any business discontinuing shall within one week furnish the information referred to in the above paragraphs 2, 2a, and 3.

RECORDS TO BE KEPT AND RETAINED

46. This section, with important amendments made in 1944, requires all persons carrying on business who are liable to pay or collect taxes to keep records and books of account as designated by the Minister. And records, books, vouchers must be kept until written permission to destroy is received and must be available at all reasonable times for inspection by officers of the Department of National Revenue.

Records may be seized for violation of the Act.

PAYMENT OF TAX

48. (1) Every person liable to pay any tax under any of the provisions of this Act, except sections 9B, 27 and 83 thereof, shall estimate the amount of such tax payable by him in the return of the income upon which such tax is payable.

(2) Any person from whose salary or wages any amount has been deducted under section 92 of this Act shall, if the aggregate of his salary or wages during the taxation year is equal to or greater than three-quarters of his income for such year, pay to the Receiver General of Canada at the time when he is required under section 33 of this Act to make the return of his income for such taxation year, the amount by which the tax on his income during such year, as estimated under subsection one of this section, exceeds the aggregate of

(i) all amounts deducted from his salary or wages under subsection 2 of section 92 of this Act during the taxation year; and

(ii) all amounts deducted under subsection 1 of section 92 of this Act during the taxation year from interest or dividends forming part of his income; and if any person fails to pay any amount which he is required to pay by this subsection, or any part thereof, as thereby required, he shall pay interest thereon at the rate of 4% per annum from the day on or before which such payment was required to be made to the day of payment.

PAYMENT BY INSTALMENTS

(3) Every person, other than a corporation or a person to whom subsection 2 of this section applies, or a person whose chief business is farming, shall pay all taxes which he is liable to pay upon his income during any taxation year under any of the provisions of this Act, except sections 9B, 27 and 88 thereof, as estimated by him on his income for the year last preceding the taxation year or on his estimated income for the taxation year, in either case at the rates for the taxation year, by quarterly instalments during the taxation year as follows:—

- (a) on or before the last day of March in such taxation year, an amount equal to one-fifth of such tax;
- (b) on or before the last day of June and on or before the last day of September, respectively, in such taxation year, one-quarter of such tax; and
- (c) on or before the last day of December in such taxation year, the remainder of the tax;

and if, after examination of any person's return under section 53 of this Act, it is established for the purposes of this Act that the instalment paid by him under this subsection amount, in the aggregate, to less than the tax payable, he shall forthwith after notice of assessment is sent to him under section 54 of this Act, pay the unpaid amount thereof together with interest thereon at 4% per annum from Dec. 31st in the taxation year until 1 month from the date of mailing of said notice of assessment and thereafter at 7% per annum until the date of payment.

CORPORATION INSTALMENTS

(4) (1946 amendment, applicable to income of 1947 and subsequent taxation years.) Every corporation shall pay all taxes which it is liable to pay in any taxation year under any of the provisions of this Act, except sections 9B, 27 and 88 thereof, by instalments payable on or before the last day of each month of the twelve month period ending six months after the close of such taxation year, as follows:

- (a) during the first six months in such period, an amount equal to one-twelfth of such tax as estimated by it on its income for the year last preceding the taxation year or on its estimated income for the taxation year at the rate for the taxation year; and
- (b) during each of the last six months in the said period, an amount equal to one-sixth of the remainder of the tax payable as calculated by it on its income for the taxation year at the rate for the taxation year;

and if a corporation pays less than the amount of an instalment required to be paid under this section it shall pay interest at the rate of four per centum per annum upon the amount of the deficiency from the date upon which the said instalment was payable until the date of payment of the amount of the deficiency or until the date six months after the end of the fiscal period whichever is earlier, and if, after examination of any corporation's return under section fifty-three of this Act, it is established that the instalments paid by the corporation under this section in any year amount, in the aggregate, to less than the tax payable by the corporation it shall forthwith after notice of assessment is sent to it under section fifty-four of this Act, pay the unpaid amount thereof together with interest thereon at four per centum per annum from the day six months after the end of the taxation year until one month from the date of mailing of the said notice of assessment and thereafter at seven per centum until the date of payment.

FARMERS

(5) Every person whose chief business is that of farming shall pay two-thirds of the taxes which he is liable to pay upon his income during any taxation year under any of the provisions of this Act, except sections 9B, 27 and 88 thereof, on or before the thirty-first day of December in such taxation year and shall pay the remaining one-third of such taxes on or before the thirtieth day of April in the year following such taxation year;

CORPORATIONS WITH INCOME OF $3,000 OR LESS

(10) (New in 1947) The purpose of this amendment is to permit smaller companies that make payments pursuant to allocations in proportion to patronage and the determination of whose income before the end of the taxation year is therefore difficult, to postpone payment of tax until the date of filing the return. The rates of interest are the normal rates of interest applicable to taxpayers.

PART VIIIa

OBJECTIONS AND APPEALS

This part, new in 1946, provides for the filing of notices of objection with the Minister and for appeals to the Income Tax Appeal Board (newly constituted by the Third Schedule of the Act), and to the Exchequer Court. It is effective only in respect of assessments of the 1946 and subsequent periods. For former periods Part VIII of Act remains applicable.

GIFT TAX PROVISIONS

88. 1. Save as herein otherwise provided, there shall be assessed and paid upon the transfer in any year by any individual residing or ordinarily resident in Canada of any property (whether situate within or outside of Canada) transferred by way of gift or donation a tax payable by such individual at the rate applicable in respect of the aggregate value of all the property so transferred during the year by such individual under the following schedule:

2. The tax so imposed shall apply whether the transfer is in trust or otherwise, or direct or indirect, or whether the property is real or personal, tangible or intangible, and shall extend to gifts made by personal corporations.

3. The tax shall be paid in full to the Receiver General of Canada on or before the 30th day of April next succeeding the year in which the gifts were made; and if not so paid the tax shall bear interest at the rate of eight per centum per annum from the date payable.

4. If the donor fails to pay the tax as hereinbefore provided, the donor and the donee shall be jointly and severally liable for the tax imposed by this section.

5. The Minister may at any time assess the donor or the donee or both for the amount of the tax payable under this section. The payment of one such assessment shall discharge the joint obligation.

8. The provisions of this section shall not apply to the following:—

- (a) gifts or donations made by any individual the aggregate value of which in any year does not exceed four thousand dollars, and taxation shall be on the amount in excess of four thousand dollars only;
- (b) gifts or donations taking effect upon death by way of bequest or devise; and any property passing to any person upon an intestacy;
- (c) gifts or donations to a charitable organization or educational institution in Canada, operated exclusively as such and not operated for the benefit or private gain or profit of any person, member or shareholder thereof;

- (d) gifts or donations made to the Dominion of Canada or any Province or political subdivision thereof;
- (f) gifts to or payments made on behalf of any one person which in the aggregate to or for such person do not exceed one thousand dollars in any year.

Provided that gifts exempt under paragraphs (b) to (f) inclusive of this subsection shall not be included in compiling the aggregate referred to in paragraph (a) of this subsection.

- (g) gifts or donations made in any year, if the aggregate value thereof does not exceed an amount equal to one-half of the difference between the income of the taxpayer in the next preceding year and the income tax which was payable thereon.

TAX DEDUCTION AT THE SOURCE INTEREST AND DIVIDENDS

92. (1) This subsection, respecting withholding 7% from interest and dividends, oil and gas royalties, was repealed in 1945, effective Jan. 1st, 1946.

SALARY AND WAGES

(2) Every employer who, after September 1, 1942, pays any salary or wages to any person in his employ who is resident or employed in Canada with respect to any established payroll period commencing after August 31, 1942, or who, after April 30, 1943, pays any salary or wages to any employee whose services were engaged in Canada and who has been sent outside of Canada temporarily to perform services on behalf of such employer, shall deduct or withhold from such salary or wages such amount in respect of the taxes payable under section 9 of this Act by such person, as may be prescribed by regulations made by the Governor in Council and published in the Canada Gazette, and shall remit the same to the Receiver General of Canada as a payment on account of such taxes within one week of the day when he becomes liable to pay such salary or wages or at such other time as the Minister may by regulation prescribe.

(3) Every person liable to deduct or withhold any amount under subsections 1 or 2 of this section shall from time to time make a return at such time and in such form, and containing such information, as the Minister may prescribe.

(4) Every person whose employer is required to deduct or withhold any amount from his salary or wages under subsection 2 of this section shall, prior to September 1, 1942, or as may be prescribed by regulations hereunder, or, if his employment commences after that date, immediately thereafter furnish to his employer such information as the Minister may require on a form prescribed by the Minister.

(5) Every employee failing to file with his employer the form prescribed in subsection 4 of this section shall be liable to have the deduction from his salary or wages provided for in subsection 2 of this section made at the rate authorized as hereinbefore provided in respect of an unmarried person without dependents in receipt of a salary within the range in which such employee is paid and without regard to the tax credit to which he would otherwise have been entitled in respect of persons dependent upon him for support.

(6) Any person who, pursuant to subsections 1 or 2 of this section, deducts or withholds any amount from any payment which he is liable to make to any person shall be deemed to hold the amount so deducted or withheld in trust for His Majesty.

(7) All amounts deducted or withheld by any person under subsections 1 and 2 of this section shall be kept separate and apart from the moneys of the person so deducting and in the event of any liquidation, assignment or bankruptcy of the person who made such deductions the said amounts so deducted shall remain apart and form no part of the estate of such person in liquidation, assignment or bankruptcy.

(7a) Every person who deducts or withholds an amount under this section is liable to pay to His Majesty on the day fixed by or pursuant to subsection two of this section an amount equal to the amount so deducted or withheld and such liability shall constitute a first charge on the assets of such person and shall, notwithstanding the Bank Act, the Bankruptcy Act or any other statute or law, rank for payment in priority to all other claims, either of His Majesty in right of a province of Canada or any other person, of whatsoever kind heretofore or hereafter arising, save and except only the judicial costs, fees and lawful expenses of an assignee or other public officer charged with the administration or distribution of such assets.

REFUNDS

(8) Where any person on whose behalf money has been paid to the Receiver General of Canada under this section was not liable to pay any tax under this Act or where moneys paid to the Receiver General of Canada under this section on behalf of any person are in excess of the tax that such person was liable to pay under this Act, the Minister may, at or prior to the issue of the notice of assessment, without application therefor, or on application in writing therefor by the taxpayer within two years from the end of the calendar year in which payment was made or within twelve months from the date at which notice of assessment was issued, whichever is later, refund to the said person the amount so paid or such part thereof as in his opinion such person was not liable to pay.

Where a payment on behalf of any person has been made to the Receiver General of Canada under section ninety-two of the said Act on or before the thirty-first day of December, nineteen hundred and forty-five, the Minister may, upon an application made on or before the thirty-first day of December, nineteen hundred and forty-eight, if that person was not liable to pay tax under this Act or the payment was in excess of the tax that the person was liable to pay under this Act, refund to that person the amount so paid or such part thereof as, in his opinion, such person was not liable to pay.

(10) No action shall lie against any person for withholding or deducting any sum of money in compliance or intended compliance with this section or any regulation made thereunder.

DEFINITION OF SALARY OR WAGES

(11) In this section, unless the context otherwise requires.

- (a) "salary or wages" includes any remuneration, compensation, hire, emolument, stipend, perquisite [payment on death, withdrawal or retirement from employment] (the words in brackets were inserted by a 1946 amendment applicable to income of 1947 and subsequent taxation years), or any similar payment or any indemnity, pension or director's fee, howsoever paid for any services, functions or duties rendered or performed in Canada; any such payments made outside of Canada to any employee whose services were engaged in Canada and who has been sent outside of Canada temporarily to perform services on behalf of his employer; and

- (b) "employer" means any person liable to pay any salary or wages and includes His Majesty in right of Canada and any province of Canada.

PART XVII

REFUNDABLE PORTION OF TAX

This section (93) was repealed in 1946 but the amending act states: "repeal does not affect the rights of taxpayers in respect of refunds under the said section in respect of taxes for the nineteen hundred and forty-two, nineteen hundred and forty-three and nineteen hundred and forty-four taxation years or the authority of the Governor in Council under the said section to make regulations with respect thereto."

PART XVIII

PRIVATE COMPANIES

UNDISTRIBUTED INCOME

This part, sections 94, 95, 96, new in 1945, amended in 1947, makes provision for private companies as defined to pay a tax on accumulated undistributed income for the purpose of rendering dividends paid out of such income exempt from tax in the hands of the recipients. Rates of this tax are included in section 96 which follows:

96. (1) A private company may elect in such manner as may be prescribed by regulations, on or before December 31st, 1947 to be assessed and pay a tax, computed in the manner set out in subsection 2 of this section,

(a) in the case of a company that had a fiscal period ending before the first day of January, nineteen hundred and forty, on an amount equal to its undistributed income on hand at the end of its nineteen hundred and thirty-nine fiscal period, or its undistributed income on hand at the end of the fiscal period that terminates nearest the time when it so elects whichever is less, and

(b) in the case of any other company, on an amount equal to the amount received by it before the date of election by way of dividends from a private company that has elected and paid the tax, if any, payable under this Part, which dividends would not, if payable to an individual, have been taxable under any other Part of this Act by reason of section ninety-five in this Part.

(2) Tax payable under this section is the aggregate of the amounts calculated by application of the following table:

On the first $25,000 of each portion, or any part thereof, 15%;

$3,750 on a portion of $25,000 and 18% on the amount by which the portion exceeds $25,000 and does not exceed $50,000;

$8,250 on a portion of $50,000 and 21% on the amount by which the portion exceeds $50,000 and does not exceed $100,000;

$18,750 on a portion of $100,000 and 24% on the amount by which the portion exceeds $100,000 and does not exceed $200,000;

$42,750 on a portion of $200,000 and 27% on the amount by which the portion exceeds $200,000 and does not exceed $300,000;

$69,750 on a portion of $300,000 and 30% on the amount by which the portion exceeds $300,000 and does not exceed $400,000;

$99,750 on a portion of $400,000 and 33% on the amount by which the portion exceeds $400,000; to the respective portions of the amount on which the tax is payable to which the various persons who held shares in the company on December 31st, 1944 or in the case of a company incorporated after that day, on the last day of the first fiscal period of the company, would have been entitled if the said amount had been distributed by way of a dividend on the said day, as the case may be, but excluding any portion that if so distributed would have been payable on shares held

(a) on the said day, as the case may be, by a person (other than a personal corporation, trustee or other like person acting in a fiduciary capacity) who would not have been taxable under this Act in respect of dividends or

(b) on the day that the company elected to pay tax under this section, by another private company.

(3) A private company that has elected to pay tax under this section shall either

(a) pay the tax on or before December 31st, 1946; or

(b) pay the tax in four equal annual instalments commencing on December 31st, 1947, together with interest at the rate of four per centum per annum on each instalment from December 31st, 1946 to the day of payment.

(4) Where an instalment of the tax imposed by this section or any part thereof has not been paid as required by subsection three of this section, the company shall pay a penalty of three per centum of the unpaid amount per annum from the day on which the instalment should have been paid to the day of payment.

(5) A company that has elected to pay tax under this section shall file such returns at such time and in such manner as may be prescribed by regulations in addition to any other returns required to be made under this Act.

97. (1) In addition to any other tax imposed by this Act and notwithstanding section ninety-five thereof, an income tax at the rates fixed in this section is imposed on an individual resident in Canada and on any person not resident in Canada, in respect of dividends received by him from a private company that has elected to pay and paid tax under this Part that would not have been taxable under any other Part of this Act by reason of the said section ninety-five, where such dividends are received by him on shares that were held

(a) on the thirty-first day of December, nineteen hundred and forty-four, or in the case of a company incorporated after that day, on the last day of the first fiscal period of the company, by a person (other than a personal corporation, trustee, or other like person acting in a fiduciary capacity) who would not have been taxable under this Act in respect of dividends, or

(b) on the day that the company so elected, by another private company.

(2) The tax imposed by subsection one of this section shall be payable at the following rates:

(a) where the shares were acquired by the individual or person before the first day of January, nineteen hundred and forty-seven—at a rate of fifteen per centum, and

(b) where the shares were acquired by the individual or person on or after the first day of January, nineteen hundred and forty-seven—at the rate that the private company would have paid tax on the respective portion of the undistributed income mentioned in subsection one if an individual had held the shares on the said thirty-first day of December or the said last day of the first fiscal period of the corporation of the said date of election, as the case may be.

(3) A company paying any dividends in respect of which a tax is imposed by this section shall withhold the amount of the tax from the dividends and shall forthwith remit the amount thereof to the Receiver General of Canada.

(4) The tax imposed by this section is payable, except in respect of dividends received before the first day of July, nineteen hundred and forty-seven, forthwith on payment of the dividends in respect of which it is payable and, in the case of dividends received before that day, is payable forthwith after that day.

TAX ON ALBERTA BOND TRANSACTIONS

Sect. 13 of the 1945 Amending Act provides for a tax on profits made in certain transactions in bonds of the Province of Alberta.

APPEALS

The amending act of 1946 adds two new Schedules dealing with Appeals. "The Third Schedule" constitutes the Income Tax Appeal Board. The board is to consist of a chairman, two assistant chairmen, and not less than 3 or more than 9 other members. The chairman must be a judge of a superior court of Canada or of a province, or a barrister of at least 10 years standing;

The "Fourth Schedule" deals with appeals to the Exchequer Court;

INCOME TAX ADVISORY BOARD

The "Fifth Schedule" constitutes an Income Tax Advisory Board, consisting of a chairman, and not less than 2 or more than 6 other members.

The above boards will deal only with assessments of the 1946 and subsequent periods.

THE DOMINION SUCCESSION DUTY ACT

The following is a resume of some of the principal provisions of the Act, 4-5 George VI, Chap. 14., assented to June 14th, 1941, and amendments up to and including 1947. The information hereunder is only partial, is not interpretative, and legal advice should be sought in specific cases.

SUCCESSION

(Sec. 3.) A succession includes:

(a) property and income therefrom voluntarily transferred by grant, bargain or gift or by any transfer made in general contemplation of death.

(b) property taken as a donatio mortis causa;

(c) gifts made on or after April 29, 1941, and within 3 years prior to death of deceased.

(d) gifts of which actual and bona fide possession and enjoyment was not immediately assumed to the entire exclusion of the donor.

(e) property held jointly except such part which was contributed by the survivor.

Settlements, annuities, insurance, marriage settlements, superannuation or pension benefits made on or after April 29, 1941 and within 3 years of death.

PROPERTY VALUED AT DEATH

(Sec. 5.) Property shall be valued as of the date of death and is not subject to any appreciation or depreciation after the date of death.

AGGREGATE NET VALUE

(Sec. 2a) "Aggregate net value" means the fair market value as at the date of death, of all the property of the deceased, wherever situated, together with the fair market value, as at the said date, of all such other property wherever situated, mentioned and described in section 3 of this Act, as deemed to be included in a succession or successions, as the case may be, from the deceased as predecessor, after the debts, incumbrances and other allowances are deducted therefrom as authorized by section 8 of this Act.

DUTIABLE VALUE

(Sec. 2e) "Dutiable value" means, in the case of the death of a person domiciled in Canada, the fair market value, as at the date of death, of all property included in a succession to a successor less the allowances as authorized by section eight of this Act and less the value of real property situated outside of Canada, and means, in the case of the death of a person domiciled outside of Canada, the fair market value of property situated in Canada of the deceased included in a succession to a successor less the allowances as authorized by sections 8 and 9 of this Act.

CHILD

(Sec. 2b) (amended 1944) "child" means

(i) a child of the deceased;

(ii) a person lawfully adopted while under the age of twelve years by the deceased as his child;

(iii) a person who, during his infancy for a period of not less than ten years, was in law or in fact in the custody and control of the deceased and was dependent upon the deceased for support; or

(iv) a lineal descendant of a person described by subparagraph (i), (ii) or (iii); if at the time of the death of the deceased the child, person or lineal descendant was

(v) under eighteen years of age in the case of the deceased's own child or adopted child;

(vi) under eighteen years of age and dependent upon the deceased for support; or

(vii) eighteen years of age or over and likewise dependent upon the deceased on account of mental or physical infirmity.

DECEASED PERSON

(Sec. 2d) "Deceased" or "deceased person" means a person dying after the coming into force of this Act.

EXEMPTIONS AND ALLOWANCES

(Sec. 7) (1) From the dutiable value of any property included in a succession the following exemptions shall be deducted and no duty shall be leviable in respect thereof:—

(a) where the successor is the widow of the deceased, the value of the property up to the amount of $20,000, which exemption, however, shall be increased for each child of the deceased—

(i) by $5,000 if such child does not benefit as a result of the death of the deceased;

(ii) by $5,000 less the value of any benefit accruing to the child as a result of the death of the deceased;

(b) where the successor is a child of the deceased, the value of the property up to the amount of $5,000;

(c) where the successor is a child of the deceased having no surviving parent, the value of the property up to the amount of $15,000, which exemption shall be in addition to the exemption provided for by paragraph (b) of this subsection; Provided, however, that where more than one child is entitled to exemption hereunder the exemption shall be limited to the sum of $15,000 divisible amongst such children in proportion to the value of the property included in each succession;

CHARITABLE GIFTS

(d) where the successor is a charitable organization in Canada operated exclusively as such and not for the benefit, gain or profit of any person, member or shareholder thereof, provided this exemption shall apply only to an amount not exceeding fifty per centum of the value of all the property included in the aggregate net value; and provided further that where more than one charitable organization is entitled to exemption hereunder each such organization shall be entitled to that proportion of the total exemption applicable in the case of the total number of charitable organizations entitled as the value of the property included in its succession bears to the total value of the dutiable property divisible amongst the organizations.

(e) where the successor is the Dominion of Canada or any province or political subdivision thereof;

(f) in respect of a gift made by the deceased where the same is proved to have been absolute and to have taken effect in the lifetime of the deceased, to have been part of his ordinary and normal expenditure, and to have been reasonable having regard to the amount of his income and the circumstances under which the gift was made;

(g) in respect of any gift made by the deceased prior to the 29th day of April, 1941, where actual and bona fide possession and enjoyment of the property, the subject matter of the gift, has been assumed by the donee or by a trustee for the donee immediately upon the making of the gift and thenceforward retained to the entire exclusion of the donor, or of any benefit to him, whether voluntary or by contract or otherwise;

(h) in respect of a gift made by the deceased in his lifetime where gift tax has been paid under the provisions of the Income War Tax Act, except to the extent to which duty payable under this Act exceeds the gift tax so paid;

(i) where the value of the property included in the succession to any one successor does not exceed $1,000.

(j) in respect of any succession comprising property acquired for or incidental to residence in Canada, by

- (i) a minister, secretary, or attache, of legation; or
- (ii) a consul, or vice-consul, of career; or
- (iii) a high commissioner, accredited representative, or the secretaries of their offices, provided that the foregoing officials are subjects of the country they represent, and provided further that such exemption shall only be granted to an extent equivalent to that which is granted in like circumstances by the countries which the said officials represent;

(k) in respect of pensions granted or payable under the provisions of the Pension Act, or other payments in the nature of pensions which are being administered on the thirty-first day of July, 1942, by the Canadian Pension Commission as directed by the Governor in Council under section six of the Pension Act:

(1) in respect of pensions granted or payable on account of disability or death arising out of war service by the government of any country which was an ally of His Majesty at the time of such war service; provided, and to the extent that such country grants a similar exemption in respect of such pensions granted or payable by the government of Canada."

(2) In the case of a person dying domiciled outside of Canada, the amount of any exemption under subsection 1 of this section shall be limited so that it shall be only such proportion of the total exemption as the value of property situated in Canada bears to the total value of the property wherever situated.

(3) (a) Where the deceased dies from wounds inflicted, accident occurring, or disease contracted while Canada is or was at war, and while on service with Canadian or any other of His Majesty's Naval, Military or Air Forces or with allied or associated Naval, Military or Air Forces, and where the Canadian Pension Commission finds that the circumstances are such that the widow or children of the deceased are entitled or would, if such service had been with the Canadian Naval, Military or Air Forces, have been entitled to receive a pension under the Pension Act in respect of such death, or where the Canadian Pension Commission finds that the deceased died from wounds inflicted, accident occurring, or disease contracted, as a result of enemy action within 12 months before death;

(i) the exemptions allowed in paragraphs (a), (b) and (c) of subsection 1 of this section shall be increased by fifty per centum; and

(ii) the amount of the duty payable in respect of a succession by any successor coming within Class A or Class B in the First Schedule to this Act shall be reduced to such sum as would, if accumulated at compound interest at the rate of three per centum per annum from the date of death with half-yearly rests, at the expiration of the period of the normal expectation of life of a person of the age of the deceased at the time of death (calculated in accordance with mortality tables approved by the Minister) amount to the duty otherwise payable.

(b) The Canadian Pension Commission shall on the request of the Commissioner investigate the circumstances and report its findings in respect of any case arising under paragraph (a) of this subsection.

(4) No duty shall be leviable on the death of any predecessor where the aggregate net value does not exceed $5,000.

(5) No duty shall be leviable in respect of the proceeds of any insurance policy or in respect of any annuity or other similar contract issued by any person in the ordinary course of business or by His Majesty under the provisions of the Government Annuities Act, if the assured or the person with whom the contract was made was domiciled outside of Canada at the time of his death.

(6) (Applying to deaths occurring on and after Dec. 18, 1945). Where duty has become payable upon or in respect of the succession to any property passing upon the death of any person, and subsequently within five years duty has, on the death of the person to whom the property passed on the first death, again become payable upon or in respect of the same property or any part thereof or property which can be identified as having been acquired in exchange therefor, the value of the property included in both successions shall, for the purposes of computing the aggregate net value and dutiable value in respect of the second succession, be deemed to be an amount equal to

(a) where the second death occurs within one year of the first death, fifty per centum,

(b) where the preceding paragraph is not applicable and the second death occurs within two years of the first death, sixty per centum,

(c) where the preceding paragraphs are not applicable and the second death occurs within three years of the first death, seventy per centum,

(d) where the preceding paragraphs are not applicable and the second death occurs within four years of the first death, eighty per centum, and

(e) where the preceding paragraphs are not applicable and the second death occurs within five years of the first death ninety per centum.

ALLOWANCES FOR DEBTS

(SEC. 8) Relates to the allowance of bona fide debts and encumbrances and provides that allowance shall not be made:

(2) for any estate, legacy, succession or inheritance duties, or any combination of such duties, paid or payable to any province or to any country outside of Canada."

DEBTS OF

DECEASED DOMICILED OUTSIDE OF CANADA

(SEC. 9) Where the deceased was domiciled outside of Canada at time of death any allowance made on account of debts by way of deduction from the value of the property situated in Canada, other than debts specifically charged upon the said property, shall be in the proportion that the value of the property situated in Canada bears to the value of the property of the deceased wheresoever situated.

PERSONS LIABLE FOR DUTIES

(SEC. 12) (1) Every successor shall be liable for the duty by this Act levied upon or in respect of the succession to him provided that the duty in respect of any gift of disposition inter vivos to a successor shall also be payable by and may be recovered from the executor of the property of the deceased but such liability shall be in his capacity as executor only and for an amount not exceeding the value of the interest of the successor in the property administered by the executor.

(2) Subject to the provisions of subsection 1 of this section all the duties assessed and levied under this Act shall be payable by and may be recovered from the executor of the property of the deceased, provided that the liability of any executor under this subsection shall be a liability in his capacity as executor only and for an amount not exceeding the value of the property administered by him.

(SEC. 13) Every executor who is required to pay duty upon or in respect of the succession to property which is not administered by him or which does not come into his possession or control shall be entitled to recover from the successor liable therefor the duty payable upon or in respect of such succession.

(SEC. 14) Every executor who is required to pay duty upon or in respect of the succession to property which is being administered by him shall be entitled to deduct from the amount paid over by him the amount of the duty paid by him or, in the event of the successor being satisfied otherwise than in money paid over by him, to recover from the successor the amount of the duty so paid.

DUTIES ON SUCCESSIONS

(SEC. 6) Subject to the exemptions mentioned in section 7 (Exemptions) of this Act, there shall be assessed, levied and paid at the rates provided for in the First Schedule to this Act duties upon or in respect of the following successions, that is to say—

(a) where the deceased was at the time of his death domiciled in a province of Canada, upon or in respect of the succession to all real or immovable property situated in Canada, and all personal property wheresoever situated;

(b) where the deceased was at the time of his death domiciled outside of Canada, upon or in respect of the succession to all property situated in Canada.

RATES OF DUTY

INITIAL RATES

(SEC. 10) There shall be assessed, levied and paid to the Receiver General of Canada, upon or in respect of each succession mentioned and described in section 6 (Duties on Successions) of this Act an initial duty at the rate set forth under the heading "Initial rates dependent on aggregate net value" in the First Schedule to this Act which corresponds to the aggregate net value, in the said Schedule, and the duty so levied shall be payable by each successor in respect of his succession: Provided that there shall be no duty levied under this section where the aggregate net value exceeds $5,000. but does not exceed $25,000.

ADDITIONAL RATES

(SEC. 11) In addition to the duty imposed by section 10 of this Act, there shall be assessed, levied and paid upon or in respect of each succession mentioned and described in section 6 of this Act a duty at the rate set forth in the First Schedule to this Act which corresponds to the dutiable value in the said Schedule, as follows:—

(a) under the heading Class A of the said schedule where the dutiable value exceeds $5,000. and where the successor is the widow or child of the deceased;

(b) under the heading Class B of the said schedule where the dutiable value exceeds $1,000, and where the successor is the grandfather, grandmother, father, mother, husband, son-in-law or daughter-in-law of the deceased or a child of the deceased 18 years of age or over at the date of the death of the deceased and not dependent, at that date, upon the deceased for support on account of mental or physical infirmity;

(c) under the heading Class C of the said Schedule where the dutiable value exceeds $1,000, and where the successor is a lineal ancestor (except a grandfather, grandmother, father or mother), a brother or sister of the deceased or any descendant of a brother or sister, or a brother or sister of the father or mother of the deceased or any descendant of such brother or sister;

(d) under the heading Class D of the said Schedule where the dutiable value exceeds $1,000, and where the successor is any person in any other degree of consanguinity to the deceased than as mentioned in paragraphs (a), (b) and (c) of this section, or is a stranger in blood to the deceased.

1946 AMENDMENT

11A. Each successor may deduct from the duties otherwise payable by him under this Act in respect of a succession derived from a predecessor dying after the thirty-first day of December, one thousand nine hundred and forty-six, the lesser of

(a) the duty or duties payable by him under the laws of any province or provinces in respect of such succession; or

(b) fifty per centum of the duty otherwise payable by him under this Act in respect of such succession.

(The purpose of this provision is to permit the allowance of provincial duties as against the Dominion duties up to but not exceeding one-half of the Dominion duties. It came into force on Jan. 1st, 1947.)

EXAMPLE

An example of the way the two classes of rates i.e., the "initial rates" and the "additional rates" apply in the case of an estate of $100,000, of dutiable value descending to two adult children. Each child's bequest is $50,000. The "Initial Rate" (dependent on aggregate net value) for $100,000 is 5%. The "Additional Rate" (dependent on dutiable value of the individual benefit) for a bequest of $50,000, in Class B (the Class for Adult Children) is 8%. The total of 5% and 8% is 13%. A total rate of 13% is thus the duty applicable to the dutiable value of each bequest of $50,000. (We have here doubled the original rates, in accordance with the 1946 amendment; but note section 11A respecting 50% deduction.)

FIRST SCHEDULE RATES OF DUTY—DOMINION SUCCESSION DUTIES (Partial Table Only)

The following is a partial table of rates omitting many of the intermediate steps. The complete schedule in the Act progresses by very small increases, both of values and rates. There are, for instance, 9 intermediate rates of duty between the 10% and the 12% rate shown below under Class A, and a similar close progression between other rates of duty here shown.

The rates in this schedule give effect to the 1946 amendment by which, in respect of any succession upon the death of a person after Dec. 31, 1946, the rates were doubled, with a provision for allowable deductions in respect of duties payable under the laws of any province or provinces. See above, Section 11A.

ALBERTA

(On March 31, 1947, Alberta passed "The Tax Collection Suspension Act", authorizing the execution of a tax agreement between the Province and the Dominion, such agreement to become retroactive to April 1, 1947. At time of going to press, no agreement had been signed.)

EXEMPTIONS FROM DUTY

No Succession Duty is payable on property passing to any beneficiary whatsoever where net value does not exceed $1,000

Nor on property passing to resident or residents of Province, being grandfather, grandmother, father, mother, husband, wife, child, son-in-law, daughter-in-law where net value does not exceed $15,000

Nor on property bequeathed for religious, charitable or educational purposes to be carried out in Alberta, except to the extent to which the value of the property exceeds $2,000 for any one purpose;

Nor on property devised or bequeathed to the University of Alberta for educational purposes;

Nor on the amount of any life insurance policy or policies (effected by a deceased person on his life), and expressly made payable to the Provincial Treasurer, or an executor or trustee for the purpose of paying duty imposed by this Act, except as to any excess in such amount over and above the amount of the duty, which excess, received by the Minister, shall be accounted for by him to the persons entitled thereto.

In certain cases remission of duty on estates of persons dying from wounds etc., while on active military or naval service, is provided for.

RATES OF DUTY*

On such portion as passes to or for benefit of father, mother, husband, wife, son-in-law, daughter-in-law, child, grandfather, grandmother, or descendants of children, but in all cases only if resident within the province, as follows if the estate is subject to duty and

*A surtax of 20%, effective March 31, 1938, is added to the duty assessed on all estates.

NEW BRUNSWICK

(New Brunswick will withdraw from Succession Duty taxation when the taxation agreement is concluded with the Dominion Government. The agreement provides for the Province's vacating this field for a period of five years from April 1, 1947, although the duties shown below will be payable on properties passing prior to that date.)

EXEMPTIONS FROM DUTY

No duty shall be payable on property passing to father, mother, husband, wife, child, son-in-law or daughter-in-law of the deceased, where the net value of the property of the deceased does not exceed $25,000

Nor on property passing to certain other descendants and persons, where the net value of the property of the deceased does not exceed $5,000

Nor on any property passing to any one person, which does not exceed in value, ... $200

Nor property bequeathed for religious, charitable or educational purposes to be carried out in New Brunswick. Nor the amount of any unpaid subscription for a like purpose, subject to certain conditions.

Nor on life insurance effected for the purpose of paying succession duty, up to the amount of the duty.

Property passing on death shall not be deemed to include any property given by the donor in his lifetime, under certain conditions, to his father, mother, husband, wife, child, son-in-law or daughter-in-law, more than five years before his death, and not exceeding in value, in the aggregate, the sum of, ... $25,000

Nor given by the donor, in his lifetime under certain conditions, to any other persons, and not exceeding in value, to any one person, the sum of, ... $500

Except as otherwise provided in the Act, property taken under a disposition made within ten years before the death of the deceased, operating or purporting to operate as an immediate grant or gift inter vivos, shall be deemed to be property of the deceased and passing on his death.

The Governor in Council has discretionary powers to reduce duty payable in certain cases.

AGGREGATE VALUE

"Aggregate Value" which determines the normal rates of duty means the value at the death of the deceased of the property wherever situate passing on his death together with the value of all lifetime dispositions wherever made, where such dispositions are made on or after the first day of July, 1892, less debts, reasonable funeral expenses, Surrogate Court fees, solicitors fees for obtaining probate or letters of administration to the extent of $100.00 and less the exemptions authorized by section 4 and specified below.

ESTATES EXEMPT FROM SUCCESSION DUTY

1. An estate, the aggregate value of which does not exceed $5,000.00.

2. An estate, the aggregate value of which does not exceed $10,000.00, where the only persons who participate are the following, or some of them:—

(a) Any lineal ancestor of the deceased except the grandfather, grandmother, father or mother;

(b) Any brother or sister of the deceased;

(c) Any descendant of a brother or sister of the deceased;

(d) Any brother or sister of the father or mother of the deceased;

(e) Any descendant of a brother or sister of the father and mother of the deceased.

3. An estate, the aggregate value of which does not exceed $25,000.00, when the only persons who participate are the following, or some of them: the grandfather, grandmother, father, mother, husband, wife, child, son-in-law and daughter-in-law of the deceased.

EXEMPTIONS FROM SUCCESSION DUTY, WHETHER OR NOT THE ESTATE AS A WHOLE IS EXEMPT.

By section 3 of The Succession Duty Act, 1939, the following are exempt from duty but the property and dispositions with respect to which there are exemptions are nevertheless included for the purposes of arriving at the "Aggregate Value":

(a) Any property situate in Ontario passing on the death to any one person where the value of all the property so passing to any such person does not exceed $500.00;

(b) Any person to whom there is a transmission, with respect to such transmission, where the value of all the transmissions to such person, does not exceed $500.00;

(c) Any person to whom a disposition is made, with respect to such disposition, where the value of all the dispositions to such person does not exceed $500.00;

(d) Any property situate in Ontario passing on the death of the deceased to any one person where such property consists wholly of an annuity not exceeding $100.00 or of an estate or interest for life or for a term in any property, the yearly income from which does not exceed $100.00;

(e) Any person to whom there is a transmission, with respect to such transmission, where all the property in respect of which there are transmissions to such person consists wholly of an annuity not exceeding $100.00 or of an estate or interest for life or for a term in any property the yearly income from which does not exceed $100.00;

(f) Any person to whom a disposition is made, with respect to such disposition, where all the property in respect of which dispositions to such person are made consists wholly of an annuity not exceeding $100.00, or of an estate or interest for life or for a term in any property the yearly income from which does not exceed $100.00;

(g) Any property situate in Ontario passing on the death of the deceased to any member of the stranger class or where there is a transmission to such member or a disposition to such member and where the value of all such property, transmissions and dispositions does not exceed $1,000, provided that such member of the stranger class was in the employ of the deceased for a period of at least five years immediately prior to his death; or

(h) (1946 amendment:) any money payable as a result of the death of the deceased and any interest by way of annuity or otherwise accruing or arising on the death of the deceased, under any contract of insurance within the meaning of The Insurance Act where the deceased was domiciled outside Ontario at the date of his death.

(The new provision applies where the death took place on or after April 5th, 1946. The former provision which was repealed, applies where the death took place on or after September 22nd, 1939 but before April 5th, 1946.)

NOTE: By further provisions in section 3, the total amount in respect of which no duty shall be levied under clauses a, b and c shall not exceed $500.00;

The total amount in respect of which no duty shall be levied under clauses d, e and f shall not exceed an annuity or yearly income of $100.00; and

Where by reason of clauses d, e and f no duty is levied, clauses a, b and c shall not apply.

SPECIAL REMISSION OF DUTY

Section 46 of the Act provides as follows:

Where the deceased dies from wounds inflicted, accident occurring or disease contracted within twelve months before death while in the active naval, military or air service of His Majesty, the Treasurer may, if he thinks fit, remit the whole or any part of the duty for which the husband, wife, father, mother, child, son-in-law, daughter-in-law, brother or sister of the deceased is liable.

NOTE: If any remission is made under section 46 the property, transmission or disposition with respect to which such remission is made must nevertheless be taken into consideration for purpose of arriving at the aggregate value.

FURTHER EXEMPTIONS

By section 4 of the Act there are exemptions with respect to the following and the property and dispositions concerned shall not be included for the purpose of arriving at the "Aggregate Value" nor for the purpose of determining any rate of duty.

- (a) Any disposition for religious, charitable or educational purposes to any religious, charitable or educational organization which carries on its work solely in Ontario;
- (b) Any property devised or bequeathed by the deceased for religious, charitable or educational purposes to any religious, charitable or educational organization which carries on its work solely in Ontario;
- (c) Any disposition for religious, charitable or educational purposes to any religious, charitable or educational organization which carries on its work both in and outside Ontario to the extent of that portion in value of the property in respect of which the disposition is made as is in the same ratio to the whole that its expenditures for carrying on its work in Ontario bear to its total expenditures during such period as the treasurer may determine;
- (d) That portion of any property devised or bequeathed by the deceased for religious, charitable or educational purposes to any religious, charitable or educational organization which carries on its work both in and outside Ontario as is in the same ratio to the whole that its expenditures for carrying on its work in Ontario bear to its total expenditures during such period as the treasurer may determine;
- (e) Any property devised or bequeathed by the deceased to and any disposition to the Dominion of Canada, the Province of Ontario, or any municipality in Ontario; (but see 1946 amendment below).
- (f) Any disposition for necessities or education to or for any member of the family of the deceased where it is shown to the satisfaction of the treasurer that such member was dependent in whole or in part on the deceased for such necessities or education;
- (g) Any disposition to the father, mother or any brother, sister, son, daughter, son-in-law or daughter-in-law of the deceased or any person adopted while under the age of 18 years by the deceased under The Adoption Act, made more than twenty years before the date of death of the deceased, where actual and bona fide enjoyment and possession of the property in respect of which the disposition is made shall have been immediately assumed by the person to whom the disposition is made and thenceforward retained to the entire exclusion of the deceased or of any benefit to him whether voluntarily or by contract or otherwise, provided that this clause shall not apply to any disposition resulting in the making of periodic payments except such payments as are made more than twenty years before the date of death of the deceased; (but see 1946 amendment below).
- (h) Any disposition to any person made more than 30 years before the date of death of the deceased and where the circumstances and conditions are the same as in (g) immediately above; (but see 1946 amendment below).
- (i) Any money paid to or enjoyed by any member of the family of the deceased on or after the death of the deceased out of or in respect of any pension fund or scheme of general application to employees by reason of the employment of the deceased by the Dominion of Canada, the Province of Ontario or any municipality in Ontario;
- (j) Any non-commutable annuity, income or periodic payment effected in any manner other than by will or testamentary instrument and paid for by the deceased during his lifetime and paid to or enjoyed by the wife or dependent father or mother or any dependent brother, sister or child of the deceased after the death of the deceased, to the extent of $1200.00 per annum with respect to any one person and to the extent of $2400.00 per annum in the aggregate;

- (k) Any property devised or bequeathed by the deceased to and any disposition to the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, the Canadian Red Cross Society or any Patriotic Organization or Institution in Canada which hereafter receives the written approval of the Secretary of State of the Dominion of Canada; and
- (l) Any property passing on the death of the deceased to any religious, charitable or educational organization for religious, charitable or educational purposes carried out in any Province of Canada other than Ontario which is shown to the satisfaction of the Treasurer to allow the same exemption on property given, devised or bequeathed to any religious, charitable or educational organization for religious, charitable or educational purposes carried out in Ontario.

1946 amendments affecting (e), (g), (h) above:

* The provisions set out respectively in (e), (g)

 and (h) above are applicable where the deceased died on or after September 22nd, 1939 but before April 5th, 1946.

* By the 1946 Amendments to the Act, Clause (e) was amended by inserting after "to" where it occurs the 2nd time in line 2, the words—"The United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland."

 By the 1946 amendments Clause (g) was repealed and Clause (h) was amended by substituting for "thirty years" wherever it appears "five years".

* Clauses (e) and (h) as amended apply only where the deceased died on or after April 5th, 1946. It is important to note that, in the case of a person dying on or after the last-mentioned date, any outright dispositions which he may have made to any person whomsoever, more than 5 years before his death, will be exempt from Ontario Duty and will not be considered to any extent in the computation of such duty, where the person to whom the dispositions were made did not subsequently permit the donor to benefit in any way by the property disposed of.

MAKING RETURNS

Section 12 provides that every person to whom or for whose benefit any property situate in Ontario passes on the death of the deceased or to whom there is a transmission or to whom a disposition is made shall make returns to the Succession Duty Department. Such returns shall be made within three months after the death of deceased or within such further period as Treasurer may allow.

Section 12, amended 1946, also provides that the applicant for probate, administration or other grant shall, at the time of making application, make and file with the Succession Duty Department an affidavit containing,—

- (a) an inventory of all the property passing on the death of the deceased and particulars of all dispositions and such inventory shall show the value of such property and dispositions; and
- (b) the name of every person who benefits by any property passing on the death of the deceased or to whom a disposition is made, the place of residence of such person and the degree of relationship in which such person stands to the deceased.

WHEN AND HOW DUTY PAYABLE

The duty on any annuity, term of years, life estate or income which is not postponed as an interest in expectancy till some time after the death, is payable in four equal, annual instalments 1, 2, 3 and 4 years respectively from the date of the death. For default there shall be added to such instalments, interest at rate of 5 per cent per annum from respective dates payable till payment.

The duty on that portion of the residue of the property which is not postponed as above set out, is payable at the end of six months from the death and for default there shall be added to such duty, interest at rate of 5 per cent per annum from date of death till payment.

Duty on future interests may be paid as set out above—according as these interests are annuities or otherwise.

The duty on any interest in expectancy, where an annuity, term of years, life estate or income is not involved, if not sooner paid, shall be due when such interest comes into possession and payable at the end of three months thereafter and in case of default there shall be added to such duty, interest at rate of 5 per cent per annum from the date of coming into possession till payment.

Where any annuity, term of years, life estate or income is involved in the interest in expectancy, the duty thereon, if not sooner paid, shall be payable in 4 equal, annual instalments 1, 2, 3 and 4 years respectively from the date such annuity, term, life estate or income commenced to be enjoyed. For default there shall be added to such instalment, interest at the rate of 5 per cent per annum from the respective dates payable, until payment.

DISPOSITION

Note: The term "Disposition" where used in the above synopsis means lifetime disposition by the deceased and does not include any disposition made by his will.

ALLOWANCE FOR DUTY PAID IN OTHER JURISDICTIONS

For the purpose of avoiding double taxation on residents in Ontario an allowance shall be made for duty levied and paid on personal property situate in the jurisdictions mentioned below where the deceased owner died domiciled in Ontario, where such property passes to Ontario residents and where duty is levied on such residents, by Ontario, with respect to the transmission of such property; provided however that such allowance shall not exceed the amount of the Ontario duty with respect to such transmission. The foreign jurisdictions concerned are as follows,—

- (a) The United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland;
- (b) The Union of South Africa;
- (c) The Commonwealth of Australia;
- (d) Eire;
- (e) The Dominion of New Zealand;
- (f) The other eight Provinces of the Dominion of Canada;
- (g) The District of Columbia; and
- (h) Each of the States of the United States of America.

The allowance to be made by Ontario, as aforesaid, shall apply where the deceased died on or after June 21st, 1946 and with the object of relieving Ontario citizens as far as possible, in this respect, the allowance shall be applicable whether or not the foreign jurisdictions, or any of them, make similar provisions in converse cases.

PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND

EXEMPTIONS

The Act shall not apply under certain conditions to property bequeathed for religious, charitable or educational purposes in P.E.I.

Nor to property to father, mother, grandchild, brother, sister, daughter-in-law, son-in-law, husband of the deceased, husband or wife without dependent children by deceased living at time of death, step-child or child or children not dependent on the deceased at time of his death, if aggregate value of property does not exceed..... $5,000

Nor on property passing to or for benefit of wife with a dependent child or children by deceased living at time of his death, or the dependent child or children or wife and dependent children of deceased, if the aggregate value of property does not exceed..... $10,000

Nor to proceeds of life insurance payable to the Treasurer for purpose of payment of duty.

BRITISH COLUMBIA

(In April, 1947, British Columbia passed the "Dominion-Provincial Agreement Act" whereby the Province leased the Succession Duty field to the Dominion for a period of five years. Since April, 1947, the "Probate Fees Act, 1947" has been in operation, providing for the payment of graduated fees for the issuance of letters probate.)

EXEMPTIONS FROM DUTY

The Act shall not apply to any Estate net value of which does not exceed..... $1,000

Nor to bequests for religious, charitable or educational purposes to be carried out in B.C.

Nor to property given, devised, or bequeathed for religious, charitable, or educational purposes to be carried out in any province of Canada other than B.C. that is shown to the satisfaction of the Minister to allow the same exemption on property given, devised, or bequeathed for religious, charitable, or educational purposes to be carried out in B.C.

Nor to property transferred by way of gift inter vivos, where the property transferred to any one donee subject to payment of duty but for this clause does not exceed in the aggregate $300 in value.

Nor to property passing to father, mother, husband, wife, child, grandchild, daughter-in-law, son-in-law where net value of property of deceased does not exceed..... $20,000

Where property is part within B.C. and part without B.C., then proportionate exemption applies.

Insurance moneys passing to father, mother, husband, wife, child, grand-child, son- or daughter-in-law are exempt up to $25,000, if aggregate value of insurance does not exceed $25,000.

RATES OF DUTY*

The Act also provides for duty on personal property which has to come into British Columbia for transmission.

NOVA SCOTIA

(Upon conclusion of the Dominion-Provincial tax agreement, Nova Scotia will vacate the Succession Duty field for a period of five years from April 1, 1947. The duties shown, however, will be payable on properties passing before that date.)

EXEMPTIONS FROM DUTY

Succession duty shall not be payable if aggregate value of property does not exceed . . . $5,000

Or on any property bequeathed for religious, charitable or educational purposes to be carried out in Nova Scotia or on account of any unpaid subscriptions for such purpose, made by any person in his life-time for which estate is liable, where net or aggregate value of Estate does not exceed . . . $10,000

Or on property passing to grandfather, grandmother, father, mother, husband, wife, child, grandchild, daughter-in-law, son-in-law where aggregate value of property passing does not exceed . . . $10,000

Or on Insurance moneys if payable to any of persons mentioned in previous paragraph if net or aggregate value of estate does not exceed $25,000 and if aggregate amount of all insurance does not exceed . . . $5,000

Or on Insurance moneys payable to Treasurer expressly to pay duties

Or on any property passing to any one person if whole value of property does not exceed . . . $300

Or on certain other properties, e.g. those situated in United Kingdom and subject to Estate Duty there; those passing on death of deceased where full consideration had been paid by purchaser during deceased's lifetime; where succession duties had been paid elsewhere and were greater than those obtaining in Nova Scotia, or if less, then only to the extent of the difference; on gifts made during deceased's lifetime and within specified limits of time and amount; etc.

Note: The rates shown above for Nova Scotia are the new rates as imposed under Ch. 14 of the Acts of 1943, to be applied to estates of persons dying on or after July 1, 1943; except for Estates from $10,000 to $25,000 in Tables "B" and "C" which rates are to be applied to Estates of persons dying on or after April 6, 1944. The previous rates are shown in The Canadian Almanac for 1943.

QUEBEC

EXEMPTIONS FROM DUTY

Where the aggregate value of the property transmitted in the direct line, ascending or descending, between consorts, between father- or mother-in-law and son- or daughter-in-law, and between step-father or stepmother and stepson or stepdaughter, does not exceed ten thousand dollars, no duty shall be exigible on such property or on the transmission thereof. If the aggregate value of the property so transmitted exceeds ten thousand dollars, the amount of the duties exigible on such property or on the transmission thereof shall not exceed the amount of the excess and the rates fixed must consequently be reduced proportionately, where necessary. The above-mentioned sum of ten thousand dollars shall be increased by one thousand dollars for each child who has survived the deceased or has left surviving descendants. However, except for the limiting effect of this proviso, if the aggregate value of the property transmitted exceeds the amount for which exemption is allowed, note that all exemption disappears.

Estates not exceeding $1,000.00 in value and passing to immediate collaterals are duty free.

When the aggregate value of the property transmitted to a stranger in blood to the deceased, who has been in the employ of the deceased for at least five years, does not exceed one thousand dollars, no duty shall be exigible on such property or on the transmission thereof.

Any legacy, gift or subscription for religious, charitable or educational purposes unto a corporation or a society which has an establishment within the Province or unto a person whose domicile is in the province, under the condition that such purposes be carried out within the province, shall be duty free.

Any sum due under an insurance policy governed by the Educational Institutions Life Insurance Benefit Act (Chap. 302), or payable to a church, a fabrique or a parish, a cemetery association or company, or a corporation or association having an establishment in this province and created for religious, charitable or educational purposes which must be carried out therein, shall benefit by the same exemption.

All legacies, gifts, subscriptions or insurance benefits for religious, charitable or educational purposes carried out outside the Province of Quebec shall likewise be duty free, provided it be satisfactorily shown that the province or state where said property shall be utilized allows the same exemption for legacies, gifts, subscriptions or insurance benefits made, by persons under its jurisdiction, for similar purposes carried out in the Province of Quebec.

RATES OF DUTY

On property transmitted in the direct line, ascending or descending, between consorts, between father or mother-in-law and son- or daughter-in-law, between stepfather or stepmother and stepson or stepdaughter, and on transmission between the same persons, the rates of duty shall be as follows:

In Estates the aggregate value of which:

Does not exceed $10,000—Nil.

Exceeds $10,000, not exceeding $50,000—1% plus 1/25 of 1% for each full $1,000.

Exceeds $50,000, not exceeding $100,000—1% plus 1/20 of 1% for each full $1,000.

Exceeds $100,000—5% plus 1/100 of 1% for each full $1,000.

Provided, however, that the total so obtained shall not exceed 15% where aggregate value of Estate exceeds $1,000,000.

Provided further that in addition to the above duty, a further duty is payable (on estates of which aggregate value exceeds $10,000) as follows:

Where the whole amount passing to one person:

Does not exceed $50,000—1%.

Exceeds $50,000, does not exceed $300,000—1% plus 1/100 of 1% for each full $1,000.

Exceeds $300,000—3% plus 1/200 of 1% for each full $1,000.

Provided, however, that the total rate so obtained shall not exceed 10%.

Higher duties provided in the case of collaterals, strangers, etc.

In 1945 an agreement was made between the Provinces of Ontario and Quebec providing for the avoidance of double taxation in regard to Succession Duties.

SASKATCHEWAN

(The Saskatchewan Succession Duty Act was suspended as of April 1, 1947, in accordance with the provisions of the Dominion-Provincial Tax Agreement. However, the Act continues to apply to duties payable thereunder on properties passing upon the death of any person prior to the above date.)

EXEMPTIONS FROM DUTY

No duty shall be leviable on any estate, the aggregate value of which does not exceed. $1,000

Nor on property passing to father, mother, husband, wife, child, daughter-in-law, son-in-law, if domiciled in Saskatchewan, when deceased was at time of death domiciled in Saskatchewan where aggregate value of property does not exceed..... $15,000

Nor on Insurance moneys payable under terms of contract to husband, wife, child, grandchild, or mother of deceased, to a total exemption not exceeding..... $5,000

(d) Nor on moneys, to the extent of $5,000 or an aggregate amount of $5,000, received or receivable under a contract or contracts of insurance effected on his life by a person dying on or after the third day of February, 1922, if such moneys are payable under the terms of the contract or contracts to the husband, wife, child, grandchild or mother of the deceased or to two or more of such persons.

Nor on Insurance moneys expressly made payable to the Provincial Treasurer, for the purpose of paying the duty imposed by the Act, except as to any excess thereof over and above the amount of the duty.

Nor where whole value of any property passing to any one person does not exceed..... $300

Nor on property bequeathed to the Province or to the University of Saskatchewan.

Nor on real property situate outside province nor on pension or annuity to widow or child of deceased clergyman.

A gift during lifetime and property devised or bequeathed to a religious, charitable or educational organization for religious, charitable or educational purposes when such organization carries on its work solely within Saskatchewan, does not aggregate nor is it subject to duty; providing duty has been assessed after March 23, 1938.

Where the organization carries on its work within and without Saskatchewan, the exemption is proportioned in relation to the expenditures of the organization for carrying on its work in Saskatchewan.

Gifts or bequests to Canadian Red Cross Society do not aggregate nor are they subject to duty in respect of estates of persons dying after 23 March, 1938.

At the 1942 session of the Legislative Assembly amendments were made providing for the exemption of securities deposited in Saskatchewan for safekeeping and further protection because of the possibility of loss or damage through enemy action. Provision was also enacted permitting insurance and mortuary benefits under $250 to be paid over without the commission's consent provided notice is given to the Succession Duty Division.

RATES OF DUTY

On such portion as passes to or for benefit of father, mother, husband, wife, son-in-law, daughter-in-law, or child, but in all cases only if resident within the province, as follows:—if the estate

Further duty of 1% provided for where property exceeds $5,000, and beneficiaries not domiciled in Saskatchewan; and of 1% where property exceeds $5,000 and deceased was not domiciled in Saskatchewan.

In all cases where the aggregate value of the property passing upon the death of any person dying after May 1, 1932, exceeds $20,000, there shall be added to the amount of the duty payable a sum equal to ten per cent of that amount; where the death occurred after March 31st, 1945, the additional tax shall amount to 20% of the duty payable.

Further duties provided for in case of lineal ancestors, other than father or mother, or of beneficiaries in other degrees of consanguinity or of strangers.

MANITOBA

(The Manitoba Succession Duty Act, insofar as it is applicable to persons who die on or after April 1, 1947, has been suspended in accordance with the terms of the Dominion-Provincial Agreement.)

EXEMPTIONS FROM DUTY

No Tax payable when aggregate value does not exceed $ 1,500

When deceased was resident of Manitoba, the Act shall not apply to property passing to residents of Province being father, mother, husband, wife, child, where total dutiable value of property does not exceed $25,000

THE OXFORD UNIVERSITY INSTITUTE OF STATISTICS

Here is an authoritative picture of the economic problems and policies of war-time Britain. The Oxford University Institute of Statistics has made available in this book a wide selection of articles which it published during the war years. Concise, providing a wealth of statistical and other illustrative detail, these articles deal with such major problems as income and employment, prices and consumption, controls and industrial organization, and foreign trade and currency.

As accounts of one country's experience in dealing with war-time conditions, many of which are still world-wide in their application, these articles are of great interest, both for purposes of casual reading and for reference.

TRADE MARKS

THE UNFAIR COMPETITION ACT, 1932

22-23 GEORGE V. CHAP. 38

A brief summary follows. A copy of the Act may be procured from The Registrar, Trade Marks Office, Ottawa Ont. It is suggested a competent attorney be consulted. The names of a number of such appear in these pages.

This Act came into force Sept. 1st, 1932, and repeals An Act respecting Trade Marks and Industrial Designs (see Chapter 201) in part as follows: Sections 3, 4 to 21 inclusive, 23 and 53 are repealed; and sections 42 to 52 are amended by striking therefrom the words "trade mark" and "trade marks" and any other words exclusively relating to said words.

TRADE MARK

TRADE MARK means a symbol which has become adapted to distinguish particular wares falling within a general category from other wares falling within the same category, and is used by any person in association with wares entering into trade or commerce for the purpose of indicating to dealers in, and/or users of such wares that they have been manufactured, sold, leased or hired by him, or that they are of a defined standard or have been produced under defined working conditions, by a defined class of persons, or in a defined territorial area, and includes any distinguishing guise capable of constituting a trade mark.

WORD MARK

WORD MARK means a trade mark consisting only of a series of letters and/or numerals and depending for its distinctiveness upon the idea or sound suggested by the sequence of the letters and/or numerals and their separation into groups, independently of the form of the letters or numerals severally or as a series.

DESIGN MARK

DESIGN MARK means a trade mark consisting of an arbitrary and in itself meaningless mark or design, or of a representation of some object or objects, or of letters or numerals in series or otherwise, or of a combination of two or more of the foregoing elements, and depending for its distinctiveness upon its form and colour, or upon the form, arrangement or colour of its several parts, independently of any idea or sound capable of being suggested by the particular sequence of the letters and/or numerals, if any, forming part, thereof, or by their separation into groups, and includes any distinguishing guise capable of constituting a trade mark.

DISTINGUISHING GUISE

DISTINGUISHING GUISE means a mode of shaping, moulding, wrapping or packing wares entering into trade or commerce which, by reason only of the sensory impression thereby given and independently of any element of utility or convenience it may have, is adapted to distinguish the wares so treated from other similar wares and is used by some person in association with his wares in such a way as to indicate to dealers in and/or users of similar wares that the wares so treated have been manufactured or sold by him.

OWNER

OWNER in relation to a trade mark, means either the person who has an exclusive right to use the mark in association with his wares in such a way as to indicate to dealers in and/or users of such wares that they have been manufactured, sold, leased or hired by him, or, in the case of a trade mark adopted for use in such a way as to indicate only that the wares in association with which it is used are of a defined standard or that they have been produced under defined working conditions, by a defined class of persons or in a defined territorial area, means the person, trade union, commercial association or administrative authority by which the said standard, working conditions, class of persons or area has been defined.

UNFAIR COMPETITION

No person shall knowingly adopt for use in Canada in connection with any wares any trade mark or any distinguishing guise which

3. (a) is already in use in Canada by any other person and which is registered pursuant to the provisions of this Act as a trade mark or distinguishing guise for the same or similar wares;
- (b) is already in use by any other person in any country of the Union other than Canada (i.e. any country which has acceded to the Union for the Protection of Industrial Property under the Convention as revised at the Hague on Nov. 6, 1925) as a trade mark or distinguishing guise for the same or similar wares, and is known in Canada in association with such wares by reason either of the distribution of the wares in Canada or of their advertisement therein in any printed publication circulated in the ordinary course among potential dealers in and/or users of such wares in Canada; or,

- (c) is similar to any trade mark or distinguishing guise in use, or in use and known as aforesaid.
4. (1) The person who, in association with wares, first uses or makes known in Canada, as provided in the last preceding section, a trade mark or a distinguishing guise capable of constituting a trade mark, shall be entitled to the exclusive use in Canada of such trade mark or distinguishing guise in association with such wares, provided that such trade mark is recorded in the register existing under the Trade Mark and Design Act at the date of the coming into force of this Act, or provided that in compliance with the provisions of this Act he makes application for the registration of such trade mark within six months of the date on which this Act comes into force, or of the date of his first use thereof in Canada, or of the date upon which the trade mark or distinguishing guise was first made known in Canada, as provided in the last preceding section, and thereafter obtains and maintains registration thereof under the provisions of this Act.

TIME FOR APPLICATION

- (3) Notwithstanding the provisions of subsection one of this section, the person who first uses or makes known in Canada, in association with wares a trade mark or a distinguishing guise capable of constituting a trade mark may apply for and secure registration thereof after the expiration of any of the periods of six months specified by subsection one, provided the same or a similar trade mark or distinguishing guise has not been registered by another for use in association with the same or similar wares, but such application shall not be allowed or the registration of such trade mark made before the expiration of a period of six months from the date of such application.

REGISTER OF TRADE MARKS

22. (1) There shall be kept under the supervision of the Registrar a register of trade marks in which, subject as hereinafter provided, any person may cause to be recorded any trade mark he has adopted, and notifications of any assignments, transmissions, disclaimers and judgments relating to such trade mark.

(2) The register shall specify the date upon which each of the trade marks recorded therein was registered, and shall contain an abstract of the statements contained in the applications for the registration of such marks respectively, and of any documents deposited with such applications, or filed with the Registrar subsequent to the making of the applications and affecting the right to such trade marks respectively.

23. (1) The register now existing under the Trade Mark and Design Act shall form part of the register maintained pursuant to this Act, and, subject as hereinafter provided, all entries therein shall hereafter be governed by the provisions of this Act, but shall not, if properly made under the law in force at the time they were made, be subject to be expunged or amended only because they might not properly have been made hereunder.

(2) The Registrar may at any time, and shall at the request of any applicant for the registration of a trade mark under this Act, by notice in writing require the owner of any trade mark or union label on the register at the date of the coming into force of this Act to furnish to him within four months from the date of the notice the information which would have been required on an application for the registration of such trade mark under this Act.

(3) If such information is not furnished pursuant to such notice, the Registrar shall by a further notice, fix a reasonable time within which, if the information is not furnished, the record of the registration shall be liable to be expunged, and it may be expunged accordingly by the Registrar if no objection is made by the owner of the mark, or by judgment, declaration or order of the Exchequer Court of Canada if he enters an objection.

(4) Any such notice as aforesaid shall be deemed to have been sufficiently given if sent to the person appearing from the record to be the owner of such mark addressed to him at his address as stated in the application for the registration of the mark or for the last renewal thereof, and if any other later or more accurate address is known to the Registrar, at such later or more accurate address, and also addressed to him in care of the person to whom the certificate of registration or of the last renewal thereof was sent at the time of its issue.

(5) Marks registered before the coming into force of this Act shall be treated as word marks or as design marks according to the following rules:—

- (a) Any mark consisting of words and/or numerals only without any indication of a special form or appearance shall be deemed to be a word mark;
- (b) Any other mark consisting of words and/or numerals only shall be deemed to be a word mark if at the date of its registration the words and/or numerals would have been registrable independently of any defined special form or appearance and shall also be deemed to be a design mark for reading matter presenting the special form or appearance defined;
- (c) Any mark including words and/or numerals in combination with other features shall be deemed to be a design mark having the features described in the application therefor but without any meaning being attributed to the words or numerals, which shall, however, also be deemed to constitute a word mark if and so far as they would at the date of registration have been registrable independently of any defined form or appearance and without being combined with any other feature;
- (d) Any other mark shall be deemed to be a design mark having the features described in the application therefor.

REGISTRABLE TRADE MARKS

26. (1) Subject as otherwise provided in this Act, a word mark shall be registrable if it

- (a) does not contain more than thirty letters and/or numerals divided into not more than four groups;
- (b) is not the name of a person, firm or corporation;
- (c) is not, to an English or French speaking person, clearly descriptive or misdescriptive of the character or quality of the wares in connection with which it is proposed to be used, or of the conditions of, or the persons employed in, their production, or of their place of origin;
- (d) would not if sounded be so descriptive or misdescriptive to an English or French speaking person;
- (e) is not the name in any language of any of the wares in connection with which it is to be used;
- (f) is not similar to, or to a possible translation into English or French of, some other word mark already registered for use in connection with similar wares; and
- (g) is not such as to suggest the name in French or English of some feature of a design mark already registered for use in connection with similar wares which is so characteristic of the design mark that its name would not be unlikely to be used to define or describe the wares in connection with which the design mark is used.

(2) An application for the registration of a word mark otherwise registrable shall not be refused on the ground that the mark consists of or includes a series of letters or numerals which also constitute or form part of the name of the firm or corporation by which the application for registration is made.

27. Subject as hereinafter provided, any design mark may be registered if it

- (a) is not identical with or similar to any design mark already registered for use in connection with similar wares;
- (b) is not such as to be likely to mislead dealers in and/or users of the wares in connection with which it is proposed to be used as to the character or quality of such wares or as to the conditions of or the persons employed in their production or as to their place of origin;
- (c) is not such that, by reason of one of its principal characteristics being a representation of something which obviously suggests a word mark already registered for use in connection with similar wares, it is likely that such word mark, or some word resembling the same, would be used to define or describe the wares in connection with which the design mark is used.

APPLICATION FOR REGISTRATION

30. (1) Any person who desires to register a trade mark under this Act otherwise than pursuant to a judgment, order or declaration of the Exchequer Court of Canada shall make an application in writing to the Registrar in duplicate containing

- (a) a statement of the date from which the applicant or named predecessors in title has or have used the mark for the purposes defined in the application and of the countries in which the mark has been principally used since the said date;
- (b) a statement that the applicant considers that, having regard to the provisions of this Act, he was and is entitled to adopt and use the mark in Canada in connection with the wares described; and
- (c) the address of the applicant's principal office or place of business in Canada, if any, and if the applicant has no office or place of business in Canada, the address of his principal office or place of business abroad and the name and address in Canada of some person, firm or corporation to whom any notice in respect of the registration may be sent, and upon whom service of any proceedings in respect of the registration may be made with the same effect as if they had been served upon the applicant himself.

(2) If the mark is intended to indicate that the wares in association with which it is used have been manufactured, sold, leased or hired by the owner thereof the application shall so indicate and shall contain

- (a) a concise description, expressed in such terms as are ordinarily and commercially used by the applicant, of the wares with which the applicant is commercially concerned;
 - (b) a concise description in like terms of the specific wares in association with which the applicant has used the mark.
- (3) If the mark is intended to indicate that the wares in association with which it is used are of a defined standard, or have been produced under defined working conditions, by a defined class of persons or in a defined area, the application shall so indicate and shall contain:
- (a) a statement that the applicant is not engaged in the manufacture, sale, leasing or hiring of wares similar to any wares in association with which the mark is used;
 - (b) an exact definition of what the use of the mark in association with wares is intended to indicate in respect of the standard which such wares have attained, or of the working conditions under which or the class of persons by whom they have been produced or of the area in which they have originated.

31. (1) Every application for the registration of a trade mark shall state whether the applicant requests the registration of the mark as a word mark or as a design mark.

(2) If he requests the registration of the mark as a word mark, the letters and/or numerals constituting the mark shall be set out in the application in their proper grouping.

(3) If he requests the registration of the mark as a design mark, the application shall contain such a concise description of what the applicant considers to be its principal features as to enable the Registrar properly to index the mark; any words or figures shall be referred to, if at all, only as reading matter, and shall be described as being in a specified relation to the other features of the design and/or of a described general appearance, as the case may require, and the applicant shall furnish five accurate and complete representations of the design prepared on or attached to paper of the prescribed size.

AMENDMENT OF RECORD OF REGISTRATION

42. If the person who at any time appears from the record of the registration of a trade mark to be the owner of such mark represents to the Registrar that any amendment is required to any statement theretofore recorded relating to the wares in which the owner of the mark is commercially concerned, or to the use of the mark, the address of the owner, or the person upon whom service may be made of proceedings in respect of the registration, the record shall, subject as hereinafter provided, be amended or added to accordingly.

CHANGES OF OWNERSHIP ASSIGNMENTS AND LICENSES

44. (1) Whenever it is made to appear to his satisfaction that any person who appears on the register to be an owner of a registered trade mark has ceased to be so and that some other person has become by assignment or transmission the owner of such mark, the Registrar shall note the change of ownership accordingly on the record of the registration.

(2) A registered trade mark shall not be assigned or transmitted except in connection and concurrently with an assignment or transmission of the good will of the business carried on in Canada in association with the wares for which such mark has been registered, and in any case such trade mark shall be terminate with such goodwill; provided however that any registered owner of a trade mark whose headquarters are situate in Canada and who is entitled to its exclusive use in connection with a business carried on in Canada may assign the right to use such trade mark in any other country, in association with any wares for which such trade mark is registered, in connection and concurrently with his assignment of the goodwill of the business carried on in such other country in such wares, provided that the grant of such right is forthwith recorded by the grantor of such right in the register maintained pursuant to this Act.

NOTICES OF PROPOSED AMENDMENT OR CANCELLATION AFTER NOTICE

49. (1) The Registrar may at any time, and shall at the request of any person who pays the prescribed fee, notify the person appearing from the register to be the owner of any trade mark that he considers, or that it has been represented to him that such trade mark has ceased to be used as a trade mark in Canada, or for any other specific reason to be set out in the notice, the registration of such mark should be cancelled or that an entry relating thereto should be struck out, corrected or amplified, and request him to advise whether he has any, and if any, what objection to the amendment of the register accordingly.

(2) If the person to whom such notice has been addressed agrees to the proposed amendment of the register in whole or in part, such amendment shall forthwith be made by the Registrar in accordance with such agreement.

(3) If, within three months from the despatch of such a notice as aforesaid, no reply to it has been received from the person to whom it was addressed, the Registrar shall send such person a second notice enclosing a copy of the first and stating that if, within a reasonable time to be fixed by the notice, no objection to the proposed amendment of the register is received, such amendment will be made, and, unless an objection is received within the time limited, the Registrar shall amend the register accordingly.

(4) Except as in the next following section provided, the Registrar shall not cause any amendment to be made in the register to which the person appearing therefrom to be the owner of the mark makes any objection.

RENEWAL OF REGISTRATION OF TRADE MARK

50. (1) If a mark has been on the register without renewal for the period hereinafter specified less four months, the Registrar shall take the action prescribed under the last preceding section on the ground that the person appearing from the register to be the owner thereof has ceased to use the same.

(2) In any such case the registration of the mark shall be cancelled notwithstanding objection on the part of the owner thereof, unless the prescribed fee for the renewal of the registration is paid within the time within which an objection to the cancellation of the registration might be made.

(3) The period specified in subsection one of this section shall be as follows:—

- (a) In the case of any specific trade mark on the register maintained under the Trade Mark and Design Act at the date of the coming into force of this Act, twenty-five years from the date of the original registration or of the last renewal thereof;
- (b) In the case of any general trade mark or union label on the register maintained under the Trade Mark and Design Act at the date of the coming into force of this Act, twenty-five years from the said date; and
- (c) In the case of any trade mark registered under this Act, fifteen years from the date of the registration or of the last renewal thereof.

SHOP CARDS REGISTRATION ACT, 1938

2 George VI. Chap. 41

This Act is designed to afford a measure of protection to organizations such as Trade Unions which formerly were able to register their particular designations as Union Labels under the Trademark and Design Act.

SUMMARY OF PRINCIPAL PROVISIONS

Section 3. The Minister shall cause to be kept, under the supervision of the Registrar, a Register of Shop Cards in which, subject as hereinafter provided, any labour union may cause to be registered any Shop Card it has adopted.

Section 4. A labour union may apply for the registration of a Shop Card by filing with the Registrar an application therefor accompanied by a declaration made by the President, Secretary or other executive officer of such union thereunto authorized, specifying the name of the union on behalf of which such application is being made, the description of the Shop Card and the purpose of its use, and from the date of registration such union shall have the exclusive right of use of such Shop Card; and the said union shall, for the purposes of this Act, be considered the proprietor of such Shop Card.

Section 5 specifies grounds for refusing registration, etc.

Section 6. No Shop Card registered by any labour union may be assigned by any process of law or otherwise.

Section 7. A labour union may authorize the use of any Shop Card registered by it and such authorization shall be subject to cancellation only upon twelve months' notice, unless otherwise specified in any agreement for the use of such Shop Card, and the union shall grant the use of the Shop Card to any applicant who complies with the rules of the union.

Section 8. A Shop Card, when registered, shall endure for the term of fifteen years, but may be renewed before the expiration of the said term by the proprietor thereof, or by his legal representative, for another term of fifteen years, and so on from time to time; but every such renewal shall be registered before the expiration of the current term of fifteen years.

Section 10 (4) The proprietor of a registered Shop Card may apply to the Exchequer Court of Canada for leave to add to or alter any such Shop Card in any particular not being an essential particular, and the Court may refuse or grant leave on such terms as it may think fit.

INDUSTRIAL DESIGNS

Summarized from Trade Marks and Industrial Designs Act.

Dealings relating to Designs are regulated by The Patents, Designs, Copyright and Trade Marks (Emergency) Order, 1939, which is summarized following this Article.

REGISTRATION

Address Applications to Commissioner of Patents, Ottawa

The proprietor applying for the registration of any design shall deposit with the Minister a drawing and description in duplicate of the same, together with a declaration that the same was not in use to his knowledge by any other person than himself at the time of his adoption thereof. Drawings not to exceed 13 x 8 inches wide.

A design may be registered if it is not identical with or does not so closely resemble any other design already registered as to be confounded therewith.

Certificate of Registration when issued shall be sufficient evidence of the design, of the originality of the design, of the name of the proprietor, of the person named as proprietor being proprietor, of the commencement and term of registry, and of compliance with the provisions of this Act.

If the author of any design shall, for a good and valuable consideration, have executed the same for some other person, such other person shall alone be entitled to register it.

EXCLUSIVE RIGHT

The registration gives exclusive right for the design.

DURATION

Exclusive right shall be valid for a term of 5 years, but may be renewed, before, or within 3 months after, the expiration of the said term of 5 years, for a further period of 5 years or less on payment of the fee prescribed for extension of time: Provided that the whole duration of the exclusive right shall not exceed 10 years in all.

ASSIGNMENTS

Designs are assignable in law and a proprietor may grant and convey an exclusive right to make, use and vend and to grant to others the right to make, use and vend such design within and throughout Canada or any part thereof for the unexpired term of its duration or any part thereof. Such exclusive grant and conveyance shall be called a license, and shall be recorded in like manner and time as assignments.

PROTECTION

In order that any design may be protected, it shall be registered within one year from the publication thereof in Canada, and after registration, the name of the proprietor shall appear upon the article to which his design applies by being marked, if the manufacture is a woven fabric, on one end thereof, together with the letters Rd., and if the manufacture is of any other substance, with the letters Rd., and the year of registration at the edge or upon any convenient part thereof.

The mark may be put upon the manufacture by making it on the material itself, or by attaching thereto a label with the proper marks thereon.

RIGHT OF ACTION

A proprietor of a registered design may maintain action for unwarranted use of the design and penalties are provided for improper application of design, etc.

FOREIGN APPLICATIONS

An application for the registration of an industrial design filed in this country by any person who has previously, regularly filed an application for the registration of the same industrial design in a foreign country which by treaty, convention or law affords similar privilege to citizens of Canada, shall have the same force and effect as the same application would have if filed in this country on the date on which the application for the registration of the same industrial design was first filed in such foreign country; provided the application in this country is filed within six months from the earliest date on which any such foreign application was filed.

ALTERATION

The registered proprietor of any registered industrial design may apply to the Exchequer Court of Canada for leave to add to or alter any such industrial design in any particular not being an essential particular, and the Court may refuse or grant leave on such terms as it may think fit.

FEES

Fees payable in advance are as follows:

On every application to register a design, including certificate.....	$5.00
On every application as to a design for an extension of time for each year of such extension, including certificate	2.00
For a copy of every certificate of registration separate from the return of the duplicate..	1.00
For the recording of every assignment	2.00
For copies of documents not above mentioned for every hundred words or for every fraction thereof	0.50
For each copy of any drawing and for each copy of any drawn copy of an industrial design,—the reasonable expense of preparing the same.

On every application for the renewal of the rights for an industrial design filed under Sect. 33 (2) an additional fee of.....$5.00

If an application is denied, fees will be returned less $2.00.

TIMBER MARKING ACT

Address communications to the Commissioner of Patents, Ottawa.

Every person engaged in the business of lumbering or the getting out of timber, and of the floating or rafting of the same on the inland waters of Canada, within the provinces of Ontario, Quebec and New Brunswick, shall, within one month after he engages therein, select a mark or marks, and cause such mark or marks to be registered in the manner herein provided.

The person who registers such timber mark shall thereafter have the exclusive right to use the same, to designate the timber got out by him and floated or rafted as aforesaid; and he shall put the same in a conspicuous place on each log or piece of timber so floated or rafted.

Marks may be cancelled and shall be assignable in law.

No person, other than the person who has registered the same, shall mark any timber of any description with any mark registered under the provisions of this Act, or with any part of such mark.

Penalties are provided for failing to select, register and use proper marks and for marking timber with a mark registered by another.

FEES

On every application to register a timber mark, including certificate.....	$2.00
For each certificate of registration not already provided for	0.50
For each copy of any drawing, the reasonable expenses of preparing the same.
For recording any assignment	1.00

PATENTS IN CANADA

The Patent Act, 1935, Chap. 32, 25-26 Geo. V, 1935, as amended by Chap. 23 II Geo. VI, 1947 (assented to 14th May, 1947).

A synopsis of the principal provisions of The Patent Act are given below:—

For a copy of the Act apply to the Commissioner of Patents, Ottawa, who receives all applications and has charge of all records.

As it is difficult for an applicant to properly comply with the regulations of the Patent Office unless he is conversant with the process of obtaining a patent, any person contemplating obtaining a patent is advised to consult one of the patent solicitors whose cards appear in this volume.

DEFINITION OF INVENTION

The Act defines "invention" as any new and useful art, process, machine, manufacture or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement in the same.

WHO MAY OBTAIN PATENTS

Subject to the various provisions of the Act, any inventor or legal representative of an inventor, of an invention which was:

(a) not known or used by others before he invented it, and

(b) not described in any patent or in any publication printed in Canada or in any other country more than two years before presentation of the petition, and

(c) not in public use or on sale in Canada for more than two years prior to his application in Canada may obtain a patent granting him an exclusive property in such invention.

Any inventor or legal representative of an inventor who applies in Canada for a patent for an invention for which application for patent has been made in any other country by such inventor or his legal representative before the filing of the application in Canada, shall not be entitled to obtain in Canada a patent for that invention unless his application in Canada is filed:

(a) before issue of any patent to such inventor or his legal representative for the same invention in any other country; or

(b) if a patent has issued in any other country within twelve months after the filing of the first application by such inventor or his legal representative for patent for such invention in any other country.

No patent shall issue for an invention which has an illicit object in view, or for any mere scientific principle or abstract theorem.

APPLICATIONS FOR PATENTS

An applicant for a patent shall state in his application, if resident in Canada, his address in Canada. If not so resident, the name and address of some person resident in Canada who has been appointed to represent the applicant or patentee for all purposes of the Act including the service of any proceedings taken under any provision of the Act. This representative may be changed if necessary.

Each application for a patent shall be completed and prepared for examination within twelve months after the filing of the application, and in default thereof, or upon failure of the applicant to prosecute the same within six months after any action thereon of which notice shall have been given to the applicant, such application shall be deemed to have been abandoned, but it may be reinstated within twelve months after the date on which it was deemed to have been abandoned, if the failure to prosecute the application within the time specified was not reasonably avoidable. An application so reinstated shall retain its original filing date.

TREATY OR CONVENTION RIGHTS

Section 17 (1), provides that an application for a patent filed in Canada by any person entitled to protection under the terms of any treaty or convention relating to patents to which Canada is a party who has, or whose agent or other legal representative has, previously regularly filed an application for a patent for the same invention in any other country which by treaty, convention or law affords similar privilege to citizens of Canada, shall have the same force and effect as the same application would have if filed in Canada on the date on which the application for patent for the same invention was first filed in such other country, provided the application in this country is filed within twelve months from the earliest date on which any such application was filed in such other country or from the thirteenth day of June, 1923.

No patent shall be granted on an application for a patent for an invention which had been patented or described in a patent or publication printed in Canada or any other country more than two years before the date of the actual filing of the application in Canada, or which had been in public use or on sale in Canada for more than two years prior to such filing.

JOINT APPLICATIONS

Section 32 (1), new in 1947, provides that:

(1) Where an invention is made by two or more inventors, and one of them refuses to make application for a patent or his whereabouts cannot be ascertained after diligent enquiry, the other inventor or his legal representative may make application, and a patent may be granted in the name of the inventor who makes the application, on satisfying the Commissioner that the joint inventor has refused to make application or that his whereabouts cannot be ascertained after diligent enquiry.

Where an applicant has agreed to assign a patent when granted to another person or to a joint applicant and refuses to proceed with the application; or where disputes arise between joint applicants as to proceeding with the application, the Commissioner may grant a patent to either one of the parties. Procedure is also outlined when a joint applicant retires or is added.

EXTENSION OF TIME FOR FILING

The following new section was incorporated into the Act in 1947:

28A. (1) Subject as hereinafter provided, the Commissioner shall extend to the fifteenth day of November 1947, in favour of a patentee or applicant, such of the time limits fixed by this Act for the filing or prosecution of applications for patents, for appeals from the Commissioner or for the payment of fees, as expired after the second day of September, 1939: Provided

(a) a request for such extension is made by or on behalf of such patentee not later than the fifteenth day of November 1947, or by or on behalf of such applicant for patent before the fifteenth day of May, 1948; and

(b) such request specifies the date of the first application in any country for a patent for the same invention by such applicant or patentee or any one through whom he claims; and

(c) such patentee or applicant is a Canadian citizen or a national of a country which gives substantially reciprocal privileges to Canadian citizens.

(2) Every patent in respect of which, or in respect of the application for which, a time limit has been extended under the provisions of subsection one of this section shall expire at the date specified in the grant of such patent or at the end of twenty-two years from the date of the first application in any country for a patent for the same invention by the patentee or anyone through whom he claims, whichever date is the earlier.

(3) No claim for the infringement of any patent in respect of which, or in respect of the application for which, a time limit has been extended under the provisions of subsection one of this section, shall be made against any person or the successor in business of any person who, before the coming into force of this section had, in Canada, made, constructed, used or vended to others to be used the invention protected by such patent or against any person deriving through such person or such successor his title to any article, machine, manufacture or composition of matters so protected.

COMMISSIONER MAY EXTEND TIME

An important addition to the Act, made in 1947, which extends some of the benefits which originally were covered by the Emergency Rules and Regulations of 1939, follows:

(Section 28, chapter 28, 1947).

22. (1) On request made to him not later than the date this Act comes into force, the Commissioner may, subject to such conditions, if any, as he thinks fit to impose, extend to a date not later than the said date, the time limited by or under The Patent Act, 1936, for doing any act where he is satisfied

(a) that the doing of the act within the time so limited was prevented by a person's being on active service or by any other circumstances arising from the existence of a state of war which, in the opinion of the Commissioner, justify an extension of the time so limited,

(b) that, by reason of circumstances arising from the existence of a state of war, the doing of the act within the time so limited would have been or would be injurious to the rights or interests of the person by or on whose behalf the act is or was to be done or to the public interest,

(2) An extension under subsection one of this section of the time for doing any act—

(a) may be for any period expiring not later than the date this Act comes into force, that the Commissioner thinks fit, notwithstanding that by or under any enactment in the said Act power is conferred to extend the time for doing that act for a specified period only; and

(b) may be granted notwithstanding that such time expired before any application or request for extension was made, or that, by reason of that act not having been done for the reasons set forth in subsection one of this section within that time, the relevant application has ceased or expired, or been treated as abandoned.

ASSIGNMENTS—APPLICANTS NOT INVENTORS

A patent may be granted to any person to whom an inventor has assigned or bequeathed by his last will his right to obtain it and the assignee may register such an assignment, after which the patent cannot be withdrawn without the consent of the assignee.

IMPROVEMENTS MAY BE PATENTED

Any improvement to a patented invention may be patented.

TERM OF PATENT

The term limit for the duration of patents issued by the Patent Office under this Act is 17 years from the date on which the patent is granted and issued but if the application for the patent was filed prior to the coming into force of this section of the Act, the term is 18 years from the date on which the patent is granted and issued.

REFUSAL OF PATENTS

Where a patent is refused, the applicant may any time within 6 months' appeal the decision to the Exchequer Court. (Sec. 43)

INVENTIONS BY PUBLIC SERVANTS

Section 46 deals with the restriction and regulations of the rights of an inventor if he is in the public service of Canada.

GOVERNMENT OWNED PATENTS

Sections 19a, 19b, and 19c are new in 1947, dealing with secret patents and patents relating to Atomic Energy. Section 19a (1) provides that:

19a. (1) Any officer, servant or employee of the Crown or of a corporation which is an agent or servant of the Crown, who, acting within the scope of his duties and employment as such, invents any invention in instruments or munitions of war, shall, if so required by the Minister of National Defence, assign to such minister on behalf of His Majesty all the benefits of the invention and of any patent obtained or to be obtained for the invention; and any other person who invents any such invention may so assign to such minister on behalf of His Majesty all the benefits of the invention and of any patent obtained or to be obtained for the invention.

Provision is made that an inventor, other than those mentioned in the preceding section, shall be entitled to compensation. Persons making assignments or having knowledge thereof are deemed to have information entrusted in confidence. Other provisions deal with secrecy. Subsection (15) provides that:

The Governor in Council, if satisfied that an invention relating to any instrument or munition of war, described in any specified application for patent not assigned to the Minister of National Defence, is vital to the defence of Canada and that the publication of a patent therefor should be prevented in order to preserve the safety of the State, may order that such invention and application and all the documents relating thereto shall be treated for all purposes of this section as if the invention had been assigned or agreed to be assigned to the Minister of National Defence.

INFRINGEMENT

Anyone infringing a patent shall be liable to the patentee and to all persons claiming under him for all damages sustained by the patentee or by any such person by reason of such infringement; and the Court may issue an injunction restraining the opposite party from the further use, sale, etc., of the article.

Provision is made that a person who, previous to the granting of the patent has purchased, constructed or acquired any invention shall have the right of using and selling the article, etc.

If any person has reasonable cause to believe that any process used or proposed to be used or any article made, used or sold or proposed to be made, used or sold by him might be alleged by any patentee to constitute an infringement of an exclusive property or privilege granted thereby, he may bring an action in the Exchequer Court of Canada against the patentee for a declaration that such process or article does not or would not constitute an infringement of such exclusive property or privilege.

PRIORITY OF INVENTIONS

No patent or claim in a patent shall be declared invalid or void on the ground that, before the invention therein defined was made by the inventor by whom the patent was applied for it had already been known or used by some other inventor, unless it is established either that,

(a) before the date of the application for the patent such other person had disclosed or used the invention in such manner that it had become available to the public; or that

(b) such other person had, before the issue of the patent, made an application for patent in Canada upon which conflict proceedings should have been directed; or that

(c) such other person had at any time made an application in Canada which by virtue of section twenty-seven of this Act had the same force and effect as if it had been filed in Canada before the issue of the patent and upon which conflict proceedings should properly have been directed had it been so filed.

PATENTED ARTICLE TO BE MARKED OR STAMPED

Every patentee under this Act shall, if possible, stamp or engrave on each patented article sold or offered for sale by him notice of the year of the date of the patent applying to such article, thus—Patented, 1935, or as the case may be.

When, from the nature of any patented article it cannot be so stamped or engraved the patentee shall, if possible, affix to it, or to every package wherein one or more of such articles is or are enclosed, a label marked with the like notice.

When any patented article or material is, from its nature or character, such that it cannot be so stamped or engraved and cannot, reasonably, be packaged or labelled the patentee shall, in all descriptive or advertising matter published by him and relating to such patented article or material, insert the like notice.

ABUSE OF RIGHTS UNDER PATENTS NOT WORKING A PATENTED INVENTION

The Attorney General of Canada or any person interested may at any time after the expiration of three years from the date of the grant of a patent apply to the Commissioner alleging in the case of that patent that there has been an abuse of the exclusive rights thereunder and asking for relief under this Act.

The exclusive rights under a patent shall be deemed to have been abused in any of the following circumstances:—

(a) If the patented invention (being one capable of being worked within Canada) is not being worked within Canada on a commercial scale, and no satisfactory reason can be given for such non-working;

Provided that, if an application is presented to the Commissioner on this ground, and the Commissioner is of opinion that the time which has elapsed since the grant of the patent has by reason of the nature of the invention or for any other cause been insufficient to enable the invention to be worked within Canada on a commercial scale, the Commissioner may make an order adjourning the application for such period as will in his opinion be sufficient for that purpose;

(b) If the working of the invention within Canada on a commercial scale is being prevented or hindered by the importation from abroad of the patented article by the patentee or persons claiming under him, or by persons directly or indirectly purchasing from him, or by other persons against whom the patentee is not taking or has not taken any proceedings for infringement;

(c) If the demand for the patented article in Canada, is not being met to an adequate extent and on reasonable terms;

(d) If, by reason of the refusal of the patentee to grant a licence or licences upon reasonable terms, the trade or industry of Canada or the trade of any person or class of persons trading in Canada, or the establishment of any new trade or industry in Canada, is prejudiced, and it is in the public interest that a licence or licences should be granted;

(e) If any trade or industry in Canada, or any person or class of persons engaged therein, is unfairly prejudiced by the conditions attached by the patentee, whether before or after the passing of this Act, to the purchase, hire, licence, or use of the patented article, or to the using or working of the patented process;

(f) If it is shown that the existence of the patent, being a patent for an invention relating to a process involving the use of materials not protected by the patent or for an invention relating to a substance produced by such a process, has been utilized by the patentee so as unfairly to prejudice in Canada the manufacture, use or sale of any such materials.

LICENSE WHERE INVENTION NOT BEING WORKED

If a case of abuse is established the Commissioner may order a grant to an applicant of a licence on such terms as the Commissioner may think expedient; or if he is satisfied that an invention is not being worked on a commercial scale within Canada, he may under certain circumstances order the grant of an exclusive licence to an applicant able to provide capital for the working of the patent; or he may order the patent to be revoked.

In granting an exclusive licence a royalty shall be arranged payable to the patentee.

CAVEATS

Any intending applicant for a patent who has not yet perfected his invention and is in fear of being deposited of his idea, may file in the Patent Office a document setting forth a description of his invention so far as it has proceeded, with or without plans, at his own will; and the Commissioner, on payment of the prescribed fee shall cause that document, which shall be called a "caveat," to be preserved in secrecy with the exception that he shall deliver copies thereof whenever required by the applicant or by any judicial tribunal. The secrecy of the document shall cease when the applicant obtains a patent for his invention.

If application is made by any other person for a patent for any invention with which such "caveat" may in any respect interfere the Commissioner shall forthwith give notice of such application by mail to the person who has filed such "caveat", and such person shall, within three months after the date of mailing the notice, if he wishes to avail himself of the "caveat", file his petition and take the other steps necessary on an application for a patent, and if, in the opinion of the Commissioner, the applications are conflicting, like proceedings may be had in all respects as are by this Act provided in the case of conflicting applications.

Unless the person filing a "caveat" makes application within one year from such filing the Commissioner shall be relieved from the obligation of giving notice and the "caveat" shall thereafter remain as a simple matter of proof as to novelty or priority of invention, if required.

PATENTS ISSUED OUT OF CANADA

The Commissioner shall upon the request of any person who states in writing the name of the inventor, if available, the title of the invention and the number and date of a patent said to have been granted in another country inform such person whether an application for a patent of the same invention is pending in Canada or not.

JURISDICTION OF EXCHEQUER COURT

52A. The Exchequer Court of Canada shall have jurisdiction, on the application of the Commissioner or of any person interested, to order that any entry in the records of the Patent Office relating to the title to a patent be varied or expunged.

PATENT ATTORNEYS

A register of attorneys shall be kept in the Patent Office containing the names of all attorneys entitled to represent applicants for patents.

FEES

The principal fees are as follows:—

On filing an application for patent.....	$25.00
On grant of patent, payable on pain of forfeiture within six months from the date of notice of the allowance of patent.....	$25.00
On asking reinstatement of abandoned application under section thirty-one.....	$20.00
On filing an amendment after allowance of an application for patent.....	$5.00
On lodging a caveat.....	$10.00
On petition to reissue a patent after surrender.....	$40.00
On filing an application for the restoration and revival of a patent—For each patent mentioned therein.....	$35.00
On asking for a certified typewritten or photostat copy of patent with specification, not exceeding 20 pages, exclusive of drawings.....	$4.00
On filing an application for petition under sections 40, 46, 65 or 66 of the Act—for each petition mentioned therein.....	$10.00
Other fees provided for range from 10 cents to $5.00.

FORFEITED APPLICATIONS

73 (2) A forfeited application may be restored and a patent granted thereon on application to the Commissioner within six months from the incurrance of the forfeiture, on payment with the application for restoration, in addition to the fee payable on the grant of the patent, of a further fee of twenty dollars and the restored application shall be subject to amendment and re-examination.

COPYRIGHT IN CANADA

By A. H. O'BRIEN, BARRISTER-AT-LAW, COUNSEL TO THE CANADIAN AUTHORS' ASSOCIATION.

LEGISLATION

Copyright in Canada is governed by The Copyright Act, in the Revised Statutes of Canada, 1927, as amended in 1931, 1935, 1936 and 1938. Canada's adherence to the Revised Convention of Berne became effective on January 1st, 1924. The Canadian legislation of 1924 closely resembles the British Copyright Act of 1911.

In 1931 Canada gave its adherence to the Convention of Rome, 1928.

All copyright legislation of the United Kingdom—in so far as it affected Canada—was repealed by a Canadian statute in 1921.

The following is a summary of the principal provisions of the Act, but persons interested can obtain a copy of the Act on application to the Commissioner of Patents, Copyright Office, Ottawa.

"COPYRIGHT" DEFINED

Copyright is the sole right to produce, reproduce or publish an original literary, dramatic, musical, or artistic work, or any substantial part thereof, in any material form whatsoever, or to present such work by cinematograph, or communicate such work by radio; or in the case of a lecture to deliver the work or any substantial part thereof in public; if the work is unpublished, to publish the work or any substantial part thereof; and shall include the sole right,

- (a) to produce, reproduce, perform or publish any translation of the work;
- (b) in the case of a dramatic work, to convert it into a novel or other non-dramatic work;
- (c) in the case of a novel or other non-dramatic work, or of any artistic work, to convert it into a dramatic work, by way of performance in public or otherwise;
- (d) in the case of a literary, dramatic, or musical work, to make any record, perforated roll, cinematograph film, or other contrivance by means of which the work may be mechanically performed or delivered; provided that the author has given such work an original character; and provided also that if such original character is absent the cinematographic production shall be protected as a photograph.

COMMENCEMENT OF COPYRIGHT

Copyright subsists upon production of the work. The author of the work is the first owner of the copyright. No formalities are required. Registration is not necessary, and is optional with the author. It is, however, prima facie evidence of copyright.

EXTENT OF COPYRIGHT

Copyright subsists in every published or unpublished original literary, dramatic, musical and artistic work, if the author was, at the date of the making of the work, a British subject or resident within His Majesty's Dominions, or a citizen or subject of a foreign country which has adhered to the Berne Convention; and if, in the case of a published work, the work was first published within His Majesty's Dominions or in such foreign country.

The Minister may, by notice in the Canada Gazette, extend the above privilege to other countries under certain conditions.

Copyright also subsists in records, perforated rolls, and other contrivances by means of which sounds may be mechanically reproduced, in like manner as if such contrivances were musical, literary or dramatic works.

TERM OF COPYRIGHT

The term for which copyright subsists is the life of the author and fifty years after his death, subject to certain restrictions. Provided, however, that after twenty-five years (or in the case of a copyright subsisting on June 4th, 1921, thirty years), from the author's death any person may reproduce the work upon giving notice of his intention to do so, and paying the owner of the copyright a royalty of ten per cent on the price at which he publishes the work. Photographs, records, and other contrivances are protected for fifty years from the making of the original negative or plate.

In a work of joint authorship, copyright subsists during the life of the author who dies first, and for fifty years after his death, or during the life of the author who dies last, whichever period is the longer.

Authors in any country in which the terms of protection is shorter than the above, cannot claim a longer term of protection in Canada.

UNITED STATES AGREEMENT

By a reciprocal arrangement made between Canada and the United States in 1924 a Canadian citizen became enabled to obtain full copyright protection for his work in the United States, but he must, nevertheless, comply with all the requirements of the United States Copyright Act, such as typesetting, printing and binding within the United States any book or periodical in the English language. He must also register the work at Washington and print on the work the prescribed notice of copyright.

Citizens of the United States are entitled to the full protection of the Canadian Copyright Act without registration, notice of copyright, or other formality, such as typesetting, printing or binding.

BRITISH EMPIRE AND UNION COUNTRIES

Canadian authors, artists and composers have full copyright protection in the British Empire and the countries of the Copyright Union without registration, notice of copyright or filing of copies.

LICENSES GENERALLY

A license gives the licensee the sole right to print and publish in Canada any book in which copyright subsists, and for such term, not exceeding five years, and for the number of editions, as may be fixed by the license. A license may be obtained for publishing a book in serial form.

The license clauses do not apply to "any work the author of which is a British subject, other than a Canadian citizen, or the subject or citizen of a country which has adhered to the Berne Convention". Some of the most important provisions of this section of the Act are as follows:

- (1) Any person may apply to the Minister for a license to print and publish in Canada any book wherein copyright subsists, if at any time after publication and within the duration of the copyright the owner of the copyright fails:
 - (a) to print the book or cause it to be printed in Canada;
 - (b) to supply, by means of copies so printed, the reasonable demands of the Canadian market for such book.
- (2) Such application may be in such form as may be prescribed by the regulations and shall state the proposed retail price of the edition of the book proposed to be printed.
- (3) Every applicant for a license shall, with his application, deposit with the Minister an amount not less than ten per cent of the retail selling price of one thousand copies of the book and not less than one hundred dollars, and such amount shall, if the application is unsuccessful, be returned to the applicant, less such deductions for fees as may be authorized by the regulations.
- (4) Notice of such application shall forthwith be communicated by the Minister to the owner of the copyright.
- (5) If the owner of the copyright shall not, within the time fixed by the regulations, after communication of such notice, give an undertaking, with such security as may be prescribed by the regulations, to procure within two months after the date of such communication, the printing in Canada of an edition of not less than one thousand copies of the book, the Minister in his discretion, may grant to the applicant a license to print and publish the book upon terms to be determined by the Minister after hearing the parties or affording them an opportunity to be heard.
- (6) The Minister may decide in case two or more persons apply for the same license and also upon the conditions of publication and royalty to be paid the author.

(7) The licensee must undertake to publish an edition of not less than 1000 copies, and to print the whole book without alteration or abbreviation.

COMPULSORY LICENSE

If, after the death of the author of a literary, dramatic, or musical work which has been published or performed in public, a complaint is made to the Governor in Council that the owner of the copyright in the work has refused to republish or to allow the republication of the work or has refused to allow the performance in public of the work, and that by reason of such refusal the work is withheld from the public, the owner of the copyright may be ordered to grant a license to reproduce the work or perform the work in public, as the case may be, on such terms and subject to such conditions as the Governor in Council may think fit.

SERIAL LICENSE

The Act provides for the publishing of a book in serial form and the granting of licenses for this purpose under the terms prescribed.

ASSIGNMENT OF COPYRIGHT

The owner of the copyright in any work may assign the right, either wholly or partially, and either generally or subject to territorial limitations, and either for the whole term of the copyright or for any other part thereof, and may grant any interest in the right by license, but no such assignment or grant shall be valid unless it is in writing signed by the owner of the right in respect of which the assignment or grant is made, or by his duly authorized agent.

An author has the right, even after he has assigned his copyright, to restrain any distortion, mutilation or other modification of his work which would be prejudicial to his honour or reputation.

INFRINGEMENT OF COPYRIGHT

Copyright in a work shall be deemed to be infringed by any person who, without the consent of the owner of the copyright, does anything the sole right to do which is by this Act conferred on the owner of the copyright.

The Act makes a number of exceptions from infringement.

PERFORMING RIGHTS

Among the exceptions from infringement, is the important one of performing rights.

"Performance", as defined by the Act, means any acoustic representation of a work or any visual representation of any dramatic action in a work, including a representation made by means of any mechanical instrument, or by radio communication.

No church, college, or school and no religious, charitable or fraternal organization shall be held liable to pay any compensation to the owner of any musical work or to any person claiming through him by reason of the public performance of any musical work in furtherance of a religious, educational or charitable object.

The performance without private profit of any musical work at any agricultural, agricultural-industrial exhibition or fair which receives a grant from or is held under Dominion, provincial or municipal authority, by the directors thereof, does not constitute an infringement of copyright.

Each society, association or company which carries on in Canada the business of acquiring copyrights of dramatic-musical or musical works or of performing rights therein, and which deals with or in the issue or grant of licenses for the performance in Canada of dramatic-musical or musical works in which copyright subsists, shall, from time to time, file with the Minister at the Copyright Office lists of all dramatic-musical and musical works, in current use in respect of which such society, association or company has authority to issue or grant performing licenses or to collect fees, charges or royalties for or in respect of the performance of its works in Canada.

Each such society, association or company, shall, on or before the first day of November, file with the Minister at the Copyright Office statements of all fees, charges or royalties which such society, association or company proposes during the next ensuing calendar year to collect in compensation for the issue or grant of licenses for or in respect of its performance in Canada.

After the receipt of such statements, the Minister shall publish them in the Canada Gazette and notify that any person having any objection to the statements of fees must lodge particulars in writing of his objection with the Minister at the Copyright Office on or before the day fixed in the notice.

As soon as practicable after the day fixed in said notice, the Minister shall refer the statements and objection to a Board known as the Copyright Appeal Board. Upon the conclusion of its consideration of the statements of fees filed and the objection received, the Copyright Appeal Board shall transmit the statements altered, revised or unchanged to the Minister certified as the approved statements, which will afterwards be published in the Canada Gazette.

The statements of fees as approved by the Copyright Appeal Board will be the fees charged as royalties which the society, association or company concerned may respectively lawfully sue for or collect in respect of the issue by it of licenses during the ensuing calendar year.

COPYRIGHT APPEAL BOARD

The Copyright Appeal Board consists of Mr. Justice Joseph T. Thorson (Chairman), E. H. Coleman, K.C. (Under Secretary of State), and Paul Fontaine, K.C. (of Department of Justice).

REMEDIES FOR INFRINGEMENT

Remedies for the owner of a copyright whose rights have been infringed are provided by the Act.

IMPORTATION OF COPIES

Copies made out of Canada of any work in which copyright subsists which, if made in Canada, would infringe copyright, and as to which the owner of the copyright gives notice in writing to the Department of National Revenue, that he is desirous that such copies should not be so imported into Canada, shall not be so imported.

Where the owner of a copyright has, by license or otherwise, granted the right to reproduce any book in Canada, or where a license to reproduce such book has been granted, copies of such book may not, with a certain exception, be imported into Canada.

Subject to the same exception, copies of any book in which copyright subsists may not be imported into Canada until fourteen days after publication thereof, and during such period, or any extension thereof, such copies are prohibited. Provided that if, within the said period of fourteen days, an application for a license has been made, as above provided, the Minister may, in his discretion, extend the said period, and the prohibition against importation will be continued accordingly.

Any person may import for his own use not more than two copies of any work published in any country adhering to the Berne Convention, or at any time before a work is printed or made in Canada may import copies for the use of any public library or institution of learning.

REGISTRATION

The Registrar of Copyrights, at Ottawa, keeps a book in which may be entered the names or titles of works and the names and addresses of authors, and such other particulars as may be prescribed. The registers are open to inspection to any person, who may take copies of or make extracts from such entries.

Applications for registration must be made on the prescribed forms, which it is advisable to have drawn by a lawyer.

FEES

The following fees must be paid with the application for any of the following purposes, namely:—

Registering a copyright, including a certificate of registration $3.00

Registering an assignment of copyright, in respect of each copyright assigned, including certificate of registration $1.00

Certified copies of documents or extracts, for every folio of one hundred words, 10 cents.

Application for a license, $10.00

Application for a license under Emergency Order, 1939, $10.00

The above fees are in full for all services by the Copyright Office.

THE KING AND ROYAL FAMILY

THE HOUSE OF WINDSOR

In 1917 the late King George V., by Order-in-Council, changed the name of the Royal Family from the House of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha to the House of Windsor.

THE KING.—George the Sixth, (Albert Frederick Arthur George, of Windsor) by the Grace of God, of Great Britain, Ireland and of the British Dominions beyond the Seas KING, Defender of the Faith. Succeeded to the throne December 11th, 1936; crowned at Westminster Abbey on May 12th, 1937. His Majesty is the second son of the late King George V and Queen Mary, was born at York Cottage, Sandringham, on December 14th, 1895, married, April 26, 1923, Lady Elizabeth Bowes-Lyon, daughter of the Earl and Countess of Strathmore. As Heir Presumptive succeeded to the Throne on the abdication of Edward VIII.

THE QUEEN.—Elizabeth, born August 4th, 1900; daughter of the 14th Earl of Strathmore; married, April 26th, 1923.

THE CHILDREN of King George VI and Queen Elizabeth are:

Princess Elizabeth Alexandra Mary, born April 21st, 1926, heiress presumptive, who came of age in 1944; married to Lieutenant Philip Mountbatten, R.N. in Westminster Abbey, 20th November 1947.

Princess Margaret Rose, born August 21st, 1930

THE LATE GEORGE V.—George V. succeeded to the Throne May 6th, 1910, and was crowned at Westminster Abbey, June 22nd, 1911. Second son of King Edward VII and Queen Alexandra, the elder son, Prince Albert Victor, Duke of Clarence, having died in January, 1892. George V was born June 3rd, 1865. He married on July 6th, 1893 his second cousin, Princess Victoria Mary Augusta Louise Olga Pauline Claudine Agnes of Teck. The Silver Jubilee of the Accession of King George V was commemorated on 6th May, 1935. The Thanksgiving Service was held in St. Paul's Cathedral. George V died, after a short illness, at Sandringham, Norfolk, on 20th January, 1936.

QUEEN MOTHER.—Mary, mother of the reigning Sovereign, only daughter of the late Duke of Teck, was born at Kensington Palace, London, on May 26th, 1867, and was married at Windsor to his late Majesty George V. then Duke of York, on July 6th, 1893.

THE ISSUE of the late King George V and Queen Mary are:

The reigning Sovereign, George VI (second son).

The Duke of Windsor (eldest son) born June 23rd, 1894; received investiture as Prince of Wales, July, 1911; succeeded to the throne as Edward VIII on Jan. 20th, 1936; abdicated Dec. 11th, 1936; created Duke of Windsor, 1936; married Mrs. Wallis Warfield (who became Duchess of Windsor by marriage) at Monte Carlo, June 3rd, 1937; Governor of the Bahama Islands from August 18, 1940 to March, 1945.

Princess Victoria Alexandra Alice Mary, Countess of Harewood, born April 25th, 1897, married Feb. 28th, 1922, to Viscount Lascelles, who became Earl of Harewood and who died May 24, 1947; created Princess Royal, 1932; has two sons, George Henry Hubert, born February 7th, 1923, who became Earl of Harewood May 24, 1947; Hon. Gerald David Lascelles, born August 22nd, 1924, Lieut. Rifle Brigade.

Prince Henry William, Duke of Gloucester, born March 31st, 1900, married Lady Alice Montagu-Douglas-Scott, daughter of the Duke of Buccleugh 6th November, 1935; issue: Prince William Henry Andrew Frederick, born December 18th, 1941; Prince Richard Alexander Walter George, born August 26th, 1944.

Prince George Edward, Duke of Kent, born December 20th, 1902, died August 26th, 1942. He married Princess Marina of Greece and Denmark November 29th, 1934. Issue: two sons, Prince Edward George Nicholas Paul Patrick, born 9th October, 1935, who became Duke of Kent upon his father's death; Prince Michael George Charles Franklin born July 4, 1942, and one daughter, Princess Alexandra Helen, born December 25th, 1936.

Prince John Francis Charles, born July 12th, 1905, died January 18th, 1919.

SUCCESSION.—The order stands (1947):

- The Princess Elizabeth.
- The Princess Margaret.
- The Duke of Gloucester.
- Prince William of Gloucester.
- Prince Richard of Gloucester.
- The Duke of Kent.
- The Prince Michael of Kent.
- The Princess Alexandra Helen of Kent.
- The Princess Royal and her children.

HIS MAJESTY'S HOUSEHOLD

Lord Chamberlain—Rt. Hon. Earl of Clarndon, (£2,000).

Lord Steward of the Household—Group Captain Rt. Hon. The Duke of Hamilton and Brandon (£2,000).

Keeper of the Privy Purse and Treasurer—Sir Ulrick Alexander.

Comptroller of the Household—Mr. Frank Collindridge, M.P. (£904).

Vice-Chamberlain of the Household—Mr. Michael Stewart, M.P. (£904).

Private Secretary to the King—Rt. Hon. Sir Alan Lascelles, G.C.V.O., K.C.B., C.M.G.

Master of the Horse—Rt. Hon. The Duke of Beaufort, K.C., (£2,500).

The Lord Chamberlain's Department has the general supervision of the Royal Household "above stairs," and also various duties toward the Sovereign and the Court. It is through the Lord Chamberlain that presentations at Court are arranged. In cities where there are royal palaces, he acts as the licenser of theatres. The Examiner of Plays is in the Department of the Lord Chamberlain. His sanction is necessary for the production of a play in any theatre in England at which a charge for admission is made.

THE KING'S CIVIL LIST

Immediately after the accession of His late Majesty, George V., there was passed in the Parliamentary session of 1910 the Civil List Act, an Act by which the charges on the consolidated fund for the maintenance of the King and his family are determined.

Until George III. came to the throne in 1760, the income of the sovereign was derived chiefly from Crown lands, from a variety of landed property in England and Wales, Scotland and Ireland, in which the sovereign had a life-interest, and from which he received the rents. In the feudal ages these lands constituted a princely patrimony. In later times this Crown property was greatly reduced by lavish grants to royal favorites. At the Restoration the income from Crown lands was ascertained by a committee of the House of Commons to amount to £217,900 a year, in addition to £4,000 from the Forest of Dean. By the time Charles II. had been on the throne three years he had by his lavish bestowal of the lands on favorites reduced the income to £100,000. William III., by his grants to favorites who had accompanied him from Holland, made further havoc with the Crown domains; so much so that at the accession of Queen Anne, Parliament endeavored to save the remnant by an Act (1 Anne, c. 8) which prohibited alienation of Crown lands, and enacted stringent provisions in regard to the length of the term for which they might be leased and the rents reserved.

Since then, and especially since the accession of the late King Edward VII., the income from the Crown Lands has very greatly increased, until in 1935 the total receipts by the Commissioners were nearly two million pounds, leaving, after all expenses and taxes were paid, a sum of £1,320,000 to turn over to the Exchequer.

Queen Anne, George I. and George II. derived the larger part of their income from their life-interest in the Crown property, but when George III. came to the throne he surrendered his life-interest in the Crown lands. It was turned over to the nation in return for a fixed Civil List of £800,000, subsequently increased to £900,000. George IV., William IV., Queen Victoria and Edward VII., on their accessions, surrendered their life interest in the Crown lands in return for a Civil List. The same course was taken by George V. when he came to the throne.

In 1910 the King's Civil List was fixed at the yearly sum of £470,000, which was the same amount as that granted to King Edward VII.

By Acts of Parliament (1 Edw. VIII. and 1 Geo. VI. c. 32) the Civil List was revised. By the Civil List Act of 1937, the civil list was fixed at £410,000. The charges made under these Statutes as shown in the Finance Accounts 1946-47 are as follows:

H. M. Privy Purse	£20,819
Salaries of H. M. Household and retired allowances.....	134,000
Expenses of H. M. Household	152,800
Royal Bounty, alms and special services.....	£13,200
	£320,819

In addition to the Civil List as above, provision is made for other members of the Royal Family as follows:—

The Queen Mother Mary, an annuity of £70,000.

Younger sons of their Majesties, upon attaining the age of 21, £10,000 each, increasing upon marriage to £25,000 each.

Daughters of their Majesties, other than the Princess Elizabeth, upon attaining the age of 21 or upon marriage, £6,000 each.

The Duke of Gloucester received an extra £10,000 during the minority of the Princess Elizabeth.

Princess Elizabeth, has received an annuity of £15,000 since the age of 21, which may be increased after her marriage. The Princess Royal £6,000.

From the above should be deducted the net revenues of the Duchy of Cornwall which are applied against the Civil List. These revenues are estimated to amount to about £108,000 annually.

The revenue of the estates of the Duchy of Lancaster (which have been attached to the Crown since 1319), for the year ended December 21, 1944, was £195,400. £85,000 was paid over to the Keeper of His Majesty's Privy Purse.

THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT

The House of Commons as now constituted has 640 members. A redistribution of seats in 1945 increased the Membership from 615. The Irish representation is 13 (all from Northern Ireland). Eire, (Ireland), which embraces the three Southern Provinces, sends no members to the British House of Commons.

The maximum duration of Parliament in peace is five years. Members receive salaries of £1,000 per annum and travelling facilities over the railways.

The House of Lords in October, 1947 had 818 members who had taken their seats. Eighteen peerages were held by women, whom the House of Lords has so far excluded from membership. The composition of the House of Lords is as follows:—Peers of royal blood, 3; Archbishops, 2; Dukes, 20; Marquesses, 27; Earls, 133; Viscounts, 94; Bishops, 24; Barons, 517; Scottish representative peers, 16; Irish representative peers, 8; total—844, including 26 minors who had not taken their seats.

No title attaches to office in Cabinet or Administration. The title Right Honourable is given to all Privy Councillors. These are appointed for life, and every member of the Cabinet, who is not already of the Privy Council, is made a Privy Councillor.

The 37th Parliament, which was elected at a General Election on November 14th, 1935, was dissolved on June 15th, 1945. It had been extended by annual legislation after the statutory five-year term.

The Coalition ("National") Government, which was formed May 10th, 1940, resigned on May 23rd, 1945. On the same day, Mr. Winston Churchill was re-appointed Prime Minister by the King. Mr. Churchill formed an interim Government to carry on until the General Election to elect the 38th Parliament, which was held on July 5th, 1945.

The standing of the parties at the dissolution of the 37th Parliament was: Conservatives and Unionists 358, Labour 165, Independent 25, Liberal 23, Liberal National 19, Socialist, Independents, etc. 20, Vacant 5.

The 38th Parliament, elected at the General Election, July 5th, 1945 was increased by the redistribution to 640 seats, comprised as follows: England 517, Wales and Monmouth 36, Scotland 74, N. Ireland 13.

The standing of the parties November 1947 was: Labour 395, Unionists 190, Liberal National 13, Independent 9, Liberals 9, Ulster Unionists 10, Irish Nationalists 2, Nationals 2, Independent Labour Party 2, Independent Liberals 3, Communist 2, Independent Unionist 1, Independent Labour 1, Vacant 1.

For officers of the House of Commons, see page 260.

THE OFFICE OF PRIME MINISTER

10, Downing Street, Whitehall, S.W.

Prime Minister..... Rt. Hon. C. R. Attlee

Until comparatively recent times the office of Prime Minister was not recognised officially. It had developed as a consequence of the establishment of responsible government under a party leader, but the Prime Minister, as such, had no official rank and no precedence. It was not until 1905 that the Prime Minister was given precedence, by Royal Warrant, next after the Archbishop of York and over every member of the Government except the Lord Chancellor. There was no salary attached to the office of Prime Minister until the passing of the Ministers of the Crown Act in 1937, and the holder usually combined with it some other appointment, such as First Lord of the Treasury, which carried a salary.

THE TREASURY

Great George Street, S.W.1.

Prime Minister and First Lord of the Treasury,Chancellor of the Exchequer, Rt. Hon. Clement Attlee, C.H., M.P.

Rt. Hon. Sir Stafford Cripps, K.C., M.P.

Parliamentary Secretary, Rt. Hon. W. Whiteley, M.P.Financial Secretary to the Treasury,

Rt. Hon. W. G. Hall, M.P.

Permanent Secretary,

Sir Edward Bridges, G.C.B., G.C.V.O., M.C.

Junior Lords of the Treasury—R. J. Taylor, M.P.,

J. W. Snow, M.P., J. Henderson, M.P., C. J.

Simmons, M.P., W. Hannan, M.P.

The Treasury is the Department which deals with all matters of public finance, home and overseas; gives sanction for expenditure by the spending departments, civil and military, and is responsible for personnel questions throughout the Civil Service. The Treasury presents the estimate of all the Civil Departments to Parliament, but, after presentation, the responsibility for defending them in Parliament rests with the Parliamentary heads of the Departments. The political control of the Treasury is nominally in the hands of a Board of Lords Commissioners, the Prime Minister being almost invariably First Lord; but in practice the responsible minister is the Chancellor of the Exchequer, who is assisted in the House of Commons by the Financial Secretary. The Parliamentary Secretary to the Treasury is the official title of the Government Chief Whip in the House of Commons and the Junior Lords of the Treasury are the Junior Whips.

THE HOME DEPARTMENT

Whitehall, S.W.1

Secretary of State for Home Affairs,

Rt. Hon. J. Chuter Ede, M.P.

Permanent Under-Secretary of State,

K. G. Younger, M.P.

Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State,

G. H. Oliver, M.P.

The Home Office has the control of the London police force, and also the oversight of the police forces in the counties and municipal boroughs; and, generally speaking, the Department is responsible for the internal peace of the country. Prisons, convict establishments, criminal lunatic asylums, executions, aliens, and all matters connected with the post-judicial execution of the criminal law, come within the purview of the Home Office.

THE FOREIGN OFFICE

Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs,

The Right Hon. Ernest Bevin, M.P.

Minister of State,

The Right Honourable Hector McNeil, M.P.

Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster,

Lord Pakenham

Sir Orme Sargent, K.C.B., K.C.M.G.,

and Sir Gilmour Jenkins, K.B.E., C.B., M.C.

Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State,

Major C. P. Mayhew, M.P.

The Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs is the Minister of the Crown responsible, subject always to the collective responsibility of the Cabinet, for the conduct of the foreign relations of the United Kingdom Government. He receives reports from, and issues instructions to, Foreign Service representatives abroad, and corresponds with foreign diplomatic representatives at the Court of St. James. He is the channel of communication between other government departments and private individuals in this country and foreign governments, and has, in addition, a number of duties of a formal nature. He is assisted both in Parliament and in administration by the Minister of State and the Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State.

THE COMMONWEALTH RELATIONS OFFICE

Downing Street, London, S.W.1.

In July, 1925, a Secretaryship of State for Dominion Affairs was created, and as a result the Dominions Office was set up, to take over from the Colonial Office, business connected with the self-governing Dominions including the Irish Free State (now Eire), the self-governing Colony of Southern Rhodesia, the South African High Commission Territories (Basutoland, Bechuanaland Protectorate and Swaziland), and business relating to Newfoundland. One Minister combined the duties of the new post with those of Secretary of State for the Colonies until the 13th June, 1930, when Dominion Affairs became the entire charge of a principal Secretary of State.

In July, 1947, the titles of the Secretary of State for Dominion Affairs and the Dominions Office were altered to the Secretary of State for Commonwealth Relations and the Commonwealth Relations Office respectively.

COMMONWEALTH RELATIONS OFFICE

DIVISION B

(FORMERLY INDIA OFFICE)

King Charles Street, Whitehall, S.W.1.

Minister of State,Permanent Under-Secretary of State,

Sir A. Carter, K.C.B., K.C.I.E.

The former India Office dates from 1858, when an Act of Parliament was passed which directed that all the powers and duties hitherto exercised by the old East India Company, or the old Board of Control, should in future be exercised and performed by one of His Majesty's principal Secretaries of State. Under the Government of India Acts of 1913, 1916 and 1919, the Secretary of State for India was assisted by a Council. Under the Government of India Act, 1935, the Secretary of State for India was assisted by a body of Advisers, numbering not less than 5 nor more than 12 (half of whom must have held office for at least 10 years under the Crown in India) whose concurrence must be sought in orders relating to certain matters specified in the Act. Pending the establishment of a Federation the Governor General of India was subject, under the provisions of the Act to the general control of the Secretary of State, but there was a wide range of matters in which the Secretary of State would not ordinarily interfere with the discretion of the Government of India. Indian Government business in England was transacted at the India Office and at the Office of the High Commissioner for India. As a result of the Indian Independence Act India became two Dominions on 15th August 1947, the Dominion of India and the Dominion of Pakistan, and the India Office ceased to exist.

The Secretary of State for India was also the Secretary of State for Burma (see Burma Office).

Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State,

Major A. Henderson, K.C., M.P.

As a consequence of the separation of Burma from India on April 1st, 1937, the Office of the Secretary of State for Burma was established from that date as a distinct Government Department and is accommodated in the same building as the former India Office.

THE COLONIES

Downing Street, London, S.W.1.

The Colonial Office dates back to 1660, when a Committee of the Privy Council was appointed for "The Plantations", as the Colonies were then called. A Secretary of State was first appointed in 1768, but when the United States secured their independence in 1783 the office of Colonial Secretary was abolished and colonial affairs were managed from the Home Office. The War Department assumed responsibility for the Colonies from 1794 until the post of Secretary of State was revived in 1854. In 1907, a new department of the Colonial Office was set up to administer the affairs of the Dominions and the self-governing Colonies.

A separate Dominions Office was established in 1925, which became in 1947 the Commonwealth Relations office.

Sir J. H. Barnes, K.B.E.

At the close of the 1914-18 war, the office of Secretary of State for Air was pooled with the portfolio of Secretary of State for War until in 1921, a Secretary of State for Air, without other political office, was again appointed. In 1923 the Secretary of State was included in that and successive Cabinets, until the end of 1946 when the Minister of Defence was appointed.

The Air Ministry, like the Admiralty and the War Office, remains a separate department, though the Ministry of Defence is responsible for recommending to the Government the allocation of defence resources and for certain central functions in the field of administration.

THE ADMIRALTY

Whitehall, S.W.1.

First Lord of the Admiralty. Rt. Hon. Viscount Hall

First Sea Lord and Chief of Naval Staff,

Admiral Sir John H. D. Cunningham, G.C.B., M.V.O.

Second Sea Lord and Chief of Naval Personnel,

Admiral Sir Arthur J. Power, G.B.E., K.C.B., C.V.O.

Third Sea Lord and Controller of the Navy,

Rear Admiral C. S. Daniel, C.B., C.B.E., D.S.O.

Fourth Sea Lord and Chief of Supplies and Transport,

Vice-Admiral Sir Douglas B. Fisher, K.C.B.,

K.B.E.

Fifth Sea Lord and Deputy Chief of Naval Staff (Air.),

Vice-Admiral Sir Phillip L. Vian, K.C.B., K.B.E.,

D.S.O.

Vice-Chief of Naval Staff,

Vice-Admiral Sir Rhoderick McGrigor, K.C.B.,

D.S.O.

Assistant Chief of Naval Staff,

Rear Admiral G. N. Oliver, C.B., D.S.C.

Civil Lord. W. J. Edwards, M.P.

Parliamentary and Financial Secretary,

J. Dugdale, M.P.

Permanent Secretary. Sir John G. Lang, K.C.B.

The Admiralty, which has charge of the Royal Navy, is administered by Lords Commissioners who form the Board of Admiralty. The Head of the Department, who is always of Cabinet rank, is known as the First Lord of the Admiralty. The other Lords Commissioners supervise the work of the departments into which the Admiralty is divided. The two civil members of the Board (apart from the First Lord and the Permanent Secretary, who is a Civil Servant) are Members of Parliament but not in the Cabinet. On occasion either one or both of these civil members may be in the House of Lords.

MINISTRY OF DEFENCE

Minister of Defence,

Rt. Hon. A. V. Alexander, C.H., M.P.

This Ministry was established in 1947 to co-ordinate the three service departments under one Minister. The Minister of Defence is in the Cabinet. The three service Ministers continue to be responsible to Parliament for the administration of their branches in accordance with the general policy of the Cabinet.

THE MINISTRY OF EDUCATION

Belgrave Square, London, S.W.1.

Minister. . . . The Rt. Hon. George Tomlinson, M.P.

Parliamentary Secretary. . . . D. R. Hardman, M.P.

Permanent Secretary. Sir John Maud, K.C.B., C.B.E.

The Education Department exercises supervision over the various departments of state-aided education, and distributes the grants for education annually made by Parliament. These grants date from 1833 and in 1839 the Committee of Council for Education was established. The Vice-President was always of the House of Commons, and he was practically the Minister of Education. On the 1st of April, 1900, the Committee of Council for Education came to an end and its powers were transferred to the Board of Education, which consisted of a President, (the Lord President of the Council unless he was appointed President of the Board) the principal Secretaries of State (the Secretaries for Foreign Affairs, for Colonial Affairs, for the Home Office, for War, and for India), the First Commissioner of the Treasury, and the Chancellor of the Exchequer. Under the Education Act of 1918, the approval of the Board of Education was necessary for all schemes for the development and organization of elementary and secondary education for children under 18, drawn up by the local authorities—the County and County-borough councils—which had charge of this work. In 1944 a new Education Act was passed by Parliament. This measure, regarded as one of the most outstanding in recent British legislation, framed the complete reconstruction of the public system of education in England and Wales. The Act provided for a Ministry of Education—the first in the history of Great Britain—with effective responsibility to secure the progressive development of a national policy in education.

THE MINISTRY OF HEALTH
Whitehall, S.W.1.

Minister of Health... Rt. Hon. Aneurin Bevan, M.P.
Secretary..... Sir William Douglas, K.C.B., K.B.E.
Parliamentary Secretary,

L. J. Edwards, O.B.E., M.P.

The Ministry of Health came into existence on July 1st, 1919. It then took over the functions of the Local Government Board in connection with the administration of the Poor Law and of the laws affecting local government, with enlarged powers as regards public health. It also took over from the National Health Insurance Commissioners the administration of the National Insurance Acts.

Recent legislation has involved the transfer of National Health Insurance to a newly formed Ministry of National Insurance (q.v.)

THE BOARD OF TRADE
Millbank, London, S.W.1.

President of the Board of Trade—Rt. Hon. J. H. Wilson, O.B.E., M.P.

Parliamentary Secretary, J. W. Belcher, M.P.

Secretary for Overseas Trade—A. G. Bottomley, O.B.E.

Permanent Secretary—Sir John Woods.

The Board of Trade is in charge of the administration of the laws relating to limited liability companies, and bankruptcy.

THE POST OFFICE
St. Martin's le Grand, London, E.C.1.

Postmaster General,

The Rt. Hon. Wilfred Paling, M.P.
Assistant Postmaster General... C. R. Hobson, M.P.

The British Post Office administers and operates the inland postal, telegraph and telephone services of the United Kingdom as well as the overseas postal and telephone (including radio telephone) services. It also administers the overseas telegraph services but its operation of these services is confined to those with the European continent and to wireless communication with ships at sea. The remittance of money is also undertaken by means of money orders (postal and telegraph), postal orders and the cash-on-delivery system. The maintenance of the Post Office Savings Bank and the Post Office Register of Government Stocks and the issue, registration and repayment of National Savings Certificates are among the Government agency services undertaken. Other agency services include payment of pensions, allowances and postal drafts issued by various Government Departments, the sale of State insurance and revenue stamps and the sale and issue of licences. The approximate surplus over expenditure in 1944-45 was £40,000,000.

THE MINISTRY OF AGRICULTURE AND FISHERIES
55, Whitehall, S.W.1.

Minister..... Rt. Hon. Tom Williams, M.P.
Permanent Secretary,

Sir Donald Vandepier, K.C.B., K.B.E.
Parliamentary Secretaries,

The Earl of Huntingdon, G. A. Brown, M.P.

The Board of Agriculture was established by Act of Parliament in 1889 for the purpose of bringing under the jurisdiction of one Government Department the administrative work arising under the various Statutes then in force relating to agriculture and to land generally.

The Board was constituted a Ministry pursuant to the Ministry of Agriculture and Fisheries Act, 1919, and the first Minister was appointed on 9th January, 1920.

The functions of the Ministry have subsequently been further extended, and during the war it became responsible for the administration of the Government's food production campaign. Under the Agriculture (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act, 1944, the National Agricultural Advisory Service was established as from 1st October, 1946, to give free technical advice to farmers and growers on all agricultural matters. Other measures have recently been passed to assist in rehabilitation of the herring and inshore fisheries, and to promote a stable and efficient agricultural industry.

THE MINISTRY OF PENSIONS
18 Great Smith Street, London, S.W.1.

Minister..... Geo. Buchanan, M.P.
Parliamentary Secretary..... A. Blenkinsop, M.P.
Permanent Secretary,

Sir Harold Parker, K.B.E., C.B., M.C.

Canadian Office,
Journal Buildings, 233-237 Queen Street, Ottawa

Ministry Representative..... G. H. Bowler, O.B.E.
This department was created during the World War I. It administers the Acts granting pensions to Members of H.M. Forces disabled in the 1914-1918 and 1939-1945 Wars and Civilians in the latter and to the dependents of those killed.

THE MINISTRY OF LABOUR AND NATIONAL SERVICE
St. James's Square, London, S.W.

Minister..... Rt. Hon. G. A. Isaacs, M.P.
Parliamentary Secretary,

Rt. Hon. Ness Edwards, M.P.
Secretary..... Sir Godfrey H. Ince, K.C.B., K.B.E.

This Ministry was created in 1916 to take over the Labour Exchanges set up in 1910. It played a prominent part in the allocation of labour to war production during World War I. Later it developed as a department for the administration of many social measures, including the training of adults and juveniles, conciliation in industrial disputes and the promotion of welfare activities. During World War II it was responsible for the mobilisation of the nation for the war effort. It is now responsible for demobilisation and the labour problems of reconversion and resettlement, as well as for factory inspection and welfare.

THE MINISTRY OF TRANSPORT
Berkeley Square House, W.1.

Minister..... Rt. Hon. Alfred Barnes, M.P.
Secretary to Ministry..... Sir Gilmour Jenkins,

K.B.E., C.B., M.C.
Parliamentary Secretary..... J. A. Callaghan, M.P.

The Ministry of Transport was established under the provisions of the Ministry of Transport Act, 1919, for the purpose of improving the means of, and facilities for, locomotion and transport. The Act transferred to the Ministry the powers and duties formerly exercised by other Government Departments in relation to (a) railways; (b) light railways; (c) tramways; (d) canals, waterways and inland navigations; (e) roads, bridges and ferries, and vehicles and traffic thereon; (f) harbours, docks and piers. In order to secure further co-ordination in the recent war it was decided to merge the Ministry of Shipping and the Ministry of Transport, and this was made effective on May 9, 1941, when the Ministry of War Transport was created.

As from 1st April, 1946 Ministry of Transport became the title of the combined Ministries, and it now has the responsibility for carrying out the government's policy in shipping matters, the administration of the merchant shipping acts and H.M. Coastguard Service.

The control of United Kingdom merchant shipping, transports and passenger vessels which was a Naval responsibility during the 1939-45 War, has now been transferred to this Ministry.

TRANSPORT COMMISSION

In August 1947, the British Transport Commission was formed to assist the government in the co-ordination of the nationalized systems of transport. Chairman, Sir Cyril Hurcombe, K.C.B., K.B.E.; Commissioners, Lord Ashfield, Mr. John Benstead, Lord Rusholme and Sir Wm. Wood; Chief Secretary and Legal Adviser, Mr. Miles Beever.

MINISTRY OF SUPPLY

Shell Mex House, Strand, W.C. and Adelphi, John Adam Street, London, W.C. 2

Minister..... Rt. Hon. G. R. Strauss, M.P.
Joint Parliamentary Secretaries,
John Freeman, M.B.E., M.P., John H. Jones, M.P.

Permanent Secretary,

Sir Archibald Rowlands, G.C.B., M.B.E.
2nd Secretary Sir George Turner, K.B.E., C.B.
Chief Information Officer . . R. B. Williams-Thompson Established August, 1945, (incorporated with the Ministry of Aircraft Production.)

This Ministry is responsible for the furnishing of supplies and the carrying on of research for the Fighting Services; for the supply of aircraft and accessories for the Ministry of Civil Aviation; and for the supply of stores used by the Government for which concentration of purchasing agreements is deemed advantageous. It also has the primary responsibility in the Engineering Industry, the Metal Industries, and has among its other functions the research and development of Atomic Energy.

MINISTRY OF FOOD

Montagu House, London, S.W.1

Minister Rt. Hon. John Strachey, M.P.

Parliamentary Secretary,
 Dr. Edith Summerskill, M.P.

Secretary,
 Sir Percivale Liesching, K.C.B., K.C.M.G.

The Ministry, established Sept. 8th., 1939, has two principal functions: to secure the necessary supplies of food and animal feeding stuffs, and to ensure that these supplies are distributed according to the requirements of the situation as determined by His Majesty's Government. The Ministry makes bulk purchases overseas, and co-operates with the Agricultural Departments in fixing prices and taking other necessary means to control and encourage home production of food. To ensure the appropriate distribution of food the Ministry has taken over bulk stocks of food and animal feeding stuffs (with certain exceptions); allocates quantities for distribution according to the supply position; determines prices at various stages of distribution; has established rationing systems for particular foods or groups of food; and makes provision for the priority needs of special classes of consumers.

THE MINISTRY OF FUEL AND POWER
7 Millbank S.W.1

Minister . . . Rt. Hon. Hugh T. N. Gaiskell, C.B.E.
Parliamentary Secretary Alfred Robens, M.P.
Secretary Sir Donald Fergusson, K.C.B.

During 1942 changes were made in the Ministry of Supply involving the creation of separate Ministries for Fuel and Power and for Production, under war conditions. It deals with policy considerations affecting the coal, oil, gas and electricity supply industries and is responsible for the general administration of the statutes dealing with those industries. While the need for regulation of supplies continues, the Ministry controls the distribution of solid fuels and operates the petrol rationing scheme in relation to privately owned vehicles and industrial plants.

MINISTRY OF WORKS

Lambeth Bridge House, S.E.1.

Minister Rt. Hon. C. W. Key, M.P.
Permanent Secretary H. C. Emmerson, C.B.
Parliamentary Secretary E. F. M. Durbin, M.P.

In October 1940 this Ministry was established to be responsible for erecting all new civil works and buildings required by any other Government department and to be responsible for licensing private building and deciding the priority of proposals for restoring buildings damaged by air raids. The post-war work of the Department is largely concerned with the co-ordinating of building re-construction, providing and maintaining buildings used in the public services, managing the Royal parks, caring for historic buildings and monuments, etc.

MINISTRY OF TOWN AND COUNTRY PLANNING

32 St. James's Square, S.W. 1.

This ministry was set up in 1943 to specialize in post-war planning problems, to co-ordinate the various schemes of urban and rural development, and to secure consistency and continuity in the framing and execution of a national policy with respect to the use and development of land throughout England and Wales.

Minister Rt. Hon. L. Silkin, M.P.
Permanent Secretary,
 Sir Thomas Sheepshanks, K.B.E., C.B.
Parliamentary Secretary E. M. King, M.P.

MINISTRY FOR CIVIL AVIATION
Ariel House, Strand, W.C. 2.

Minister Rt. Hon. Lord Nathan, M.P.
Director General of Technical Services,
 Air Vice Marshal, A. C. Collier, C.B., C.B.E.

Parliamentary Secretary . . . G. S. Lindgren, Esq., M.P.
 This Ministry, created October 5, 1944, is responsible for the administration of the Government's policy in connection with post-war civil aviation. Formerly, this work was divided among several Departments.

MINISTRY OF NATIONAL INSURANCE

6 Carlton House Terrace, London, S.W. 1.

Minister Rt. Hon. James Griffiths, M.P.
Permanent Secretary,

Sir T. W. Phillips, G.B.E., K.C.B.
Parliamentary Secretary Thos. Steele, M.P.

This Ministry was set up in November, 1944 and took over from other Departments, with effect from 1st April, 1945, the administration of the existing schemes of National Health Insurance, Contributory Pensions, Unemployment Insurance and Workmen's Compensation.

The Ministry introduced the new scheme of family allowances in August, 1946. After the National Insurance (Industrial Injuries) Act and National Insurance Act became law in July and August, 1946, the Ministry was engaged in the arrangements for bringing the two schemes into full operation on 5th July, 1948.

ASSISTANCE BOARD

IMPERIAL AND COMMONWEALTH CONFERENCES

General Secretary in London to the Imperial Conference: Sir Edward E. Bridges, K.C.B., M.C., Offices of the Cabinet, Whitehall, London, S.W.1.

The "Imperial Conference" was constituted under the terms of a resolution of the "Colonial Conference," 20th April, 1907.

Prior to the Conference of 1907 there were four Colonial Conferences (three in London and one in Ottawa) in the years 1887, 1894, 1897 and 1902.

Imperial Conferences were held in: 1911, 1918, (Imperial War Conference) 1921, 1923, 1926, 1930, 1932 (Imperial Economic Conference, Ottawa) and 1937.

The Imperial Conference of 1937, held in London, discussed: (1) Foreign Affairs; (2) Defence; (3) General review of the progress of Empire Trade; (4) Colonial Affairs. No 'Imperial' Conference, as such, has been held since.

On 1st November, 1939, the first of a series of informal War Conferences was held in London, attended by the British Prime Minister with Ministers of the War Cabinet and Dominion Ministers.

On October 11, 12 and 13, 1943, a conference of representatives of Britain, the Dominions and India met to form recommendations to be made to their Governments respecting post-war civil aviation. Lord Beaverbrook presided. The Canadian delegates were Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, Hon. C. D. Howe and H. J. Symington, president of Trans-Canada Air Lines.

On May 1, 1944, a meeting of Dominion Premiers was opened in London for consultation on war problems and post-war plans. At this Conference, representing the Governments of the United Kingdom, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, India and Southern Rhodesia, questions of policy covering a wide range of subjects were frankly and fully discussed.

In 1945, prior to the meeting of the United Nations at San Francisco, a British Commonwealth Conference was held in London, from April 5-14, 1945. This Conference was attended by delegates from the Dominions and other countries of the British Commonwealth and Empire.

In 1946 a Conference of Dominion Prime Ministers was held in London in May-June which was attended by the Prime Minister of Canada (Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King). Among subjects discussed were Empire co-operation in research and development connected with new scientific weapons and general strategic co-ordination of national defence.

During the Sessions of the Peace Conference in Paris, which opened on 29th July, the Canadian Premier with other Dominion leaders met the British Foreign Secretary of State at an informal gathering to discuss problems of the Conference in general and aspects of the five draft peace treaties of special interest to the Dominions.

Other Commonwealth Conferences during 1946 in which Canadian delegates participated were the Empire Scientific Conference arranged by the Royal Society, followed by the Commonwealth Scientific Official Conference, both held in London, June-July; Imperial Agricultural Bureau Conference (London, July); Commonwealth Conference on Air Worthiness and Civil Aircraft Operation (London, July).

Preliminary Commonwealth Talks prior to Meeting of the Preparatory Committee for the International Conference on Trade and Employment, were held in London (October-November).

No Imperial Conference was held during 1947 but Canadian delegates attended numerous international conferences in various capitals on world affairs.

Empire Conferences in 1947 in which Canada participated included a conference of representatives from British Commonwealth countries to discuss citizenship, (February); the British Commonwealth Forestry Conference (London, June); Commonwealth and Empire Health and Tuberculosis Conference (London, July); and a Conference of Empire Survey Officers (London, August).

JUDICIAL COMMITTEE OF THE PRIVY COUNCIL

Office—Great George Street, London, S.W.1.

Lord President—Rt. Hon. H. S. Morrison, M.P.

Clerk of the Privy Council: Sir E. C. E. Leadbitter, C.V.O. Registrar: J. B. Waters, C.B., D.S.O.

The Judicial Committee of the Privy Council is the supreme Judicial Authority of the Empire, before which, subject to some qualifications, appeals may be brought (in the form of a petition to the Crown) from the Courts of India, the Crown colonies, and of every British Dominion except Eire. It consists of The Rt. Hon. The Lord Chancellor; Rt. Hon. The Lord President; Rt. Hon. The Ex-Lords President; The Lords of Appeal in Ordinary; Rt. Hon. Viscount Sankey, G.B.E.; Rt. Hon. MR. A. BEVERLEY BAXTER. Unionist member for Wood Green (Middlesex); born in Toronto 1891; served with the C.E.F.; editor of the Daily Express for a number of years, then director of Public Relations with the Gaumont-British Film Corporation until end of 1935.

LORD BEAVERBROOK, formerly Lord Privy Seal.

INCOME TAX RATES AND DEATH DUTIES IN GREAT BRITAIN, 1947-1948

The standard rate of Income Tax in the United Kingdom (Great Britain and Northern Ireland) for the year 1947-48 imposed by the Finance Act, 1947, is 9s. 0d. in the pound.

ALLOWANCES TO INDIVIDUALS

Earned Income Allowance. One-sixth of the earned income, up to a maximum allowance of £250 for any individual. Persons aged 65 and upwards whose total income does not exceed £500 are entitled to a deduction of one-sixth of their total income, whether earned or derived from investments; in the case of married couples this relief is granted when either spouse reaches the age of 65.

The balance remaining after deducting the earned income allowance from the taxpayer's total income (as computed for Income Tax purposes) is known as the "assessable income." The following deductions are made from the assessable income:—

Personal allowance. Married man £180; other persons £110.

Additional allowance for wife's earned income five-sixths of that income up to a maximum of £110.

Child Allowance. £60 for each child under 16 years, of age, or over 16 if receiving full-time education, or, in certain circumstances, full-time vocational training.

Housekeeper Allowance. £50 for a widower's or widow's housekeeper; an unmarried person's widowed mother or other female relative taking care of children; or, in certain circumstances, a female person employed or maintained to take charge of children.

Dependent Relative Allowance. Where incapacitated by old age or infirmity, not exceeding £50. In certain other circumstances not exceeding £25.

The income remaining after deduction of these reliefs is known as the taxable income; the first £50 of taxable income is charged at 3s. in the £, the next £75 at 6s. in the £, and the remainder at the standard rate. Certain relief from tax is given in respect of Life Insurance Premiums paid, in accordance with statutory provisions.

A portion of the tax payable by individuals for years 1941-42 to 1945-46 has been earmarked as a post-war credit to be made available to the taxpayer after the war at a date to be determined. The post-war credit for all five years is now being made available to men taxpayers aged 65 and over and to women taxpayers aged 60 and over.

RATES OF INCOME TAX

The standard rates have been as follows from 1914:

Year	Rate	Year	Rate
1914	1s. 8d.	1931-33	5s. 0d.
1915	3s. 0d.	1934-35	4s. 6d.
1916-17	5s. 0d.	1936	4s. 9d.
1918-21	6s. 0d.	1937	5s. 0d.
1922	5s. 0d.	1938	5s. 6d.
1923-24	4s. 6d.	1939	7s. 0d.
1925-29	4s. 0d.	1940	8s. 6d.
1930	4s. 6d.	1941-5	10s. 0d.
		1946-7	9s. 0d.

SUR-TAX

On incomes in excess of £2,000 a further charge or tax is imposed, called the Sur-tax, which is payable as a deferred instalment of Income Tax on the 1st January following the year of assessment. Thus the Sur-tax in respect of the year 1946-47 is payable on the 1st January, 1948. The additional rates charged on these incomes begin at 2s. 0d. in the £ on the first £500 of the excess over £2,000, and rise by steps to the rate of 10s. 6d. in the £ payable on the excess over £20,000.

PROFITS TAX

The tax introduced in 1937 as the National Defence Contribution has, as from 1 January, 1947, been renamed the Profits Tax. The Profits Tax is imposed on the profits of all trades or businesses (excluding professions); as from 1st January, 1947 it applies only to corporate bodies and unincorporated societies and as from that date investment income is included in computing profits. The rate of tax is 12½% on distributed profits and 5% on undistributed profits. If the profits are less than £2,000, no tax is payable. If the profits exceed £2,000 but are less than £12,000, an abatement is allowed.

EXCESS PROFITS TAX (1939)

This tax, which was alternative to the National Defence Contribution, has been terminated, and is not charged on the profits of periods after 31st December, 1946.

DOUBLE TAXATION RELIEF

A person liable to British Income Tax on any part of his income which has already suffered tax in a British Dominion is entitled to relief from British tax thereon to the extent of either (a) the Dominion rate of tax, or (b) one-half of the appropriate rate of British tax (including Sur-tax) whichever is the less.

As between the United Kingdom and Canada, however, this arrangement is superseded by a special arrangement, signed on 5th June, 1946, under which certain classes of income derived from one country by a resident of the other country are exempt from tax in the former country. Where both countries continue to tax, full relief for the double taxation is given by the country of residence of the taxpayer. The United Kingdom has a similar agreement with the United States.

DEATH DUTIES

General scale of rates of estate duty applicable in the case of persons dying on or after 10th April, 1946.

40,000	45,000	20	2,000,000	75
45,000	50,000	22

Subject to certain exemptions, Legacy and Successions Duty, at rates now varying between 2% and 20% according to the relationship of the beneficiary, may also be chargeable.

An agreement between the United Kingdom and Canada for avoidance of double death duties was signed on 5th June, 1946.

PURCHASE TAX

The Finance (No. 2) Bill 1940 provided for the charge of Purchase Tax on purchases of certain scheduled goods at specified rates, ranging from 16½% to 33½%. In general, liability to tax arises when the goods pass from the wholesaler to the retailer. Manufacturers and wholesale merchants dealing in chargeable goods must be registered. This enables them to deal with one another freely in the goods, or to export them without liability to tax. Tax becomes chargeable when the goods are sold by the registered manufacturer or wholesaler to an unregistered person, generally the retailer, or where there is no retail stage, to the public. This tax came into operation on October 21st, 1940.

In April, 1942, the rate of tax of some articles, previously taxed at the 33½% rate, was increased to 66½%. In April, 1943, tax on these same articles was increased to 100%. In April, 1947, the 66½% rate was again introduced for certain articles and termed the intermediate rate. As a result, there are now four rates of tax: 16½%, 33½%, 66½% and 100%, termed reduced, basic, intermediate and higher, respectively.

In the second Budget presented by the Chancellor of the Exchequer (November, 1947) Purchase Tax on all goods to which this tax already applied was raised, except on cars and motor-cycles. The rates on three main classes of goods were increased from 16½ to 33½%; 33½ to 50% and 100 to 125%.

Latest information regarding the tax is set out in Notice No. 78 and related Notices, obtainable from the Commissioners of Customs and Excise, City Gate House, Finsbury Square, London, E.C.2.

THE BRITISH COMMONWEALTH AND EMPIRE

The British Commonwealth and Empire consists of the Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland, the self-governing Dominions, (with, however, temporary suspension of the rights of Newfoundland to this title,—see below); the self-governing colonies of Southern Rhodesia and Malta; and the Crown colonies and protectorates. INDIA. By the passing of the Indian Independence Bill by the British Parliament in July 1947, India ceased to be an Empire under the Crown.

Transfer of power became effective from August 15th, 1947, when British responsibility for the government of India ceased. Under the new regime India comprises three main divisions: The Dominions of INDIA (Hindustan), of PAKISTAN (Moslem) and the royal Indian States. Two Constituent Assemblies were appointed to frame the constitution of the two new Dominions and the complicated political structure of India is now in process of evolution.

British suzerainty of the Indian States ceased under the new legislation and their individual and collective national status has yet to be decided.

The King is no longer Emperor of India, his rule in the two Dominions being exercised solely through their own governments.

Responsibility for the central administration of the Armed Forces was vested in a Joint Defence Council under the chairmanship of Viscount Mountbatten, until India and Pakistan can assume control.

Indian Provincial Governors replaced British Governors in various Provinces during 1947.

Governors-General, October, 1947—Viscount Mountbatten for India (pro tem.). Mr. M. A. Jinnah for Pakistan.

Population of all India, census 1941, 388,997,955.

NEWFOUNDLAND, Capital—St. John's. Governor—Sir Gordon MacDonald, K.C.M.G., C.B., D.S.O. Chairman, Commission of Government—The Governor: Vice-Chairman, Hon. Sir J. C. Puddester. Population 1945, 321,101.

Owing to great economic difficulties, on November 29th, 1933, the Legislative Council unanimously passed a resolution from the Lower House in favour of the temporary suspension of the rights of Newfoundland to the status of a Dominion in favour of Government by Commission under authority from the United Kingdom. The Commission reported a substantial surplus in 1945. Under the British government's plan announced in 1943, Newfoundland went to the polls in June, 1946 to elect representatives to a National Convention which would make recommendations as to future government. This Convention held its opening session on Sept. 11, 1946.

The future constitutional status and form of Government of Newfoundland was the subject of discussions in 1947 with both the United Kingdom and Canadian Governments. Its political union with the Dominion of Canada has been proposed.

On Oct. 30, 1947, the Canadian Prime Minister announced that the financial terms for entry of Newfoundland into Confederation had been transmitted to the Newfoundland Government.

MALTA

Population (Civil) 279,187 (1944)

Malta is a self-governing colony with a representative assembly, and responsible ministers.

Owing to its strategic importance, Malta came under British Military Control during the World War 1939-46.

Responsible Government was restored in September 1947 by Letters Patent. The new constitution gives the Maltese Legislature control over internal affairs, and reserves to the British Government control over defence and foreign policy.

On April 17, 1942, in recognition of the fortitude of the people of Malta, King George VI awarded the George Cross to the Island.

Governor and Commander-in-chief — Mr. Francis Campbell Ross Douglas.
Capital—Valletta.

BURMA

A new Constituent Assembly was set up in April, 1947, following a General Election to determine the future Government of Burma. In June this Constituent Assembly, in framing the new constitution, passed a resolution proclaiming Burma a Sovereign Independent Republic. Formal transfer of power is expected to take place in January 1948. The necessary legislation received its second reading in the British Parliament on Nov. 5th., 1947.

In 1946 a Malayan Union was constituted with capital at Singapore. A South-East Asia Defence Council was also created with responsibility for all questions of the defence of the British Colonies and British protected territories in the South-East Asia area.

Under the proposals resulting from continuous negotiations during 1947 the constitution of a new Federation of Malaya has been introduced. This constitution (due to become operative in 1948) restores to the Malay Sultans their power as rulers of their States and preserves the States' individuality. To make it more representative, the size of the Legislative Council has been increased in order to include various racial groups and interests. This Federation under British protection consisting of the nine Malay States and the British Settlements of Penang and Malacca replaces the former Malayan Union.

Other parts of Antarctica are administered by the Falkland Islands and by New Zealand.

THE BRITISH NAVY

THE ADMIRALTY

The Royal Navy is governed by the Board of Admiralty in Whitehall, headed by the First Lord of the Admiralty. In addition the Board is comprised of 5 Sea Lords, a Vice Chief of Naval Staff, an assistant Chief of Naval Staff, a Civil Lord, a Parliamentary and Financial Secretary, and a Permanent Secretary. The Civil Lord and the Parliamentary and Financial Secretary are Ministers of the Government, but not in the Cabinet. The King is an Admiral of the Fleet.

TRAINING

Officers of the Royal Navy consist of:

Officers R.N. who are permanent Service Officers.

Those of the Executive Branch are entered either at the age of 13 years and 4 months for Dartmouth College, or between the ages of 17 yrs. 4 mths. and 18 yrs. 4 mths. Those of the Engineering Branch and of the Supply and Secretariat Branch are mostly entered between the same ages.

Scholarships are given for Dartmouth and arrangements are made to give assistance to parents of those entering between the ages of 17 yrs. 4 mths., and 18 yrs. 4 mths., where the means of the parents render it desirable. Cadetships are also obtainable in the Electrical Branch between the ages of 17-19 years. Similar financial assistance is given.

Ratings.

Ratings of the Royal Navy are entered according to the duties they are required to perform. These range from those of Seaman and Stoker Mechanic through various semi-skilled branches up to those of the highly skilled Artificer, who is a fully qualified engineering tradesman. For most ratings, the full training required is given after entry.

The engagements on which ratings serve are of two classes, (i) Continuous Service, for which the man undertakes to perform 12 years active service from the date of entry or from the age of 18, whichever is the later, and (ii) Special Service, for which the man undertakes to serve 12 years; 7 years, from the age of 18, or date of entry if later, being with the Fleet, and the balance in the Royal Fleet Reserve. Men nearing the completion of their Continuous Service engagements are eligible to execute a further engagement to enable them to complete the necessary period to qualify for a long service pension.

Boys may enter at about 15 years of age on Continuous Service engagements only, as Seaman Boys or Artificer Apprentices. Adult entries execute either form of engagement according to the requirements of the Service.

Royal Marine ranks are generally subject to similar engagements.

The Royal Naval Reserve.

Before the war this was a Reserve of officers and men with Mercantile Marine experience. During the war it was supplemented by granting temporary commissions to officers recruited from the Merchant Navy.

It is under discussion to reconstitute this reserve on a pre-war basis, but up to date no recruiting into the reserve has taken place since the war.

The Royal Naval Volunteer Reserve.

This is a reserve for officers and men who volunteer to serve in time of emergency with the Royal Navy and who undertake part-time Naval training at R.N.V.R. Divisional Headquarters and periods of full-time training with the Fleet.

Royal Fleet Reserve.

This is composed of ratings who have completed the Active Service portion of their Special Service engagements, men who have been discharged from the Royal Navy before completing their engagements, whose discharge has been conditional on entering the reserve, and volunteers from men who have completed Continuous Service engagements, but do not desire to continue serving to earn pensions. In addition certain ratings with at least three years service on a Hostilities Only engagement may be accepted in the reserve. Royal Fleet Reservists maintain their efficiency by periodic (at least biennial) training with the Fleet. There are no officers in this reserve.

W.R.N.S. (WOMEN'S ROYAL NAVAL SERVICE) (The Wrens)

Admiralty, London, S.W.1

Director, Miss Jocelyn May Woolcomb, C.B.E.

The W.R.N.S. was organised in 1917, demobilised in 1919, and reorganised in April, 1939.

Ranks:

Officers, Director, Superintendent, Chief Officer, First Officer, Second Officer, Third Officer, Acting Third Officer.

Ratings, Chief Wren, Petty Officer Wren, Leading Wren and Wren.

Uniform of a naval type is worn. Age limits 17½ to 45 years.

During the last war members of the W.R.N.S. replaced men in over 100 categories of shore duties with the Navy, Royal Marines and at Naval Air Stations. Except for a few who served at sea in communications work on board troop transports during hostilities, the Wrens do not serve in sea-going ships. Officers and ratings of the W.R.N.S. are liable for service overseas and during the last war, served in all five continents.

In May, 1946, it was announced that the W.R.N.S. was to continue as a permanent feature of the Royal Navy.

THE BRITISH ARMY

Before the Norman Conquest every freeman between the ages of 15 and 60 capable of bearing arms, was bound to bear arms in defence of his country at the call of the King. This national militia was partially, but never wholly, superseded by the feudal system, introduced by William I, under which lands were held in return for units of cavalry and infantry which had to serve for 40 days at the cost of the lord. In addition, kings frequently maintained mercenaries, first out of their private funds and later out of the royal revenues. Parliamentary consent to the maintenance of an army was established in the seventeenth century as a result of a struggle between the Commons and the Stuarts. The standing army became a national institution under Charles II, and the Mutiny Act, passed at the accession of William III. in 1689, formed the basis of army discipline. The Mutiny Act after enlargement and change from time to time, is now replaced by the Army Act, constitutional control being assured by the Army and Air Force (Annual) Act which goes annually before Parliament and brings the Army Act into force for one year.

The British Army is made up of (i) the Regular Forces with their Reserves, including the Militia and the Supplementary Reserve and (ii) the Territorial Army including the T.A. Reserve.

THE TERRITORIAL ARMY

In the 1939-1945 war, the Territorial Army and Regular Army units and formations served together in all theatres. No difference was made in organization or employment. The Territorial Army ceased to exist as a separate entity.

In 1947 the Territorial Army was reconstituted to form with the Regular Army a balanced force of all arms. The air defence of Great Britain is entrusted almost entirely to the Territorial Army. Administrative as well as operational units of the Territorial Army of all branches and services now form a component part of the forces of the United Kingdom.

Volunteers are now (1947) being recruited to form a nucleus for training cadres. The modern Territorial Army is being formed on a basis of volunteers and National Service men, the former being mostly officers and N.C.O.s with war experience. It is the intention to form the National Service men into units and formations on this framework. National Service men will serve as reservists in the Territorial Army for six years after one year's full time National Service training in the Regular Army. The Land Forces of the United Kingdom will, after 1950, consist of Regular Army forces and the Territorial Army composed of both the volunteer and National Service elements, and will be available for service in the United Kingdom or anywhere abroad whenever required.

ORGANIZATION

The Secretary of State for War is the President of the Army Council. The members of the council are responsible for different branches of Army organization such as, operations and training, administration and discipline, and supplies and transport.

The British Army at home and overseas is divided up into certain administrative commands. The command headquarters, commanded by a Lieut.-General, controls a number of districts which are each commanded by a Maj.-General.

An Army Headquarters is commanded by a General or a Lieut.-General and controls a varying number of corps down to a minimum of two corps. In addition, there are army troops consisting of supporting arms and services.

A Corps is commanded by a Lieut.-General. The headquarters controls a varying number of divisions, either Infantry, Armoured or Airborne, together with its quota of corps troops.

A Division has a fixed organisation and is commanded by a Maj.-General. There are three types of division: the Infantry Division, Armoured Division and the Airborne Division composed of two or three Brigades, and divisional troops.

An Infantry Brigade is commanded by a Brigadier and consists of three battalions and ancillary troops. The Infantry Brigade in an Armoured Division, however, has four Inf. Battalions, to balance against the four Armoured Regiments comprising the Armoured Brigade in the Armoured Division.

An Infantry Battalion is commanded by a Lieut.-Colonel and consists of battalion headquarters, headquarters company, a support company and four rifle companies. The headquarters company and support company are each commanded by a Captain. Each rifle company is commanded by a Major and consists of three platoons each commanded by a Subaltern.

Besides the major fighting arms, i.e. Royal Armoured Corps, Royal Artillery and Infantry, there are a number of technical and specialist Corps.

THE ARMY CADET ORGANIZATION

This voluntary organization is organized into two bodies, the Junior Training Corps, with some 40,000 cadets, who are all schoolboys, and the Army Cadet Force with some 115,000 cadets, the majority of whom are working lads.

The training of the Junior Training Corps is predominantly of the pre-service type, with a strong bias towards stimulating latent powers of leadership. Cadet training in the Army Cadet Force aims at providing a high standard of citizenship as well as meeting the objectives of pre-service training. During the late war, over 50 per cent of officers were ex-cadets, and at the present time 20 out of 21 qualified ex-cadets are under training as officers, or have reached non-commissioned rank within a few months of joining the Army.

Government financial grants average about £1 4s 0d. a year for each cadet, and in addition there is considerable assistance in kind and in travel. Clothing and equipment are issued; there is free travel to and from annual camps and courses, and free rations at authorized courses. Officers' out-of-pocket expenses are met. The cadets are closely linked to the regimental traditions of Regular Army units, and come in for a substantial degree of personal service from the Army.

WOMEN'S SERVICES

Queen Alexandra's Imperial Military Nursing Service, and the Territorial Army Nursing Service—are responsible, under R.A.M.C. Officers, for the nursing services of the army. With their reserves, they consist of nursing officers who are state registered nurses.

The Auxiliary Territorial Service is the Women's "Corps" of the army, and its members are employed in replacement of soldiers on duties suitable for women, including secretarial, domestic and transport duties. They also provide at home, and in certain overseas theatres personnel for "mixed" AA gun and searchlight units, and skilled technicians, tradeswomen and signals operators.

THE ROYAL AIR FORCE

The separate existence of the Royal Air Force dates back to April 1st, 1918.

The Royal Air Force is administered by the Air Council which consists of:

The Secretary of State for Air (President of the Air Council).

The Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State (Vice-President).

The Chief of the Air Staff.

The Air Member for Personnel.

The Air Member for Supply and Organisation.

The Air Member for Technical Services.

*The Vice-Chief of the Air Staff.

*The Controller of Supplies (Air) in the Ministry of Supply.

*The Permanent Under-Secretary of State (Secretary).

*"Additional" Members appointed by the Secretary of State under powers given to him by the Order in Council which lays down the constitution of the Air Council.

The Secretary of State is responsible to His Majesty the King and Parliament for all the business of the Air Council.

THE AIR MINISTRY

The Air Ministry is organised in five departments, as below:

The Department of the Chief of the Air Staff (C.A.S.).

The Chief of the Air Staff is the senior Air Member of Council and principal adviser of the Secretary of State on all the Service aspects of the administration of the Royal Air Force. He is responsible for all questions of Air Force policy and planning, for advice on the conduct of air operations for all training other than technical training, and for the fighting efficiency of the Royal Air Force. He is assisted by the Vice-Chief of the Air Staff and the Assistant Chiefs of the Air Staff, each of whom is responsible for certain duties.

The Department of the Air Member for Personnel (A.M.P.).

The Air Member for Personnel is responsible for the personnel policy and administration, other than training, of the Royal Air Force and the Women's Auxiliary Air Force. This includes questions of manpower; conditions of service for all types of R.A.F. and W.A.A.F. personnel; discipline; ceremonial, honours and awards; appointments; exits, promotions and postings; and casualties. He is also responsible for the welfare of R.A.F. and W.A.A.F. personnel including the religious, educational and medical services.

The Department of the Air Member for Supply and Organisation (A.M.S.O.).

The Air Member for Supply and Organisation is responsible for the organisation of the Royal Air Force; for the provision of equipment, stores and foodstuffs; for transportation; and for works, buildings and land.

The Department of the Air Member for Technical Services (A.M.T.S.).

The Air Member for Technical Services is responsible for technical training and for the control, co-ordination and direction of the technical services of the R.A.F., viz., engineering, armament and the technical aspects of signals. The operational aspects of signals and the use of weapons are the responsibility of the Chief of the Air Staff.

The Department of the Permanent Under-Secretary of State (P.U.S.).

The Permanent Under-Secretary of State is the Accounting Officer of the Air Ministry and as such is responsible for financial advice and for the control of all expenditure; for accounting to Parliament for the expenditure of public money and stores; and for the negotiation and placing of contracts. He is also Secretary of the Air Council and in that capacity is responsible for the efficient working of the Air Ministry as a Department of State, for Parliamentary and legal business and for public relations.

The Meteorological Office is organised as part of the Air Ministry. It is responsible for meteorological research and for supplying meteorological information to all users, including units of the Royal Air Force.

HOME COMMANDS

The Home Commands of the R.A.F. are as follows: Bomber Command whose function is defined by its title.

Fighter Command. Responsible for the control of offensive and defensive fighter operations; also for operational control of the Royal Observer Corps and of A.A. Commands.

Coastal Command. Responsible for reconnaissance over the sea; in conjunction with the Royal Navy, for protection of shipping at sea and for attack against enemy shipping and submarines; also for meteorological reconnaissance, photographic reconnaissance and air/sea rescue.

Transport Command. (Formed in March, 1943, formerly Ferry Command). Responsible for the study, development and training of all air transport operations, including airborne assaults; the organisation and control of air transport operations in support of the R.A.F. and other services; and for operations along the trunk routes, including flight delivery of aircraft between theatres.

Flying Training Command. Responsible for the control of Elementary Flying Training Schools, Senior Flying Training Schools, Advanced Flying Units and the training and control of flying instructors and Flying Instructors Schools.

Technical Training Command. Responsible for training ground personnel.

Maintenance Command. Responsible for organising, storing and delivering all technical and non-technical supplies.

Reserve Command. Responsible for the non-regular air forces, i.e., the Reserves (including the R.A.F.V.R.), the Auxiliary Air Force, University Air Squadrons and the Air Training Corps.

OVERSEAS COMMANDS

Overseas Commands are forces of various types of Squadrons and Service Units assigned to specific areas. The main Overseas Commands of the R.A.F. in September, 1947, are the Mediterranean and Middle East Command, Air Command, Far East, and the British Air Forces of Occupation (Germany). This latter Command, which was set up in July, 1945, is responsible for the execution of measures connected with the disarmament of the German Air Force in the British area of occupation in Germany and, in conjunction with the Army, for the enforcement of the terms of surrender. Similar duties are undertaken in Japan by the R.A.F. Component of the British Commonwealth Occupation Force (Japan).

The Royal Observer Corps is a uniformed civilian organisation administered by the Air Ministry. In wartime the duties of members of the Corps include the identification and plotting of aircraft flying over Great Britain.

The Women's Auxiliary Air Force was instituted to make possible substitution of women for men in certain ground appointments and trades throughout the Royal Air Force organisation. This substitution has given excellent results and W.A.A.F. officers and airwomen are employed on most non-combatant ground duties of the R.A.F., including the highly-skilled trades.

The Women's Forces will be continued on a voluntary basis as a permanent feature of the Forces of the Crown and in accordance with this decision the W.A.A.F. will be incorporated, with such alterations in title as may be appropriate, in the Royal Air Force.

Air Training Corps. Provides for the spare time training of young men over 15½ who wish to join the Royal Air Force or the Fleet Air Arm in the future.

BRITAIN'S AUXILIARY AND NATIONAL SERVICES

A list of Civil Defence organizations, which were active during World War II, with descriptions, names and addresses of directors, etc., was included in the Canadian Almanac for 1945 and previous years. Most of the Civil Defence Services were disbanded in 1945, but a few still remain in operation mostly on a reduced scale, and these are shown below:

This is an organization run by the Navy League and recognized officially by the Admiralty. Its object is to encourage boys towards seafaring careers by providing preliminary training from the age of 12 in local units.

ROYAL NAVAL VOLUNTEER SUPPLEMENTARY RESERVE
It was announced by the Admiralty in September, 1946 that the R.N.V.S.R. was to be reconstituted. It is open to officers who have held temporary commissions in the Royal Navy, the Royal Naval Reserve or the Royal Naval Volunteer Reserve, since Sept. 2, 1939.

They must be prepared to be called up for Naval service under a Royal proclamation. Officers are enrolled in the substantive rank that they held on dispersal.

They do not receive uniform allowance, pay, allowances, or retainers. Officers of the R.N.V.S.R. are affiliated to one of the R.N.V.R. Divisions. Where there is no R.N.V.R. H.Q., they may form their own unit.

THE AUXILIARY AIR FORCE

It was announced in June, 1946, that the Auxiliary Air Force is being re-formed. Recruiting is confined to officers and men who have served with the R.A.F., including the A.A.F. The re-formation of the Force is part of the scheme to maintain and train an adequate reserve of flying and ground personnel.

*BRITISH CUSTOMS DUTIES ON IMPORTS

Under the British Import Duties Act, 1932, a duty of customs, known as the "general ad valorem duty", equal to 10 per cent of the value of the goods, is chargeable on all goods imported into the United Kingdom, with certain exceptions. On specified classes of goods "additional duties" are chargeable as well as the general ad valorem duty. These additional duties are imposed by Treasury Orders made in accordance with the provisions of the Import Duties Act, 1932. Certain goods are exempt.

The Ottawa Agreements Act, 1932, provided for the charge of duty on certain goods, mainly foodstuffs, of non-Empire origin.

Under the Safeguarding of Industries Act, 1921, Key Industry duty is chargeable on goods such as optical glass and optical instruments, scientific instruments and synthetic organic chemicals.

Duty is also chargeable under other enactments, the main classes of goods liable being, Beef and Veal, Beer, Hydrocarbon Oils, Silk, Spirits, Sugar, Tobacco and Wine. War Budgets have imposed increased duties on most of these goods.

Goods of approved Canadian origin coming within the scope of the above Acts are admitted either free of duty or at a preferential rate.

IMPERIAL PREFERENCE

The general conditions governing admission of imported goods to Imperial Preference are that the goods must be shown to the satisfaction of the Commissioner of Customs and Excise to have been consigned from and grown, produced or manufactured in the British Empire. Manufactured articles are not entitled to Preference unless a prescribed proportion of their value is derived from expenditure of a prescribed kind which has been incurred in the British Empire or the United Kingdom in respect of materials grown or produced or work done in the British Empire or the United Kingdom. Different proportions of value have been prescribed for different classes of manufactured goods.

Full information as to the qualifications for and method of claiming preference may be obtained from the Secretary, H. M. Customs, City Gate House, Finsbury Square, London E.C.2, from any Collector of Customs and Excise or from H.M. Trade Commissioners and Trade Correspondents in the Overseas Dominions; also from Department of Trade and Commerce Foreign Tariffs Division, Ottawa.

Schedules of all dutiable goods and rates of duty are included in the "Customs and Excise Tariff of the United Kingdom and Northern Ireland," published periodically by H. M. Stationery Office, York House, Kingsway, London, W.C. 2, with amendments.

IMPORT LICENCES

Under the Import of Goods (Control) Orders 1940, as amended, no goods (other than goods consigned from the Channel Islands) may be imported into the United Kingdom except under the authority of a licence granted by the Board of Trade. Separate licences are not, however, required for limited lists of goods consigned from all countries or Empire countries respectively where Open General Licences have been issued.

Details of the goods covered by these Open General licences are published from time to time in the Board of Trade Journal and in "Notices to Importers" issued by the Import Licensing Department of the Board of Trade.

BIRTH, MARRIAGE AND DEATH CERTIFICATES—GREAT BRITAIN

The Central Registry Office for England and Wales of Births, Marriages and Deaths is General Register Office, Somerset House, London, W.C.2.

For Copies of Certificates, write to the Registrar-General.

Applications should be sent with money order payable in United Kingdom for 5/1, which covers search and cost of one certificate.

POPULATION OF CITIES AND TOWNS

The following table gives a list of Cities and Towns of 1,000 and over, with populations. The figures given for Alberta, Manitoba and Saskatchewan are those of the 1946 Dominion Census of the prairie provinces. The latest official figures available for the other provinces are those of the Dominion Census 1941. The populations of all organized Cities, Towns and Villages according to the 1941 Census (Prairie Provinces 1946) are shown immediately to the right of names in alphabetical list of "Post Offices in Canada" commencing on page 88.

GAME LAWS, FISHERY REGULATIONS, CLOSE SEASONS, LICENCES, &c.

Fishery regulations for all parts of Canada are made by the Dominion authorities. Administration of all the tidal fisheries, save those of Quebec, is likewise a federal function, and the fisheries of the Yukon and Northwest Territories and the non-tidal fisheries of Nova Scotia are also administered by the Dominion. The fisheries of Alberta and Saskatchewan, the non-tidal fisheries of British Columbia, Manitoba, Ontario, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island and all the fisheries of Quebec, are under the administration of the respective provinces.

Fisheries in National Parks of Canada are under the administration of the National Parks Bureau of the federal Department of Mines and Resources, Ottawa.

For further information as to fisheries regulations apply to the Department of Fisheries, Ottawa, or, in the case of National Parks, to the National Parks Bureau, Ottawa. For information as to fishing licence fees in any area apply to the administrative authority indicated in the previous paragraph.

Migratory birds are protected under a Dominion law known as the Migratory Birds Convention Act, which is administered by the National Parks Bureau, Department of Mines and Resources, Ottawa, Canada, and the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. This Act is based upon the Migratory Birds Treaty with the United States.

With this exception, and except in National Parks, game laws are under the administration of the various provinces and territories.

A Dominion Law, the Game Export Act, passed in 1941, prohibits the export of game from any province without permit from the province or territory. It has been proclaimed for all provinces and territories except Prince Edward Island.

Bird sanctuaries have been established under the Migratory Birds Convention Act, referred to above, and by many of the provinces as well.

Details as to close seasons, licences, etc., are not given here, owing to the fact that regulations for the ensuing months are, in some cases, not available when this volume goes to press and where available are often subject to changes before the opening of the season.

Full information concerning the Dominion laws mentioned above may be obtained by writing to the following address: Controller, National Parks Bureau, Ottawa; and respecting Provincial game laws by writing to the addresses given below:

JACK MINER and the BIRDS

By JACK MINER

You don't have to be a confirmed naturalist to enjoy Jack Miner's story—though you probably will be one before you have finished it. His own account of a lifetime of experience with the wild life of North America is as invigorating and heart-warming as an autumn hike with good friends. The genuine warmth of the author's personality, and the originality and intimacy of his observation make this book unique among all that has been written about wild things.

WORLD ORGANIZATIONS

THE UNITED NATIONS

The United Nations is a world organization for the maintenance of peace and security and for the promotion of the welfare of humanity built around the wartime union of free peoples in defence of civilization.

Through a series of conferences, at Dumbarton Oaks (August-October 1944), at Yalta (February 1945) and at San Francisco (April-June 1945), the Charter of the United Nations was produced. The detailed plans for setting up the Organization under the Charter were then drawn up by the Preparatory Commission and its Executive Committee.

The main organs of the United Nations are: the General Assembly, the Security Council, the Economic and Social Council, the Trusteeship Council, the International Court of Justice, the Secretariat.

The General Assembly is composed of representatives of the 57 Member States with one vote each. It is the central organ of the Organization supervising the work of the other organs to which certain specific functions are delegated. It is a deliberative body where the Members have the opportunity to exchange views and state their problems.

At the Second Session of the General Assembly the Right Honourable Louis St. Laurent was chief delegate for Canada.

The Security Council is composed of five permanent members, China, France, the United Kingdom, the United States and the Soviet Union. In addition, there are six non-permanent members elected by the General Assembly for a term of two years. The principal function of the Security Council is to examine questions endangering the maintenance of international peace and security, and to adopt and apply means to solve dangerous international situations or disputes. Each member of the Security Council has one vote. Decisions on procedural matters are made by an affirmative vote of seven members. On all other matters an affirmative vote of seven members, including the concurring votes of the five permanent members is required. Thus, the negative vote of one permanent member is sufficient to prevent the taking of a substantive decision. This is the "veto" power.

A Military Staff Committee, consisting of the Chiefs of Staff of the permanent members of the Security Council or their representatives, advises and assists the Security Council on all questions relating to the Council's military requirements for the maintenance of international peace and security, the regulation of armaments or possible disarmament.

According to a Resolution of the General Assembly, 24 January 1946, an Atomic Energy Commission was established, composed of one representative of each State on the Security Council, and of Canada, when that State is not a member of the Security Council. The purpose of the Commission is to deal with problems raised by the discovery of atomic energy and other related matters.

The Canadian Representative on the Atomic Energy Commission is General Andrew G. L. McNaughton.

The Economic and Social Council is composed of representatives of eighteen Member States elected by the General Assembly for a term of three years. Its function is to study and report on social and economic problems throughout the world, and to suggest means for their solution.

The Trusteeship Council consists of Member Nations administering territories under trusteeship, the permanent members of the Security Council which do not, and as many other Members elected by the General Assembly as may be necessary to ensure that the total number of members in the Trusteeship Council is equally divided between those which administer trust territories and those which do not. The purpose of the Council is to study and report on economic, social, educational and cultural conditions in each territory under trusteeship, and supervise the application of trusteeship agreements.

The International Court of Justice is the principal judicial organ of the United Nations. It consists of fifteen members elected for a term of nine years by the General Assembly and by the Security Council from a list of persons nominated by national groups in the Permanent Court of Arbitration.

Mr. John E. Read, Canada—is one of the judges.

The Secretariat, under a Secretary General appointed by the General Assembly upon the recommendation of the Security Council, serves the United Nations. It is divided in the following departments: Security Council Affairs; Economic Affairs; Social Affairs; Trusteeship and Information from Non-Self-Governing Territories; Public Information; Legal Affairs; Conference and General Services; Administrative and Financial Services. There is, in addition, the Executive Office of the Secretary-General.

The Interim site of the United Nations is: Lake Success, Nassau County, New York.

UNITED NATIONS DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC INFORMATION

Lake Success, New York, N.Y.

The Department provides a clearing house for information on the United Nations, acts as a service agency for representatives of newspapers and periodicals, authors and the general public, and maintains a reference library dealing with matters which concern the United Nations.

INTERNATIONAL CIVIL AVIATION ORGANIZATION

Dominion Square Building, Montreal, P.Q.

The International Civil Aviation Organization came into being on April 4, 1947, when the required number of states (26) had ratified the Convention on International Civil Aviation.

The principal function of the organization is to ensure that international civil aviation may be developed in a safe and orderly manner and that international air transport services may be established on the basis of equality of opportunity and operated soundly and economically.

The principal organs of the organization are the Assembly, composed of all member states, which meets annually; the Council, comprised of 21 members, which meets continuously; and the Secretariat, which is recruited on a broad international basis. There are six special committees of the organization:

1. the Air Navigation Committee
2. the Air Transport Committee
3. the Legal Committee
4. the Committee on International Convention
5. the Joint Support of Air Navigation Services Committee
6. the Finance Committee

THE VICTORIA CROSS

THE VICTORIA CROSS was instituted by Queen Victoria at the close of the Crimean campaign, 1856. It is a Maltese cross, made of gun metal, with a Royal Crest in the centre and underneath it an escroll bearing the inscription "For Valor," and is awarded, irrespective of rank, to members of any branch of His Majesty's services, either in the Imperial Forces or those of any British dominion, colony, dependency or protectorate, the Mercantile Marine, nurses or staffs of hospitals, or to civilians of either sex while serving in either regular or temporary capacity during naval, military, or air force operations. It is awarded only "for most conspicuous bravery or some daring or pre-eminent act of valour or self-sacrifice or extreme devotion to duty in the presence of the enemy." For additional conduct of similar bravery, a Bar is added. The ribbon was formerly red for the Army and blue for the Navy, but is now crimson for all services. An annuity of £10 a year accompanies the decoration, plus £5 a year for every Bar granted; payable to ranks below commission ranks from the date of the act which concerns the award. Navy, Army and Royal Air Force regulations provide for the annuity to be increased to the maximum of £75, including any other pension from public funds where officers and other ranks are incapable of earning a livelihood by reason of age or infirmity occasioned by a cause outside the recipient's control. Since June 17th, 1943, the financial responsibility has been assumed by the Canadian Government, and the pound sterling is deemed to have a value of $5.00 in Canadian currency where this is concerned.

TITULAR HONOURS

For some years honours involving titles have not been bestowed on Canadians living in Canada.

On May 22, 1919, during the premiership of the Rt. Hon. Robert L. Borden, a resolution adopted by the House of Commons requested His Majesty to refrain from granting titular honours to Canadian citizens in the future. This policy was reversed in 1933 when, during the premiership of the Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, the Canadian Government recommended a number of such awards, which were duly granted on New Year's Day, 1934. Although titular honours were again conferred in 1935, the new administration which took office later that year under the premiership of the Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King revived the previous policy of the Government of 1919, and no titular honours have been recommended or awarded since that time.

On July 24, 1942, a Special Committee on Honours and Decorations reported to the House as follows: "As a result of their deliberations your Committee desire to make the following recommendations:

- (1) That His Majesty's subjects domiciled or ordinarily resident in Canada be eligible for the award of Honours and Decorations, including awards in the Orders of Chivalry, which do not involve titles.
- (2) That His Majesty's Government in Canada consider a submission to His Majesty the King, of proposals for the establishment of an Order limited in number but not involving a title, for which His Majesty's subjects domiciled or ordinarily resident in Canada shall alone be eligible."

THE GEORGE CROSS

Instituted by Royal Warrant, Sept. 24th, 1940, amended May 8th, 1941. The George Cross is to rank with and immediately after the Victoria Cross.

The Cross is intended primarily for civilians, and award in the military services is to be confined to actions for which purely military honors are not normally granted.

The Cross is to be awarded "only for acts of the greatest heroism or of the most conspicuous courage in circumstances of extreme danger." The Ribbon is dark blue.

A Bar is to be added, when an award is to be made to one who is already the recipient of the Cross.

The Cross replaces the Medal of the Order of the British Empire, and living holders of the latter will receive the George Cross in exchange.

THE GEORGE MEDAL

Royal Warrant, Sept. 24th, 1940.

The George Medal, "is intended primarily for civilians and award in the Military Services and is to be confined to acts of great bravery for which purely military honors are not normally granted." Ribbon—alternate stripes of wide red and narrow blue.

THE IMPERIAL SERVICE ORDER AND MEDAL (I.S.O.), (I.S.M.)

It is provided that members not eligible for companionships in the Imperial Service Order may, on retirement after service of twenty-five years, receive the "Imperial Service Medal," which is a circular medal of silver bearing the inscription "For Faithful Service." The I.S.O. ribbon is crimson with a blue band in the centre.

ORDER OF THE COMPANIONS OF HONOUR

This order, instituted in 1917, is limited to His Majesty the King, and fifty members. It ranks above the Distinguished Service Order, immediately following the First Class of the Order of the British Empire, and above the Knights Commander of the British Empire. Ribbon—Carmine with yellow edges.

THE DISTINGUISHED SERVICE ORDER (D.S.O.)

This Naval and Military Order of Distinction was instituted by Queen Victoria, September 6th, 1886, as a means of rewarding individual instances of meritorious or distinguished service in war. The Ribbon is red with blue edgings.

THE ORDER OF MERIT

Instituted in 1902,—O.M. A special distinction, without title, conferred on not more than 24 eminent persons.

THE ORDER OF ST. JOHN OF JERUSALEM

The Grand Priory in the British Realm of the Venerable Order of the Hospital of St. John of Jerusalem. This order is conferred for services to humanity. Appointments do not confer any rank or title.

THE COLONIAL AUXILIARY FORCES OFFICER'S DECORATION (V.D.)

This is now issued only in respect of 20 years' service completed before the 22nd September, 1931, the date on which the award of the Efficiency Decoration, E.D., became effective. The ribbon is green.

MILITARY MEDAL

An army award (1916) for warrant and non-commissioned officers and men. In November 1945 the Minister of Veterans Affairs announced that the award would carry a cash grant of $100. Ribbon: White centre, blue edges, two narrow stripes of red superimposed on the white.

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE MEDAL

Originally a navy award (1914) but now awarded to army and air force as well. Ribbon: white centre, broad blue bands at each end, with narrow blue stripe in the centre of the white. In November 1945 the Minister of Veterans Affairs announced that the award would carry a cash grant of $100.

CANADIAN HONOURS

THE CANADIAN EFFICIENCY DECORATION (E.D.)

This is awarded to officers of the Non-Permanent Active Militia after 20 years efficient service, completed after the 22nd of September, 1931, towards which service in other auxiliary forces of the Empire may be reckoned as qualifying service; and service in the ranks can be counted half time for the award. (An officer who has served 15 years in the ranks would be allowed to count seven and a half years towards the qualifying service) and, provided the officer was serving in the auxiliary forces on the 4th of August, 1914, his services during the war may reckon double as qualifying service. This award is available to officers of the Auxiliary Forces of the Empire. The ribbon is green with a broad yellow band in centre.

THE CANADIAN EFFICIENCY MEDAL

This is awarded to warrant officers, non-commissioned officers and men for long service under somewhat similar conditions as the Efficiency Decoration as above. The ribbon is green with a narrow yellow stripe near each end.

CANADIAN MEDAL FOR LONG SERVICE AND GOOD CONDUCT

Instituted 1930. Awarded to warrant officers, non-commissioned officers and men of the Permanent Force. Royal Warrant August 26th, 1944 awards a clasp after a further 18 years service dating from the original award. The ribbon is solid light blue.

THE MEMORIAL CROSS

Established by Order-in-Council, P.C. 4210, dated August 27th, 1940; as amended by Order-in-Council P.C. 2135, dated March 28th, 1941, effective as of September 1st, 1939. Orders-in-Council P.C. 6866, Nov. 8, 1945 gave a very wide interpretation of the term "seaman".

The Memorial Cross is a memento of personal loss and sacrifice on the part of mothers and widows of Canadian sailors, soldiers, airmen, fire-fighters or merchant seamen, who have laid down their lives for their country during the present war.

The Cross is issued to the widow or mother of the deceased, or to each if both survive. If, after becoming entitled to the Cross, the widow or mother dies, the Cross will be delivered to the eldest next-of-kin of the soldier, etc.

THE CANADA MEDAL

Creation of the first distinctly Canadian decoration for merit was announced by Prime Minister King on October 14, 1943: Order-in-Council P.C. 7964. The Canada Medal, which may be won either by civilians or members of the armed forces or the merchant navy is awarded in recognition of "meritorious service above and beyond the faithful performance of duties." It may be awarded not only to Canadians, but also to citizens of other countries whom Canada desires to honor.

The medal is silver and circular in form. It bears on the obverse the crowned effigy of the King and on the reverse the Canadian arms and the word "Canada." On a bar attached to the mount of the medal is the word "Merit" for English-speaking, "Merite" for French-speaking recipients. Ribbon of the medal is of equal stripes of red, white and red. It is to be worn immediately after the British Empire Medal, and before war medals.

Award of the medal will not confer any individual precedence, but English-speaking recipients will be entitled to add the letters "C.M." after their names, French-speaking recipients the letters "M. du C."

CANADIAN VOLUNTEER SERVICE MEDAL

This decoration was announced by the Department of National Defence in October, 1943.

The new medal is a general service award in that it goes automatically to persons who complete certain specified voluntary service. It is thus distinct from a decoration for special service or bravery, which goes only to a limited number.

Those who serve on duty beyond the territorial boundaries of Canada for a minimum period may wear a silver maple leaf on the ribbon, which is of alternating green, scarlet, Royal blue, scarlet and green stripes.

CAMPAIGN STARS AND RIBBONS

Campaign Ribbons were officially authorized on August 13th, 1945 for those in the Canadian Armed Forces entitled to wear them.

Canadian Service Regulations lists the following as eligible for the Stars, Clasps, The Defence Medal and the War Medal 1939-1945:

- (a) All officers and other ranks, male and female, of the Canadian Armed Forces and Canadians of both sexes who are officers and other ranks in the Armed Forces of the United Kingdom, Colonies or any other part of the British Commonwealth.
- (b) Accredited war correspondents.
- (c) Members of the Canadian Red Cross, St. John Ambulance Brigade, Voluntary Aid Detachments and the Corps of Canadian Fire Fighters who have served overseas in an operational theatre, or in a non-operational area subject to air attack or closely threatened, providing they are full time uniformed workers and qualifying service complies with the regulations herein.

The following will be worn in the order listed below, with the exception that in the case of members of the Canadian Armed Forces the Canadian Volunteer Service Medal shall precede the War Medal, 1939/45.

THE 1939-1945 STAR

The Star is granted for service in operation during the period from 3 Sept. '39 to 2 Sept. '45.

THE ATLANTIC STAR

The ribbon, from left to right, is blue, white and sea-green, shaded and watered. The clasp is denoted by a silver rose emblem. The star commemorates the battle of the Atlantic and is designed primarily for Convoys and their Escorts and Anti-Submarine forces, as well as fast Merchant ships, sailing alone.

THE AIR CREW EUROPE STAR

Commemorating operational flying from United Kingdom bases over Europe between 3 Sept. '39 and 5 June '44.

The ribbon has a wide band of light blue in the centre with black edges and a narrow yellow stripe on either side between the blue and black.

The clasp is denoted by a silver rose emblem.

THE AFRICA STAR

For operational service in North Africa. The ribbon is pale buff, with a central vertical wide red stripe and two narrow stripes, the left one dark blue, the right one light blue. The clasps to this star are denoted by a silver "8" to 8th Army men and a silver "1" to 1st Army men, and a silver rose to others.

THE PACIFIC STAR

The star is granted for entry into operational service in the Pacific Theatre between 8 Dec. '41 and 2 Sept. '45 inclusive.

THE BURMA STAR

THE ITALY STAR

THE FRANCE AND GERMANY STAR

For operational service in France, Belgium, Holland or Germany from 6 June '44 to 8 May '45.

THE DEFENCE MEDAL

The Defence Medal has been instituted to commemorate certain non-operational and Civil Defence Service in the war. The centre of the ribbon is flame coloured with wide stripes of green on either side. Superimposed on each green stripe is a narrow black stripe. The colours are symbolic of the enemy attacks on the United Kingdom, with the black stripes representing the blackout.

THE WAR MEDAL 1939-1945

The War Medal 1939-1945 is to be granted to full-time personnel of the armed forces wherever their service during the war has been rendered. A 28-day qualification will be adopted. Operational and non-operational service will be qualified. Service between 3 Sept. 1939 and 2 Sept. 1945 inclusive will qualify wherever rendered. In the Merchant Navy, it will be a requirement that the 28 days should have been served at sea. This Medal will be granted in addition to the Campaign Star and the Defence Medal, if earned. It is also granted to civilian organizations listed in Par. (c), above, under "Campaign Stars and Ribbons," with a similar provision as mentioned in that paragraph.

The ribbon is in the red, white and blue of the Union Flag. There is a narrow central red stripe with a narrow white stripe on either side. There are broad red stripes at either edge, the two intervening stripes being in blue.

PAYMENTS ACCOMPANYING GALLANTRY AWARDS TO MEMBERS OF CANADA'S ARMED FORCES

Cash gratuities of $100, with a corresponding addition for each bar, are payable in respect of certain Awards. These are payable on discharge (providing the recipient is not eligible for pension) or on transfer to the Reserve, or on appointment to a Commission. If a disability pension is awarded, a payment of 12½¢ per diem is paid in lieu of the $100 gratuity. Only those below Commissioned rank are eligible for the cash Awards. The award of the Victoria Cross however, is accompanied by a £10 annuity plus a £5 annuity for each bar, payable to ranks below commissioned ranks from the date of the act which earns the award. Navy, Army and Royal Air Force Regulations provide for the annuity to be increased to the maximum of £75 including any other pension from public funds where officers and other ranks are incapable of earning a livelihood by reason of age or infirmity occasioned by a cause outside the recipient's control. During World War I, the payments attached to these Awards were made by the United Kingdom Government, but for World War II the financial responsibility for the payment of gratuities or annuities was assumed by the Canadian Government under Order in Council P.C. 4736, of the 17th of June, 1943. The Order in Council also provided that the pound sterling shall be deemed to have a value of $5.00 in Canadian currency where members of Canada's Armed Forces are concerned.

The Awards referred to are:

The Victoria Cross
The Military Cross
The Distinguished Flying Cross
The Distinguished Conduct Medal
The Conspicuous Gallantry Medal
The Distinguished Service Medal
The Military Medal
The Distinguished Flying Medal

The arms are those of England, Scotland, Ireland and France, with a "difference" to mark them as Canadian, namely on the lower third of the shield, a sprig of maple on a silver shield. The crest is a lion holding in its paw a red maple leaf, a symbol of sacrifice. The supporters are, with some slight distinctions, the lion and unicorn of the Royal Arms; the lion upholds the Union Jack, and the unicorn the ancient banner of France.

The motto—A MARI USQUE AD MARE—"From sea to sea"—is an extract from the Latin version of verse 8 of the 72nd Psalm—"He shall have dominion also from sea to sea, and from the river unto the ends of the earth."

There is a tradition, that the Fathers of Confederation derived the designation "Dominion" from this verse.

PETITIONS TO THE HOUSE OF COMMONS

A petition to the House of Commons must be presented by a Member, and such Member shall be answerable that the petition does not contain "imparliament or improper matter". One person may petition the House of Commons. Petitions may be either written or printed. When there are three or more petitioners, the signatures of at least three shall be subscribed on the sheet containing the prayer of the petition.

Long usage, both here and in the United Kingdom has sanctioned the rule that every petition should commence with the superscription "To the Honourable the House of Commons in Parliament assembled". Then should follow the formula "The Petition of the undersigned — humbly sheweth". The subject matter of the petition then follows in the third person throughout and each paragraph should commence with the word "That".

The conclusion should be the "prayer", briefly and clearly expressing the particular object which the petitioners have in view in coming before Parliament. The petition should close with the formal words "And your petitioners, as in duty bound, will ever pray".

DEPARTMENTS OF GOVERNMENT

CHIEF DEPARTMENTAL OFFICERS

AGRICULTURE

The Department of Agriculture was constituted in 1867 (31 Vic. Chap. 53). It carries on extensive research work in connection with the cultivation of field crops, fruit and vegetable growing, live stock, dairying, poultry raising, bee culture, etc. An extensive and well equipped system of experimental farms and stations has been established from coast to coast, and the results of the research work thereon are embodied in a series of pamphlets gratuitously supplied to all enquirers. Of the special boards established subsequent to the outbreak of the War, the Meat Board, Dairy Products Board, and the Special Products Board still continue to function.

INDIAN AFFAIRS BRANCH

The administration of Indian Affairs was under the direct control of the Imperial Government until 1860, when it was transferred to the Province of Canada. By the British North America Act Indians and lands reserved for Indians, were placed under the Dominion Government. For six years after Confederation, Indian Affairs was attached to the Department of the Secretary of State. In 1873 it was transferred to the Department of the Interior, and in 1880 a separate Department of Indian Affairs was established. On Dec. 1, 1936, under the Department of Mines and Resources Act it was replaced by the Indian Affairs Branch of the Department of Mines and Resources. The Indians today number approximately 126,000 and are located on some 2,200 reserves comprising approximately five and a half million acres of which about 200,000 acres are under cultivation. The department operates Indian Schools comprising both Day and Residential institutions in conjunction with the various churches. At the present there are 347 in all of these schools educating 19,622 children. An important part of the administration is the Indian Trust Fund, which amounts to over $18,000,000 and is derived from sales or leases of land, timber, and minerals, and from other miscellaneous sources.

EASTERN ROCKIES FOREST CONSERVATION BOARD

193 Sparks Street, Ottawa
 This Board was appointed in 1947 under authority of The Eastern Rocky Mountain Forest Conservation Act which authorized an agreement between the Government of Canada and the Province of Alberta relating to the protection and conservation of the forests of that area of the eastern slope of the Rocky Mountains which forms part of the watershed of the Saskatchewan River. The function of the Board is to plan, supervise and undertake construction, operation and maintenance of projects and facilities that are necessary for the proper protection of the forests of the area with a view to obtaining the greatest possible flow of water in the Saskatchewan River and its tributaries.

DEPARTMENT OF NATIONAL HEALTH AND WELFARE

The establishment of the Department of National Health and Welfare was provided for under c. 22 of the Statutes of 1944, and the official announcement of the organization of the Department was made on October 13, 1944. It is composed of a Health Branch and a Welfare Branch, each under a deputy minister.

The Health Branch, which was taken over from the former Department of Pensions and National Health, is responsible specifically for the Food and Drugs Act, The Opium and Narcotic Drug Act, the Quarantine Act, the Public Works Act, the Leprosy Act, the Proprietary or Patent Medicine Act and those sections of the Canada Shipping Act and the Immigration Act dealing with the care of sick mariners and the medical examination of prospective immigrants. It maintains a laboratory of hygiene, food and drugs laboratories and industrial health laboratory. It administers the following divisions: civil service health division, industrial health division, mental health division narcotic division, food and drugs divisions, public health engineering division, quarantine, immigration medical service and treatment of sick mariners, blindness control division, child and maternal health division, dental health division, hospital design division, nutrition division, venereal disease control division, and Indian health services (including Eskimos).

The health branch is advised by a number of voluntary technical committees, chief of which is the Dominion Council of Health, composed of the deputy ministers of health for the nine provinces and five other persons representative of agriculture, labor, public health scientists and both English and French-speaking women.

The Welfare Branch administers The Family Allowances Act which was passed in 1944 and became effective July 1, 1945. This legislation was designed to equalize, in some measure, the economic status of persons with families compared with others without similar obligations. This division also administers the federal government's responsibilities under the Old Age Pensions Act and The National Physical Fitness Act. Under the latter, grants to the provinces are available for the improvement of physical standards through sports, athletics and other pursuits.

Actual administration of the Old Age Pensions Act is carried out by the provinces, with the federal government paying 75 per cent. of the cost of the pensions.

The war charities division administers the War Charities Act, and the voluntary war relief division facilitates the work of voluntary agencies exporting goods for relief work overseas. These two divisions were formerly part of the Department of National War Services.

The department is responsible for the enforcement of any public health regulations made by the International Joint Commission apropos boundary waters between the United States and Canada. It maintains a directorate of health insurance studies and administers divisions responsible for research into public health and welfare problems and the publication of information and educational material on public health, improved sanitation, social and industrial conditions and related subjects. It is empowered to co-operate with the nine provincial governments in efforts made or proposed to improve public health and provide social security and welfare.

DEPARTMENT OF NATIONAL REVENUE

From Confederation on July 1, 1867, until May 17, 1918, Customs and Inland Revenue Acts were administered by two separate government departments known as the Department of Customs, constituted by statute (31 Vic. Chap. 43), and the Department of Inland Revenue, constituted by statute (31 Vic. Chap. 49). On May 18, 1918, by Order in Council these two Departments were amalgamated and combined under the name of the Department of Customs and Inland Revenue and under one Minister of the Crown.

On April 1, 1921, the name Inland Revenue was dropped and the Department of Customs and Excise constituted (11-12 Geo. V. 26).

The collection of Income Tax was placed under the control of the Minister of Customs and Excise on April 1, 1924, and by the Department of National Revenue Act (17 Geo. V. Chap. 34) the name was changed to the Department of National Revenue.

DEPARTMENT OF RECONSTRUCTION AND SUPPLY

375 Wellington St., Ottawa
The Department of Reconstruction and Supply was established by Act of Parliament in December, 1945, for the purpose of taking over the functions of the Department of Munitions and Supply and the Department of Reconstruction. The Department of Munitions and Supply was created in 1940, succeeding the War Supply Board. Its function was, among other things, to organize the sources of supply of munitions of war and supplies, and to mobilize, conserve and co-ordinate the economic and industrial facilities of Canada in respect of the prosecution of the war. The Department of Reconstruction was established by Act on June 30th, 1944, to deal with the postwar reconstruction plans. The present Department of Reconstruction and Supply combines the functions of both of the Departments.

CROWN COMPANIES

CANADIAN ARSENALS LIMITED
 No. 4 Temporary Bldg.,
 56 Lyon St., Ottawa

Canadian Arsenals Limited, established September 1945, is a "fourth service" working under the direction of the Department of Reconstruction and Supply with the object of co-ordinating its defence preparations with those of the Navy, Army, and Air Force. The Company is maintaining plants for the production of explosives, shells, cartridges, fuzes, guns, small arms, fire control instruments, Radar, and ammunitions filling, and will keep abreast of the latest developments in all forms of military equipment. The three armed services and the Crown Company will be jointly responsible for making sure that Canada will be in a position to rally her forces quickly if called upon by the Security Council.

It will be the task of the Company to prepare and maintain engineering data regarding the production of munitions so that the manufacturing resources of the country can quickly go into production if it should be necessary.

TRADE AND COMMERCE

The Department of Trade and Commerce was created in 1887. (50-5 Vic. Chap. 10). One of its earliest acts was the institution of a series of commercial agencies which became operative in 1892 and which constitute a system that extends round the world, whereby the external trade of Canada is developed by means of trade commissioners and agents located at various centres of world commerce. The Foreign Trade Service was reorganized at the close of the war, providing more extensive head office facilities for importers as well as exporters.

DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORT

The Department of Transport was established on November 2, 1936, pursuant to the provisions of the Department of Transport Act (Chap. 34, 1 Edward VIII) as of that date proclaimed. The Department consists of the former Departments of Marine and of Railways and Canals, and the Civil Aviation Branch formerly administered by the Department of National Defence.

In addition to the administration of the Department under his direct control, the Minister of Transport is also responsible to Parliament in all matters affecting railways, and more particularly Canadian National Railways, also for such bodies as the Board of Transport Commissioners, the National Harbours Board, and the Canadian Maritime Commission, each of which organizations is complete in itself, functioning in accordance with legislation duly made and provided.

Under the provisions of P.C. 3076 and 3435 of July, 1940, ministerial responsibility for the Air Services Branch, including the Civil Aviation, Meteorological and Radio Divisions of the Dept of Transport was retained by the Hon. C. D. Howe, Minister of Munitions and Supply, after his relinquishment of the portfolio of Transport.

By P.C. 7995 of Oct. 13th, 1944, amended and extended by P.C. 8207 of Oct. 24th, 1944, ministerial responsibility for the Air Services Branch of the Department of Transport, and for administration of the Trans-Canada Air Lines Act of 1937, the Radio Act of 1938, and the Aeronautics Act of 1944, was vested in the Minister of Reconstruction and Supply.

The Minister is also responsible to Parliament for the Air Transport Board.

OLD AGE PENSIONS AND PENSIONS FOR BLIND PERSONS IN CANADA

Old Age Pensions and Pensions for Blind Persons are non-contributory pensions subject to a means test and paid under a Dominion-Provincial plan. The provinces are responsible for the administration and the Dominion pays seventy-five per cent of the cost of the pensions.

A province is free to fix in its agreement with the Dominion both the maximum pension payable and the maximum income allowed within the limits specified in the Old Age Pensions Act. The Dominion's contribution, however, cannot exceed seventy-five per cent of $30 a month in any case and is payable only where the pensioner fulfils the requirements set forth in the Dominion Act and the Regulations made thereunder.

The principal requirements are age, residence and income. For an old age pensioner the age at which pension may be granted is seventy years and for a blind pensioner, twenty-one years. The Act requires that an applicant must have resided in Canada for the twenty years immediately preceding the date of the proposed commencement of the pension. Both the Act and the Regulations, however, make special provision for pensioners who have been absent during the twenty-year period. The maximum income, including pension, allowed in the case of an unmarried old age pensioner is $600 a year and in the case of a married old age pensioner, $1,080 a year. Higher amounts are allowed for blind pensioners and for married old age pensioners with spouses who are blind.

The transfer of property by an applicant or his spouse may delay the granting of a pension. The provincial pension authority must decide whether or not an assignment or transfer of property was made for the purpose of qualifying the applicant for pension or for a higher pension than he would otherwise receive.

Administration of pensions is entrusted to the authorities appointed by the respective provincial governments, to whom applications are to be made.

The federal government's administrative responsibilities are discharged by the Department of National Health and Welfare.

For Provincial Pensions Commissioners, see index under "Old Age Pensions".

THE FARMERS' CREDITORS ARRANGEMENT ACT 1943

Director— C. A. Port, Department of Finance Ottawa.

This Act was passed by Parliament July 21, 1943, and proclaimed as coming into force December 15, 1943, replacing The Farmers' Creditors Arrangement Act, 1934.

The legislation is designed with a view to effecting compromises or rearrangements of the debts of farmers with the object of retaining them on the land as efficient producers and also to simplify the operation of the Bankruptcy Act with respect to farmers generally. The compromise provisions are available only to farmers in the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. The simplified bankruptcy provisions are available to farmers in all nine provinces.

All Clerks of the County and District Courts throughout the Dominion are Official Receivers for the purposes of the Act. In districts where the Clerk of the Court was unable to act as Official Receiver, substitutes have been appointed.

A farmer may submit a proposal to an Official Receiver who calls a meeting of creditors and endeavours to effect an amicable settlement. If successful, he applies to the County or District Court Judge for approval. If unsuccessful, a request may be signed that the Court formulate a proposal binding on all parties, subject to appeal.

An Appeal Court has been constituted in each of the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

ROYAL CANADIAN MOUNTED POLICE

Honorary Commandant, HIS MAJESTY THE KING

In 1873 the North West Mounted Police was constituted (36 Vic. Chap. 35) to provide Police protection in the unsettled portions of the North West. In 1904 the title "Royal" was given to the Force. In 1920 the Dominion Police was amalgamated with this Force and the name changed to "Royal Canadian Mounted Police." The headquarters was moved from Regina to Ottawa and the Force may now be called upon to perform duties in any portion of the Dominion. In 1928 the Royal Canadian Mounted Police absorbed the Saskatchewan Provincial Police and in 1932 the Provincial Police Forces of Alberta, Manitoba, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island were absorbed in like manner. During the year 1932, the Force also assumed the administration of the Preventive Service Branch of the Department of National Revenue. The term of engagement in the Royal Canadian Mounted Police is five years. Recruits are trained at Regina, Saskatchewan, and Rockcliffe (near Ottawa), Ontario. The strength, September 1946, is 3,941 which includes civilian clerks and reserves. At a recent date the Force had 134 horses, 842 motor vehicles, 4 aeroplanes, and 81 ships and boats.

DOMINION PARLIAMENTARY REPRESENTATION

The Parliament of the Dominion of Canada consists of the Senate and the House of Commons. Senators are appointed for life by the Governor-General and members of the House of Commons are elected by the people. The ordinary legal limit of duration for each Parliament is five years, sitting at least once a year. The Speaker is appointed by the House.

The House of Commons of the 20th Parliament, elected June 11th, 1945, consisted of 245 members; that of the 21st Parliament will consist of 255 members. A Redistribution Act, passed after each census, adjusts the number of representatives in the House of Commons in accordance with rules laid down in Section 51 of The British North America Act, 1867, of the Imperial Parliament, which rules have been amended from time to time, the last amendment having been made in 1946.

Following the 1931 Census the Representation Act, 1933, redistributed membership as follows: Ontario, 82; Quebec, 65; N.S., 12; N.B., 10; Manitoba, 17; B.C., 16; P.E.I., 4; Sask. 21; Alberta, 17; Yukon, 1; and subsequent General Elections took place on this basis.

A Redistribution Bill, based on the 1941 census, was delayed on account of the war, but an Act was passed by the House of Commons, on July 16th, 1947, providing by a formula different from that hitherto used, for a fixed membership of 255, distributed as follows: Ontario, 83; Quebec, 73; N.S., 13; N.B., 10; Manitoba, 16; B.C., 18; P.E.I., 4; Sask., 20; Alberta, 17; Yukon, 1.

The twenty-first Parliament will be elected on this basis.

THE SENATE

Senators are appointed for life; must be British subjects and 30 years of age; must own lands worth net $4,000 in the province which they represent, and must be worth $4,000 above all debts. They must be residents of the province for which elected or of the electoral division in the Province of Quebec.

The Speaker is appointed by the Governor-General.

Since 1915 the numerical representation of the Senate by provinces is as follows: Prince Edward Island 4, Nova Scotia 10, New Brunswick 10, Quebec 24, Ontario 24, Manitoba 6, Saskatchewan 6, Alberta 6, British Columbia 6. Total 96.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE QUOTATIONS

The following are nominal quotations, based on rates available in London or New York and converted into Canadian terms at the mid-rate for sterling or par for United States Dollars, as furnished by the Foreign Exchange Division of the Bank of Canada. These quotations may be found useful in considering statistics and prices generally, but Canadian exporters are reminded that the kinds of currency which may be accepted for exports to different countries are specifically covered by the Foreign Exchange Control Act and Regulations and that funds may sometimes be tendered in payment for exports, which cannot, in fact, be transferred to Canada. Both importers and exporters are advised to communicate with their bankers before completing financial arrangements for the sale or purchase of commodities, to ensure that the method of payment contemplated is not only possible but that it is in accordance with the Foreign Exchange Control Act and Regulations.

FLAGS FLOWN IN CANADA AND OVERSEAS

FLAG OF GOVERNOR GENERAL—In 1930 His late Majesty King George V approved the design of a Flag for the Governor General of Canada which would be symbolic of the position of the Governor General as the King's personal representative. The Flag so approved by His late Majesty is of the following description: "On a blue field, the Royal Crest,—the Imperial Crown proper, thereon a lion statant-guardant or, 'crowned proper'—subscribed 'CANADA' in black on a yellow scroll."

THE UNION JACK is the Flag to be flown by British subjects on land in all His Majesty's dominions. With the badge of a province it is the official flag of the Lieutenant-Governor of that province. The union or union jack, is the device on the king's colour of Canadian regiments. The union jack is flown on selected forts, armouries, drill halls and other buildings occupied by the Canadian army in Canada as designated from time to time in Canadian Army Orders.

(Refer also to paragraph "The Canadian Red Ensign").

THE CANADIAN RED ENSIGN, with the Shield of the Arms of the Dominion of Canada in the fly, was authorized by Admiralty Warrant of the 2nd February, 1892, to be used on board Canadian registered merchant vessels. Following the authorization of a new Coat of Arms for the Dominion of Canada in 1921, it was provided by Order in Council (P.C. 843, 26th April, 1922) that the Shield of the Arms of Canada appearing on the fly of the Canadian Red Ensign should be the Shield of the new Canadian Coat of Arms. In 1934, by Chapter 89 (1) of the Canada Shipping Act, Chapter 44, Statutes of Canada, 1934, statutory provision was made for the flying of the Canadian Red Ensign on ships of Canadian registry.

Canadian Army Orders provide that the Canadian Red Ensign may be flown, within or without Canada, when, at the discretion of the officer commanding a command, or Army Headquarters, the place or the occasion makes it desirable to fly a distinctive Canadian flag.

THE CANADIAN RED ENSIGN AS A NATIONAL FLAG

By Order in Council (P.C. 134, 26th January, 1924) the display of the Canadian Red Ensign was authorized from "all buildings owned or occupied by the Canadian Government and situated without Canada."

On Sept. 5, 1945, Order in Council P.C. 5888 was issued as follows:

"That, until such time as action is taken by Parliament for the formal adoption of a national flag, it is desirable to authorize the flying of the Canadian Red Ensign on Federal government buildings within as well as without Canada, and to remove any doubt as to the propriety of flying the Canadian Red Ensign wherever place or occasion may make it desirable to fly a distinctive Canadian flag;

Therefore, His Excellency the Governor General in Council, on the recommendation of the Prime Minister, is pleased to order and doth hereby order that the Red Ensign with the shield of the Coat of Arms of Canada in the fly (hereinafter referred to as "the Canadian Red Ensign") may be flown from buildings owned or occupied by the Federal government within and without Canada.

His Excellency in Council, on the same recommendation, is further pleased to declare and doth hereby declare that it shall be appropriate to fly the Canadian Red Ensign within and without Canada wherever place or occasion may make it desirable to fly a distinctive Canadian flag.

Nothing herein shall be deemed to alter in any way the provisions now in force with respect to the flying of the Blue Ensign with the shield of the Coat of Arms of Canada in the fly on Canadian Naval vessels and other government vessels, nor with respect to the Flying of the Canadian Red Ensign on Canadian Merchant vessels."

COMMITTEE TO CONSIDER A NATIONAL FLAG—On March 26, 1946 the Prime Minister, Mr. Mackenzie King moved in the House of Commons that a joint committee of the Senate and the House of Commons be appointed to consider and report upon a suitable design for a distinctive national flag. This committee presented its final report on July 12, 1946; the following recommendation was made: "Your Committee recommends that the National Flag of Canada should be the Canadian red ensign with a maple-leaf in autumn golden colors in a bordered background of white replacing the coat-of-arms in the fly; the whole design to be so proportioned that the size and position of the maple-leaf in relation to the Union Jack in the Canton will identify it as a symbol distinctive of Canada as a nation."

Up to December, 1947, no further action has been taken by the Parliament of Canada towards the adoption of a distinctive Canadian Flag.

THE CANADIAN BLUE ENSIGN, with the Shield of the Arms of the Dominion of Canada in the fly, is used on the Jack staff of all ships and vessels of the Royal Canadian Navy and has also been adopted as the official flag for vessels in the Canadian Government Service. Ships operated by provincial government departments, ships and yachts attached to Royal Yacht Clubs in Canada, and merchant ships carrying a specified number of naval reservists as part crew, may wear the Canadian Blue Ensign on authority of a Warrant to do so, issued by the Minister of National Defence.

WHITE ENSIGN—Under agreements made between the Canadian Government and the Government of the United Kingdom at the Imperial Conference 1911, Ships of War of the Dominion of Canada hoist at the stern the White Ensign as a symbol of the authority of the Crown.

NAVAL BOARD FLAG—In 1943, approval was given to a flag to be flown by the Naval Board of Canada. The design is: The Admiralty anchor in gold in the centre of the flag, on red and blue, bisected diagonally with the blue portion nearest the staff, and the red portion uppermost. The flag is to be flown night and day, from Naval Service Headquarters, struck only when the Board, as a whole, is absent.

R.C.A.F. ENSIGN—The flag has a light blue background with the Union Jack in the canton next the staff. In the centre of the fly (away from the staff) is a red maple leaf on a white roundel superimposed on a dark blue roundel.

CANADIAN ARMY BADGE. A new badge for the Canadian Army was approved in 1947 by His Majesty the King. This badge is for the use of the Canadian Army as a whole and will replace the present Coat of Arms on army stationery, publications, etc. The following is a description of the approved design: Three hard maple leaves conjoined on one stem, red; upon two Crusader's swords saltirewise points upwards, blade and grip in natural colours, guards and pommels gold; ensigned with the Imperial Crown.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE CONTROL BOARD

REGULATIONS RE IMPORT AND EXPORT OF GOODS, ETC.

The following is a summary of the Foreign Exchange Control Act and Regulations which came into force on January 1, 1947 in so far as they relate to the importation of goods into Canada and the export of goods from Canada. Those requiring full information should apply to a Collector of Customs and Excise, chartered bank, or to the Foreign Exchange Control Board, Ottawa, or its offices in Montreal, Toronto, Vancouver, and Windsor.

BUYING OR SELLING FOREIGN EXCHANGE

All such transactions must be through an authorized dealer, which term includes all chartered banks.

The personnel and address of the Foreign Exchange Control Board are given elsewhere in this volume; see index.

STERLING TRANSACTIONS

Under United Kingdom exchange control regulations, sterling normally may be transferred to Canada only from sterling area countries and may be transferred from Canada only to such countries. "Sterling area countries" are the United Kingdom, the British Dominions and Empire (excluding Canada and Newfoundland), British mandated territories, protectorates and protected states, Iraq, Transjordan, Iceland and the Faroe Islands.

IMPORTS

1. General

The procedure described in this Article is designed primarily to ensure that when payments are made to non-residents, either in foreign exchange or Canadian dollars, for the purchase of goods, goods to the value of the payments are in fact brought into Canada.

2. Currency of Payment for Imports

(a) In general, a resident of Canada who buys goods which have been or are to be imported into Canada within ninety days may make payment for the fair value of the goods in appropriate currency as indicated below:

(i) Imports from sterling area countries:

(1) Sterling paid to a resident of a sterling area country; or

(2) Canadian dollars paid to a resident of a sterling area country or a special arrangement country referred to in (ii) below.

For the list of sterling area countries, see "Sterling Transactions" above.

(ii) Imports from special arrangement countries:

(1) Canadian dollars paid to a resident of a special arrangement or sterling area country; or

(2) United States dollars.

"Special arrangement countries" are Egypt, Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, Belgium, Luxembourg, Belgian Congo, Ruanda-Urundi, Czechoslovakia, France and the French Empire, Netherlands and Netherlands West and East Indies and Norway.

(iii) Imports from United States dollar area countries:

(1) United States dollars; or

(2) Canadian dollars.

"United States dollar area countries" are all those other than sterling area and special arrangement countries.

(b) Special authority from the Foreign Exchange Control Board is necessary before an importer may obtain or use U.S. dollars, or transfer Canadian dollars to a resident of a United States dollar area country to pay for goods which have been or are to be exported to a sterling area or special arrangement country unless

(i) the goods have been or are to be processed in Canada; or

(ii) payment for the export has been or is to be received by the Canadian exporter in U.S. dollars.

3. Import Procedure

(a) Except as noted in subparagraph (b) where Customs entry for goods imported into Canada is made on Customs Entry Form B.1 (Entry for Home Consumption), B.5 (Entry for Warehouse), or B.11 (Bill of Sight or Sight Entry), an importer is required to submit F.E.C.B. Form E to Customs. Form E is designed to be made out as one of the set of Customs forms. When the Customs entry is passed, the Collector of Customs and Excise approves the related Form E and returns it to the importer as evidence for the importer to produce to his bank that goods to the value stated have been imported.

(b) Form E will not be submitted to nor approved by Customs for:

(i) goods shipped to Canada from or originating in Newfoundland;

(ii) goods re-entered for warehouse (Form B.5) after having been transferred from one port in Canada to another port in Canada on Customs Form B.10 (Removal Entry);

(iii) an amending or perfecting entry;

(iv) periodical publications;

(c) Supplies of Form E are available at Customs Offices.

(d) Where Customs Import Entry is made otherwise than on Customs Form B.1, B.5, or B.11—usually imports valued at less than $100—the importer is required to obtain from Customs in place of Form E, a certified copy of the Customs form or invoice used in clearing the goods through Customs.

4. Payment Procedure

A resident of Canada desiring to obtain U.S. dollars, sterling or other foreign exchange or to pay Canadian dollars to a non-resident in settlement for imports is required to apply to his bank for a permit. The application is to be made on F.E.C.B. Form F or G, respectively (unless the amount is $25 or £25 or less) and is to be supported by the Form E covering the importation of the goods or, where Form E was not required, the Customs document referred to in par. 3 (d). Where application for foreign exchange or to pay Canadian dollars is made before the goods are imported, Form E is to be surrendered to the bank, or the other Customs documents are to be exhibited to it, as soon as importation is made. The bank "matches" Forms F or G covering payments for imports with Forms E or other Customs documents evidencing the importation of the goods.

In the later printings of Form E provision is made whereby an application to a bank for foreign exchange to settle in full for goods already imported may be made on the back of the Form E itself. Where this is done, an application on Form F is not necessary.

EXPORTS

1. General

The procedure described in this Article is to ensure that when goods are exported from Canada, payment of their value is received by the exporter in an appropriate currency and, in the case of foreign exchange, is sold to an authorized dealer and thereby made available to the Board.

2. Currency of Payment for Exports

(a) In general, a resident of Canada who sells goods which have been or are to be exported from

Canada to a country other than Newfoundland is required to obtain payment of the fair value within six months of shipment in an appropriate currency as indicated below:

(i) Exports to Sterling Area Countries:

(1) Sterling;

(2) Canadian dollars paid from a bank account in Canada of a resident of (including a bank in) a sterling area country or a special arrangement country referred to in (b) below; or

(3) United States dollars.

"Sterling area countries" are the United Kingdom, the British Dominions and Empire (excluding Canada and Newfoundland), British mandated territories, protectorates and protected states, Iraq, Transjordan, Iceland and the Faroe Islands.

(ii) Exports to Special Arrangement Countries:

(1) United States dollars; or

(2) Canadian dollars paid from a bank account in Canada of a resident of (including a bank in) a special arrangement or sterling area country.

"Special arrangement countries" are Egypt, Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, Belgium, Luxembourg, Belgian Congo, Ruanda-Urundi, Czecho-slovakia, France and the French Empire, Netherlands and Netherlands West and East Indies and Norway.

(iii) Exports to United States Dollar Area Countries: United States Dollars

"United States dollar area countries" are all those other than sterling area and special arrangement countries.

(b) Exporters should note that U.S. dollars may not ordinarily be obtained or used, or Canadian dollars transferred to a resident of a United States dollar area country, to pay for goods which have been or are to be imported for re-export, without processing in Canada, to a sterling area or special arrangement country.

3. Export Procedure

Except in those cases where a Customs Export Entry is ordinarily not required (e.g. gifts up to $25 in value, other shipments up to $5 in value, travellers' baggage and effects etc.), combined Customs Export Entry and F.E.C.B. Form B.13-B is to be prepared by the exporter and delivered to the Collector of Customs and Excise at the port of exit of the goods. The exporter should hand Form B.13-B to the carrier accepting the goods for export, or if the export is by mail, to the Postmaster, for forwarding to the Collector of Customs and Excise. Three copies of the form are required for exports to Newfoundland and five copies in other cases. Where the terms of payment are in accordance with the Foreign Exchange Control Act and Regulations, the Collector (or the Postmaster) approves the Form B.13-B on behalf of the Board and sends a copy of the form to the exporter's bank.

Supplies for Form B.13-B are available at Customs Offices.

4. Proceeds of Exports

A resident of Canada who has or receives payment of any U.S. dollars, sterling or other foreign exchange is required to offer it for sale to his bank. F.E.C.B. Form C, copies of which are available at banks, is to be completed covering a sale to a bank of exchange arising from the sale of goods which have been or are to be exported where the amount is more than $100 or $25. This form is then "matched" by the bank with the copy of Form B.13-B covering the export, which the bank has received or will receive from Customs. When an exporter receives payment for an export to a "special arrangement country" in Canadian dollars, the exporter's bank is notified by the bank having the account from which the payment was made, and a similar "matching" procedure is followed.

5. Exports for which No Settlement Has Been or Will Be Received

The prior approval of the Board or an authorized dealer of the Board is required in Section P of Form B.13-B for exports to countries other than Newfoundland for which no settlement has been made except in the following cases:

(a) Goods which, if being imported into Canada, would be entitled to entry under Customs tariff item 706 (including goods the property of persons accorded diplomatic privileges or of the office to which they are attached) or item 707 (goods the property of the Governor General) or item 708 (goods the property of the Imperial Government and goods exported to officers or men of the Royal Navy).

(b) Travellers' samples.

(c) Printing plates, electrotypes, matrices and similar articles used in the printing trade if being exported without charge by or for use in newspapers or periodicals, or re-exported after having been imported without charge by or for use in newspapers or periodicals.

(d) Goods of no commercial value, including samples exported for test and samples re-exported after having been imported for test.

(e) Goods exported temporarily for repairs adjustments or to be tested, such that on return to Canada they will be eligible for entry on payment of duty on the value of repairs, adjustments or tests only.

(f) Properly identified empty containers or covers which are to be returned to Canada for entry under item 709 of the Customs tariff.

(g) Animals and articles, the property of non-residents, entered ex-warehouse for export after having been imported for exhibition or convention purposes.

(h) Vessels, aircraft or vehicles operating internationally except in respect of the last exportation from Canada of any such vessel, aircraft or vehicle which changes its ownership or ceases to operate internationally.

(i) Imported periodicals or covers of imported periodicals being re-exported from Canada.

(j) Stores, equipment and supplies exported by a railway company which operates lines in both Canada and elsewhere, provided that such stores, equipment and supplies are being exported for its own use and are not being exported for sale outside Canada.

(k) Household furniture, personal effects, professional instruments and tools of trade, passenger automobiles, bicycles and motorcycles exported by or for an individual on change of domicile, solely for the owner's or his immediate family's use and not for sale; and

(l) Gifts up to a value not exceeding $100 per shipment.

6. Special Permits

The procedure outlined above in paragraphs 3 and 4 does not apply to exporters who carry out their transactions under BD and NS permits issued by the Board.

CANADIANS TRAVELLING ABROAD

UNITED STATES IMMIGRATION REGULATIONS

The United States Immigration laws apply equally to all persons not citizens of the United States on each occasion of their entry into the United States.

Every person desiring to enter the United States for any purpose whatever, even for a limited time, must have (1) a passport from the Government to which such person owes allegiance, and (2) a visa issued by an American Consular officer; excepting Canadians and British subjects having Canadian "Domicile" who may enter without passports under certain conditions (for details see below).

Visas are of two kinds: (1) Immigration visas, which are for permanent or indefinite residence in the United States, and (2) Non-immigration visas, which are for temporary entry into the United States for definite short periods for business, pleasure, transit through, et cetera.

In connection with an application for a non-immigrant visa, native born or naturalized British subjects who are legal permanent residents of the Dominion may present, in lieu of a valid passport, an expired British or Canadian passport, a valid or expired United States non-resident aliens' border crossing identification card, or a birth or Canadian naturalization certificate. A valid passport is required however in connection with all applications for consular immigration visas.

American citizens do not require passports to reenter the United States but must satisfy the immigration officials that they are in fact United States citizens. Any person who has been legally admitted to the United States but who has not become an American citizen, and who desires to visit outside the United States, should obtain a reentry permit or a resident alien's border crossing card from the immigration authorities before leaving the United States.

BORDER CROSSING REGULATIONS
CANADIAN CITIZENS AND BRITISH SUBJECTS
HAVING "CANADIAN DOMICILE"

Canadian citizens may be admitted to the United States from Canada for a period of less than 6 months without passports, visas or border-crossing cards, if the purpose of their visit is business or pleasure, upon presenting to the United States Immigration Officer satisfactory evidence of their identity and citizenship.

British subjects domiciled in Canada may be admitted without passport or visa for a maximum period of 29 days.

Satisfactory evidence of identity and nationality would comprise Canadian or British passports, whether valid or expired, or a border crossing identification card issued subsequent to November 13, 1941, whether valid or expired, Canadian birth or baptismal certificates, or Canadian certificates of naturalization.

In addition, everyone should be in possession of evidence establishing that he is in fact a bona fide temporary visitor going for less than 6 months. Letters of reference from the applicant's employer or husband's employer, or bank manager if in business for self, are the most satisfactory. Those who cannot obtain one of the documents referred to above may call in person or write to the nearest U.S. Consulate or U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service Office for further information. American consulates are located in Canada at the following places: Calgary and Edmonton, Alta.; Vancouver and Victoria, B.C.; Winnipeg, Man.; St. John and St. Stephen, N.B.; Halifax and Fredericton, N.S.; Fort William, Hamilton, Niagara Falls, Sarnia, Toronto, Ottawa, and Windsor, Ont.; Montreal and Quebec City, Quebec; and Regina, Sask. Offices of the United States Immigration and Naturalization Service are located in all large cities in the United States; at all border ports of entry to the United States; and IN CANADA at the following places: Sidney, Vancouver, and Victoria, B.C.; Winnipeg, Man.; St. John, N.B.; Halifax, N.S.; Toronto, Ont.; Montreal and Quebec City, P.Q.

CANADIAN PASSPORT INFORMATION

Passports are issued in Canada at the Passport Office, Department of External Affairs, Ottawa.

They are good for five years and are renewable for one period of five years. Fee for a passport is $5.00 and for renewal $2.00.

Passports already issued continue to be valid until the date on which they expire, and may be renewed if issued less than ten years ago.

Canadians travelling to the United States for six months or less do not need a passport.

Canadians travelling to the United States for more than six months must have a visa from a United States Consul.

Canadians travelling to other countries must have a visa from the Consul of the country in question placed on their Canadian passports.

Canadians travelling anywhere outside Canada may need a travel permit from the Foreign Exchange Control Board. See elsewhere on this page.

Canadians wishing to travel in or through the occupied countries (Germany, Austria, Japan, Korea) must have military permits for which application should be made to the Department of External Affairs, Ottawa.

British subjects, who are not Canadians, may obtain passports at the Passport Office or have their British passports renewed there, except British subjects who are citizens of Eire, the Union of South Africa, Australia and New Zealand. These persons should make application for passports or renewal to the High Commissioners for their countries in Ottawa.

Canadians in British Commonwealth countries may obtain passports or renewals at the Offices of the High Commissioners for Canada in the respective countries.

Canadians in other countries may procure passports at the Canadian Embassy, Legation or Consulate, or if these are not represented, at the British Consular offices.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE CONTROL ACT REGULATIONS RE FOREIGN CURRENCY

RESIDENTS OF CANADA

Under the Foreign Exchange Control Act, every resident of Canada, other than a chartered bank, who owns or possesses foreign exchange or is entitled to a right to immediate payment of foreign exchange is required to offer it for sale to a bank in Canada. The only exceptions are that foreign banknotes and coin having a value not exceeding $10 in the ownership or possession of a resident, and foreign exchange acquired or held by a resident pursuant to a regulation or permit, need not be sold to a bank. Similarly, a resident is required to apply to a bank in Canada, or other agent of the Foreign Exchange Control Board, for any foreign exchange he requires. United States citizens who are permanent residents of Canada are regarded as residents of Canada for purposes of exchange control but a resident who is a citizen of the United States and not also a British subject may apply to the Foreign Exchange Control Board for Canada freely, but may not take more currency out of Canada than they brought in.

NON-RESIDENTS OF CANADA—TOURISTS

In general, Canadian dollar bank balances in Canada of non-residents may be withdrawn in Canadian funds only, and foreign currency is not furnished at the official rates of exchange in Canada. Income from Canadian sources such as bank interest, interest and dividends on Canadian securities, net salaries earned in Canada and net rentals on property owned in Canada may be remitted to non-residents in foreign currency. In so far as foreign exchange control is concerned, non-resident tourists may enter or leave Canada freely, but may not take more currency out of Canada than they brought in.

TRAVEL OUTSIDE OF CANADA United States

On application to a Canadian bank or other agent of the Foreign Exchange Control Board, a resident of Canada may obtain up to $150 per annum in U.S. dollars for expenses in connection with travel to the United States and other non-sterling area countries. In addition a resident may obtain up to $10 U.S. per month in U.S. dollars for visits to the United States on which he will not be taking out of Canada more than a total of $25 including not more than $10 in U.S. currency. Where the travel is necessary for genuine health or educational reasons, the traveller may obtain more than the annual allotment of $150 in U.S. dollars. Any reasonable amounts of U.S. dollars may be obtained for business travel.

Sterling Area

For travel expenditures in sterling area countries such as the United Kingdom and British West Indies, applications are normally approved for any reasonable amounts of sterling or transfers of Canadian dollars.

Travel Permit

A travel permit on Form H must be obtained from the bank or other agent and surrendered to Customs at the time a resident traveller is leaving Canada, unless the total value of banknotes, coin and travellers' cheques in the travellers' possession does not exceed $25 and not more than $10 of the total is foreign banknotes and coin and travellers' cheques payable in foreign currency.
